THREE DREADNOUGHTS FOR CANADA IS MR. BORDEN'S NAVAL POLICY

Temporary Measure for Successive Two Year Periods---Permanent Naval Organization for Canada---No Referendum---Dependent on Voice in Imperial Council

Ottawa, July 17.—Mr. Borden's speeches indicate clearly the decision at which it is understood the Cabinet had arrived before the Ministers left for London. There is a reason to believe that Canada will agree to build at least three Dreadnoughts in successive two year periods. The title of these will remain in Canada. They will constitute an integril portion of the Imperial navy and be the chief vessels of any Canadian fleet if one should be organized in the future.

A PERMANENT PROGRAMME.

With this provision for Dreadnoughts as a temporary measure, Canadian Ministers and the Admiralty will proceed to devise a permanent naval organization for Canada. This probably will provide for defence of Canadian ports on the Atlantic and on the Pacific and for a certain standard of strength in home waters. All, however, will depend on the adequate representation of the Dominion in Imperial Councils, on the right to a voice in determining peace and war, in short, in equal partnership in the Empire.

NO REFERENDUM.

There will be no referendum either on the proposal to build Dreadnoughts or on the permanent policy which may be devised. In all, Mr. Borden's speeches in Canada, he pledged himself to an emergency contribution towards Imperial Defence in case upon inquiry he was convinced that the need of early assistance existed. He is, therefore, wholly free to give such immediate assistance, while the permanent policy can be submitted to the Canadian people in the next general election. If there is found to be serious congestion in British ship yards it is not impossible that one or two of the Dreadnoughts may be built in Canada.

THE DEMANDS MADE WOULD SPELL RUIN TO RAILROADS

New York, July 17.—Many railroads would face bankruptcy if the now pending demands of various classes of employees for increased wages should all be granted, it was asserted by B. A. Worthington today when he resumed argument in behalf of 50 Eastern railroads before the arbitration commission, which is deciding the wage dispute between the railroads and the locomotive engineers.

He said that while only the demands of the engineers are directly before the commission, the firemen have filed an application for an increase which would cost the railroads $20,000,000 a year. He added that shopmen and other classes of employees also expected an advance similar to whatever the engineers obtain.

A CARDINAL'S OATH

Strenuous Promise of Those Chosen As Prince of the Church of Rome —Will Fight Unto Death for the Pope, Against All-comers.

The following oath has been received by The Times with a request to publish same. It is taken from a leading American paper:

I, ——, cardinal of the Holy Roman church, do promise and swear that from this time to the end of my life, I will be faithful and obedient unto St. Peter, the Holy Apostolic Roman church, and our most Holy Lord the pope of Rome and his successors canonically and lawfully elected: that I will never knowingly and advisedly, to their injury or disgrace, make public the counsels entrusted to me by themselves, or by messengers, or letters; also that I will give them assistance in retaining, defending, and recovering the Roman papacy and the regalia of Peter, with all my might and endeavor, so far as the rights and privileges of my order will allow it; and will defend them against all their honor and state, and I will direct and defend them with due form and honor the legates and nuncios of the Apostolic See in territories, church, monasteries and other benefices committed to my keeping; and will cordially co-operate with them and treat them in combining, aiding, and returning; AND I WILL RESIST UNTO BLOOD ALL PERSONS WHATSOEVER WHO SHALL ATTEMPT ANYTHING AGAINST THEM.

That I will by every way and by every means strive to preserve, augment and advance the rights, honors, privileges, and authority of the Holy Roman bishop, our Lord the pope and his before-mentioned successors, and that whatever time anything shall be decided to their prejudice which is out of my power to hinder, AS SOON AS I SHALL KNOW THAT ANY STEPS OR MEASURES HAVE BEEN TAKEN IN THE MATTER. I WILL MAKE IT KNOWN TO THE SAME, OUR LORD OR HIS SUCCESSORS, OR SOME OTHER PERSON BY WHOSE MEANS IT MAY BE BROUGHT TO THEIR KNOWLEDGE.

That I will keep and carry out, and cause others to keep and carry out, the rules of the Holy Father, the decrees, ordinances, dispensations, reservations, provisions, apostolic mandates and constitutions of the Holy Father Sextus of happy memory, as to visiting the thresholds of the apostles at certain prescribed times according to the tenor of THAT WHICH I HAVE JUST READ THROUGH. THAT I WILL SEE OUT AND OPPOSE PERSECUTE AND FIGHT AGAINST heretics and schismatics WHO OPPOSE OUR LORD THE POPE OF ROME AND HIS HERETOFORE-MENTIONED SUCCESSORS, AND THIS I WILL DO WITH EVERY POSSIBLE EFFORT.

POSTUM

"NO TROUBLE"
To Change From Coffee to Postum.

"Postum has done a world of good for me," writes an Ill. man.

"I've had indigestion nearly all my life, but never dreamed coffee was the cause of my trouble until last spring I got so bad I was in misery all the time." (Tea is just as injurious as coffee because it contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee.)

"A coffee drinker for 30 years, it irritated my stomach and nerves, yet I was just crazy for it. After drinking it with my meals I would leave the table, go out and lose my meal and the coffee too. Then I'd be as hungry as ever.

"A friend advised me to quit coffee and use Postum—said it cured him. Since taking his advice I retain my food and get all the good out of it, and don't have those awful hungry spells.

"I changed from coffee to Postum without any trouble whatever, felt better from the first day I drank it, I am well now and give the credit to Postum." Name given by Postum Co Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

It is a pure food drink made of wheat, with a taste much like mild, high-grade Java. For a summer cooler try

LITTLE GIRL IS SLAIN IN NEW YORK; POLICE SEARCH FOR THE MURDERER

Julia O'Connor, a pretty little eleven year old girl, was found cruelly murdered in a vacant lot near her home in New York city. The police are seeking a man who was seen talking to the girl shortly before she disappeared, but it is believed that he has skipped out and will be found in some other city.

GAMBLER'S DEATH CAUSES ARREST

Plainclothesmen Scour New York For Rosenthal's Murderers

New York, July 17.—Further arrests in the murder case of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, who was shot down and killed early yesterday, a few hours before he was to make additional charges that the police and gamblers were in collusion, were expected to-day to disclose whether the police or gamblers directly instigated the plot to kill Rosenthal.

A score or more plainclothesmen are searching the city to-day for several men whom District Attorney Whitman learned were connected with the shooting. After several hours grilling Louis Libby and William Shapiro, who owned the motor car that was used in the killing, broke down and told all they knew of the murder.

Police System the Cause.

District Attorney Whitman believes that the "police system" as it is familiarly known, was largely, if not directly, responsible for the slaying of Rosenthal, whose elimination was probably decided upon when it was found that he intended to make further charges that certain of the police were grafting on gamblers. One theory is, according to the police, that one of the East Side gambling gangs hated Rosenthal because of his gambling disclosures and decided to make away with him.

Three Men to be "Seen."

District Attorney Whitman said to-day that he would proceed with the Grand Jury investigation into the charges made by Rosenthal. It was reported that Rosenthal gave the Public Prosecutor the names of three men who had to be "seen" by the gamblers before they could do business. One of them is said to be a former city official, and another, a Police Department official, and a third holding a clerical position in the Police Department.

BTUTAL MURDER NEAR BRANTFORD

Woman's Body Found Showing Results of all Kinds Of Blows

Brantford, Ont., July 17.—A brutal murder was reported to the authorities from Middleport, twelve miles below Brantford, following the finding of the body last night of Emily Antone. The woman had been beaten to death, her head and body showing the results of all kinds of blows and ill treatment. The body was discovered in John Axon's house in Middleport during the latter's absence.

John R. Bennett, a notorious member of the Six Nations Indians, is missing and County Constable Kerr and Detective Chapman are now scouring the country for his whereabouts. In the meantime Geo. Lowery is under arrest as an accessory.

Few particulars of the tragedy could be secured by the authorities. It is thought, however, that a drunken brawl ensued in the home some time early Tuesday morning, in which Bennett attacked the woman, causing her death. It is also alleged that Lowery supplied liquor to Bennett, a business which he has been suspected of for some time.

Searching for Bennett.

Coroner Ashton decided to-day to hold an inquest, the remains of the murdered woman having been ordered to be brought to Brantford. The jury will meet on Friday. In the meantime a vigorous search is being conducted for Bennett. The alleged murderer is a half brother of the famous Joe Bennett, who was hanged here a few years ago for the murder of Betsy Jacobs.

It was stated here this morning that Lowery was in the neighborhood of the house when the woman received injuries which caused her death. Jealousy is said to have been the motive of the crime.

It was thought at first that the murdered woman was Bennett's wife. The Antone woman is said to be of loose character.

A GOOD PROGRAMME.

One of the features of the Printers Picnic is their good programme of sports—events for everybody, young and old. Be sure and get your tickets early and avoid the rush. Don't forget the date—Saturday, August 3rd. Boat leaves Wolfe street wharf at 1.30 sharp.

GERMAN PAPERS WATCHING WORK OF THE CANADIANS

Austrian Press Also Is Printing a Lot About Naval Negotiations

London, July 17.—The German and Austrian papers are devoting a great deal of space to the visit of the Canadian Ministers to London, recording their movements and the progress of the naval negotiations.

The London Times, commenting on Premier Borden's speech last night, and the present naval negotiations, says it is a tremendous step forward that the Dominions have been admitted, since last year to the secrets of the Foreign Office, adding that the present meeting will fall short of expectations unless the Canadian people can be satisfied that the new contribution which they are prepared to make for the security of the Empire will carry a proportionately greater voice in the disposal of national development. Canada has long outgrown the makeshift plan of a cash contribution without control.

An Attractive Proposal.

The Times calls Churchill's recent proposal that the Dominions patrol the outer seas, attractive, when coupled with British upkeep of the fleet in home waters, and says it has reason to think the negotiations are proceeding on these lines. These questions are asked by The Times: "Is Canada satisfied with nothing more than an intermittent representation on the committee of Imperial Defence?" Will she not claim her constant share of control, not only in the conduct of an Imperial war, but in the events which lead up to the final decision between war and peace?"

Winston Churchill a short time ago tentatively put forth a proposal on the lines of the Times' statement, but it is believed here that it was done rather as a feeler than as a practical proposal and it didn't receive general endorsements.

Dined With Balfour.

Hon. Mr. Hazen lunched with Joseph Chamberlain and Mr. Balfour yesterday at the former's house.

All the Canadian Ministers have been invited to Bisley to the reception given to-day by the Canadian commandant.

MANY WOMEN OF TITLE LEAD NOTORIOUS LIVES

Europe's Capitals are Thronged by Outcasts Flaunting Titles That Were Bought Cheap from Owners —Market Quotations Far Below Those Prevailing in America.

Berlin, July 17.—The police lists of the women outcasts contain some hundreds of names of countesses and baronesses and other noble women, names and titles bought and paid for, and which cannot be taken away from the women, though they cover them with infamy.

It seems that impecunious nobles, who haven't got the money or the energy to fish for American heiresses, or to emigrate and adopt the trade of coachman or waiter, sometimes, as a last resource, marry women of ill repute to confer upon them their name.

After the ceremony, the majority of these noblemen agree not to bother their wives or interfere with them in any shape or form.

Thus a notorious woman has recently become Baroness Von Sassnitz, but she had to pay twenty-five hundred dollars for the privilege to become legally, though not socially, the equal of noble women that have the entry at court.

It is remembered on the other hand, that the late Countess Frida Von Strachwitz, murdered three years ago, paid for her title a ten mark piece, a new suit of clothes and a supper.

Yet the same sort of titles are hawked about in America for prices going into the millions. Will American girls ever learn a lesson? It is asked here.

WEDDING BELLS

FITZGERALD—STILLMAN.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place yesterday afternoon at 2.30 when Mr. Walter Fitzgerald, son of the late George Fitzgerald, was united in marriage to Miss Lessie Stillman, daughter of Mrs. J. H. Stillman. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. R. Webb.

The young couple left on the 4.19 C.P.R. for Toronto, and Niagara and the west. After the honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald will reside in the city.

GILLESPIE—HAMILTON.

A very charming wedding took place yesterday morning at the residence of Mr. Peter Hamilton, 273 George street, the nuptial parties being Miss Mary (Mamie) Hamilton, and Mr. Bruce Gillespie, son of J. B. Gillespie, East City. The ceremony took place at 10 o'clock, Rev. Jas. Rollins, of St. Andrew's, officiating.

The contracting parties were unattended and the bride was given away by her brother, Mr. James Hamilton. She wore a beautiful gray whipcord travelling suit with hat to match. Only the immediate friends and relatives were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie entrained on the 11.17 C.P.R. for an extended wedding trip after which they will return to reside in Peterborough.

ST. VINCENT RATIFIES THE TRADE PACT WITH CANADA

Kingstown, St. Vincent, July 17. —The Legislative Council of St. Vincent to-day passed resolutions ratifying the agreement between Canada and certain of the British West Indian Islands for reciprocity in trade, and declaring that in any arrangement for a new steamship service an essential feature of the agreement shall be the provision of a direct line between Canada, this colony and other small colonies.

A new Customs ordinance has been introduced, allowing preference to certain Canadian products.

Legislation is being introduced and promulgated in the other West Indian Islands which are parties to the agreement with Canada.

BUBONIC PLAGUE SPREADING IN CUBA

Boston, July 17.—A number of reports concerning the bubonic plague dave been received from Porto Rico by missionary societies here and in New York. The disease is spreading rapidly through the island. Baptists heard to-day that their church in Corilina had to be razed in an effort to rid that section of the thousands of infected rats.

There seems, however, to be some good done by the plague. The Island is being so thoroughly cleansed that it is almost unfamiliar to old-timers.

The visitation will in all all probability result in a spirited movement for the erection of hospitals and similar institutions, much needed in all parts of the Island.

PORTO RICO CONDITIONS.

Washington, July 17.—Wiping out the bubonic plague in Porto Rico should be comparatively easy just at this time of the year, according to Lieut-Col. Keane, who has just returned to Washington from an inspection trip to the scourge-infected Island. Fleas and rats are responsible for the spread of the plague.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundreds of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address All. PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 25c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 360 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

Preference Shares are preferential both as to assets and cumulative dividends at the rate of 7 p.c. per annum, also participate in dividends after 7 p.c. has been paid on common stock.

The average net profits of the Cafeterias, Limited, on King street, for the month of May, as shown by the report of the auditor, John I. Sutcliffe, C.A., amounted to over 30 p.c. on the entire issue of stock. A complete auditor's statement of the finances of Cafeterias, Limited, up to the end of May, may be seen at the offices of Messrs. Fleming & Marvin, Lumsden Building. This statement shows the monthly profits.

About $50,000.00 will be required to put the new Yonge street Cafeteria on a running basis. Of this amount about fifteen or twenty thousand dollars will be required to complete the interior finish, and make this restaurant one of the finest cafeterias in America. The balance will be required for outfitting the restaurant and providing a certain amount of working capital. The new restaurant will have a dining room of the large dimensions of 7,000 square feet on the ground floor, and will also have spacious additions for other purposes of the business.

Cafeterias, Limited, has found in the running of its business on King street that it has eclipsed the old style of waitress-serving restaurants, which is a great saving of labor and expense, and that the new restaurant is the best system of meeting the demands of the public for quick service, consistent with quality and efficiency of service.

We have opened subscription books for sale at par ($10.00) $50,000.00 fully paid shares of the above-mentioned 7 p.c. cumulative preference participating stock, carrying a bonus of 25 p.c. of the amount of the preference shares in common stock.

and 75% per share on allotment.

Subscription books are now open at our offices, and the right is reserved to allot only such subscriptions and for such amounts as may be approved, and to close the subscription without notice.

The report of the Dairy Record Centres in Ontario for the month of May has just been received, and shows that while there is not as many cows being tested here as at one or two other centres, owing to the herds being smaller, that the number of farmers testing their herds is away ahead of any other centre, thus bearing out the prediction made last fall by the local recorder, Mr. Andrews, that the Peterborough Centre would in 1912, be the largest in the Province.

Where Marriage Is a Lottery In Fact.

The lottery for a wife which takes places annually at Smolensk has been successful this year, all the tickets having been bought. The promoters of the lottery select the young woman, who has to be drawn for. She is then ordered to remain constantly at home for ten days to receive the visits of candidates for her hand. The sale of 5,000 tickets at a ruble each is controlled by the municipal council. As soon as they are sold the lottery takes place, and the winner has the right to marry the young woman and her fortune of 5,000 rubles. She can, however, refuse the man who has drawn the lucky number. In this case she has to divide her fortune with him.

In For Life.

A certain English peer drove in a taxicab to Westminster and when he got out gave the driver a very small tip. The driver mistook him for a member of the house of commons and snarled:

"I hope you get turned out next election and don't never get in again!"

"Don't worry, my friend," said the peer as he set off for the house of lords. "Don't worry—I'm in for life."

He who has health has hope, and he who has hope has everything.—Arabian Proverb.

KEATS' LOVE AFFAIR.

It Was But Another Disaster of the Last Days of the Poet's Life.

Keats' way of love was by no means a way of happiness. The object of his passion was a Miss Fanny Brawne, whom he had the fortune or misfortune to meet at the Dilkes' house. She has become fairly well known in Keats' bibliography as "a brisk and blooming very young beauty of the far from uncommon English hawk blond type."

Her affection for Keats seems to have been real, but limited by a rather shallow emotional capacity. His for her was enfevered with doubts and questionings not only about the reality of his feeling toward her, but about his failing health and his uncertain prospects. Disease had already weakened him when he met her, and between the fire of disease and the fire of love his vitality was rapidly consumed. Love proved to be but another disaster to heighten the tragic suffering of the last eighteen months of his life.

When, finally, he went to Rome, accompanied by the artist, Joseph Severn, he turned his back on love along with the rest of life. He died in February, 1821, and was buried in the Protestant cemetery, a place made so beautiful by the flowers that grow there the year through that it makes one "in love with death to think one should be buried in so sweet a place," as Shelley wrote not long before he, too, died.—New York Post.

Musical Conductors.

It is a significant fact that most of the great conductors have spent their apprentice years in mastering some solo instrument which they have used as a stepping stone to the broader and ultimate work of conducting an orchestra. Arthur Nikisch was at the beginning of his career a violinist to the royal orchestra at Vienna; Richard Strauss made his formal debut not only as leader of the Meininger orchestra, but as a pianist also, playing a concerto by Mozart. Felix Weingartner, Dr. Muck, Emil Paur, Rothwell and Oberhoffer were first pianists of distinction before becoming conductors. This list could also be carried back to Hans von Bulow, the prince of pianists and conductors, and to Felix Mendelssohn, who inaugurated the famous Gewandhaus concerts.

Spoiled the Sport.

A gentleman from London was invited to go for "a day's snipe shooting," in the country. The invitation was accepted, and host and guest shouldered guns and sallied forth in quest of game.

After a time a solitary snipe rose and promptly fell to the visitor's first barrel.

The host's face fell also.

"We may as well return," he remarked gloomily, "for that was the only snipe in the neighborhood."

The bird had afforded excellent sport to all his friends for six weeks.—London Answers.

He Was Sarcastic.

Clerk (to woman who has fingered over everything in the store without buying anything)—Excuse me, madam, but are you shopping here? Customer—Certainly. What would I be doing? Clerk—I thought perhaps you might be taking an inventory.—Woman's Home Companion.

His Hand Bath.

Arguing forcibly, if not convincingly, against the custom of taking a bath, still happily prevalent in certain quarters, an English writer relates the savory story of a Kentish farm worker whose horny hand he grasped. "Good Kent dirt," said the man, catching a critical glance. "Haven't had time to wash your hands before tea?" was the question. "Wash my 'ands!" exclaimed the man, then explanatorily: "I never washes my 'ands. When they gets 'ard I files 'em."

Meteors.

The frequency of meteors is at its highest toward the end of July and the beginning of August. During the first six months of the year the total number of meteors observed on a clear, moonless night is only about six an hour. At the beginning of July the frequency increases and attains its maximum, sixty-nine an hour, on Aug. 10. The mean for the entire year is twenty-four meteors an hour.—London Standard.

Happiness.

Happiness when at a distance appears so great as to touch the sky. When it enters our door it so dwindles that very often we no longer recognise it.

It is said that the very act of moving a piano around in a room is sufficient to disturb its tonal qualities. When a piano has been moved into the position for which it is intended, is accustomed to the temperature and the drafts prevalent, it should be tuned, experts say. Any change of temperature or movement may cause the strings to contract or expand slightly with the resultant loss or gain of half a semitone. Changing the position of a piano is said to have almost the same effect as constant playing, only in the latter case the constant action of the hammers against the strings tends to loosen their adjustment and the instrument runs out of tune.

Sea air has also a detrimental effect on pianos. Here again contraction and expansion of the wires are the chief causes of disturbance. Pianos constructed for the tropics are much more strongly built than those used in temperate climates. Wood that is not liable to warp and crack is used in the sounding boards; otherwise they have to be brass bound and stayed to prevent splitting.—New York Sun.

Not a Beauty.

They were a quaint old couple, and it was evident they had never seen many circuses. All the wild things in cages interested them intensely, but the woman kept hurrying her husband along.

"Hurry up, John," she would say; "we don't want to miss the hippopotamus. We may never get a chance to see another of 'em."

Seeing the hippopotamus was the main object of the expedition evidently. And at last they came to the tank cage where the great, sleepy, piglike animal sprawled. The old woman looked at him a full minute, and her face relapsed into the bitterness of disappointed hope.

"My!" she muttered as she turned away. "Ain't he plain?"

An Ottawa Pioneer.

Back in the early 40's, when the heart of the present city of Ottawa was farm land, and the struggling village along the river was called By-town, that section of the country belonged to the district of Dalhousie, of which Perth was the chief town.

In those early days By-town was fortunate in having a number of able men among its citizens, who devoted a large part of their time to public affairs. Among these was John Scott, a young lawyer who went there from Brockville in 1845, and opened a law office on Rideau street. He immediately interested himself in municipal affairs and was elected the first mayor of By-town, in 1847.

The first town council was composed of men whose names are inseparably connected with the early history of the capital and whose splendid work in those days laid the foundation of the present fine city.

In 1850, By-town was legally incorporated a town, although it had been called such for three years, and in that year John Scott was again elected chief magistrate. Later he was chosen as a candidate for Parliament and elected.

Soon afterward he was appointed county judge for a district in western Ontario and went to Goderich to live. His career, however, was cut short, as he died in 1856 when he was just in the prime of his manhood and when his services were of inestimable value to the country.

Many of the older residents of the capital remember Mayor Scott and always speak in the highest terms of his sterling character, ability and devotion to the welfare of the town during the strenuous days before it was selected as the capital of Canada.

CAUSE OF LABOR UNREST

Economists have been attempting to discover a theory for the present unrest and discontent in Great Britain. It was thought an explanation might be forthcoming in the increased cost of living. An enquiry into the matter has shown that the trouble is twofold.

It is undoubtedly true that the cost of living has increased. So has the average of wages. But the former increase has been much greater than the latter. Mr. Asquith the other day made this fact clear. If the year 1900 be taken as the standard, as it may fairly be, and the cost of food and drink and the average of wages in that year be set down as 100, the cost of food and drink in 1911 was 111.6, and the average of wages was 100.3. The former had risen 11.6 and the latter only .3 per cent. That difference has doubtless been keenly felt in a country where the margin of earnings above the cost of the necessaries of life is always narrow.

If, however, taking a somewhat more extended view, we retain 1900 as the standard year and turn back to 1882, we find that then the cost of living was as high as 142.2, while wages were only 85.8. That is to say, the cost of living was then 30.5 points higher than last year, and the average of wages was 14.5 points lower than last year. It is impossible to escape the conclusion, therefore, that the condition of workingmen was considerably worse then than it is now. Moreover, those conditions were not confined to that single year. From 1879 to 1893 the cost of living only once fell below 109, while only twice did the average of wages rise above 90, and most of the time it was below 85. Surely, discontent should have been more marked and general then than now, if the contrast between cost of living and rate of wages had been its chief cause.

It will probably be correct to ascribe the unrest and discontent in Great Britain and also elsewhere, partly to that cause, but also to various others of widely differing natures.

In more than one country political agitation and the formation of labor parties must be held to be largely responsible. Thus in Great Britain and France extensive strikes have been fomented for the express purpose of demoralizing the functions of government and of forcing the government itself into complete subservience to the dictates of labor. Such movements generally spring not from distress but from prosperity among workingmen.

The discontent must be therefore reckoned, not as economic alone, but also as political and in the latter case it will command far less sympathy than in the former.

Editorial Notes

Buffalo News: It has remained for a Canadian to demonstrate how motoring can be made profitable as well as pleasurable. A St. Catharines autoist paid a farmer $65 for a cow which his machine ran down and then sold the carcass for $85. Farmers now will have a genuine reason for regarding the autoist with distrust.

It appears that a person who heroically saves a human life at risk of his own cannot get the medal of the Royal Humane society unless he applies for it. This is an unjust, and indeed an absurd condition. An honor that has to be asked for might be considered by many to be an honor that is not worth asking for.

When was coal discovered? The London Daily Chronicle thinks that Britain led the world in making use of coal for heating purposes. In 1234 Henry III granted a charter for the mining of coal, and some twenty years before that the Haddingtonshire monks had found that their fires gave out a gentler heat when lumps of coal were used with wood. In 1306 parliament gratified the wood merchants by prohibiting the use of coal, but they put up their prices in a scandalous manner and the act was repealed.

About three years ago, says Popular Mechanics, Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Sr., decided that one of the best ways to fight the spread of the white plague would be the erection of sanitary homes for the poor. Therefore, she selected a site on the East River, New York, taking in most of the space between East Seventy-seventh and East Seventy-eighth streets, and had plans drawn for a type of apartment building that may well serve as a model for the world. The buildings are now completed and are said to be beyond criticism from a hygienic or any other point of view.

WOMEN'S AILMENTS CAUSED BY NEGLECT

Proper Treatment Will Quickly Bring Back Robust Health and Good Spirits.

Women are on the whole more sickly than men. One reason is that their system is more complicated; another and more important reason is that they put off measures of relief too long. At the beginning, constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of womens ailments. The blood becomes weakened and polluted the nerves suffer and a run-down condition takes root.

Because of their mildness of action as a system regulator, because of their undoubted power to remove constipation, irregularities, no medicine for women can compare with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. The kidneys quickly respond to the remedial action of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and the result is as you would expect — pain in the back and side, shortness of breath and bad color disappear— the functions of the body then operate naturally, congestion and pain are prevented, and perfect health returns.

Thousands of happy women say Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the greatest and best blood-purifier, the finest complexion renewer, the most certain regulating medicine known. All dealers in 25c boxes, or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

WHERE IS THE SANITARY INSPECTOR?

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I understand we have a man to look after the sanitary conditions of the city. If so, he appears to either be too busy or else is neglecting his duties. Which is it?

MR. STRATTON CALLED FOR.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—There have been many reports in all the papers about a general election next year early, for the Commons. I just want to say that there is only one man in the Liberal party who can carry the west riding and that is the Hon. James Robert Stratton. The party ought to get together and give him an ovation, and a unanimous nomination at once.

COWARDLY ATTACK ON A YOUNG ORANGEMAN

Returning From 12th of July Parade Is Rotten Egged and Stoned at Indian River.

On the evening of July 12th, as a young Orangeman, who resides in South Dummer, was returning home on the eight o'clock train, (having missed the earlier train) he was met at Indian River station by a pack of cowardly men, who assaulted him with rotten eggs, while on his way to get his horse at Mr. Hall's.

When he got under cover he armed himself with stones which he picked up in the stable yard, and when he again came within range he was once more assaulted. He then turned on his pursuers who numbered a dozen or more, and charged at them single handed. They scattered, hiding behind packing boxes and everything that afforded shelter. Our informant states that the patriotic follower of King William did not take his colors off, either.

A HUSBAND'S DUTY

He Owes It to His Family to Have His House in Order.

PROVISION FOR THE FUTURE.

A Few Very Sensible and Very Practical Suggestions to the Man Who Doesn't Stop to Think About What May Happen When He is Gone.

There are any number of men who are the most indulgent of husbands and fathers, providing a good living for their families and who yet live up to the limit of their incomes, with never a thought for the future and never an effort to protect their loved ones and their homes in case of their death.

To such men, as well as to those who are provident, but who keep putting off the arrangement of their business affairs to meet such an emergency, the following sensible suggestions by Willis Frederick Dix in the New York Independent may be of interest:

Is your house really in order? Outwardly, perhaps, yes, since your wife is a good housekeeper, but how about your own personal affairs? Your lawyer has perhaps drawn your will for you, and your personal accounts are businesslike, but have you looked that will over recently, and in the case of your death is there some one in your household who is sufficiently familiar with your account book to understand your system?

Have you tried to imagine just what condition would exist in your family immediately after your death, and have you carefully provided for that condition? These and a number of similar questions must be answered satisfactorily before you can say that your house is really in order.

The following are a few practical suggestions which, if you think them over and act upon them, may be the means of saving you or your family from some seriously inconvenient plight or actual trouble and loss.

First of all, make a point of keeping your wife (or some member of your household) familiar with your system of personal accounts. Let her know where your safety deposit box is, where you keep the key, where your letter file relating to these business matters is kept and just what your relation to your business is. You know it is quite possible that you will die sometime.

Keep your fire insurance policies in your safety deposit box, where they will not be burned with your house, and keep in the same package with them, plans and specifications of your house, so that the fire insurance companies can know definitely just how much it would cost to replace it. With your furniture insurance policy keep a detailed inventory of your household effects, with statement of their values. It would be impossible for you to do this from memory after the goods have been destroyed, and much needless trouble would necessarily ensue without such a list. And do not rely wholly upon your agent to renew your policies as they expire. Keep a list of the dates of expiry in your account book, where you will see them frequently.

Suppose you should be run over and killed today. Have you looked into the law of your state to ascertain whether or not your safety box would be sealed, and if it would be sealed are there any documents in it which your family would need before it were officially opened by your executors in the presence of a state officer? Your executors may take a year to settle up your estate. How about ready money for the use of your family?

When a man draws up his will it is seldom that he appreciates the fact that his cash in bank and the interest accrued on his investments up to the date of his death become principal and cannot be used by his family to pay their current expenses following his death.

An excellent way for a man to be sure that his family, upon his death, will have ready money at once, free from all complications, is to take out, in addition to his regular insurance, a policy for say $1,000 or $2,000 in favor of his wife or some member of his family.

This sum will have nothing to do with the legal formalities necessary in connection with the settling up of the estate and can be immediately collected and put in use.

PRANK OF A BASEBALL.

Funny Stunt That Once Won a Game For the Washingtons.

Following is an interesting story told by Hugh S. Fullerton in the American Magazine, in an article describing freak plays that have won baseball games:

"On the old Washington grounds, when Washington was in the National league, the players left the field by passing under the stands, and the entrance to the passage was closed by a cellar door arrangement which sloped down to the ground. The doors, of course, were kept closed during games, but at the top, cut in the planks of the stand, was a small square hole to permit the players to reach through and unlatch the doors when they desired to leave the field.

"During one game I saw a ball, which had been thrown wild to the plate in an effort to cut off the tying run, roll up the doors and disappear through that hole. The batter circled the bases and scored the winning run. The Chicago club, under Anson, was beaten and protested the game on the ground that the opening existed in violation of the rules. In the investigation of the complaint an attempt was made to force a ball through the hole, and, although it was pounded with a bat, the ball refused to pass through the hole until the cover gave way.

"After that almost every team that came on the grounds tried to put balls through the hole and failed. How that thrown ball managed to twist its way through the aperture never has been explained satisfactorily."

Rudest Man of His Age.

John Hunter, the famous British surgeon, anatomist, physiologist and medical writer, who died in 1793, was one of the rudest men of his age. He returned home late one evening from his round of professional calls and found his wife entertaining a few friends. Grimly he walked into the center of the room, stopped and looked around. "I knew nothing of this kick up," he said, "and I ought to have been informed. As I have returned home for the purpose of studying, I hope the present company will retire at once." They [illegible]

WHAT ONE LADY SAW

FRANCES SHELLEY'S DIARY IS GIVEN TO THE WORLD.

An Englishwoman Who Lived Through the Troublous Days of the War With Bonaparte Kept a Journal Which Has Just Been Published and Many Interesting Sidelights Are Thrown on Men of That Day.

The diary of Frances Lady Shelley, 1787-1817, has just been published by John Murray of London, England.

Gratitude is due to the grandson who has discovered these notes of his grandmother and at last put them into print. Frances Lady Shelley was born at an exciting moment. She grew up, married, and saw the things that happened in those wondrous years of the opening of the 19th century.

She had had the tumultuous father who after two or three bottles of port played all sorts of mad pranks, "and on one occasion insisted on taking me out of my bed in the middle of the night and carried me in his coach with four black horses, his servants in tawny orange liveries, to Blackpool." She was then four years old. The tumultuous father renounced his Lancashire residence because a Mr Horrocks, a cotton spinner, forestalled him in the purchase of a turbot. "This was to much for my father's sense of dignity. He pronounced Preston no longer a fit place for a gentleman to live in."

The most notable feature of these diaries is perhaps the notes on the Duke of Wellington, of whom Lady Shelley was an enthusiastic worshipper and an oft-chosen companion. She gives us many unfamiliar glimpses of the duke, who was not always iron. At a banquet at Wanstead House to celebrate his return from the Peninsula, his health was proposed by the Prince Regent.

When the duke rose to reply he had a broad smile on his face, and seemed to regard all the pageantry and the honors of that day as nonsense and fun. It seemed as though all these honors concerned anyone rather than himself. At last the duke began: "I want words to express ——." The Prince Regent promptly interposed, "My dear fellow, we know your actions, and we will excuse your words, so sit down." This the duke did, with all the delight of a schoolboy who has been given an unexpected holiday.

And the same evening Wellington paid a compliment to the general he had not then met. "I think," he said, "if Bonaparte had attacked in person when first we entered Spain, we should have been beat." And he added "that if the option were given him of fighting Bonaparte with an equal number of troops, or any other general with 20,000 more troops, he should choose the latter." He had to put it to the test, without the option, within the year. Lady Shelley was off to Paris with her husband to find the duke after Waterloo. It was a time of turmoil and change.

We reached Paris at eleven in the morning, and occupied apartments in the Hotel de Napoleon—or "Bourbon," or "Louis Dix-huit," or "de la Paix," for it enjoyed all those names during the first week we inhabited it.

And the duke saved the Bridge of Jena which the Prussians wanted to destroy, by the simple device of posting an English sentry upon it:

The Prussians tried hard to get rid of the sentry, for they were determined to blow up the bridge. But the sentry would not leave his post. "You may blow up the bridge if you like," said he, "but I don't stir from here."

In Paris the duke took Lady Shelley (always curious) to see Copenhagen—the famous horse—in the stables. "The duke rode Copenhagen on June 17, over 60 miles! on the 18th he rode Copenhagen throughout the entire battle; and next day to Brussels, where, on the duke dismounting, this noble animal kicked up his heels and scampered half over the town before he was caught. You think of the "Iron Duke," but take this entry of the confession of the duke to a young woman:

"I hope to God," he said one day, "that I have fought my last battle. It is a bad thing to be always fighting. While I am in the thick of it I am too much occupied to feel anything, but it is wretched just after. It is quite impossible to think of glory. Both mind and feelings are exhausted. I am wretched even at the moment of victory and I always say that, next to a battle lost, the greatest misery is a victory gained."

Lady Shelley went some months afterwards to see the field of Waterloo, and found in the village the bed on which the duke had slept. "I fear," she notes, "one cannot hope that its hostess' affection for the duke is altogether disinterested, as she will certainly make her fortune by his association with that house. She owns that she hid herself in the cellar during the battle. It was a remarkable fact that not one of the houses in the village was touched."

The village that gave its name to one of the decisive battles of the world! But Lady Shelley saw and talked with many others besides her hero. Here is a sketch of Nelson—it is drawn from the Lady Spencer of the period and the Admiralty:

The first time I ever saw Nelson was in the drawing-room at the Admiralty, and a most uncouth creature I thought him. He was just returned from Teneriffe, after having lost his arm. He looked so sickly it was painful to see him; and his general appearance was that of an idiot.

But there was a dinner, just before Nelson went off to fight the battle of the Nile. He handed his wife in to dinner, and his attentions were those of a lover. He sat by her "apologising to me by saying that he was so little with her that he would not voluntarily lose an instant of her society."

Horrible Examples.

Slang not only becomes English, but sound English becomes slang. When Landor was reading "Aurora Leigh" he wrote to John Forster that it was a great poem, "but there are a few flies on its surface." From that it is some distance to the contemporary lyric:

There are no flies on me.
There may be on you
A bushel or two.
There are no flies on me.

So when the poet Henley complained "there's a wheel within my head" he little knew what a horrific future his metaphor was to see.—Collier's.

CATCHING THE NOVICE

BRITISH COMMONS IS FULL OF QUEER OLD CUSTOMS.

Pitfalls and Embarrassments Await the New Member Who Is Learning the Rules—When to Wear and When to Doff One's Hat Is a Study In Itself—King's Assent Given In Norman French—The Sacred Bar.

Centuries come and centuries go, but the British Parliament remains as youthful and virile as in the faraway days when Abbott and Prior answered the summons to Westminster to help in the making of our laws; and it still observes forms and ceremonies which had their birth when Knights of the Shire rode, with escort of squire and page, to join in its deliberations.

The very language it uses recalls the time when Norman-French was the tongue of Court and Castle. To-day the King's Assent, which transforms a Parliamentary Bill into a law of the land, is announced in words familiar to our earliest Edwards: "Le Roy le veult"; and "Soit fait comme il est desire"; and, if by any chance the King should think fit to refuse his assent, the fact would be delicately disclosed in the words "Le Roy s-avisera" "The King will consider it.")

If you should chance to be in the Palace of Westminster when the Commons rise after their day's labors, your ears would be assailed with the quaint cry, "Who goes home?" shouted in stentorian tones in lobbies and corridors, just as in past centuries, when the roads leading to Westminster were the haunts of footpads and cut-throats, it was the rallying cry which brought together members whose journey home lay in the same direction, so that they might walk together for mutual safety.

Guy Fawkes has been dust for three centuries, but still, on the first day of a new session, the vaults beneath the Parliament House are explored in every corner by men carrying unlighted lanterns, in broad daylight, to make sure that no powder barrels are there to elevate our legislators to "another place."

The Speaker, too, advances to his chair with low obeisance exactly as his predecessors of centuries ago made reverent bows to the altar of St. Stephen's Chapel, in front of which for three hundreds years the Commons chair stood.

And these are but few of the many customs and traditions of Parliament which have defied time through the ages, and which will probably be observed as carefully a thousand years hence as to-day.

A quaint place, truly, is our Imperial Parliament with its time-crusted rules and regulations which carry the mind back through the centuries; rules, many of which have never been reduced to words, but are none the less binding on that account. No wonder the legislative novice is driven to his wits' end by the perplexities of his new environment, or that he is reduced to despair by shouts of "Order! order!" for the breaking of rules of which he is as ignorant as a newborn infant.

"How can I learn the rules of the House?" a desperate new member once asked Parnell. "Only by breaking them," was the answer. And it is, indeed, only by this painful process that a member can learn his way through the mazes of Parliamentary etiquette. Even such an "old hand" as Mr. Gladstone was called to order more than once during the last year of his life at Westminster; and Mr. W. H. Smith, when leader of the House, actually incurred penalties of $7,500 by breaking the rule that a member, appointed to an office of profit under the crown, must not enter, much less speak, in the House without first being re-elected by his constituents.

There is probably no Chamber in England which has quite the same sacred, exclusive character as that in which the Commons hold their deliberations. Across the entrance to it runs a brass-rod, known as the "bar," raised about half an inch above the level of the floor, and over this line no foot must pass while the House is sitting, unless it be that of a member or one of a small number of officials.

Even a messenger, with a letter or telegram to deliver, may not put foot across this "rubicon." He must hand his missive to some M.P. within reach, and thus it passes from hand to hand to its destination.

It is, too, a grave breach of decorum for any legislator to pass between the Speaker and a member addressing the House. The imaginary line that links Speaker and orator is almost as sacred as the "bar" itself; and if a member, anxious to reach his seat, cannot approach it by a roundabout way, he must either wait until the speech is ended, or, at the expense of his dignity, he must, with bent body and nimble step, cross the sacred "line" with a rush.

There is no rule of Parliament so puzzling to the neophyte as that of the hat. When he enters or leaves the Chamber he must have an uncovered head, though he may sit with hat on head as long as he will. When he addresses the House he is equally uncovered, unless he has occasion to speak while the bells are ringing for a division. At such a time, if he wishes to address the chair on a point of order, he must do so seated, and with his hat on.

It is a serious misdemeanor for one member to address or to refer to another by name during debate, except when the House is in Committee, when it is proper to address the chairman as "Mr. ——"; and no doubt the punctilious courtesy which prescribes such forms of address as "The right honorable" or "Honorable gentlemen the member for ——"; adds to the dignity of the greatest legislative assembly in the world.

The Speaker has been addressed by nervous orators by a wide range of appellatives, from "Mr. Mayor" to "your reverence," but the only proper forms are "Mr. Speaker" and "Sir."

Just How He Felt.

Mr. Meekins was habitually all that the first syllable of his name might imply, but a day came when the worm turned at last and spoke his mind freely to that other member of the domestic firm who had assumed leadership. Mrs. M. stood aghast and then remarked ominously:

"Timothy, you'd regret those words if you should suddenly lose your wife."

"Oh, I don't want to lose her," came the cheerful retort, "but there are times when I'd like very much to mislay her for a few hours."

DWARFS OF HISTORY.

Little Men Who Gained Great Favor With Kings and Queens.

One of the most celebrated dwarfs of past times was Jeffery Hudson, who was born at Oakham, Rutlandshire, England, in 1619. At eight years of age, when the Duke of Buckingham took him under his protection, he was only 18 inches high, which he did not exceed until he reached the age of 30, when he sprang up to 3 feet 9 inches, which he never exceeded. Soon after the marriage of Charles I. he was presented to the Queen, by whom he was kept for the amusement of the court, once being served up as a venison pie. When the pie was opened out stepped Jeffery in all the dignity of his 18 inches, and made a courtly obeisance to the astonished and delighted Queen, who, in response to the little man's appeal to be taken into her service, promptly granted the request.

In a duel that he fought his antagonist at first took the affair as a joke and appeared on the ground armed only with a squirt, which so enraged the little man that a real encounter with pistols was arranged, resulting in David killing the Goliath. Hudson died, at the age of 63, while in prison for his alleged connection with the popish plot.

No less celebrated was Richard Gibson, a dwarf, who came into the world four years before Hudson. His ability as an artist was of a high order. He married Ann Sheppard, court dwarf to Queen Henrietta Mary, the King giving away the bride and the Queen presenting her with a diamond ring. Waller, the court poet, wrote one of his pretty sets of verses on the occasion. The marriage turned out a complete success in every way, and the little couple had nine children, five of whom were of full ordinary stature. Gibson lived to be 75 years of age, his good lady surviving him for fifteen years.

Another notable dwarf was Joseph Borulwaski, the Pole, of whose debut an interesting tale is told. As a boy of 15, when he was just one inch better than a two-foot rule, Borulwaski was presented to the Empress Maria Theresa, who was so charmed by his good looks and grace that she seated him on her lap and gave him a hearty kiss. To the Queen's question as to what be considered the most interesting sight in Vienna, the dwarf replied: "What I now behold, so little a man on the lap of so great a lady." This speech rendered the little fellow a great favorite.

He became a special favorite of Stanilaus II., who took him to England and introduced him to George III., and for more than half a century Borulwaski made his home at the English court.

This dwarf, who at his tallest was a yard and three inches, had a sister whose head just reached her big brother's shoulders. Borulwaski was not only a handsome and courtly man, but a scholar of repute. He lived in five reigns, and was laid to rest in Dunham in 1837, side by side with the Falstaffian Stephen Kemble.

Belting Cement.

Probably one of the most important parts connected with the manufacture of belting is the composition of the cement that holds the pieces together. One firm maintains a staff of specialists who work constantly in a well equipped laboratory, testing and improving this important cement and the various other chemical preparations used in making leather belting.

A REMARKABLE MAN.

Earl of Durham Was an Ardent Builder of Empire.

One of the most interesting and remarkable characters conspicuous in the political history of Canada is the Earl of Durham He was Governor-General of Canada for about five months, and he never held another post in the colonial service, and yet he solved the problem of colonial government and laid down the lines on which government in Canada has been carried on, almost from his time down to the present day, and have been applied, not only to Canada, but to every self-governing dominion beyond the seas. That they are self-governing is because Lord Durham's doctrine has been accepted and put into practice. Lord Durham's pointed the way, and other have followed it.

Baldwin and Lafontaine are commonly spoken of as the apostles of the principle of responsible government. And so they were. They taught it to the people of Upper and Lower Canada, and won its acceptance at the polls. The Earl of Elgin put it into practice. And here is another link connecting Lord Durham with Canadian public life, for the Earl of Elgin was the son-in-law of the Earl of Durham, and to the son-in-law fell the task of giving effect to the plan the father-in-law had designed.

For other reasons besides that of being the foundation-builder of the true colonial policy, can the Earl of Durham be called a remarkable man. His character and his work are the subject of a sketch by Mr. C. P. Lucas, published in a recent issue of The Royal Colonial Institute Journal. Writing of the man, Mr. Lucas says that the Earl of Durham was "made up of strangely contradictory elements. He was an aristocrat of the aristocrats, and at the same time a Radical of the Radicals. While he was a pronounced Radical he was a no less pronounced Imperialist. . . . The fact of his having been from childhood master of a great inheritance, couple with indifferent health, probably accounted for some of his characteristics. He was arrogant, overbearing and pompous, an uncomfortable bedfellow for his colleagues."

His achievements in the public life of Great Britain were not conspicuous. "He had, it is true, taken a prominent part in shaping the first Reform bill, and he was a recognized leader of the Radical Wing of the Whig Party." The only political office he ever held in England was the nominal one of Lord Privy Seal in the Ministry of his father-in-law, Lord Grey; and for two years he was Ambassador to Russia. And still, writes Mr. Lucas, "he was beyond question a master builder; and yet he did not build himself, but taught others to build. . . His name lives solely as that of the author of a most notable report on Canada. ."

In his youth he had served in the army. For his entrance into the Lower Canadian capital he put on the gorgeous uniform of a full general. Then mounting a white charger, and surrounded by a large and brilliant military staff, he rode through the streets of Quebec to the Castle of St. Louis, then the residence of the Governor-General. When he rode out on subsequent occasions his staff, it is said, was almost as showy as that of an Eastern Prince. "The magnificent appointments of Lady Durham's drawing-room were a marvel; royal feasts were given at Castle St. Louis. And all the time Durham was half an invalid, confined to the house for days, with the shadow of his early death already upon him."

A Safe Bet.

He was showing his friends his new watch, made of the new metal, unbreakable—cost him six hundred dollars.

His seven friends were dubious of its tensile strength.

"Tell you what we do, boys," he said. "You put up five dollars each against my six hundred dollar watch. I'll put it to the test. If it breaks I'll lose the watch. All you'll lose is the thirty-five."

They didn't think it out quite clearly, but the wager was made.

He hurled the watch against a brick wall. It broke into a thousand pieces.

"Well, boys, I lose the six hundred dollar watch," he said with a long face as he gathered up the money; dumbfounded they saw him do it. Knowing that all was not right they examined what was left of the watch; it wasn't even nickel-plated.

T. Ambrose Woods, Toronto, whose horse Kelvin won the King's plate, tells the story; he was one of the contributors.—Canadian Courier.

Workman's Fortune.

A fortune of $400,000 was left by a Sheffield workman, John Smith, who died recently at the age of seventy-seven after forty-five years of active work which had never brought him more than $600 a year. The foundation of his fortune was the sum of $1,000, painfully saved in pennies and invested in stock of his employer's concern, which rose to a value of $75,000 in fifteen years.

No Military Needed.

Thomas McKean, chief justice of Pennsylvania, was a man of gigantic stature and a fiery temper.

A mob in Philadelphia defied the efforts of the sheriff to disperse it. He so reported to Justice McKean, then sitting in full court.

"Have you read the riot act?"

"Yes, your honor. It had no effect."

McKean's eyes flashed dangerously. "Have you ordered out the military?"

"Yes. Shall I fire on them?"

"No; I'll disperse them."

McKean rose and rushed out of the court in his wig and gown, his face flushed with passion, into the midst of the riotous mob.

"I am Thomas McKean, chief justice, and I command you to disperse!" So saying, he seized two of the ringleaders, literally tucked them under his arms and returned to the court, while the crowd crept home, silent as frightened sheep.—Green Bag.

Progressing.

"I understand your boy Josh is experimenting on the lines of perpetual motion."

"Yes," replied Farmer Corntossel. "And I feel some encouraged about it. I thought for awhile that the only thing Josh was going to take in was perpetual rest."—Washington Star.

Dr. A. H. U. Colquhoun.

Dr. A. H. U. Colquhoun has been elected president of the Canadian Club of Toronto. It is a position that does not go by promotion nor by election, as a president is selected each year from among the members by a representative committee created for the special purpose of finding the best men available. An excellent choice has been made on this occasion. Mr. Colquhoun is Deputy Minister of Education for Ontario, was a gold medalist of McGill, and received an honorary LL.D. from Queen's. In journalism he occupied a place in the front rank before accepting the post of Deputy Minister. While he is a Conservative he is more a student than a combatant in politics and is a recognized authority on Canadian political history.

Dr. Colquhoun, aide from being a collector of Canadian books and pamphlets, seeks diversion from his official duties in long country walks, in an occasional game of golf at the Lambton Club, and in trout and bass fishing.

Bunkoed.

"Hans," said Gottlieb as they reached a pause in the conversation, "dit you efer puy a golt brick?"

"Nein, nein!" replied Gottlieb. "I nefer puyed a golt brick, but once I puyed vat I fought vas one."—Everybody's.

If we did but know how little some enjoy the great things that they possess there would not be much envy in the world.

The Moral.

"The persistency with which children see in a fable some other moral than the one which it is intended that they shall see is often distressing," remarks a Philadelphia instructor of the young. "I had recited to one little boy the story of the wolf and the lamb and had followed it up with the remark:

"'And now you see, Tommy, that the lamb would not have been eaten by the wolf if he had been good and sensible.'

"'Yes, I understand,' said Tommy. 'If the lamb had been good and sensible we should have had him to eat!'" —Lippincott's.

The Turkish Bride.

The Turkish bride spends about a week in dancing and wild, happy life before her marriage. Then when she leaves her father's house she kisses his hands and feet. She goes to the groom's home and on his arrival kisses his hand. Then the paint with which her face has been daubed in the week of dancing and frivolity is wiped off and she drinks coffee with her husband—and they are happy ever after.

His First Intimation.

"How did you find out you could draw?" inquired the admirer of the celebrated illustrator.

"By the marks I received in school for the excellence and fidelity of my work," replied the eminent one. "My work was a caricature of my beloved teacher on the blackboard, and the marks came from the teacher's cane."

The Oldest Bank.

The Palazzo San Giorgio on the Piazza Caricamento, Genoa, has played an important role in the history of this Italian city and of the world of business. It was built in 1260 by order of Guglielmo Boccanegra, captain of the republic of Genoa, and, after serving as his residence, was the headquarters of the celebrated company and bank of St. George. Our modern system of banking sprang from this historic edifice, and the Societa delle Comprere di San Giorgio was the first limited liability company. The architect of the place was a monk named Oliviero. Although its architecture has undergone a number of changes the facade still speaks eloquently of the thirteenth century. Its arcades with pointed arches and its windows formed of little columns are exceedingly charming.—Wide World.

When Leather Was Money.

Leather was very early used as a currency, the Romans employing it for this purpose before either gold, silver or brass came into common use. History is full of references showing that leather was used by the ancients as a sort of circulating medium of exchange. It is said on good authority that so late as during the reign of Louis XII. of France the country became so impoverished and as a consequence money was so scarce that little pieces of leather with a small silver nail driven through each were in general use as money. Some few specimens of this leather money are still in existence, but are only to be found in the possession of numismatists, by whom they are highly prized.

Wearing the Wedding Ring.

Centuries ago women used to wear their wedding rings on their thumbs, then the custom changed and they wore them on their first fingers, and then again the custom changed and the method of to-day came into vogue. The custom of wearing the ring on the third finger originated through the ritual of the marriage service. The priest first put the ring on the thumb, saying, "In the name of the Father"; on the forefinger, adding, "in the name of the Son"; on the second finger, repeating, "in the name of the Holy Ghost," and on the third finger, ending with "Amen," and there it stayed.

Like a Miracle.

"The age of miracles has gone," declared the cynic.

"No, it hasn't," said the woman. "My husband told me this morning that he noticed I was wearing last season's hat and gave me money to buy a new one."—Baltimore American.

PHYSIOGNOMY.

How Your Character Is Written In Your Face.

In your forehead and eyes the accomplished character reader scans the pages of an open book. It is you yourself who are telling him of your character, be it stable or unsteady, heroic or cowardly. He knows that if your head is justly proportioned to the rest of your body it reveals steadiness and force of character; if too large, that it usually indicates grossness and stupidity.

If it is too small it tells of feebleness and ineptitude of mind, if not of constitution. The physiognomy of your forehead is seen in the form of the frontal bone, its height and proportion, regularity or irregularity. This indicates the disposition and measure of your facilities, your method of thinking and feeling. Pathognomy is to be studied in the skin, its color, tension, and relaxation. It gives evidence of the passions, the actual state of the spirit within, and the use it has made of its natural gifts.

Foreheads seen in profile may be divided into three broad classes—those that are projecting above, flat on the eyebrows, those retreating from behind well-developed brows, and those perpendicular. Generally speaking, people with prominent eyebones act promptly, on the judgment, perhaps the passion of the moment. But they err very seldom, for their gifts of intuition and extremely rapid deduction guide them rightly.

High foreheads, lacking in this quick spirit, pause and consider the matter before taking action, and, being less imaginative, less passionate, less resourceful and tactful, they cannot afford to make mistake.

The man of action has a short forehead and prominent brows; the man of intellect high, well-developed temples. A forehead square on the temples and retreating into the hair on either side is indicative of lasting memory and well-balanced judgment.

The typical forehead of a leader of men is that of Viscount Kitchener—short, compressed, with prominent eye-bones and thick, straight brows, square and receding on the temples. People with this manner of forehead cannot fail to judge character of circumstances with quickness and accuracy; they store away observations in a retentive memory and act on conclusions with promptness and decision.

It is singular to note that Bismarck and Li Hung Chang both showed the distinctive signs of immense cuteness and genius for intrigue—namely, the eye-bones that project so sharply as to cause the hair of the brows to bristle outwards—and the careers of these two statesmen stand in corroboration.

But it is the eyes of the individual which afford most reward to the character-reader.

Eyes are the mirror of the soul. Dividing them into two general classes—light and dark—it may be safely put forward that the dark indicate power, the light delicacy.

Black eyes, it may be stated, are not really black, but of so deep an orange that they seem black contrasted with the white surrounding them. Sometimes they appear dull and sluggish, but the passions they denote are only slumbering. With sparkling black eyes the mental faculties of the individual are brisk and his temperament is vivacious. Clear blue eyes mark the possessor of temperate desires, and, other intellectual indications being equal, what they may lack in power and passion stands for versatility and subtlety. Green eyes, though often fascinating, are dangerous, for they are the token of deceit and coquetry; while the hazel eye shows steadiness and the capacity for constant affection.

A Correction.

In our issue of yesterday, a notice appeared regarding the funeral of the late Mortimer B. Mowry, and the name was given as C. C. Mowry and was used by mistake. It was from the latter's home that the funeral took place.

Sacred Heart Social.

The annual social and garden party in connection with the congregation of the Sacred Heart church, took place yesterday afternoon, and was largely attended. A choice program of music was furnished by the 57th Band.

Dr. Yelland's Appointment.

Dr. S. Yelland, who has been assistant to Dr. Frank Neal for the past year, has been appointed assistant house surgeon for St. Michael's Hospital at Toronto. Dr. Yelland will commence his new duties on August 1st.

The Fishing Fine.

Mr. Clarence Bell, son of Dr. Alex Bell, formerly of Apsley, dropped into The Times yesterday on his way to the lakes. Mr. Bell reports fishing excellent, not only in Stoney Lake, but also in Cedar Lake, where he has his summer cottage.

An Enjoyable Trip.

The moonlight excursion last night under the auspices of the Letter-Carriers Association, per steamer Stoney Lake, was a most enjoyable affair. There was a full boat load, with music by a first-class orchestra. Dancing was a feature of the occasion.

Increased Building Operations.

The financial Post, in dealing with the building operations in Canada for the first six months of the year, reports Peterborough with $187,558, an increase of $1,072 over that period for 1911. Peterborough permits in June of this year amounted to $67,095, and showed an increase over June, 1911, of $41,942.

Return Their Thanks.

The family of the late Mortimer B. Mowry desire to return their thanks through The Times to the G. Walter Green Company for closing down their works in order to permit their employees to attend the obsequies in a body, and also their many friends for flowers.

Lindsay Cement Prices.

Lindsay Council recently advertised for tenders for walks, and received one at 9 cents per square foot for walks and also for crossings, town to supply stone and expansion joints to be left open for filling. This, we are informed, is considerably lower than similar work is being done for in Peterborough.

Business Men's Outing.

What is known as the annual business men's excursion will take place this afternoon to Idyl Wyld, per steamer Stoney Lake. The boat will leave the Wolfe street wharf at 1.30 and the lower wharf at 2 p.m. The Times is requested to state that all who have been invited are expected to be on hand on time. This is the fifteenth annual spasm, and the guests are assured of a whole deck load of fun.

Big Excursion Coming.

Bricklayers to the extent of some twelve to fourteen hundred, will invade the city on Saturday next, and extensive preparations are being made for their entertainment during their sojourn here. The visitors, representing the Bricklayers' Union, of Toronto, will be accompanied by a large proportion of the fair sex and children, and it is expected that they will arrive about 10 a.m., on Saturday morning. A program of sports has been arranged.

A Cold Winter Coming?

An Examiner scribe seems somewhat excited over a full grown grey rat which appeared on George street yesterday during business hours, making its way to a fur store. My dear boy, that is one of nature's unerring signs of a cold winter ahead. That rat was no doubt in the act of laying in a stock of furs for next winter. Speaking of rats, this great family journal can point one out almost any time, eating from the open garbage boxes and pails in the laneway adjoining The Times building. This is not intended as a pointer to the Sanitary Inspector.

Birchcliff Park.

The Times had a call yesterday from Mr. W. J. Archibald, owner of Birchcliff Park, Toronto, a valuable property that was surveyed into building lots and placed on the market in May last. Mr. Archibald has already disposed of 34 of the 94 lots and expects to close out the entire section during the summer. The location of Birchcliff Park is unsurpassed, and those who are fortunate enough to get in now are sure to be winners. Mr. Archibald proposes to place some of these splendid lots for sale in Peterborough in the near future.

An Example for Peterborough.

The Council in committee took up the town solicitor's letter, read at the regular meeting, regarding the removal of telephone and telegraph poles from the streets. It was pointed out during the discussion that the companies were waiting instructions from the town in order to go ahead and bury their wires and in all probability the municipality would be asked to bear the cost of the undertaking. After some discussion, the Town Solicitor was instructed to write to the telephone and telegraph companies regarding the removal of poles, the request to be worded in such a manner as to exempt the town from any liability in the matter.

A Clever Young Musician.

Peterborough has good reason to feel satisfied over the success which attended her students at the recent musical examinations in Toronto, amongst whom were Miss Aileen, the twelve year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Braund, who made a splendid showing for a child of her years, as indicated in the results of the Entrance and Toronto College of Music examinations. This clever young artist has a brilliant future as a musician. Although handicapped by illness at the crucial period when the examinations were on, she nevertheless passed with the greatest credit. The Times joins her many friends in extending its hearty congratulations.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY HELPS

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

C.L.: The hot sun and wind will not injure your skin, even though it is delicate, if you apply a spurmax lotion, each day. This lotion is made by adding 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine to ¼ pint witch hazel (or hot water) then 4 ounces spurmax. Powder and rouge are unnecessary when the spurmax lotion is used, and if you apply the lotion every day you will find that it banishes tan and freckles and dispels the oily, shiny, blotchy condition. The spurmax lotion is invisible when on and is not affected by wind or perspiration.

Dorothy D.: No harm results when delatone is used to banish hairy growths. Just make a paste with some delatone and water spread over hairs and in 2 or 3 minutes remove wash the skin, and every trace of hair or fuzz has vanished. Rarely is it necessary to use more than one application of delatone.

B.A.: Of course you cannot make your hair look bright and pretty because soap was never intended for shampooing, as it causes the hair to grow streaky and brittle. Dissolve a teaspoonful canthrox in a cup of hot water and you will have enough mixture for a delightfully soothing and invigorating shampoo. The lather created by canthrox allays scalp irritation and dissolves dandruff and excess oil, and after rinsing well the hair and scalp are clean and sweet, while the hair dries quickly with a even, rich color and beautiful gloss. Nothing compares with canthrox for keeping the hair silky, brilliant and fluffy in hot weather.

Mrs. J. R.: Boils indicate a poison-laden blood, and you can hope for little relief until the poisons are eliminated from the system. In ½ pint alcohol pour 1 ounce kardene, then put in ½ cupful sugar and hot water to make a quart. Take a tablespoonful before each meal and you will soon be rid of your boils. This tonic will clear up the skin and give you health and energy and should be kept handy in the house, as its use often prevents serious sickness.

I. X. L.: You can obtain quick relief from burning, smarting eyes by frequently dropping 2 or 3 drops of a plain crystos eye-tonic in each eye. This harmless tonic is made by dissolving 1 ounce crystos in a pint of cold water. For soreness or for removing foreign particles as well as for granulated lids, it is unequalled. To dull, listless lids, it will give a youthful charm and sparkle, and its occasional use frequently overcomes the need of wearing glasses.

Esther H.: You cannot expect to have a clear, fair skin so long as you continue using greasy creams and smother the pores with powder. Make up and use this plain almozoin cream jelly, followed by an application of the spurmax lotion (see answer C.L.): Put 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine into ¼ pint cold water, then add 1 ounce almozoin. Let stand for several hours, then apply to skin and massage in well. This almozoin cream-jelly will rid the skin of pimples, blackheads, blotches, fine lines sallowness and other complexion upsets. It also discourages hairy growths.

Grace W.: The discomfort you suffer from overfatness can be easily remedied if you will get 4 ounces parnotis and dissolve in 1½ pints hot water, then take a tablespoonful 3 times a day. This harmless treatment gently dissolves fatty tissues without inconvenience and does not call for dieting or violent exercise. You can reduce your weight to where you want it, and your flesh will be firm and the skin free from wrinkles. No possible danger results from using the parnotis treatment, and there need be no fear of the fat returning once the treatment is discontinued.

X.L.: An excellent hair and scalp tonic for the summer months is made by adding 1 ounce quinzoin to ½ pint water. This almost instantly soothes and stops irritation. Its continued use puts the scalp in a healthy condition and encourages a beautiful growth of silky, brilliant hair. It is a good idea to shampoo occasionally with canthrox (see answer to B.A.) then use the quinzoin tonic once or twice each week.

IRISH ORANGEMEN READY FOR SECOND BATTLE OF THE BOYNE

The Imperial Grand President Makes Fighting Speech at Triennial Council

Great Gathering of Orange Leaders in London, Over 250 Delegates Being Present

London, July 18.—The Triennial Conference of the Imperial Orange Council opened yesterday when some 260 delegates, including among a number of overseas representatives, Frederick Dane, of Ontario, Walter Fee, of Manitoba. A welcome to the delegates was extended by the Rev. David Ness, Grand Master of Scotland. Referring to the Home Rule crisis, he said that members of the Orange Order strongly held to the opinion that the Home Rule Bill had been put before the country before public consent had been asked. Any action Ulster might take to resist the establishment of Home Rule in Ireland would be amply justified, because of the conduct of the present Government. Applause.)

Col. Wallace, Grand Master of Belfast and president, acknowledged the welcome as an Irishman, and as an Ulsterman he could assure them the Orangemen of Ireland did not mean to have Home Rule (loud applause). They had not the slightest intention of submitting to it. He was satisfied that when the time came the men of the present day would be found to be not one whit behind their forefathers, who defeated King James in the Battle of the Boyne (loud cheers). Men of Derry did more than shout "No Surrender!" They prepared for the siege. From what he knew of the feeling of the brethren in Belfast he could say with confidence anybody who attempted to force Home Rule in Ulster would have an uncommonly hot time of it.

John Kennedy, New York, and Bro. Andrew Weir, New York replied for the brethren of the United States. The latter, in reference to Home Rule, said he could assure the brethren of Ireland that in the States there were a hundred thousand stalwart Orangemen who would stand beside them, foot to foot and knee to knee, and in pocket also if need be, to help them wipe out the home rule enemy they wiped out before, and with God's help they would do it again.

SPANISH-PORTUGUESE RELATIONS AGAIN BADLY WRENCHED

Alfonso Keeps His Hands Off Under Protest. England and France Force Neutrality

Madrid, July 18.—Spanish Portuguese relations suffered a violent wrench to-day. They were badly strained previously. If Portugal were strong enough there would be a clash. Some sort of trouble may yet occur if the Portuguese can get foreign backing which is possible.

For some time the Lisbon government has complained that King Alfonso has been encouraging the Royalist rebellion in Northern Portugal. Finally England and France were persuaded to tell him that he ought to maintain neutrality along his side of the frontier.

Furious, but afraid to offend England and France, he made a pretense of doing it.

Evidently, however, the humiliation was too much for Spain to continue bearing indefinitely. It was given out from official sources here to-day that unless Portugal pays for having Portuguese Royalist prisoners arrested on the Spanish side of the frontier and for keeping them after they had been arrested they will be turned loose.

It was added that Spain does not propose to mobilize its entire army to keep the Royalists from going back to Portugal.

The tone of its announcement even more than its substance has enraged the Portuguese republicans and explanations are certain to be demanded.

When It's Hot

You can feel cooler and more comfortable by a little care in regulating diet.

Try this for breakfast and lunch:

A little fruit,
Saucer of GRAPE-NUTS and cream,
A soft boiled or poached egg,
Some crisp toast,
Cup of POSTUM.

Wonderful how much cooler, clearer and snappier one feels on such a breakfast.

GRAPE-NUTS

does not heat the blood.

It is concentrated, easily digested, and contains the rich grain phosphates for rebuilding brain and brawn.

A PRETTY WEDDING

Marriage of Mr. George E. Porter and Miss Susan M. Campbell.

A very pretty wedding took place yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Thomas Campbell, Gilmour street, when her only daughter, Miss Susan Margaret was united in marriage to Dr. Geo. Edwin Porter, Professor of English Literature, Franklin and Marshall Colleges, Lancaster, Pa.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. W. D. Campbell, was handsomely gowned in a robe of white Duchess satin, Chantilly lace, and pearls. The long tulle veil, which was arranged in Juliet style, was caught with orange blossoms, and the bouquet was of white orchids and lily-of-the-valley.

Her only ornament was the gift of the groom, a ring with diamonds and emeralds set in platinum.

The charming little flower girl, Miss Louise Davis, Cleveland, wore a white lace dress and blue silk and carried a basket of roses and lily-of-the-valley.

The wedding march was played by Miss Mabel Clarry and before the ceremony and during the signing of the register, Mr. Norman Jaffe, of New York, sang.

Dr. and Mrs. Porter left on the 4.19 train for New York en route to Guatemala, where for the next two months they will be the guests of the American Consul and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bucklin.

The Montreal Star says that share in a fortune of $25,000,000 in round figures, await those who happen to be descendants of Rev. Dr. Taylor, who was pastor of the United Presbyterian Churches of Montreal, years ago.

Mrs. W. H. Hill is a granddaughter of the late Rev. Dr. Taylor, and if everything goes well, she will share in the immense proceeds from the family estate which is now to be divided up.

The Montreal Star says that difficulty has been experienced in locating three sons, the youngest of whom, the late Dr. W. H. Taylor, of Peterborough, father of Mrs. Hill, would be about 60 years old if now alive.

For the past few days detectives in Montreal have been busy hunting up any who might be heirs of the late Dr. Taylor, and Mr. W. M. Taylor of the C.P.R. of Montreal, brother of Mrs. Hill, has been definitely established as a descendant.

News of the fortune came to Montreal through a letter, addressed to Mayor Lavallee, from Adison Terrace, Grieff, Scotland, the writer explaining that Rev. Dr. Taylor was his grand uncle and that the original family estate is now about to be divided up. The writer was of the opinion that Peter Taylor of Vanderherst was the real claimant for the fortune, apart from other heirs turning up. The claim of Mr. W. M. Taylor, of Montreal, and his sister, Mrs. Hill, however, will now have to be considered.

Mr. McCrea and Mr. Campbell represented Guelph Presbytery and Belliwood congregation, while a large number of Rev. Mr. MacDonald's congregation from Keene and Westwood also attended after the case was presented. Rev. RODE WITH MURDERERS

New York, July 18.—Clues here and there, which are being slowly unearthed, indicate to-day an unfolding of the plot that led to the shooting down of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, who was killed early Tuesday, a few hours before he was to make further revelations regarding his charges that the police grafted on gamblers.

Louis Libby and William Shapiro, owners of the grey automobile which took the murderers to the scene of the shooting, are said to be in possession of information which they propose to reveal to the District Attorney that will indicate that the police system was responsible for the plot to make away with Rosenthal.

Shapiro and Libby say that the car was hired by telephone by Jack Rose a gambler, who with two other men one of whom is known by name of Itzke, boarded the automobile shortly before midnight and were taken up town. On the way Shapiro said he picked up one or two other men.

Shapiro's story of what happened thereafter is being reserved for the District Attorney. Meanwhile detectives are searching for Jack Rose, who is said to be a friend of Lieut. Charles Becker, the police officer, whom Rosenthal involved in his charges of police grafting. Neither Rose nor Itzke has been located.

Fruitless efforts were made early to-day to locate Lieut. Becker, who left his home in the Bronx yesterday afternoon. There were reports in police circles early to-day that Becker had made away with himself, and every effort was made to get trace of the lieutenant.

Becker Turns Up.

Police Lieut. Becker reported at police headquarters shortly before ten o'clock this morning and when told of the report that he had committed suicide, replied:

"I don't look like a suicide—do I?"

He declined to say where he had been during the night.

THE CHINK GAMBLING CASE.

The Grounds for Appeal in the Chinamen's Case Stated.

The Chinese card-playing case is not settled yet. An appeal against the decision of Magistrate Dumble to have the convictions quashed has been entered in Division Court and will be heard in September.

The grounds upon which Mr. J. W. Curry, K.C., counsel for the defendants, intends to enter suit and prosecute are as follows:

1.—That the conviction was contrary to law and the evidence and the weight of evidence.

2.—That the evidence did not disclose the offence charged in information, or any other offence.

3.—That I was refused an opportunity to prepare and present my defence and to adduce evidence on my own behalf.

4.—Upon such further and other grounds as I may be advised to allege.

"Jack" Eller, the great American hurdler, is ready for the opening gun at the Olympic games, which start at Stockholm, Sweden, on July 6. Eller is looked upon to roll up many counts for Uncle Sam's side in the big events.

PETERBOROUGH POSTAL SERVICE TO BE SECOND TO NONE

Plans have been completed for a general re-organization and extension of the collection postal service of the city. Yesterday Mr. Burnham, M.P., Chief Post Office Inspector Ross, and Mr. Edgar, the local postmaster, drove over the city and placed a large number of new letter boxes. An additional collection van will be put on for the collection of letters in the outskirts, and an additional messenger will be put on to collect every two hours in the middle of the City. New arrangements for a more up-to-date handling of correspondence in the post office were also made.

The new boxes and additional collection service ought to add greatly to the convenience of the public. Orders were issued also for repainting and lettering of letter boxes.

It has been determined to provide the best possible facilities for the letter writing public, to economize business. The recent establishment of several new rural routes in addition to the above, will place the West riding of Peterborough in a position second to none in these particulars.

AN ATTEMPT TO KILL PRESIDENT TAFT WITH BOMB?

Washington, July 18.—A circumstantial story of an attempt on the life of President Taft is being denied vigorously early to-day by White House officials and Chief Wilkie, of the Secret Service.

It was said that a bomb, wrapped in a package, was received late yesterday at the executive offices and placed upon the desk of Sherman Allen, one of the White House Assistant Secretaries, who had just been appointed assistant secretary of the Treasury. The package was, of course, intended for the President, but packages and letters never reach him without first passing through the hands of his secretary, and Mr. Allen opened it.

The report was, that as Mr. Allen unwrapped the package, he discovered an infernal machine, said to have been charged with dynamite, and with the fuse a-sputtering, which he quickly extinguished with his hands.

Mr. Allen emphatically denies the story, as do the other White House officials. Chief Wilkie, of the Secret Service, which is charged with guarding the life of the President, also denies it. It has always been the policy of the Secret Service and the White House officials to deny publicity to any incident which savors of an attempt at violence upon the President. Though the story as published is very circumstantial it is pronounced wholly unfounded.

MURDER WAS DONE WITH CONSTABLE ON THE PREMISES

Brantford, Ont., July 18.—Examination by the police up until an early hour this morning of Joe Axon, County Constable Armour, and Susan Frohman, sister of Emily Antone, who was murdered early Tuesday morning in the village of Middleport, revealed the information that both Axon and Armour as well as Susan Frohman, were in the house at the time the crime was committed. The three witnesses have been allowed out on sureties of $500 each. From their story Jack Bennett, the alleged slayer, who is now a fugitive in the woods of the Indian reserve, broke into the house and appeared like a man infuriated with drink. The door of the house was smashed into pieces and Bennett then proceeded to kick and beat his victim to death

DEFENCE COUNCIL WOULD COMMIT THE COLONIES TO IMPERIAL FEDERATION

Daily News, the Liberal Paper, Says It Would Be Better to Adopt Entirely New System When Making Changes ---Council Would Violate Imperial Autonomy

London, July 18.—Conferences with the Admiralty are proceeding apace. Yesterday, while Premier Borden visited Bisley, Australia's representative, George Reid, visited the Admiralty. Interest hourly grows in Winston Churchill's coming naval statement on Monday, although it is known no definite statement concerning the Canadian decision can then be given.

In a previous cable it was stated that Mr. Churchill favored Canada's contribution taking the form of two Dreadnoughts.

Mr. Churchill naturally did not formally ask Premier Borden for two Dreadnoughts. The British Government is making no demands or formal requests which might hamper negotiations. It is true, however, that Mr. Churchill, at the first start of the negotiations, favored Canada's aid taking the form of Dreadnoughts or battle cruisers with their maintenance, he regarding in this as a gift which would supremely impress the world's imagination. This does not imply that the Canadian contribution taking other form would not amply satisfy all British desires.

Commits Colonies to Imperial Federation.

Thursday morning's London papers give England's second thoughts upon Premier Borden's Tuesday speech. They are couched in almost unbroken praise of his spirit. The papers point out, however, that while stating the problem, Mr. Borden, has not suggested the solution.

The Daily News says: "Beginning with an Imperial Council of Defence would be more troublesome than the immediate adoption of an entirely new system. An Imperial Council of Defence, by itself, could not be reconciled with Imperial autonomy, and it would commit the Dominions to Imperial federation."

COUNCIL MAY PROVIDE LIFE BELTS AND GRAPPLING IRONS

Ald. Buller Wants a Swing Bridge Across the River at Rink Street—Sewers Requested By Board of Health Will Be Constructed at Once

The City Fathers met in special session last night to pass a by-law authorizing the prosecution of sewer work endorsed by the Board of Health as a sanitary measure.

There were present Mayor Bradburn, Aldermen Graham, Johnston, Anderson, Gordon, Brown, Duffus, Duncan and Buller.

The application of the cripple who keeps a stand in the alleyway on Hunter street, between LeBrun's store and The Times, that he be permitted to erect a permanent stand at the corner of George and Hunter streets was referred to the Finance Committee.

Sanitary Measures.

The Board of Health recommended that a man be appointed to watch that nothing deleterious is deposited on the dumping ground east of Water street, corner of Charlotte street, from now until September 1st. The chairman of the Board of Works will see that this appointment is made.

The Board of Health's recommendation that the Market Square be cleaned regularly will be complied with.

Sewer By-law.

The Board of Health requested by resolution that sewers be constructed on Brock street from George to Water; on Dalhousie, from Stewart to Rubidge streets; on Concession street, from Carlisle avenue to a point opposite the northern boundary of Lot 48, plan 19A; and on Bethune street, from Simcoe street to Brock street, as they are necessary and desirable in the public interest on sanitary grounds.

The Council is authorized by statute to build any sewers ordered by the Board of Health as sanitary requirements, with or without consent of ratepayers, consequently council passed a by-law to provide for the foregoing work.

Grappling Irons and Life Belts.

Moved by Ald. Gordon, seconded by Ald. Duffus,—That the chairman of the Property Committee consult the member for West Peterborough, and see what the Dominion Government will do in regard to furnishing life belts and grappling irons, to be kept at advertised points in the interest of the public. Ald. Duncan to report back to council.—Carried.

Life belts cost $5.50 each.

Ald. Gordon suggested that irons and life belts be placed at the Quaker Oats plant, Peterborough Locks, Rye's boat house and Crawford's Grove. Death by drowning might be averted through the prompt action in using grappling irons.

Ald. Johnston thought canoists should be compelled to carry life belts.

The Bridge Question.

Moved by Ald. Buller, seconded by Ald. Brown.—That Aldermen Gordon Anderson and the Mayor be a committee to enquire into the extent of Rink street to the river, and confer with the Alfred McDonald Estate and the Dickson Company (east of the river) with a view to getting right-of-ways and arranging for a swing bridge across the river at that point.—Carried.

The majority of the council, however, agreed that Dalhousie street is the best point at which to throw another bridge across the river, the estimates for this latter bridge are about ready.

A Good Measure.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Gordon,—That the Engineer report on the advisability of putting a drain pipe across London street, west of Aylmer street, to relieve residents in that locality during excessive spring freshets as experienced last year.

MAN WHO INFLICTED 42 WOUNDS IN GIRL TOOK GAS

Nathan Swartz, of New York, Left Message: "I Was Sorry the Minute After I Did It, So Don't Cry For Me"

New York, July 16.—The body of Nathan Swartz, whose father informed the police that his son was the slayer of fourteen-year-old Julia Sonmors, was found this morning on the fourth floor of a tenement house on Christie street. Swartz had committed suicide by inhaling gas.

Swartz had hired the room eight days ago under the name of Max Hirskowitz from Max Kaplan. Early to-day Kaplan smelled gas. On investigation he found Swartz in bed with the end of a gas tube that ran from the middle of the ceiling tied to his mouth. Examination by a hospital physician showed the man was dead.

Guilty and Insane.

Written in lead pencil on his collar were the words: "I am guilty and insane, caused by the beautiful make-up of women, which has made me passionate."

There were several pieces of newspaper lying around and on one of these was written the sentence: "I was sorry the minute after I did it. So do not cry for me."

A letter was found addressed to Swartz's mother in which he confessed his guilt and telling her not to cry her eyes out. Later Philip Swartz, a brother of the murderer, identified the dead man as his brother.

THE WEATHER.

To-day: Northwest winds; fair and cooler.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it then only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundreds of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address AM. Law, Ontario, Manager, 43 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 8c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 360 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

Preference Shares are preferential both as to assets and cumulative dividends at the rate of 7 p.c. per annum, also participate in dividends after 7 p.c. has been paid on common stock.

The average net profits of the Cafeterias, Limited, on King street, for the month of May, as shown by the report of the auditor, John I. Sutcliffe, C.A., amounted to over 30 p.c. on the entire issue of stock. A complete auditor's statement of the finances of Cafeterias, Limited, up to the end of May, may be seen at the offices of Messrs. Fleming & Marvin, Lumsden Building. This statement shows the monthly profits.

About $50,000.00 will be required to put the new Yonge street Cafeteria on a running basis. Of this amount about fifteen or twenty thousand dollars will be required to complete the interior finish, and make this restaurant one of the finest cafeterias in America. The balance will be required for outfitting the restaurant and providing a certain amount of working capital. The new restaurant will have a dining room of the large dimensions of 7,000 square feet on the ground floor, and will also have spacious additions for other purposes of the business.

Cafeterias, Limited, has found in the running of its business on King street that it has eclipsed the old style of waitress-serving restaurants, which is a great saving of labor and expense, and that the new restaurant is the best system of meeting the demands of the public for quick service, consistent with quality and efficiency of service.

We have opened subscription books for sale at par ($10.00) $50,000.00 fully paid shares of the above-mentioned 7 p.c. cumulative preference participating stock, carrying a bonus of 25 p.c. of the amount of the preference shares in common stock.

Payments as follows:

25% per share with subscription;
and 75% per share on allotment.

Subscription books are now open at our offices, and the right is reserved to allot only such subscriptions and for such amounts as may be approved, and to close the subscription without notice.

A Kingdom For a Horse.

The king of England owes his crown to a horse's shoe. The act of settlement by which in 1701 parliament elected the house of Hanover to the British throne, passed the commons by only one majority. This deciding vote was given by Sir Arthur Owen, M. P. for Pembrokeshire, third of his title, who rode post haste from Wales for the purpose. He had relays of fresh horses all along the route, but arrived, dusty and travel worn, at Westminster barely in time to the very minute. Had one of his horses gone lame or cast a shoe he would have been too late.

For Appearance's Sake.

Hub (suddenly waking at midnight)—What in the world was that noise? Wife (entering room)—It's all right, dear. The people are coming home from the opera, and I slipped down and gave the front door a slam, so the neighbors would think we were there.—Boston Transcript.

Hereditary.

"Is genius hereditary?" asks a scientific journal.

Ministerial Perquisites.

Not only stationery office officials, but cabinet ministers, used formerly to enjoy sundry little perquisites now no longer legitimate. At one time, for instance, each secretary of state received on his appointment a silver inkstand which he could retain and hand down as a keepsake to his children, but Mr. Gladstone when chancellor of the exchequer abolished this little perquisite, and the only token of office an outgoing minister can take with him is his dispatch box. The wife of a minister who had long occupied an official residence on being evicted said with a pensive sigh, "I hope I am not avaricious, but I must say when one was hanging up pictures it was very pleasant to have the board of works carpenter and a bag of nails for nothing."—London Chronicle.

Not the Same.

It was in the smoking car, and the two fat men were talking.

"Well, I have a good deal of trouble with my kidneys," said the first. "Can't seem to get 'em just right. How about you?"

"Oh, my kidneys are generally all right; it's liver with me," said the second. "Been running wrong all season."

"Excuse me for butting in," said the drummer for a patent medicine house, "but if you gentlemen will take Peterkin's Pepper Pellets For Peevish Patients they will relieve you instantly."

"What's that got to do with us?" asked the fat men simultaneously. "We ain't sick; we're retail butchers."—Harper's Weekly.

Meridians Run Due North and South.

A man "following the absolute line of the tenth meridian east from the north to the south pole" would travel due south and never southeast or southwest so long as he remained on the meridian upon which he started. If on the tenth meridian east, for instance, his angular distance from the meridian of Greenwich does not change. He is always 10 degrees east of that meridian from one pole to the other. He could only travel southeast or southwest by departing from that meridian on one side or the other.—New York American.

The Limit.

"He has a remarkable gift of self concentration, I am told."

"Yes, indeed! Why, he could sit and play solitaire in a woman's conversation club."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Holland's Flowers.

The Dutch are a nation of flower lovers, skilled gardeners and inventive farmers. On canal boats, on floating river houses, around farmhouses, in humble village and great city one finds flowers, flowers, flowers. Some one has said that Holland's illustrious conquerors have been her engineers and her florists. Through this flower culture has come her wealth, for this has been one of her chief industries.—Magazine Flowers.

Why He Had to Have an Office.

An inherited fortune and the disposal of an organized business enabled a well known Chicagoan to retire. He had the inclination for leisure, but could not surrender the idea of having a definite business abiding spot. He rented an office in a lofty building and went to Europe. After a six months' absence he returned, looked the building over and went to South America. Then after again verifying the report that the building was not crumbling, he took a jaunt to Japan. Not long ago one of his old cronies said:

"Frank, why don't you give up your office? You don't need it."

"That's true," said Frank. "I would give it up, but I don't know what to do with the rug."—Chicago Post.

Confusion of Effects.

"Things didn't seem to work together in your series of dramatic representations."

"They didn't," admitted Mr. Stormington Barnes. "When we played tragedy the box office receipts were a farce, and when we played farce they were a tragedy."

Oh, No, She Wouldn't.

"I can't understand why a woman should lie about her age. I should never try to deceive anybody in that way."

"Still you wouldn't want everybody to know you were forty-one, would you?"

"Forty-one! The idea! I'll not be thirty-two till my next birthday."

Not Very Fast.

"I understand," says the father, "that you have been going with a very fast set."

"Fast nothing!" retorts the son. "Why, not one of them has a six cylinder car!"

Friendly Aid.

Jinks—See here, old boy! You ought to do something to reduce your flesh. You are becoming fearfully stout.

Minks—Say, Jinks, you are about the fortieth friend who has made that offensive remark to-day, and I'm getting tired of it. It worries me.

Jinks—That's all right. Worry reduces flesh.

CANADA BACKS DEMOCRATS.

The Halifax Herald tells its readers that the success of the Democrats in the elections next fall will be of very great benefit to Canada. It says that reciprocity goes without mention, but the promise of radical revision downward is something that gives Canada all that she can ask without saying anything about reciprocity, and without having give up anything in consideration of it.

It says in a sentence, "Canada will secure practically all there may be of advantage from the scaling down of the imports on American products without being committed to a course which would sacrifice present advantages."

Another interesting remark of our contemporary in Halifax is this one: "Canada stands to gain by Democratic success and the Democrats would be able to do a lot of levelling downward with the United States tariff. Every move the Democrats make in that direction will be a measure of justice to Canada."

WAR ON BLINDERS.

President Rowley of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals announces that in a few days, as soon as the arrangements can be perfected, the society will present an open bridle to every Boston teamster who will use it. This is a duplicate of the offer recently made by the New York society to the teamsters of that city, and is part of a world-wide crusade against blinders which is being waged by the friends of the horse.

There is no real justification for the use of blinders as a part of the harness of the horse, and least of all in the case of the work horse. They are never used on fire horses or saddle horses. Horses that are nervous and easily frightened are often made worse by the flapping of the blinder, that not only shuts off free vision, but often becomes a source of injury. Nobody knows why the strange device was first adopted, and there may be truth in the story that it was originally employed to cover an unsightly blind eye. If the horse is broken to drive without blinder the lack of them is never noticed by the most nervous horse—or the most nervous driver, for that matter. The horse that has been accustomed to them is easily introduced to the new experience, and will be as grateful as the best dumb friend of man knows how to be.

The greater consideration for the horse is finding other forms of expression in Boston, notably in the free showering stations maintained on hot days at Scollay Square, Dock square, Park square and other convenient points where horses are watered. They are the first such stations maintained in any city, and have relieved thousands of suffering animals. The work horse parade association has also distributed many thousand copies of its hot weather rules for the care of work horses. Teamsters and citizens generally should welcome the privilege of co-operating heartily with these humane organizations in their good work.

Editorial Notes

—Editorial Notes —

The Hon. J. R. Stratton and his friends will be pained to observe that the followers of good King Billy are beginning to frisk around with something like spurs on their boots.

The heat is beginning to get in its annual work in the East. Even Canadian cities are not exempt from the scourge, although New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, and the great centres of the West are the greatest sufferers. The torrid waves deal most hardly with the very young and old.

In these days of mechanical driven vehicles eternal vigilance is the price of life. Motor cars are killing people in the city of New York at the rate of one death per diem. It is satisfactory to note that in this part of the world drivers of cars are beginning to appreciate the necessity of greater care for their own sakes as we as for the welfare of others.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for the opinions of its correspondents - - - - -

A STRIKING COMPARISON.

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir.—In the Examiner of Wednesday last I noticed a paragraph relating to the Romaine street sewer, in which these words are used: "The Romaine street sewer is a consistent performer and is as extravagant as a 1912 June bride." Comparing a dirty filthy sewer to a June bride is not flattering to the latter, to say the least. Your not over scrupulous contemporary certainly owes the "June bride" a most abject apology for its most insulting comparison.

—Common Decency.

A DANGEROUS PRACTICE.

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir.—I would call the attention of Mr. Sandy, of the Grand Trunk Railway, to the fact that the gate men are said to be occasionally absent from their post at night. How often this happens I cannot say, but I am told it is quite frequent. On Monday night, as I was proceeding homeward a double header passed at 11:45 and the gate was wide open.

If this sort of thing continues there may be a terrible accident as a result. I hope the railway officials will take notice at once.

—One Interested.

SPLENDID C.P.R. TRAIN SERVICE

Double Passenger Trains Between This City And Port McNicoll

FOR some time there has been an impression prevailing, says the Lindsay Post, that the section of the Georgian Bay & Seaboard Railway between Lindsay and Bethany had not been approved, and that the C. P. R. cannot use the stretch for traffic. This is incorrect. The line has been taken over by the Company, but the delay in using the Lindsay-Bethany section was occasioned by the fact that the stations were not completed. The Post has been informed that the stations are now ready.

A gentleman prominent in railway matters informed a reporter to-day that a double service will be inaugurated in a short time between Peterborough and Port McNicoll, and that the present passenger service on the grain line will be still further improved.

The special Saturday Toronto-Bobcaygeon train is being largely patronized each week.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, July 17.—At the Canadian Pacific live stock market the receipts of live stock for the week ended July 13 were 1800 cattle, 700 sheep and lambs, 1600 hogs and 800 calves. The offerings on the market to-day for sale were 700 cattle, 600 sheep and lambs, 250 hogs and 800 calves.

There was no further change in the condition of the market for cattle since Monday, prices being steady under an improved demand from local butchers. A fairly active trade was done, with top quality steers selling at $7.25 to $7.50, good at $6.75 to $7, and fair at $6 to $6.50 per 100 pounds. A few very choice butchers' cows sold as high as $6, but the bulk of the trading was done at $5 to $5.75. Common and inferior sold at $3.50 to $4.50 per 100 pounds. Common grass-fed bulls sold at $3 to $3.50 per 100 pounds.

The market for sheep was weaker, and prices ruled lower, but at the decline the demand was fairly good, and sales were made at $3 to $3.75 per 100 pounds. Lambs met with a fair sale at $7 per 100 pounds. The tone of the market for hogs was stronger, on account of the small supplies coming forward, and sales of selected lots were made at $8.50 to $8.75 per 100 pounds, weighed off cars. Demand for calves was good at prices ranging from $3 to $8 each, as to size and quality.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

WHY

the stock of Trust Companies and Banks appeal to conservative investors.

The following are a few good reasons why you should invest NOW in the stock of the Acadia Trust Co., Ltd., of Vancouver, B. C.:

2. It is thoroughly established (with no promotion stock).

3. It is subject to advance without notice; and will very shortly be amongst the premier Trust Companies doing business in British Columbia.

4. Its profits will necessarily be large.

5. It will declare large bonus dividends to reduce the uncalled liability, thereby increasing the paid-up portion of your stock.

6. Prospects of an increase in value are excellent.

PRINCE RUPERT

. . . "Canada's Golden Gate" . . .

Extract Taken from Prince Rupert Journal, May 23rd., 1912:

"I wish to say that Prince Rupert is in my opinion destined to be one of the most important commercial centres of this Dominion, and that, too, at no distant date."

GEORGE ROSS.

Mr. George Ross is Chief Post Office Superintendent of the Dominion of Canada, with headquarters at Toronto.
This statement was made by Mr. Ross while upon an official visit to Prince Rupert.

WHY

WHY IS PRINCE RUPERT THE BEST CITY ON THE NORTH PACIFIC COAST?

Because it is ideally located.
Because it is the terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.
Because it has a great natural harbor.
Because it is 400 miles nearer the Orient than any other Coast City.
Because the Grand Trunk Pacific of which Prince Rupert is the terminus has the easiest grades through the mountains of any transcontinental railway.

WHY

WHY IS A CO-OPERATIVE HOME BUILDING COMPANY IN PRINCE RUPERT THE SAFEST INVESTMENT IN CANADA TO-DAY?

Because all investments are based on a real estate, the foundation of our great financial institutions.
Because its soundness rests on the homes of the people, the bulwark of the nation.
Because new people are arriving daily in Prince Rupert. All must have homes and the demand is greater than the supply. This means dividends to the home-building company.

WHY

WHY ARE THE HOME-BUILDING COMPANIES SUCH A GREAT SUCCESS?

Because of the co-operation of the many small investors they are enabled to carry out large projects and make the greatest profits. In this way all great enterprises are carried to a successful issue. They pay larger dividends than any other financial institution.

A Company is now being formed in Prince Rupert and you are invited to co-operate. The Company will be incorporated for $100,000 divided into 100,000 shares of the par value of $1.00 each. For reservations of shares and full information, address

DESK FILE

It is a personal desk system. Keeps the details of your work always at your finger tips. It automatically reminds you of your appointments and engagements, it calls attention to collections due, prospective orders that need attention; it's a sort of mechanical memory—an automatic collector, salesman and correspondent. It's the prod for the forgetter—the office alarm clock—the safety valve of the over burdened pigeon hole. Ask us about it.

Recorder Weir.

Recorder Weir is to Montreal what Col. Denison is to Toronto, and T. Mayne Daly was to Winnipeg—the dispenser of justice in the police court. He is known far and near for his "neatness and despatch"—particularly "despatch"—in dealing with prisoners. His reputation as a judge made him much sought after by debating societies in Montreal. A committee called him up over the phone to ask if he would be kind enough to render the award in a debate.

On the day of the debate the Recorder was unusually busy. He had sent various prisoners down for terms befitting the crimes. That evening he was on hand promptly at 8 o'clock. He heard the debate, analyzed the merits and demerits of the speakers, pointing out the various shortcomings and achievements of the sides, giving a point here and there for this or that argument, and rendered his decision accordingly. At the conclusion of his remarks the applause was loud and long-continued. The Recorder was forced to rise to his feet again.

"This is, I believe," he said, "the first time I ever received an encore. My decisions, you know, are not usually received with such favor." Then the Recorder resumed his seat amid loud laughter.

Interpreted.

At the top of the steeple of a Fredericton, N.B., Methodist church, built in 1851, is a golden hand. The hand is closed save that one finger points upward. And the interpretation put upon the position of the fingers is: One points to Heaven, the others to—well, downward.

"Railways" and "Railroads."

We are all speaking of "railways" now instead of "railroads," as they do in America. Both words seem to be of about equal age in this country. Cobbett in 1832 wrote of "rail-ways" with the hyphen, Scott in 1831 of "railroads." But already in 1838 an engineering journal declared that "railway" by this time seemed to be generally adopted as the popular form, though nearly twenty years later Ruskin still talked of "railroads." It is curious that America has preserved the word which remembers the descent of the railway from the old road, while Americans speak of "engineers" and "conductors" where we say "drivers" and "guards," perpetuating the old coaching words.—London Spectator.

Damp Salt Before Rain.

Very few persons know that when the salt gets damp it is either because it is too near the sea or because it is going to rain. It is very hard to keep the salt cellar dry at the seashore, as there is so much moisture in the air all the time, but in other places it is usually a sign of rain when the salt gets damp. Things that help themselves to the water in the air are called "deliquescent," and salt is one of them. When water is in the air in the form of gas it sometimes become too plentiful for the air to hold, and then we get what is called "precipitation," or rain. But long before the water vapor in the air is heavy enough to fall in rain there is enough of it to spare to make salt damp.

It Didn't Work.

"The late Andrew Gernand of Baltimore was an inventor who devoted his life to perpetual motion, pausing by the way to invent for one son a corn reaper that brought in $1,000,000, and for another son a corn sheller that netted an almost equal fortune."

The speaker, an official of the patent office in Washington, shook his head sadly.

"Once," he resumed, "I ventured to take the brilliant Gernand to task. I told him he was wasting his time on perpetual motion. I said that there ought to be a law forbidding all perpetual motion work.

"'Do you think,' said he, 'that a law forbidding work on perpetual motion would do much good?'

"'I'm sure it would,' said I.

"'And yet you must remember,' said Mr. Gernand with a twinkle in his eye, 'that there was a law forbidding apples in the garden of Eden.'"—Los Angeles Times.

Brave Indian Child.

At Nut Lake, Sask., the heroism of a little Indian girl saved a young white woman from death. The latter, Miss Hamilton, with two Indian children, a boy and a girl, were asleep in the house of the Indian agent, when fire broke out. Sounding the alarm the little girl roused Miss Hamilton and her brother, and sent the latter for their father, Keakdeshedues, on horseback. When the Indian man arrived he rushed into the house to rescue papers and was burned to death.

Would Look Queer.

A couple of years ago, when Gus A. Forbes was paying a visit to his people in Calgary, Alta., he played a short season at the request of his friend, Ernest Willis, then manager of the Lyric Theatre, with the Empress Stock Company, of Vancouver, who were filling a summer engagement at that house.

Among other plays produced was The Charity Ball. One matinee, just before ringing up, it was discovered that the lady who played the Mother was not at the theatre, and Gus went to Billy Bernard, the director of the company, to ask him what he was going to do.

"I don't know," said Billy. "Oh, we'll get Mrs. —— to go and read the part. What are you laughing at?" "Nothing," said Gus, "only won't it look rather funny to have some one reading the part of a blind woman?"

HEMING'S BOOK.

How the Canadian Artist Sold His First Literary Work.

Arthur Heming is known to a good many readers, not only as an illustrator, but as a writer of magazine stories and one book. The book, "Spirit Lake," which is all a story about the Ojibways towards Hudson Bay, has behind it a story, and a good one.

It was while he was wintering with Wm. Henry Howe, the cattle painter, at Bronxville, N.Y., that Heming conceived the notion that he would like to write the story of how the Ojibways put in their queer, weird lives from one winter to the next. This, of course, would mean a fresh winter trip to the north. He took a train down to the city, and went to The Outlook. Not knowing the name of the art editor or the heads of any departments, he asked the elevator man. Introducing himself to the head of the art department, he told him what he intended to do.

'But what do you expect us to do?" was the question.

"Write me an advance check for a thousand dollars, give me the serial rights on my stuff and I'll go north and get you material for the book."

This radical suggestion was conveyed to the chief, who, after listening to the much-in-earnest delivery of the Canadain artist, took him at his word, wrote the check and gave him the assignment.

From there Heming went to another magazine which had already handled a series of his drawings for Fraser's "Sa'zada Tales." To the editor of that he proposed to sell the serial rights of the same thing. The offer was accepted. Immediately Heming hied himself to an outfitter's emporium and made a deal for a complete camp outfit of most elegant proportions including everything a man can possibly lug into the wilderness and use to advantage. At another store he got a Mauser rifle and a hundred rounds of ammunition.

Thus equipped, the trailsman hit out for the far north. He was gone all winter. He got his material. He came back to civilization, and just before he started for England to study with Brangwyn he conceived the idea of throwing the whole thing into the form of short stories which could be combined to make the book.

Hence came the book "Spirit Lake," which was made nearly twenty years after Heming had gone his first snowshoe trip in the north from Mattawa to Temiskaming; and he sold the serial rights of "Spirit Lake" in four separate countries, England, France, the United States and Canada.

So he is a walking and enthusiastic encyclopaedia of the life on the unrailroaded edges of the north. He has studied most of the Indian tribes that pitch their camps between Montreal and Alaska; from the Sarcees down in the cow-hills to the Lochieux up the Peel in the Yukon. He knows the joys of the bull moose and the sorrows of the whale. He has burrowed after little game and gone stalking after the big. From the fur of a mink or the mound of a muskrat to the blubber of a bull whale just off the harpoon is the zoological range of his acquaintance with northern animals. He has bossed mining camps and come down with the river-drivers. And with whatsoever sort of crew he hit the river or the trail he took off his coat and his collar and put on his jeans and his blanket coat or his moccasins and got down to the brass tacks of genuine hard labor. —Augustus Bridle in The Globe.

Chronic Throat Trouble Permanently Cured

SEVEN DAYS' USE OF CATARRHOZONE PERFORMED REGULAR MIRACLE.

Miss Counter's Case Proves the Wonderful Efficacy of Catarrhozone in all Throat and Nose Diseases.

Windsor, Ont., June 11.—Miss Counter's case will prove of great interest to everyone troubled with sore throat, bronchitis or weak lungs.

When asked for a statement Miss Counter said: "About seven years ago I contracted a heavy cold that settled on my lungs and resisted all treatment. After I had tried several doctors here and specialists in Detroit without benefit, I went to my druggist and asked him for the best remedy he had for cold on the lungs. He recommended Catarrhozone which cured my cold in one week. It brought back my voice, and I have been every since free from my old trouble. For coughs, colds and lung trouble I am sure that Catarrhozone is the best remedy. It goes right to the sore spot, gives quick relief, and makes a lasting cure."

Catarrhozone cures because its healing vapor is inhaled to the very places that are sore and inflamed.

To permanently cure your winter ills, your coughs, sneezing and Catarrh, by all means use a tried and proven remedy like Catarrhozone. But beware of the substitutor and imitator. Look for Catarrhozone only, 50c and $1.00, at all dealers, or by mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

Welcome to S.A. Officers.

Last night in the S.A. Temple there was a welcome meeting for Capt. and Mrs. Watkinson, of Toronto, who will have charge of the local corps, till the permanent officers are appointed. The United Excursion is to Gore's Landing and Hiawatha, not to Stony Lake as previously announced to be held, on Monday, July 22nd.

A Quiet Wedding.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Andrew's church, on Wednesday afternoon, when John W. Vick, and Moljery A. Young, late of Barrow-in-Furnace, Lancashire, England., were united in the bonds of matrimony by Rev. Jas. Rollins. The young couple are now at home to their friends at 249 Stewart street.

Coming To-morrow.

A special train will arrive to-morrow morning bringing the bricklayers of Toronto to Peterborough on their annual excursion. There will be great doings at Nicholls' oval during the afternoon, when a big programme of athletic sports will be presented. The local bricklayers have appointed a committee to welcome the visitors, and to assist in their entertainment.

Steamboat Inspection.

Government Inspector Thompson is here for a few days inspecting the boilers of the various steamboats plying on the local waters. He reports the boilers of the boats inspected are in excellent condition, with very few exceptions. He finds the passenger boats reduced in number in this vicinity, viz.: Otonabee, Water Lily, Manita, Lintonia. The Stoney Lake will be inspected next week.

Liverymen's Case Enlarged.

A number of liverymen and others who appeared in police court one week ago on a charge of violating the Public Health Act, were yesterday given a further enlargement of one week for their cases, in order that they might have an opportunity of complying with the regulations of the by-law. Sanitary Inspector Spence stated that several of the defendants had already complied with the ruling status.

Scouts' Summer Camp.

Mr. W. A. Miller, district commander of Boy Scouts, has called meetings of the 1st and 3rd troops, on Monday and Wednesday evenings at 7.30 at the Armouries, to arrange for the possibilities of a camp. Every boy is expected to turn out, whether he wishes to attend camp or not. Those of the 4th and 5th troops, who desire information regarding this camp are welcome to attend these meetings. All Peterboro Scouts may attend this summer camp.

A Remarkable Operation.

Lindsay Post: A most remarkable and successful operation was performed at the Ross Memorial Hospital about four weeks ago which seems almost beyond credibility. A young girl fourteen years of age was brought in for treatment, the doctors diagonosing her case as tumor. Two local surgeons performed the operation, taking away a growth which weighed 40 lbs. The patient weighed 100 lbs, on going in, and 60 on leaving the operating table. The young patient is now at home and enjoying as good health as can be expected after such a remarkable operation.

New Wharf Nearly Completed.

The new dock at Spaulding's Bay is being filled in and will be ready for occupation in a short time. The north end is ready now for big boats and the rest of the space will be ready in a few days. The dredge is doing good work filling in, and the sodding and completion of the stairway to the street will be completed immediately afterwards. The docks will present a very pleasing appearance, and it will be in shape for the summer traffic. It reflects the greatest credit on Mr. Edward Wade, who has charge of the work for the Dominion Government.

The Gentry Bros. Circus will not visit Peterborough just at present, but may do so later on in the season.

The office of the Belleville Ontario was gutted by fire on Wednesday, entailing a loss to the publishers of $5,000. The Times extends its sympathy.

A young lad named Vincent Mahoney, of Campbellford, while playing with an old revolver, with a companion named James Daly, was accidentally shot in the shoulder at the fair grounds. The lad will recover.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

REAL IMPERIAL COUNCIL WOULD BE REVOLUTIONARY

On Second Thought, British Politicians are Rather Frightened at the Prospect of a Council, With Dominions Represented Having Executive Powers

London, July 19.—While English appreciation of Premier Borden's attitude continues, a note of criticism is now becoming more apparent. The semi-official announcement, made yesterday, that no details of the Canadian naval plan can be given out until after the return of the Prime Minister to the Dominion in September, has caused real disappointment. The public here hoped for some statement in Winston Churchill's speech next week.

The feeling grows here that if Premier Borden insists upon representation in the Imperial Council as a condition of the naval gift, innumerable difficulties will arise, and the delays may be indefinite. The public here is willing to be guided largely by the desires of the Dominions, but each day of more intimate discussion of the council idea here, helps to convince the British politi-cians that a real Council, with executive powers, would involve a fundamental revolution in Imperial relationship. Canadian representation on the Council of Imperial Defence might be more easily accomplished, but it would be of little actual value, such Council having no real power.

CHURCHILL'S STATEMENT WILL EMBODY CANADIAN PROPOSALS

London, July 19.—Hon. J. D. Hazen and Hon. C. J. Doherty go to Barrow-in-Furness to-morrow for the launching of the Vickers and Maxim yards of a floating dock for Montreal Mrs. Hazen will christen it the Duke of Connaught. A large company of Canadians will be present, including Sir William Mackenzie, and Mr. Ballantyne, the Montreal Harbor Commissioner. They will spend Sunday in the lake district previous to the launching on Monday. The Premier and Mrs. Borden will spend the week end with the Marquis and Marchioness of Salisbury.

It is understood that the Premier's interview with Mr. Churchill to-day will be of special importance. In view of the fact that the conference of the Canadian Ministers are lasting well towards midnight, it is generally thought that the information submitted is for the guidance of the First Lord of the Admiralty in making his statement to the House of Commons. The proposals of the Canadian Ministers, while unlikely to be specified, will be embodied in the general plan outlines by Mr. Churchill.

TRAIN LOAD OF STE. ANNE PILGRIMS IN A WRECK

Rigaud, Que., July 19.—A train load of pilgrims coming from Ste. Anne de Beaupre had a miraculous escape last night when their train crashed into the locomotive of a local, which was just backing up on the switch to let them pass. Engineer Martin, of the through train jumped, and as it turned out, was the only person injured. He was cared for by Dr. Mallette, and his injuries are not fatal, consisting of three broken ribs, internal injuries, and minor abrasions.

The pilgrims were all women and were under the guidance of the Abbe Beauchamp, of Temiskaminhue. Many were prostrated by the shock, but no serious consequences were reported. The injured include Mrs. and Miss Morel, of Cache Bay, Mrs. James Smith, Hearst, Ont., Mrs. Patrick Collins and Mrs. Alex Laporte, Haileybury.

The regular train from Ottawa passed soon after the collision, and when the track was cleared the passengers were conveyed on it to the capital.

STEAMSHIPS DEFY WARNINGS OF DANGEROUS ICEBERGS

Washington, July 19.—Despite reports of dangerous icebergs in the North Atlantic, some trans-Atlantic steamships, disregarding the recommendation of the hydrographic offices have resumed the northern lanes in issue before the Titanic disaster.

It is said the liners Oceanic and Laconia reported heavy ice in the vicinity of the old northern route as late as Monday, but the ship's companies declared that their passengers were suffering from the heat on the Southern routes and that therefore they felt justified in resuming the use of the Northern lines.

THE CADET CAMP AT BARRIFIELD COMMON

The Peterborough Contingent Having Good Time—Health One of the Prime Objects of the Outing.

Kingston, July 19.—There are close onto a thousand Cadets from Lindsay, Trenton, Belleville, Campbellford, Ottawa, Cornwall and other places, and all are taking the work seriously. At the same time they mingle in a feeling of good fellowship, and the camp which is primarily for a thorough training and to reinforce the health of the Cadets will undoubtedly prove to be a successful task.

The Peterborough Cadets are under the charge of Mr. C. E. Jamieson and he has proved to be a most efficient and popular commandant. The camp is in control of Major S. V. Horden, who is a thorough soldier and is determined to make it be a great benefit to the Cadets.

Barriefield, July 19, 1912.

The Peterborough contingent of Cadets and Scouts, about 40 strong, after a day of training have settled down and become accustomed to camp life here. Fortunately the sleeping quarters are not overcrowded, the bed and eating arrangements are satisfactory to all, so everything is going without a hitch.

The camp discipline is unusually exacting, but it is felt that after another day the resultant good effect will be in evidence.

So far the training has consisted of elementary squad drill, the manoeuvres of which were practiced for four hours this morning, and lectures on distance judging, camp hygene and first-aid, which occupied most of this afternoon.

BLAME BOOK TRUST FOR THE EDUCATION ASSOCIATION FIGHT

MISS GRACE C. STRACHAN

Members of the National Education Association, in session in Chicago, are awaiting the report of a committee appointed to investigate charges made by Carrol' G. Pearse, the president, that the Book Trust coercion was being felt by the association and that Dr. Irwin Shepard, the association's secretary, was not conducting his office according to the bylaws.

The appointment of the committee was the result of Mr. Pearse's opening address. It threw the convention into a turmoil. The educational features accordingly have been overshadowed by the fight between the "progressives" and "conservatives" in the association.

Edwin T. Fairchild, of Topeka, Kan., is the "progressive" candidate for president. Miss Grace C. Strachan, of New York, has the backing of the East while the "conservatives" are expected to place still another name in nomination.

EIGHT ENGLISH WOMEN ARE ARRESTED FOR THE OUTRAGES

Police Says Mrs. Leigh Really Intended to Brain Premier Asquith---Had Said She Would Use Bomb Next Time, and Has Been Convicted Eight Times

Dublin, July 19.—Eight English women have been taken into custody by the police in connection with the outrages perpetrated here last night, on the arrival of Mr. Asquith, by suffragettes who have been constantly dogging the heels of the Premier since he left England.

The women are charged with complicity in the attempt made to burn down the Dublin theatre, where Mr. Asquith is scheduled to speak to-day. A blazing chair was thrown into the orchestra from a box occupied by two women, who then set fire to the fire to the box curtains. Their act caused a panic among the audience. One of the women was arrested last night. She gave her name as Gladys Evans, and said she came from England.

The eight suffragettes also are charged with complicity in the attempt to injure Mr. Asquith by throwing a hatchett at the Premier's carriage as the party was proceeding from the wharf to the hotel. Mrs. Mary Leigh one of the suffragettes under arrest, was identified this morning as the thrower of the hatchett. The woman, it is alleged by the police, intended to brain Mr. Asquith.

Mrs. Leigh has long been a leader in the violent acts adopted by the militant suffragettes. As far back as July, 1908, she was arrested for breaking windows in a suffragette demonstration in London. At that time, being sentence to two months' imprisonment at hard labor, she told the court that "the next time we come out you can expect bombs."

A year later Mrs. Leigh was again sentenced to two months' hard labour in Birmingham, and on being released brought suit for damages against the Government for forcibly feeding while in prison. The woman is described by the police as being the "most troublesome suffragette" they had to deal with.

Mrs. Leigh was convicted for the eigth time in London last November for smashing windows and was sentenced to two months in jail without the option of a fine. The magistrate warned Mrs. Leigh that is she were again convicted she would be sent to jail for a term at hard labour.

The police found a store of gunpowder, petroleum and other inflammable material in the arrested suffragette's lodgings.

The officials claim to have evidence showing that the plans of the militant women contemplated serious outrages.

THEY WERE ACQUITTED.

Men Arrested in Peterborough at Request of Barrie Police Were Discharged.

Barrie Examiner: The cash drawer and till in the Railroad House, Ward Six, were touched for $200 and four watches on Tuesday night of last week and Jas. Steinburg and Stanley Cooper of Cordova Mines, near Havelock, are in jail under suspicion of being the guilty parties.

These men are carpenters and were employed on the new houses being erected on Bradford street, near J. Gliddon's. It is said they usually had to be called, but on the morning of the robbery they were up between 4.30 and 5.00 and were seen at that time by P. C. Sweeney. One of them said he had been robbed of his purse and $15. When arrested in Peterborough, he varied this to $9.

P. C. Sweeney went to Peterborough on Thursday and returned on Friday with the men.

Yesterday the accused were given a hearing before Magistrate Radenhurst who acquitted them of the charge.

PLAN NEW ARMY FOR UNCLE SAM

General Staff Completes Most Comprehensive Report It Has Drawn

MARKS A FIXED POLICY

Constant War Footing and Permanent Expeditionary Force Is Aimed At.

Washington, July 19 — The general staff of the United States army has completed its plans for an entire reorganization of the country's military establishment, a work upon which it has been engaged ever since it was founded some years ago. The report containing these plans is now in type, but will probably not be presented to Congress at this session.

The plan, as drawn up by the general staff, is declared by experts to be the most important and comprehensive piece of constructive work along these lines ever performed in this country. It is also regarded as marking the first systematic military policy drawn for the land forces of the United States. While some of its details have been embodied in congressional bills or letters of the secretary of war, the report has never yet been made public in its entirety.

The prime object is the organization of the army on a footing of constant readiness for war with a permanent expeditionary force always ready for instant service. In order to ensure this result, it is recommended that the forces liable for duty anywhere be increased about seven times.

In the regular army the highest proposed unit of organization is raised and the mobile branches, which include all arms except the coast artillery, are divided into two parts, the foreign and the domestic. The domestic service is to be kept permanently in continental United States, while the foreign service is to be sent to American territory elsewhere, to remain, as an organization, outside of this country for good.

Asks Two New Types.

In addition to a proposal making for the federalization, within constitutional limits, of the present national guard, the general staff also asks for the creation of two new types of American soldier, namely, the federal reservist and the federal volunteer, the latter to be recruited in time of peace for war service and held responsible only to the central government.

The general staff also recommend that the present regular army be relieved of police duties in Alaska, and suggests that peace be preserved in that district by a federal constabulary to be legislated into existence by Congress. In outlining the importance of the re-organization, the general staff points out that the land forces of the United States are now in no condition to face the armies of a first-class power, and maintains that the necessity for this country so to prepare itself is imminent and imperative.

"Whatever our military institutions may be," says the report, "we must recognize the fundamental fact that victory is the reward of superior force, that modern wars are short and decisive, and that trained armies alone can defeat trained armies."

The present land forces of the United States comprise in the regular army about 66,000 men out of a total of about 95,500 authorized, and in the national guard about 125,000 men. The national guard is not liable for duty on foreign soil, though it can volunteer for this service.

Two Periods of Service.

In order to raise the complement of trained men, the general staff proposes to augment the standing army by changing the terms of the present enlistment contract to conform to the practice adopted in all other modern armies.

"It is only necessary to provide," says the general staff report, "that man's service shall consist of two periods, one period with the colors, and the other a period of war obligation for a limited time after leaving the service. Under these circumstances when war is declared the active army is at once sent into the field, and the former soldiers having a war obligation are assembled in depots, where they can be forwarded to the front as needed."

The enlistment contract proposed is for six years, divided half and half. However, by far the greatest number of men required for war purposes under the plan proposed, will have to be drawn from civil life. Under present conditions the general staff points out the only citizen soldier in the United States are furnished by the national guard, which is under state control, and owes only incidental support to the federal government.

CANADA'S PREMIER TAKES PRIVY COUNCILLOR'S OATH

Was Sworn In Before the King At Buckingham Palace This Morning--Should Now Be Styled Rt. Hon.--Ranks Above a Baronet

London, July 19.—R. L. Borden, Canada's Premier, this morning repaired to Buckingham Palace and there took the oath before the King as Imperial Privy Councillor, with all the ceremony attached to that function.

A Privy Councillor ranks higher than a knight or baronet. The Privy Council is the body of advisers of the Sovereign which formally sanctions those acts of the Government that are not properly the province of Parliament. They are appointed at the pleasure of the Crown, except certain persons appointed ex-officio. They hold office for life, and their number is not limited by law. At present the number is nearly three hundred, and includes the Princes of the Blood, and the great Officers of State including Judges of the Appeal Court, and the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, members of existing and past governments, and persons specially honored by the King. All the members are styled "Right Hon."

A Council can only be helh under the presidency of the King. Every other assembly, even that of the Cabinet, is technically merely a Committee.

BIG NAVAL BATTLE IN WHICH TWO ITALIAN SHIPS WERE SUNK

Constantinople, July 19. — Eight Italian torpedo boats attacked the entrance of the Dardenelles at 1.30 o'clock this morning. The Turkish forts replied vigorously, sinking two of the Italian wac vessels and damaging the other six.

The cannonade lasted 45 minutes.

The Cabinet Ministers were hurriedly called to the palace this morning where a Council of War decided to close the Dardanelles.

Tewfik Pacha, the Turkish Ambassador at London, who on July 17 was appointed Grand Vizier, has undertaken to form a new Cabinet.

To-day's bombardment of the entrance to the Dardenelles by the Italian warships is the second attack on the strait connecting the Aegean Sea and the Sea of Marmora since the outbreak of the Turco-Italian war.

Twenty-seven Italian warships on April 18 last bombarded the forts Kilid-Ul.Bahr and Seed-Ul-Bahr, defending the gateway to Constantinople for three and a half hours. The Italians fired 180 shells, but the forts were only slightly damaged. The land batteries returned the fire, and one of the Italian warships was reported damaged by a shell. After three and a half hours' fighting the Italians withdrew. The Dardenelles, which are about 45 miles in length and from 1½ to 4 mile in width, have been heavily mined owing to the activity of Italian ships in Turkish waters. All the foreign government have been notified by Turkey that it was necessary for vessles passing through the straits to employ local pilots.

MAY CUT OFF PRIVILEGES OF AMERICAN FISHERS

Ottawa, Ont., July 19.—It is understood that the Department of Marine and Fisheries has under consideration the question of the abrogation of the fisheries modus vivendi existence between Canada and the United States under which American vessels for the payment of a fee are allowed certain privilege in coast waters. At one time the free admission of Canadian fish was a part of the agreement, but that privilege was withdrawn. Under the existing agreement American vessels cannot fish within the three mile limit, but on the payment of a license fee then can enter ports, secure crews, tranship their catch, etc. As Canada does not receive any real compensation for the giving of all these privileges it is quite probable that the agreement may be abrogated.

MRS. STREETER'S FOOT EIGHT INCHES ACROSS

Another Lady Has Fourteen Toes — Secrets Revealed at Chiropodists' Convention.

Chicago, Ill., July 19 — Maryland women have the largest feet, according to chiropodists who addressed their convention. Dr. John Kenison said Mrs. Elsie Streeter, or Maryland, town not designated, has a foot eight inches across the ball, requiring a No. 12 shoe.

Dr. Frank King, of Erie, Pa., has a patient, a banker's wife, on each of whose feet are seven toes. Dr. Alfred Joseph said the smallest foot is attached to Mrs. Alice Plato, of Milwaukee, who weighs 190 pounds and wears a No. 1 shoe.

ROYAL LACY DIVORCED

Parts From Husband Owing to Tempers—Will Always Remain Friends

Rome, July 19—Enrcco Roselli and his wife, formerly Crown Princess Louise of Saxony, have been legally separated by the court in Florence. Following the separation the former Crown Princess, who scandalized Europe a few years ago by eloping with her tutor, abandoning her children, and then later becoming the wife of the pianist, Toselli, said:

"It is unfortunate having to separate because of our tempers, but we shall always remain good friends."

By the terms of the separation the young son of the couple will be placed in the custody of the parents of Toselli. The mother will be allowed to visit him.

TWENTY KILLED BY CLOUDBURST

Mining Camp Near Reno Destroyed by Wall of Water --One Carried Three Miles

Reno, Nev., July 19.—Ten bodies have been recovered, and from five to ten more are believed dead as the result of a cloudburst 30 miles from Lovelock yesterday, which destroyed the mining camp of Mazuma and partially destroyed the nearby camp of Seven Troughs.

No loss of life, but much loss of property is reported in Seven Troughs.

The body of one man was found over three miles from his home.

In Mazuma, which suffered most, it was at first believed that nearly 100 persons were missing, but later estimates place the loss of life at not more than 20.

New Law Works Against Conductors

The present prosecutions against Grand Trunk conductors are the result of an application of the Secret Commissions Act of 1909, which Sir Allan Aylesworth placed upon the federal statutes. While as originally intended, it may not have been adapted for application to the cases in question, the opinion exists among legal experts that it reaches far enough to enable Crown officers to arrest conductors who "short fare." Up to this time it has been more or less a doubtful proposition, although the Crown authorities always contended that the receipt of short fare amounted to theft to the extent of which the money received by the railway official would pay the fare.

The present prosecutions, however, relate to an entirely different proposition, having regard to the law, which Sir Allan Aylesworth enacted in 1909. It is fortunate that the prescience and legal knowledge of so distinguished a counsel as Sir Allan was brought to bear upon this matter in his position as Canadian Minister of Justice and that he should have enacted a law to prevent an abuse which saps the receipts of every railway company in Canada.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 66 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address AM. Law, Ontario, Manager. 49 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 366 George St. directly opposite Croesman's store.

Preference Shares are preferential both as to assets and cumulative dividends at the rate of 7 p.c. per annum, also participate in dividends after 7 p.c. has been paid on common stock.

The average net profits of the Cafeterias, Limited, on King street, for the month of May, as shown by the report of the auditor, John I. Sutcliffe, C.A., amounted to over 30 p.c. on the entire issue of stock. A complete auditor's statement of the finances of Cafeterias, Limited, up to the end of May, may be seen at the offices of Messrs. Fleming & Marvin, Lumsden Building. This statement shows the monthly profits.

About $50,000.00 will be required to put the new Yonge street Cafeteria on a running basis. Of this amount about fifteen or twenty thousand dollars will be required to complete the interior finish, and make this restaurant one of the finest cafeterias in America. The balance will be required for outfitting the restaurant and providing a certain amount of working capital. The new restaurant will have a dining room of the large dimensions of 7,000 square feet on the ground floor, and will also have spacious additions for other purposes of the business.

Cafeterias, Limited, has found in the running of its business on King street that it has eclipsed the old style of waitress-serving restaurants, which is a great saving of labor and expense, and that the new restaurant is the best system of meeting the demands of the public for quick service, consistent with quality and efficiency of service.

We have opened subscription books for sale at par ($10.00) $50,000.00 fully paid shares of the above-mentioned 7 p.c. cumulative preference participating stock, carrying a bonus of 25 p.c. of the amount of the preference shares in common stock.

Payments as follows:

25% per share with subscription;
and 75% per share on allotment.

Subscription books are now open at our offices, and the right is reserved to allot only such subscriptions and for such amounts as may be approved, and to close the subscription without notice.

A Good Storyteller.

Lord Coventry is a celebrated storyteller, and recounts the episode of a conversation which a friend had with a Scotsman, who prided himself upon his ability as a weather prophet: "We're gaun to have rain for seventy-twa days, sir," said the prophet. "Oh, no," replied the other. "It only took 40 days to flood the world entirely." "Aye, aye," answered the man, "but the world was no' sae weel drained as it is now."

Another of his stories is: Revision sessions were proceeding, when from an adjoining cathedral the bells announced the wedding of a prominent Unionist. The barrister (after listening for a time) asked: "What is the meaning of all this ringing?" and the reply furnished was: "It is only in honor of two Unionists embracing Home Rule."

Smyrna Wants Trade.

Smyrna is prepared to export tobacco, opium, figs, raisins, olive oil, soap, nuts, etc. From Canada cheese, butter, leather, tallow, tinned fish, lobsters, sardines, etc., would find a market.

Would Like to See Canada.

It is generally admitted that a man considers a fashionable wedding the height of boredom. That may be the reason why His Grace, the Duke of Sutherland, departed from England so soon after the marriage of his elder son and Lady Eileen Butler, and came to Canada to see his Western estates. The distinguished visitor refuses absolutely to discuss our late spring, and the prospects of the Western crops with representatives of the press and turns a chilly shoulder to the bright young men from the morning papers who seek in vain to know his opinions on woman suffrage and the future of Home Rule. The Duke of Sutherland possesses in Stafford House one of the most imposing residences in London, and its projected closing is causing some anxiety among the literary and dramatic lights of London. The Duchess of Sutherland, who is still remarkably youthful in her type of loveliness, is, like Kipling's "William the Conqueror," a kind of people who "do" things, and her receptions are usually more than merely social occasions.

During the duke's absence in Canada, the duchess is to take a "cure" at one of the Continental invalid resorts, as her health has begun to suffer from the many exactions of London life. Her debutante niece, Lady Enid Fane, is one of the most beautiful girls of the season, and bears a strong resemblance to her charming aunt. The future of the duchess's only daughter, Lady Rosemary Leveson-Gower, is being discussed by many match-making mammas. It is said that this independent young person with a Shakespearean name is more anxious to come out to Canada and see her father's Western ranch than to "settle down" on magnificent ancestral acres in Great Britain.

Just a Loan.

"Don't beg; the world owes you a living," said the prosperous citizen to the mendicant. But he was staggered by the reply:

"All right, sir; lend me a trifle till it pays up."

Against All Tradition.

"That millionaire is a very queer chap."

"As to how?"

"Never claims he was happier when he was poor; always says he is happier now."

Needed In the Family.

Edith—Yes, I am going to marry Mr. Goldbag.

Ethel—Why, he's old enough to be your father!

Edith—I know, but he doesn't seem to care for mother.

Professional Pride.

A local pugilist was brought before a police magistrate charged with assault. Said the magistrate:

"Prisoner, complainant says that you willfully and maliciously knocked his hat off."

Polls and Barbers' Poles.

The barber is the only professional man whose emblem is a pole. The emblem is a pun. A poll is a head. The verb "poll" means to lop off a head. The earliest barbers were removers of beards. "Barba" is Latin for beard. The French called a man who shears off beards a barbier. But the barbier also removed hair from the apex and adjoining regions of the head. With the modesty characteristic of many professional men he magnified his function and adopted for his emblem a device which taken in its fullest significance would indicate that he removed the entire head. Because "poll" is pronounced the same as "pole" he conceived that a pole would be the appropriate emblem of his profession.—New York Sun.

Tired of Crop Talk.

George Lane, president of the Calgary Horse Show, was entertaining Dr. Rutherford, late Live Stock Commissioner for Canada, in the guests' box at that show a few days ago. Mr. Lane introduced the doctor to a number of friends, and in most instances the doctor received an invitation to do something which would keep him over a day or so longer.

For instance, Duncan Marshall wanted him to inspect some of his demonstration farms, W. J. Stark wanted him to go up to the Edmonton Spring Horse Show.

The doctor invariably replied "Well, I would like to very much but I must get out to British Columbia to get my crop in."

After Mr. Lane had listened to this a few times, he turned to the doctor and said: "If you don't keep still about it, I will go out to your place this summer and stay a week and eat that crop."

A Slighting Term.

In the provinces down by the Atlantic, the people take their politics seriously — at least several of the newspapers are not at all backward in criticizing the editorial remarks of papers on the other side of the political fence. The words used in referring to opposing papers are often terms of belittlement. Probably the limit was reached when the Sackville, N.B., Tribune recently referred to the Conservative paper as an "organette."

HOW TO "TURN THE TABLES" ON AUSTRALIA.

Australia seldom loses a chance, say the Montreal Star, to remind us that though only about a quarter our age and not much more than half our population, it is doing much more than we are for the defence of our common Empire. The Antipodeans hint that we are better at talking than at fighting—that we are fonder of putting our patriotism to music than in practice. An extract from a bantering speech by Sir George Reid, High Commissioner of Australia, delivered at our Dominion Day banquet in London, will bear repeating right here:—

"So far as helping the defence of the Empire is concerned, Canada has had too much of the eye of faith, and done too little in the way of giving Providence a well-deserved rest. (Loud laughter). Far removed, as we are from the centre of our mighty Empire, and young as we are — twelve years old, according to that way of counting —(laughter) — twelve-year-old Australia says to forty-five-year-old Canada, with twice the population, and six months snow thrown in—(laughter), 'You are a grand race, and we're proud of you. You are beginning to discover that you have two great gateways—one on the Atlantic and one on the Pacific--and we from Australia, who are throwing all our boys into military service, who are building battleships and cruisers and submarines, we say to our older brother, You go and do likewise.'"

Well, our Antipodean brothers do seem to have "the laugh on us" at this point. And there are some of us who do not relish it any too much, though as far as possible from resenting the good-natured banter of Sir George Reid. The sting of the joke is that it is so very true. We have ready at our hands, however, an easy method of turning the tables effectively and completely upon the Australians. They have permitted themselves to be frightened by the bogey of Japan into insisting upon keeping their boasted warships in their own waters. This amounts to keeping them carefully out of the way of danger. They might as well pull them up on dry land and build a fence about them. Plucky little New Zealand asked the Mother Country where her expert naval authorities thought her new "Dreadnought-cruiser" ought to be stationed; and the Admiralty promptly replied:—

"In the North Sea."

And plucky little New Zealand is going to station it right there—exactly in the path of danger.

Now, if Canada will contribute two or three "Dreadnoughts" to the Imperial Navy, and permit the Admiralty to station them where they are most needed that is, as near to the scene of danger as possible—we will in our turn, have "the laugh on" Australia. We can say to them that they may have started first, and may have secured a number of fighting ships; but that they keep their proud warships in a glass case and out of range of the enemy, while we send ours where the shots will fall the thickest.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED ON JULY 15th, AND WILL POSITIVELY CLOSE NOT LATER THAN JULY 31st. THE COMPANY RESERVING THE RIGHT TO WITHDRAW THE SALE WITHOUT NOTICE. SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE ALLOTTED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the ig profits now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit?
If Not, Here is Your Opportunity

We invite the closest inspection of this proposition, and will gladly mail prospectus containing full particulars. Again we sound the warning, unless you send us your orders for stock in the Canada Moving Pictures, Limited, without further delay, it will mean GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY permitted to slip by.

Opportunity knocks at each man's door at least once in a lifetime. Here it is, and our candid advice is, take advantage at once to the limit of your finances. The stock is selling fast and only a limited amount remains.

A correspondent down east, says an Alberta paper, wants to know if we can grow pumpkins here in Pincher Creek. Sure. The only trouble is the vines grow so fast they scrape the skin off the pumpkins by dragging them over the ground.

Two or three Ontario newspapers are endeavoring to hasten the extermination of the housefly by offering per capita or per quart bonuses. Are they quite sure that they are not encouraging the breeding of flies. Fly hatcheries may soon become a profitable business.

Henri Bourassa is now trotting out the annexation bogey to frighten Ontario people. He says that the Quebec French are inclining to annexation because of the "ingratitude" of English-speaking Canadians. In Henri's opinion English-speaking Canadians show ingratitude by refusing to allow the use of French as an official language in all the provinces. He will not produce any "scare."

WHAT ORANGEISM STANDS FOR.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir, Every true Protestant must not only have been pleased, but delighted at the immense parade on Friday last. This was especially gratifying, but what was still more so was the large number of men, women and children wearing colors during the day. This, to me, was a most pleasing sight, as it tends to relieve one of the thoughts which have been weighing heavily on the minds of many Protestants recently, namely, bi-lingualism, and the closing of schools where English-speaking children were in the majority, because teachers could not be procured for the few French-speaking youngsters, who ought to be compelled to learn the language of the Empire to whom they owe allegiance.

The Roman Catholic religion is spreading rapidly over this Province, and Peterborough is not one whit behind other cities in Ontario. To-day, in factory and workshop, where the Roman Catholic has the control, the Protestant gets his knocks, and no matter what his ability may be, he is passed over by men utterly incompetent, except in nerve, simply because they are Catholics, whilst he is not. It has been noticed by quite a few people in Peterborough lately how a firm's workmen have been tyrannized over, and new men put ahead of older ones simply because a new manager, being a Roman Catholic, puts his co-religionists away ahead Such prejudice will surely meet its own reward, and from Friday's enthusiastic parade, I look for great things in the near future when Protestantism will once more gain the ascendency and show the followers of the Pope that Protestants are as eager to-day as they were when King Billy crossed the River Boyne two centuries ago, to fight for religious liberty, and if the priests and their people do not keep in the background that day may arise quicker than most people expect.

Let it be understood that the Orange Order stands for equal rights. One of the governing principles of the Society is Equal Rights. They want no favors, but will not permit any government to grant further special privileges to Roman Catholics.

—Protestant.

REPLY TO MR. WALRAVEN

(Editor Morning Times)

Dear Sir.—In answer to the issue of the 17th inst., over the signature of Mr. W. Walraven, I would say that my humble verses are the expression of my own hearth and have nothing to do with the rest of my Dutch Orange people, of whom I am one, and Mr. Walraven none. That he has not seen a procession like that of July 12th in Holland is true, but even so, it is true that the Church of Rome cannot do in Holland as that Church does here. That country is ruled by a perfect law, which does not allow any religion or religious forms on the public streets by either Protestant or Catholic, and which law even covers the school and marriage question. With regard to his fear that the Orange Order should have many followers if they manifested themselves in Holland, as here in Canada, I can still say yes, and many more members than in Canada. Orangeism, praise God, is good and healthy in Holland, the land of its cradle. Will Mr. W. Walraven please bring his mind back only two years a certain French Roman priest in Holland tried to lift his head and pen, writing against Protestantism, and our beloved Orange Queen. I am proud to say NOT YOU, NEITHER ONE OF YOUR PARTISIANS, WHOSE MOTTO IS "NO GOD," "NO RELIGION," "NO CROWN," "NO KINGDOM," has opened his mouth in protest against it, but it was the Dutch Orange men and women and the Protestant Federation that showed that priest that Rome has nothing to say in Holland, and that, as you acknowledge, the majority of Holland's people uphold Orangeism. Now, Mr. W. Walraven, with all respect to you as a fellow countryman I do not want to go with you in any controversy where you include yourself in Protestantism by using five times the word "we" something you are not. I close my answer to you in a real Dutch expression: "God with Netherland and Orange, one indissoluble link," but even at the same time showing myself a loyal British subject. I say: "God Save our King."

Thanking you Mr. Editor for this space in your valuable paper, I remain a true and faithful Protestant and Orangeman.

MESOTHORIUM CURES CANCER

Inexpensive Substitute For Radium Announced By German Professor

Berlin, July 19—Prof. Czerny, the celebrated surgeon and bacteriologist of Heidelberg University, announces a highly successful result from treatment of cancer with mesothorium as a substitute for radium. In the current number of the Umschau, a scientific periodical published at Frankfurt on the Main, Prof. Czerny says a German colleague, named Prof. Otto Hahn, is entitled to the credit of hitting upon mesothorium as an effective substitute for the prohibitively expensive radium. Prof. Czerny's article contains exhaustive illustrated details of results attained at the Heidelberg Cancer Hospital with mesothorium. It is claimed that highly malignant external growths yielded to the treatment to the point of complete cures. Prof. Czeny is hopeful that continued experiments with mesothorium will shortly permit it to be used successfully on internal cancers.

AMERICAN FOE OF TYPHUS

Vienna, July 19—Professor Hartsock says in the Clinical Weekly that the way typhus is being fought in the American army by American bacteriologists is fully as important as the new discoveries by Metchnikoff of the typhus serum. The professor gives facts and figures regarding the efficacy of the American typhus serum that are attracting wide attention.

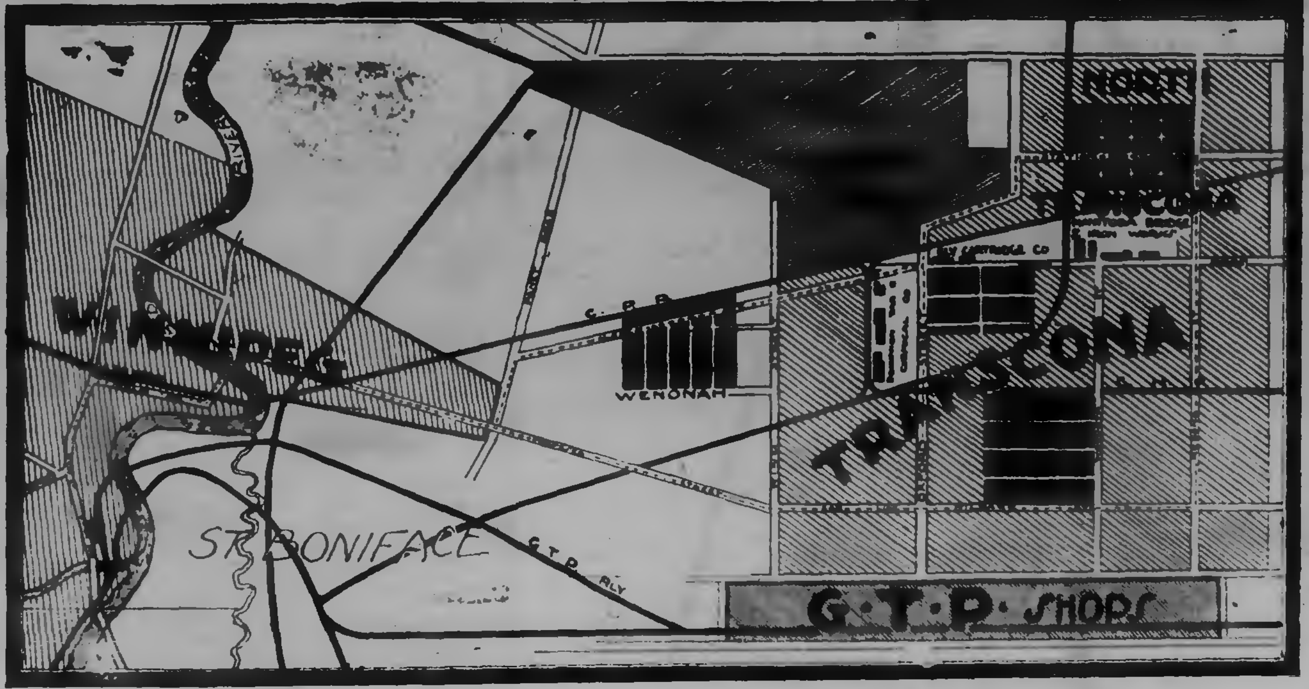
Take Our Advice and Invest in Transcona To-day



Winnipeg's Railway and Industrial Centre

TRANSCONA is rapidly becoming the recognized manufacturing centre of Winnipeg, and will be to Winnipeg what Toronto Junction is to Toronto.

The Grand Trunk Pacific are rushing to complete their immense shops at Transcona, one unit of theses are already finished, the machinery is now being tested, and in a few weeks' time one thousand men will be employed permanently and other sections will be pleted as rapidly as possible, and will give employment to a small army of mechanics.

The C. P. R. are now building the largest railway yard in the world at Transcona, together with elevators, round houses and other terminal facilities. Several industrial plants are already located in Transcona, and many others will be located there in the near future. The Dominion Tar and Chemical Co., and the Ely Cartridge Company now have their plants in operation. The Manitoba Bridge and Iron Works are building an enormous plant, and expect to have a part of it completed by the first of the year.

The G. T. P. shops will give employment to four or five thousand men, and in the near future the C. P. R. will require fully one thousand mechanics and yard men and the several manufacturing plants will require sufficient men to bring the total number of employees in Transcona up to fifteen thousand, this will mean a city with a population of over fifty thousand people.

Transcona has been incorporated, a progressive Council elected, and contracts have been already let for several mile of sidewalks, streets graded, electric light, and the question of sewage is now under consideration.

Investors who buy in Transcona to-day will make large profits. Real estate values in Transcona are exceptionally low, considering the possibilities of this young City. Lots that we are now offering for $5.00 per ft. and upwards will be worth from $100.00 to $300.00 per ft., in less than five years' time.

Any Investor can make 100 p.c. or more on their money in a very short time by investing in Transcona Lots.

Macey DESK FILE

It is a personal desk system. Keeps the details of your work always at your finger tips. It automatically reminds you of your appointments and engagements, it calls attention to collections due, prospective orders that need attention; it's a sort of mechanical memory—an automatic collector, salesman and correspondent. A Slam.

Hance Logan, ex-M.P. for Amherst, N.S., was among the guests of the Saskatchewan Legislature on the laying of the corner-stone of the capitol some few years ago. Regina then had fewer paved streets than it has to-day, and the Parliament Buildings were a little way out of town where pavements were not.

Regina is the centre of a great agricultural district, and while its soil is excellent for growing wheat it has very little vogue with the pedestrian.

When the train pulled into Regina an energetic Saskatchewan rain had been at work over night, and was still busy.

Mr. Logan and his friends were forced to walk through the mire to the ceremonies. A good man had seized on the occasion to spread the gospel among the eastern heathen and had established himself near the site of the Parliament buildings, where he displayed a conspicuous sign which read, "Where will you spend eternity?"

Mr. Logan waved an interrogative hand to the sign, pointed to one of his party, and said, "Anywhere but Regina."—Canadian Courier.

An Aristocratic Bank.

All the clerks at Coutts' bank in London, where the king and members of the royal family have accounts, must be clean shaven and wear frock coats during banking hours. No bank in the world has so many aristocratic customers as Coutts'. Practically every member of the house of lords banks at the famous house in the Strand, and no other English bank has so many foreign aristocrats on its books.

The Web Equipment.

The new web equipment has been issued to some of the infantry corps in Canada, and will shortly be taken into general use. It's chief feature is the ease with which the component parts are assembled together, and the far great comfort to those who have to wear it, in comparison to the uncomfortable equipments of by-gone days.

The main principle underlying the design of this web equipment is the sub-division of the complete set into what may be called the "marching" and "fighting" portions.

The arrangement of this equipment allows a soldier to have normally with him the whole of his equipment, while, when an action is imminent, the pack and its contents can be discarded, and extra ammunition in "emergency" bandoliers carried in place of the pack.

This equipment is perfectly balanced, is made of flexible and woven webbing.

When marching at ease, the belt can be worn loose without the pack shifting. The whole load is easily thrown on and off when resting on the march and there are no straps crossing the chest to press on the lungs.

Post In New Zealand.

New Zealand's postal revenue is larger in proportion to population than that of any other country. It exceeded $5,000,000 last year, or $6 for every inhabitant.

He Didn't Know.

Superintendent J. E. Rogers, of the Ontario Provincial Police, who was recently despatched to Chicago to file the extradition papers in the case of Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, relates an amusing incident of his experiences in passing Canadian money in the Illinois metropolis. He sought to pay his hotel bill with Canadian bank currency, but was informed that a five-per-cent. discount would be charged on all bills with the exception of the Dominion one and two dollar notes. Mr. Rogers had tendered the amount of his account in Bank of Commerce bills. Somewhat exasperated he began to thumb over his "roll." The clerk watched him meanwhile.

"We will take those without discount," he observed, pointing to a five-dollar Dominion Bank bill.

Mr. Rogers smiled, paid his account in Dominion Bank bills, secured his receipt, and then had his revenge by pointing out the ridiculous ignorance of the wise accountant of the metropolitan hostelry.—Canadian Courier.

The Secret Blotter.

Every foreign office of Europe acts on the theory that an army of spies is constantly on the alert to steal its secrets, and infinite precautions are taken to baffle their efforts. Very shortly after the first use of blotting paper it was discovered that it was quite possible to cause a blotting pad to give up jealously guarded secrets by simply holding it in front of a mirror. Long after all the commercial world had forgotten the existence of such a thing the British foreign office used a sand shaker to dry its important written documents. Then specially manufactured black blotting paper was used, but this was not found to be absolutely spy proof, and a return to the sand shaker was contemplated when some one suggested the simple expedient of a small absorbent roller. These rollers have since been used for drying diplomatic documents. When such a roller has been run up and down and across a document once or twice the cleverest spy in the world is at liberty to try his hand at deciphering the impressions.

A Duplex Church.

Old Heidelberg is justly celebrated for its castle, for the great tun therein which holds 83,000 bottles of wine and was actually filled on three occasions, and for the ancient university with one professor for each seven students; but perhaps the most interesting thing in the old city from one point of view is the Church of the Holy Ghost.

This church is one of the most ancient buildings in the town. Long ago a partition wall was run through the center, and services are held simultaneously according to the Roman Catholic and the Protestant rituals.

In the year 1791 the Elector, Charles Philip, attempted to stop the dual services, but this so offended the Heidelbergers that he was compelled not only to desist in this effort, but to remove the electoral court to Mannheim.—Harper's.

Utah's Lofty Mountains.

The Uinta range is one of the most impressive in the United States. King's peaks tower above great canyons and capacious amphitheaters, reaching a height of 13,496 and 13,498 feet. Mount Emmons is but slightly less elevated, with an altitude of 13,428 feet, while many other peaks rise above 13,000 feet. Considered in its past and present, the region of the Uinta mountains is a wonderful country, deeply interesting geologically, of great economic importance, picturesque and beautiful. Traveling westward after long miles of commonplace scenery, the Uintas loom up grandly, while features of beauty are the innumerable lakes and meadows made possible by the glacial scouring. From the summit of Bald mountain, for instance, four great basins extend before the eye. Nestling among the pine forests at least seventy lakes may be counted. Scattered throughout the forests there are also numerous meadows. Above the forests rise some of the most majestic peaks of the Uintas.—Guy Elliott Mitchell, United States Geological Survey, in Leslie's.

A Manitoba Pioneer.

Jonathan Heaney died suddenly recently in a Winnipeg hospital after undergoing an operation for intestinal trouble. Mr Heaney, who was 74 years of age, came to Manitoba from the neighborhood of Brampton, Ont., nearly 33 years ago, and settled in Meadow Lea, where he farmed for almost 25 years, later moving to Winnipeg.

—Vigorous Health —

SEEMED TO HAVE LOST ALL AMBITION, WAS PALE AND ANAEMIC.

Made Wonderful Recovery When Dr. Hamilton's Pills Were Used.

"I was never actually sick," writes Mrs. Norman La Pierre, wife of a well known resident of Labeniene, "yet I never could get strong like other women. I ate well enough, but somehow rich and red blood I could never make. When I married I took a great pride in my housekeeping, but it kept me tired all the time. Mrs. Lachance, my neighbor, looked well—she told me her health had been made up by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I only thought of Pills as a physic, but now I know that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are more, for they quickened my stomach, liver and bowels—made me stouter and stronger, gave me such color in my cheeks as I never had before. I sincerely believe Dr. Hamilton's Pills should be used by every woman—that's why I write this letter."

An Enjoyable Outing.

The outing of the business men yesterday was largely attended, notwithstanding the cold weather, and was thoroughly enjoyed. There were about 75 on board, and when the steamer reached Idyl-Wyld they were ready for the sumptuous dinner which had been provided, and was soon in readiness. A couple of hours were spent at this charming place, when a start for home was made. The party landed at the lower wharf and were met by street cars.

Life Belts Placed.

Life belts have been placed on the river between the Auburn Power House and the new dam, one belt to which a rope is attached being put in a glass case at each end of the river. The position of the belt is conspicuous and it can be used readily in case of accident in the water. It is the intention of the Electric Power Co. to supply this equipment at all necessary points in connection with their power houses.

Didn't Like to Be Sneaky.

Port Hope Guide: The experience of Peterborough County farmers in securing help recalls the story of the Smith Township resident who hired a farm hand last year. The first morning after the new man arrived, Mr. Farmer rudely awakened him at 3 a.m., shouting, "Hey there, get up there's some oats to be cut." The hired man grunted sleepily, "Are they wild oats?" "No," replied the astonished farmer, "they're tame." "Then why on earth do you want to sneak up on them in the dark?" retorted his new assistant, as he turned over and prepared to go to sleep again.

Will Visit Fenelon Falls

The Salvation Army Temple Band which visited Fenelon Falls last summer, has received and accepted an invitation to make the trip for Saturday and Sunday, August 10 and 11. A musical festival will be given on Saturday evening. Col. and Mrs. Chandler, of Toronto, are to conduct the Sunday meetings. The local corps has chartered the steamer Stoney Lake for Monday, July 22nd. The boat will leave Wolfe street wharf at 8.15 a.m. for Gore's Landing. During the day there will be a side trip to Hiawatha. The S.A. Band will be aboard, and there will be lots of music and singing.

A Peterborough Centenarian

Mr. Robert Hope, of Otonabee, celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of his birth on Thursday last. His friends and neighbors called at his home at Villiers and congratulated him on his birthday. He looks as bright and well as a much younger man. At Mr. James Dickson's, where Mr. Hope resides, he never having been married, about 75 or 100 friends and relatives gathered. Everybody was given a supper, such as only can be served on the farm. All of the older farmers of Otonabee were present to congratulate the popular and honored centenarian, and extend their heartiest greetings. Mr. Hope was greatly touched by the evidences of friendship that everywhere greeted him.

A PLEASING EVENT

Mr Gordon Vanatter Presented With An Address.

Shortly after five o'clock yesterday evening Mr. Gordon Vanatter, one one of the staff of the Times, was presented by the employees with an address, accompanied by a handsome travelling bag, on the eve of his departure for his home at Niagara Falls, where he has gone to recuperate.

The presentation was made by Mr. A. C. Miller, who briefly referred to the loss which the staff suffered in his departure. He will carry with him the best wishes of his many friends in Peterborough, who all join in wishing him renewed health and strength.

Mr. Vanatter, who was taken by surprise responded in a few well chosen words, thanking them for their kindly sentiments and also for the handsome gift.

GIRLISH COMPLEXION NOW EASILY ACQUIRED.

"A skin of blended snow, cream, and rose," is the way an Ohio correspondent describes her newly commercolized wax in place of cosmetics massage, steaming and other methods. Many who have tried this marvelous wax report that its effects are quite different from those of any other treatment. It produces a complexion of exquisite girlish naturalness, rather than one bearing evidence of having been artificially "made over." One that is indeed "Nature's own" the result of gradually absorbing dead particles o surface skin, permitting the younger, healthier skin beneath to show itself and give its pores a chance to breathe. Mercolized wax, procurable at any drug store in original one ounce package, is put on at night like cold cream and washed off in the morning.

I have also had many favorable letters from those who have tried the wrinkle-removing face bath which I recommended recently. If any have mislaid the formula, here it is: 1 oz. powdered saxolite, dissolved in ½ pt witch hazel.—Julia Orff in The Clubwoman

Case Dismissed.

At the Police Court yesterday Norman Sukloff, was charged with a breach of the town by-law, in respect to closing the store at the appointed hour, designated in the Shop Regulation Act, namely, 7 o'clock, with the exception of such days as mentioned in the statutes. Mr. D. O'Connell appeared for the defence, and contended that the customer alleged to have been supplied with goods in Sukloff's store after the legal hour, had entered the store prior to the time for closing and that it was perfectly legitimate to complete the sale after the hour for closing had arrived. Chief Thompson was unable to produce the person alleged to have been served, as he was employed as a lumber jack and left the city. The Magistrate took cognizance of the contention raised by the counsel for the defence and the case was dismissed.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

MAY BUILD HOTEL HERE

Rumor That a New Hotel May Be Built in Peterborough

Montreal, July 19.—A gentleman from the West passing through here, made the announcement to some friends that an effort was being made to form a syndicate to build first class hotels in Brockville, Kingston and Peterborough respectively. He outlined the scheme and believed from experience with the Quinte at Belleville that these hotels could be made successful.

One of the difficulties in the way seemed to be a proper site at Kingston, and two had been suggested with a further hint that Kingston might grant a site, fixing the assessment and water rates for a number of years.

The three hotels will be owned by the same people and the methods of management will be identical.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

There is quite a bunch of campers at Crawford's Grove and vicinity.

Wilbert Walsh, o. Millbrook, sold a young team of Clydes two and three years old for $550 last week. They were from Mr. A. J. Henderson's horse, which left all high priced progeny.

In arranging the location of electric lamps in the bathroom very few people think of the shadows that will be thrown upon the window shades if the lamps are not properly placed. Never permits lamps to be arranged so that the tub will be between them and the window. This is one of the little things that must be considered when the house is being wired. It becomes a glaring defect after the work is done, and often a source of embarrassment.

THE NORTH AMERICAN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY

Is practically a mutual one, with the protection afforded by a guarantee fund upon which interest is paid While such fund is only $60,000.00, the guarantors are liable for five times this amount; so that the position admirably reflects the best points of stock and mutual companies. The Directorate is composed of both policy holders and guarantors, who are equally interested in its management. Home Office, Toronto.

Biggest Scandal on Record

Japan's Emperor Dying After 44 Years of Rule

Suffragettes a Menace to Life

EMPEROR OF JAPAN SAID TO BE AT DEATHS DOOR

Premier and Minister Of State Hastily Summoned to the Royal Palace

Citizens of Tokio As Well As The Chief Cities Of The Empire Very Much Depressed

Stock Prices Collapse---Has Reigned For Forty Four Years, And Is Very Popular With His Subjects

Tokio, July 21.—The Emperor's condition this afternoon was so critical that the Ministers of the State were assembled at the palace, and the announcement was made that his majesty was sinking.

A bulletin issued by the attending physicians, gives the history of the Emperor's illness as follows:

"Since July 14th, his majesty has been suffering from intestinal trouble. Great drowiness followed the early attacks, this symptom increasing rapidly. On July 18th his majesty became unconscious and his brain was affected. On the evening of the 19th the fever suddenly increased, showing a temperature of 104.7. The pulse rate was 104 and the respiration 38."

Shock for Citizens.

The announcement of the critical illness of his Majesty came as a severe shock to the people of the Capital. The news was announced in the Nichi Nichi at 12.15 o'clock this morning and it permeated through the entire Empire very rapidly.

At 3 p.m. the entire city of Tokio was impressively quiet. Anxious crowds assembled about the newspaper bulletin boards with what might be regarded as a hush.

His Majesty's bed has been moved to a sitting room in the Palace. The Empress remained at the bedside of her husband during the day. The Crown Prince Yoshihito, who is recovering from a case of chicken-pox and is still confined to his bed, received the news of his father's illness this morning. He has not yet been able to visit the Palace.

The Imperial Princes have been summoned from their summer residences, and together with all the notables at present in the Capital they repaired to the Palace, where they will await the latest news from the sick chamber.

Collapse of Prices.

The present situation is without precedent in the history of the new Japan. The news of his Majesty's illness came as an absolute surprise and its unlooked for annoucement resulted in the quick collapse of prices.

The return to Tokio of Prince Katsura, the former Premier, who left some days ago on a mission to Europe, is expected. The prince was among the first to be officially notified by telegraph of the Emporer's illness.

ORANGEMEN ARE NOW FURIOUS

Violent Threats Are Made In Northern Districts Against Premier Asquith

New York, July 21.—A cable from Dublin this afternoon says: "Home Rule Ireland is wild with enthusiasm to-day and the Orange districts are furious over Premier Asquith's speech at the Theatre Royal here. John Redmond, himself, both sides say, could not have been more aggressively or forcibly Nationalistic."

The Premier is almost an object of worship here to-day. At Belfast the most violent threats are being made against him, and should he visit there, it is more than likely he will suffer actual rough handling. Anger felt here toward the suffragettes, who are alleged to have plotted to burn up the Theatre Royal, and who attempted to interrupt the Premier's speech there, is intensified from the fact that it is looked on as an attempt to sacrifice Irish interests to the votes for women campaign.

The attempt to throw a band of suffragettes into the Liffy River last night, was entirely genuine, and but for the vigor shown by the police, the women probably would have lost their lives.

A NATIONAL ISSUE

The last issue of The Sentinel says: "Hon. C. J. Doherty, Canada's Minister of Justice, has not added to his reputation as a fair-minded man by the treatment which he has meted out to G. M. Atlas. If he is not satisfied that Mr. Atlas is entitled to a pardon he should have the case tried again. Nobody wants Mr. Atlas to be protected from the consequences of his own conduct. But in this particular there is a feeling which amounts to conviction that Mr. Atlas has been the victim of a conspiracy. It is possible for the Minister of Justice to discover whether that is the case or not. At least, he might make an effort. His failure to do this has excited a lot of unfavorable comment. His religion and some of the decisions which he gave while upon the bench are recalled and discussed as if this had something to do with his unwillingness to treat Mr. Atlas fairly.

"The rapidity with which Farquhar McRae, the convicted murderer obtained a full pardon at the instigation of Roman Catholic priests is contrasted with the maliciousness that has marked the pursuit of Mr. Atlas ever since he exposed the worship of the Holy Donkey.

"This is a matter which Mr. Borden should take into consideration, for in this part of the country his Government is likely to be discredited, as support is given to the charge that he is under the influence of the Roman Catholic party.

"The Sentinels warns the Minister of Justice that the Atlas case will be made a national issue unless it is fairly treated."

BRITISH MINISTERS IN GREATER DANGER THAN WHEN FENIANS PLOTTED

Suffragettes Menace the Life and Property of Cabinet Members---Detectives Constantly Guard Children From Kidnappers--Ministers Breaking Down Under the Strain

London, July 20.—The Government and police are seriously concerned over the latest suffragist tactics. Within a week we have had four serious attempts on the life or property of Cabinet Ministers. Thursday's Dublin outrages are undoubtedly part of a carefully worked-out plan, executed, if not originated by officials of the Women's Social Political Union.

Scores of window-breakers have recently been released from prison, furious at their heavy sentences andforcible feeding. Some of these openly avow it is time the movement had martyrs. The detectives now watch day and night over Cabinet Ministers and their families. Ministers' children have been guarded from kidnappers, and already several Ministers are showing signs of the strain. Suffragist officials to-day talk of more and more violent action, and are raising funds to defend their arrested members.

Everyone here is asking what action the Government will take to end this intolerable situation. The Ministers to-day are, in the opinion of all who know the facts, in greater physical danger than even during the height of the Fenian campaign.

ITALIANS DENY ATTACKING TURKS IN THE DARDANELLES

Rome, July 21.—The Italian Government, according to semi-official note issued to-day, knows nothing of the reported action between a flotilla of Italian torpedo boat destroyers and the Turkish forts at the entrance to the Dardanelles, except that several Turkish torpedo boats left the straits to hunt for Italian warships, and that it is possible, therefore, the Italian destroyers engaged these vessels in battle.

"The idea that the Italian destroyers would try to force the Dardanelles," the semi-official note says, "is ridiculous. If the Turkish forts bombarded the Italian warships, it was probably a result of the panic now reigning in Turkey, or was a pretext of the government again to close the straits."

A despatch from Constantinople stated that eight Italian torpedo boats attacked the entrance of the Dardanelles at 1.30 yesterday morning, and that two boats were sunk by Turkish batteries, the Italians losing several hundred killed or wounded.

DEATH OF MRS. JOHN KYLIE.

Passed Away Suddenly at St. Joseph's Hospital Yesterday.

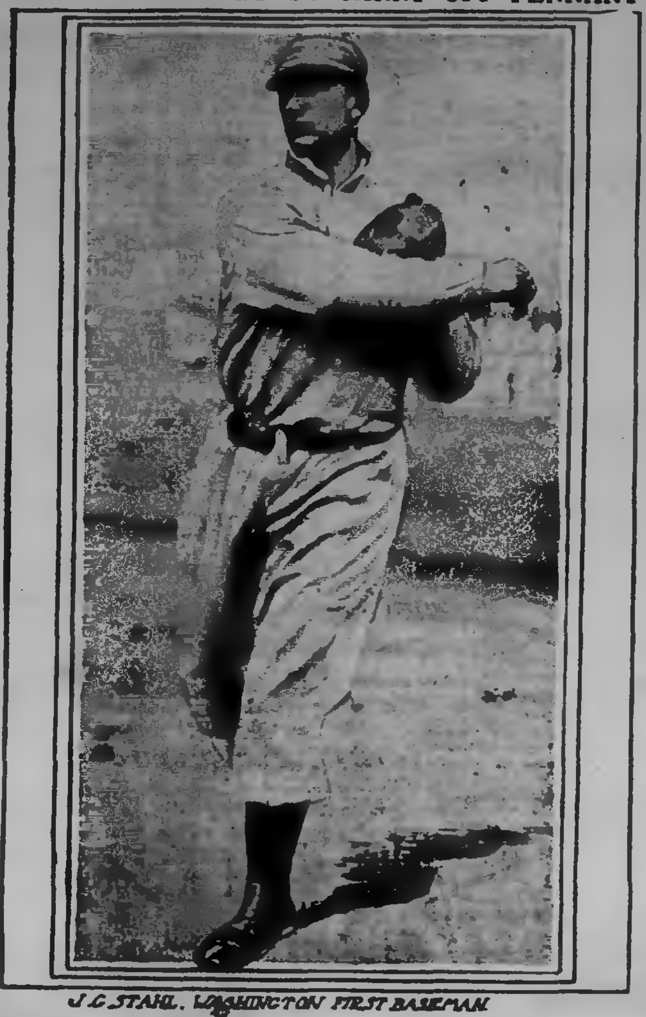
The many friends of Mrs. John Kylie will regret to learn of her death which occurred very suddenly yesterday morning at St. Joseph's Hospital. The deceased, who was 62 years of age, had been in poor health for about three years and was removed to the hospital one week ago. Her maiden name was Miss Ann Brady, and she was married to Mr. Kylie in 1877. Besides a sorrowing husband, there is left to mourn her demise a family of three sons and two daughters.

The funeral, which will be private, will be held on Tuesday morning, from 464 Charlotte street.

BIG TIME AT JUBILEE POINT.

The Printers Picnic goes to Jubilee Point on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 3. Stoney Lake leaves Wolfe street wharf at 1.30 sharp. A good program of sports has been arranged and a good time is assured all.

HIS CREW LIKELY TO CARRY OFF PENNANT



J. G. STAHL, WASHINGTON FIRST BASEMAN

It begins to look very much as though "Jake" Stahl and his merry Boston crew will carry off the pennant in the American League race. Stahl has his men going in great shape, and indications point to a championship in the bean eating town.

FORMAL DENIAL OF ANY TREATY MADE BY JAPAN

Washington, July 21.—(Can. Press)—Formal denial of the published statement that a treaty between Japan and Russia looking to the definition of their respective interests in Manchuria and Mongolia was about to be signed at St. Petersburg, has reached the State department from the American embassy at Tokio.

The embassy based its denial on information furnished by the Japanese foreign office. State department officials have nothing to say to reconcile the issue thus raised between St. Petersburg and Tokio.

The unofficial opinion is expressed here that even if a treaty is in incubation it might be found to be nothing more than an agreement between the two powers not to interfere with each other in certain definite zones and such an agreement would have no binding force upon any other nation not a party to the agreement and which did not care to be bound by its provisions. Thus, it is pointed out, it could not materially affect the status quo in China or even in Manchuria or Mongolia so far as concerns the maintenance of the open door and the right of Great Britain, Germany, France or the United States to exercise the privileges of right-of-way there as Japan or Russia.

THE WEATHER.

Showery and about the same temperature.

INDIAN RIVER MAIL ROUTE NOW SETTLED

Mail Will Leave Indian River on Arrival of Morning C.P.R. Train, and Will Serve About 75 Farmers.

Mr. J. H. Pallin, of Otonabee, called on The Times yesterday and informed us that the new rural mail route, which is to serve the Indian River Section of Otonabee, is all settled, and orders for mail boxes are now being placed with the Post Office Department at Ottawa. The route will not start until Autumn, when the present contract for carrying the mail between Jermyn and Lang post offices will expire.

The new route will serve 75 homes with a daily mail and will cover about 25 miles. One feature that might be mentioned is the fact that it will enable these 75 homes to get The Times every afternoon of the day of issue and will thus place it ahead of all competitors. We expect to add fully 90 per cent of the people on the route to our permanent list of regular subscriber to The Morning Times. This has been done on all other mail routes.

Mr. J. A. Sexsmith, M.P., took an active interest in securing this boon to the people, and they will appreciate it. The member for East Peterborough is a man of action and not of words.

POLICE HAVE DONE NOTHING TO CAPTURE AUTO MURDERERS BURNS DETECTIVES ON TRACK

Gangsters and Gamblers Have Become so Desperate That They Have Sent Threatening Letters to District Attorney and Council--When All Facts Come Out in a Day or Two It Will Be Biggest Police Scandal in the World

New York, July 20.—Gangsters and gamblers, friends and backers of the assassins of Herman Rosenthal, have become so desperate—emboldened by their belief that the police department of this city backs them—that they have sent threatening letters to District Attorney Whitman, and Assemblyman-Attorney Aaron J. Levy, in whose hands the capture and conviction of the murderers rests.

Officials Threatened With Death.

New York has actually reached a situation in which officers on whom rests the punishment for one of the most sensational murders in the city's history have been told that if they proceed they will die. No crooks, least of all the kind of crooks who committed the murder, would think of such threats while their own necks were in danger if they didn't firmly believe that they assassinated a victim for crooks of the police department.

Detectives Hot on Trail.

District Attorney Whitman and four Burns detectives, with a complete list of the men who murdered Rosenthal, to-day went after those who committed the crime. There was every indication that the guilty persons would be speedily captured. This list includes the men who rode in the murder automobile, the men who did the actual killing, and the man who covered the chauffeur with a revolver to accelerate the speed of the automobile that took the murderers away.

Biggest Scandal in the World.

"My Client," said Attorney Aaron J. Levy to-day, "gave the district attorney all of the names, and when the facts come out, as they probably will in a day or two, it will be the biggest police scandal that NewYork, or any other city in the world, ever had."

It was Levy, the attorney for Louis Libby and William Shapiro, the chauffeurs, who arranged the conference at which the two men practically turned State's evidence.

Police Are Inactive.

The police have done nothing to get the murderers, other than to let Sam Paul and other denizens of the gambling art know that certain men are wanted for investigation. From all sides it is concluded that Rose, who was the warm friend of Lieut. Charles A. Becker of the Police Department, and who was a collector for Becker, according to the District Attorney's information, recruited the murder party. It is conceded that he got the men from among the followers of Big Jack Zelig, who succeeded the late Kid Twist as commander of willing pirates.

FURTHER EXPANSION OF NAVAL POLICY TO OUTBUILD GERMANY

Churchill's Speech Will Be Reassuring as to Condition of British Navy to Meet Likely Emergencies---Special Seats for Canadian Ministers

London, July 20.—The Canadian Ministers will be here for another week. They will be given special seats in the House of Commons on Monday, when Winston Churchill makes his new naval announcement. It is expected to be both re-assuring as to the conditions of the British navy at this moment to meet any likely emergency: it will likely indicate a still further expansion of thepolicy of outbuilding Germany, and it will contain some reference more or less general, but also assuring to the nation of the co-operation of Canada, and the other dominions overseas, in imperial naval defence. The first lord of the admiralty will make his speech an historic one.

Mr. Borden will not likely make any further naval declarations on the part of Canada—preferring to await the meeting of the Canadian Parliament.

GETS $100 PENSION MONEY

Old Fenian Raid Veteran First to Receive Pension—Old Man Served in 1866 and is 90 Years of Age.

Through the kindly efforts of Mr. Burnham, Joseph Valors, one of those who turned out in 1866 to repel the Fenian invasion, received his $100 pension, it having been represented to the Minister of Militia that the old man was in poor circumstances. To a Review reporter, Mr. Burnham said: "Some months ago, 'Old Joe,' called upon me, respecting his claim, and let me say at the beginning, that it is to the Minister of Militia any credit belongs for any departmental speed in this matter.

"Joe begged that his case be considered at once, as he was sure he would die before he got the money otherwise. There was only one man who could give him a comrade's affidavit, Mr. John H. Mowry, 297 Sherbrooke street, formerly of Ashburnham, and as he was confined to his bed and nearly 90 years of age himself, it was necessary to go to his house and get his affidavit, before he left for the happy hunting grounds.

"He too called out that he was afraid he too would be dead before he would get his pension, but 'Old Joe' Valois is poor, and when a man gets to be over 90 years of age, and is downright poor in the bargain, it behooves a grateful country to get him his pension at once if one is coming to him.

"When the Minister was approached," continued Mr. Burnham, "he exclaimed that there were 25,000 applications in, most of which were bogus, but, in view of the circumstances, he would defy routine and red tape and go back and look up Joe's claim.

"This was done, and the good news has been received that the $100 was forthcoming. A friend will advance the $100 to him to-day so that the old man's fears will not be realized, and the oldest volunteer of '66 at any rate, in Peterborough, will know that there is some truth in reports of good fortune after all.

"It must be understood, however, that this case is not to be taken as a sample, for, unless a man can qualify by being over 90 years of age, and in poor circumstances, his case cannot be specially considered, as you can easily see if that sort of thing was started amongst 25,000 claimants, the departmental work at Ottawa, would soon degenerate into a riot."

"I am sure we will all be glad," said Mr. Burnham in concluding, "that Old Joe will have a little of his own money to bless himself with for his last days."

KING ALFONSO CLAIMS FORTUNE

Paris, July 21.—The King of Spain has been summoned by the Court of St. Gaudens, a little town near Toulouse, to appear before it on July 29.

Some time ago M. Sapene ex-mayor of Czarilh (Haute-Garonne), died in a mad house, leaving his entire fortune of about $500,000 to King Alfonso. M. Sapene's sister appeared and appealed to the Court of St. Gaudens to annul the will on the ground of her brother's insanity. The King, however, decided to oppose her claim, and the present summons arises from his action.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundreds of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 65 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps. Illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 85c, and well worth it, too. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 85c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 366 George St. directly opposite Creeman's store.

Preference Shares are preferential both as to assets and cumulative dividends at the rate of 7 p.c. per annum, also participate in dividends after 7 p.c. has been paid on common stock.

The average net profits of the Cafeterias, Limited, on King street, for the month of May, as shown by the report of the auditor, John I. Sutcliffe, C.A., amounted to over 30 p.c. on the entire issue of stock. A complete auditor's statement of the finances of Cafeterias, Limited, up to the end of May, may be seen at the offices of Messrs. Fleming & Marvin, Lumsden Building. This statement shows the monthly profits.

About $50,000.00 will be required to put the new Yonge street Cafeteria on a running basis. Of this amount about fifteen or twenty thousand dollars will be required to complete the interior finish, and make this restaurant one of the finest cafeterias in America. The balance will be required for outfitting the restaurant and providing a certain amount of working capital. The new restaurant will have a dining room of the large dimensions of 7,000 square feet on the ground floor, and will also have spacious additions for other purposes of the business.

Cafeterias, Limited, has found in the running of its business on King street that it has eclipsed the old style of waitress-serving restaurants, which is a great saving of labor and expense, and that the new restaurant is the best system of meeting the demands of the public for quick service, consistent with quality and efficiency of service.

We have opened subscription books for sale at par ($10.00) $50,000.00 fully paid shares of the above-mentioned 7 p.c. cumulative preference participating stock, carrying a bonus of 25 p.c. of the amount of the preference shares in common stock.

Payments as follows:

25% per share with subscription;
and 75% per share on allotment.

Subscription books are now open at our offices, and the right is reserved to allot only such subscriptions and for such amounts as may be approved, and to close the subscription without notice.

Subscriptions may be forwarded by mail or by telegram at our expense.

One of the "600."

The recent anniversary of the charge of the Light Brigade recalls the fact that there is still one man in England who took part in that glorious ride. Lord Tredegar, though an octogenarian, is still hale and hearty, and takes a very keen interest in military matters.

Lord Tredegar is the possessor of an estate in Newport (Eng.), and owns what is known in Wales as the "golden mile." A railway tunnel goes through a rock situated on the estate, and his lordship exacts tribute on every passenger and every ton of material borne through the tunnel. From this source alone his income is several thousands a year.

A Diamond Rush.

South Africa's new diamond excitement causes this report to be sent from Bloemhof: "Every farm for miles around is being prospected for diamonds, and each owner imagines that he owns a bonanza. The diamonds are scattered over the veldt for miles, but so far the cost of picking out the gems is greater than their value."

Glasgow's Railway Station.

IN ROYAL BARGE.

King and Queen Revive an Ancient River Custom.

The King and Queen proceeded up the Thames to the Henley regatta aboard the state barge the other day. The royal progress was witnessed by millions.

Built in 1689 to the order of William III., the famous state barge appeared as sound to-day as it was when launched from Saltois Yard at Oxford. It was originally designed to be rowed by ten watermen, but a few years ago the number was cut down to eight to provide more adequate accommodation for the passengers.

The barge, which is built of English oak from Windsor forest, is usually kept at Old Windsor. The last occasion on which it was used was when King Edward and Queen Alexandra, with their elder grand-children, visited Eton in 1904. On this trip the barge was accompanied by the Eton "Wet Bobs" in their boats, used every fourth of June.

William III. made frequent use of his barge when passing his time at his favorite residence at Hampton Court, both to visit London and to go up stream as far as Windsor. After his death, however, it was rather neglected by the Georges and, indeed, upon more than one occasion was in imminent danger of being broken up. Fortunately it was "lost" for several years, and this probably accounts for the fact that it is still in existence.

The office of king's bargemaster, who stands in the stern of the craft when it is afloat, with the royal arms of England behind him, is now attached to the Lord Chamberlain's department and is at present filled by Mr. William Giles East of Richmond, once sculling champion and one of the finest water men the Thames has ever produced. The office is of considerable antiquity, as it seems there was never a day when a British King did not maintain his barge on the Thames.

When O'Connell Refused to Fight.

There were all sorts of ways of getting out of a duel formerly, as well as of getting into one. N. P. Willis records a conversation with Moore at Lady Blessington's in which Moore defended duelling as the "great preserver of the decencies of society." He was condemning O'Connell for not meeting Peel. O'Connell pleaded his wife's illness and delayed until the law interfered. Some other Irish patriot about the same time refused a challenge on account of the illness of his daughter, and a Dublin wit made a good epigram on the two:

Some men with a horror of slaughter
Improve on the Scripture command
And honor their wife and their daughter.
That their days may be long in the land.

Sad Days for Punch.

Poor Punch and Judy have been dealt a bitter blow. Once they were a centre of delight. Now, it seems, they are liable to be regarded in the eyes of the law merely as "an obstruction," The London Post remarks.

A Punch and Judy showman who played his little drama at the corner of Spring Gardens the other evening found himself next morning in the police court, under a charge of causing a hindrance to traffic and using bad language. He was fined five shillings for bad language, and the magistrate went on to say that he "had no right to create an obstruction by causing a crowd to gather."

Airmen's Finger-Post.

Probably the most curiously finger post in the world is that which has just been erected near London at Mason's Hill, Bromley, Kent. It is 18 feet high, and has big painted models of a motor-cycle and monoplane on the arms while on the top is a model of a biplane in full flight. On the finger pointing to Sevenoaks is the inscription, "Hastings and Paris"; on the one pointing in the opposite direction, to "London and John o' Groat's"; and the third, "Croydon and Land's End."

Port Hope Guide: The experience of Peterborough County farmers in securing help recalls the story of the Smith Township resident who hired a farm hand last year. The first morning after the new man arrived, Mr. Farmer rudely awakened him at 3 a.m., shouting, "Hey there, get up there's some oats to be cut." The hired man grunted sleepily, "Are they wild oats?" "No," replied the astonished farmer, "they're tame." "Then why on earth do you want to sneak up on them in the dark?" retorted his new assistant, as he turned over and prepared to go to sleep again.

Real Rubies.

"Most people are of the impression that the diamond is more valuable than any other jewel stone, but weight for weight the oriental ruby costs many times what the finest diamond of the Kimberley field will bring," said a dealer, who has lately returned from a trip to the East Indies. "For instance, a fine 11 carat ruby sold in London a few years ago for $35,000. An 11 carat diamond in the market would not bring anything like this sum. The smaller sized diamonds and pigeon blood rubies are not so wide apart in price, but real rubies are steadily in the lead in all gem markets."

Making Matters Worse.

The English papers tell a quaint story of Lord Leighton, the painter. Two women were looking at his picture of "Helen of Troy." "It is a horrid picture," one remarked to the painter. "I'm sorry, but it's mine," said Sir Frederick, as he then was. "Oh," said the woman, "you don't mean to say you've bought it?" "No; I painted it," was the reply. "Oh," declared the woman, "you mustn't mind what we say. We are only saying what everybody else says."

Christmas Trees.

England imports most of its Christmas trees from Germany. About one-fourth of them come from its own forests in Sussex and Surrey.

MONDAY, JULY 22, 1912

HAVE KEPT THEIR WORD.

When the Dominion Government asked the courts to say whether or not Parliament had the right under the constitution to pass a Federal marriage Act, Opposition journals declared that the reference was merely a device of the Administration to escape responsibility. Over and over again these newspapers insisted that the issue would be hung up in the Supreme Court and the Privy Council for at least two years and that meantime the Ministry would go to the country without committing itself on this question therefore without offending either Quebec or the English speaking Provinces. But, as the News tersely remarks, the event has belied the journalistic fomenters of trouble. A few weeks ago the Supreme Court handed down judgment validating mixed marriages and marriages between Roman Catholics by whatever authorized person performed, and declaring that Parliament has no authority to pass a general Federal marriage law. After the delivery of this finding the Minister of Justice lost no time in getting to London and in pressing for a special early hearing before the Privy Council. He has succeeded in his mission and the appeal will probably be heard within a few days. The Opposition cry that Mr. Borden and his colleagues have been trying to dodge an embarrassing issue has completely fallen down.

Editorial Notes

Under the guise of bilingualism the Province is being dotted with citadels of foreign racial prejudice, in which English is unknown, says the Winnipeg Free Press. In the absence of compulsory education, thousands of children are growing up illiterate to supply future victims for the jails, lunatic asylums, bagnios and barrooms.

Portugal and Rome are drifting farther apart. The final act in the separation of Church and State was the recall of the Portuguese ambassador to the Vatican. By a vote of fifty to forty-five the chamber of deputies abolished the legation which, up to the present time, has been maintained at the Vatican. And still "the prisoner of the Vatican" attempts to keep up the illusion that the Papacy is as strong as ever.

The future of the French-Canadian people and the French language in Canada is not hard to predict. With the close of the present century the people of the Dominion will not be called British-Canadians or French-Canadians, but they will be called Canadians. Mr. Bourassa's carefully cultivated conception of a little exclusive French republic is a hot-house plant which will die in the atmosphere of continental intercourse.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the ig profits now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit?
If Not, Here Is Your Opportunity

We invite the closest inspection of this proposition, and will gladly mail prospectus containing full particulars. Again we sound the warning, unless you send us your orders for stock in the Canada Moving Pictures, Limited, without further delay, it will mean GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY permitted to slip by.

Opportunity knocks at each man's door at least once in a lifetime. Here it is, and our candid advice is, take advantage at once to the limit of your finances. The stock is selling fast and only a limited amount remains.

5 Years' Throat Trouble And Influenza Cured

EMINENT DOCTORS FAILED TO CURE—HAD GIVEN UP HOPE.

This case Does Prove That When Catarrhozone is Breathed Every Trace of Catarrh Disappears

Milford, Haven, Da., June 12.—Everyone in this neighborhood knows of the long suffering from influenza and catarrh endured by Mrs. D. Gurney. To-day she is well. Her recovery is due entirely to Catarrhozone. This is her own statement: "I was a great sufferer from Catarrh in the head, throat and nose, and endured the manifold tortures of influenza for five years. My life was despaired of. Catarrh was undermining my strength very fast. I used treatments from eminent doctors but all failed to cure me. I had given up hope of ever being well. Then I read of a wonderful cure made by Catarrhozone. Immediately I sent for Catarrhozone and before I had used one bottle I was greatly relieved. To-day I am cured. We would not be without Catarrhozone in our home—it's so sure in colds, coughs, bronchial and throat trouble. I feel it is my duty to publicly recommend Catarrhozone."

Get the large dollar size of Catarrhozone; it contains a beautiful hard rubber inhaler, and medicine that last two months. Smaller sizes 25c and 50c each. Beware of imitations—accept only Catarrhozone sold by all reliable dealers or by mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont., and Buffalo, N.Y.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for the opinions of its correspondents - - - - -

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I notice in the Review's report of the City Council meeting, it refer's to "The People's Candidate." What does this mean? Is it intended to convey an idea that any particular alderman has the especial good-will of the people? Or, perhaps it may mean that the people will "get even" with him on January next. Which is it?

Anti-Humbug.

A QUESTION FOR THE LADIES.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The following is an extract from a recent issue of a local evening paper:

At the corner of the Via Stabia and the Vicolo di Mercufio in Pompeii is "The house of the Lacoon," which was a complete milliner's and baker's establishment, containing grinding mills and a large oven for baking.

Mere man would like to know what kind of hats those ancient ladies wore, that necessitated the use of ovens and grinding mills.

Yours truly,

J. M. O.

SEPARATE SCHOOLS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—There appeared a short time ago in the columns of the public press a letter written by Sir Richarch Scott on the vexed question of separate schools. Up to the present there has been, to my mind, no satisfactory reply to that letter, which contains statements that should not go unchallenged.

Sir Richard Scott says that the growth of crime in the United States is due to the lack of religious training in the public schools. If Sir Richard will examine the criminal records he will find that to be untrue. As I said before, I do not wish to antagonize anybody, but look at the records of the police court, look at the criminal statistics and ask yourself are they the products of the Godless public schools. I leave it to every thinking mind to judge. Regarding crime in the United States, statistics show that the foreign element are responsible for it to a great extent, coming from the Old World, where they have rebelled against all law and order, they have been a menace to the peace of the New World, ask yourselves, are they the products of the public schools? Again, wait until Canada has the population of the United States and the same number of people to govern. Sir Richard, like all advocates of the separate schools, takes refuge in the B. N. A. Act, regarding the treatment of minorities, in a united Canada [illegible] why should we have minorities, when all should be one, and would be were it not for the separating influences. I do not believe (and I say this respectfully) that in their inmost hearts 50 per cent of the priests of the Catholic Church believe in the separate school system, but that the idea had its birth in Rome. The separate schools separate the child in childhood, separate them in life by church marriage bans, separate them in death by separate burial places, and when confronted with reasons for such, why not quote the Bible, why, because in the simple gospel of Jesus there is no basic foundation for such. Every man and woman in whose breasts burn love of country and love to one another, earnestly desire to grow up together, in the spirit of unity, how is this possible with the separate school?

John W. Hinchcliffe.

CURIOUS PRIVILEGES.

Some Advantages Ambassadors Have Over Mere Ministers.

"Ambassador" and "minister" mean pretty much the same to the average man, but there is a very great difference between the two, inasmuch as an ambassador possesses many privileges abroad that do not pertain to a mere minister.

Perhaps the most curious privilege of an ambassador who is accredited to the ruler of a country and not merely to the Government thereof, as is a minister, is that the ambassador may when dismissed turn his back to the sovereign to whose court he has been assigned. Briefly described, the mode of procedure is as follows:

When the audience is at an end the ambassador waits to be dismissed by the sovereign. When dismissed the ambassador bows, retires three paces, bows again, retires three paces, bows a third time, turns on his heels and walks to the folding doors. But when the reigning sovereign is a woman a more polite method is employed. To turn his back would be to resign a privilege; therefore the ambassador retires sideways. He keeps one eye on the sovereign and with the other he endeavors to find the door. By this unique means he contrives to show all politeness to the sovereign and at the same time retain his ambassadorial privilege in retiring.

Another privilege of an ambassador is that of being ushered into the royal presence through folding doors, both of which must be flung wide for him. None save an ambassador can claim this privilege, the greatest favor in this respect that can be shown any non-ambassadorial representative consisting in the opening to him of one door only.

There is one privilege of the ambassador, a privilege that sometimes occasions great inconvenience to the ruler, which consists of his right to demand admission to the sovereign by day or by night.

£300 Far a Hat.

Men are just as much the slaves of fashion as women are. Although men do not spend so much money on clothes as the woman who goes to a fashionable dressmaker, yet a good many men don't call themselves well dressed under anything less than $500 a year.

You wouldn't think that a man could spend very much a year on ties. Yet more than one tailor in Bond street, London, has customers who spend between $200 and $250 a year on ties alone! These "slaves of fashion" have their ties specially made for them, at anything from half a guinea to 12s. 6d. a time.

A West End tailor told an amazing tale of one of these "men about town." Last year his account for clothes was $3,500. Among the things which made up this amount were forty lounge suits, the same number of hunting coats, and eight dress suits. After that who will say that the ladies are the extravagant sex?

This same gentleman spent another small fortune on other items of dress. Over $500 went on various kinds of boots and shoes. His handkerchiefs cost him ten guineas a dozen, and socks half that amount for a dozen pairs. His pyjama suits were made of silk, and cost him three guineas a time. Altogether his bill for dressing himself ran into well over four figures a year.

Two Repulsive Pictures.

In the atelier of Adolph William Bouguereau, the great French painter, there hung two terrible pictures. One represented a man dying in the desert, with the frightful form of the angel of death descending upon him. The other depicted Dante and Vergil in hell watching one victim madly gnawing at the throat of another. The two pictures failed because of their horror. "If I had stuck to such subjects as those," the artist used to say, "I should have starved long ago." He found a market for the beautiful.

A TRICKY TONGUE.

It Won Dean Spooner a Reputation For Unconscious Humor.

QUEER BLUNDERS OF SPEECH

Some of the Gems Attributed to the Old Dean's Habit of Interchanging the First Letters or Syllables of Words—American "Spoonerisms."

"Spoonerisms" is a recognized and accepted word used in the best circles of English society, even though it has not yet found its way into the dictionaries. Derived from the last name of the Rev. William A. Spooner, warden of New college, Oxford, it characterizes a curious sort of blunder that is habitual with that man—the unconscious interchanging of the first letters or syllables of words with what are often directly humorous results.

The most famous of all the stories about him tells how he once thundered out from the pulpit, "Jehovah was not on the side of the kinkering congs," meaning, of course, "conquering kings."

At another time he convulsed his audience by boldly stating that he held concealed a half wormed fish (half formed wish) in his bosom.

At a university dinner given at the time of Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee he proposed, "Three cheers for the queer old dean," and they were given with a will, in honor not only of the dear old queen whom he had wished to remember, but of the queer old dean who had forgotten himself.

Exasperated by a would be humorist among his pupils, he informed him that he had a "weeble fit," not meaning any new disease, but the old, old complaint of a feeble wit.

To another who had been mainly occupied in wasting two terms at college he complained, "You have been incorrigibly lazy and, to top it all, you have tasted two worms."

In quoting the familiar text, "Bow not thy knee to an idol," he made it, "Bow not thine eye to a needle."

One day he discovered a stranger sitting in his family pew. "Madam," whispered he, "do you intend to occupew this pie?"

Also he could blunder as blithesomely in action as in speech. One windy day, as he was walking down High street in Oxford, his hat blew off. He stooped to pick it up, but at that very moment a hen hurried by. He set off in full pursuit and never stopped until he had caught hold of the luckless hen on Magdalen bridge. Then and there he solemnly tried to put the bird on his head.

Such are a few of the blunders in word and deed that have been attributed to the "dear old dean." Must we accept them all as genuine? Not if we are to believe a contributor to M. A. P., who informed that paper that at a church congress a well known delegate said to him:

"Have you ever noticed how spoonerisms have died out since Canon Liddon is no more? I will tell you how it is. Liddon and I used to make them up. One of our best, which is always attributed to Spooner, is 'From Iceland's Greasy Mountains.'"

Spoonerisms at all events existed before Spooner himself was born. Some meritorious ones may be found in Moore's Diary. There is the story, for example, of an old actor named Parker who used always to say the "coisoned pup" instead of the "poisoned cup." One night when he spoke it right the audience said "No, no!" and called for the other reading. Another actor mentioned in Moore made a great hit with the misquotation:

How sharper than a serpent's thanks it is
To have a toothless child.

John Kemble was one night performing a favorite part in a country theater when he was interrupted from time to time by the squalling of a child in the gallery. At length, angered by this rival performance, Kemble walked with solemn step to the front of the stage and, addressing the audience in his most tragic tones, said, "Ladies and gentlemen, unless the play is stopped the child cannot possibly go on."

America itself is not without its Spooners and its consequent spoonerisms. There must have been at least three Spooners in the western court where the following scene is said to have taken place:

"How far is it between these two towns?" asked the lawyer.

"About four miles as the flew cries," replied the witness.

"You mean as the cry flows."

"No," put in the judge; "he means as the fly crows."

And then they all looked at one another, feeling that something was wrong.

A sort of conscious spoonerism was that brilliant jest credited to Dean Briggs of Harvard. During the year when the slogan "To hell with Yale!" first became popular among Cambridge undergraduates the dean, in company with Dr. Edward Everett Hale, was hurrying on his way to a great football game between Yale and Harvard.

"To yell with Hale," answered Dr. Briggs.—Boston Post.

MAGNIFIED HER WEALTH.

A Five Dollar Bill That Seemed to Be a Small Fortune

The woman handed her friend a five dollar bill. "See the number of small fives engraved on it?" she asked. "When I was in Denmark a few years ago such a bill as that caused me a great deal of amusement, and I had to surrender one before I could prove myself clear of a false belief regarding my finances.

"An aunt whom I was visiting saw in my purse one day a number of these bills, and she asked to examine one as it was so different from any of the Danish money. She studied it attentively a few minutes and then asked me how much it was. I told her it was $5, and, to my surprise, I saw she did not believe me. 'If it is only that amount,' she said, 'why has it so many little figures on it?'

"I tried to explain, but I made little impression on her. Later I heard she had told our relatives that I was 'worth thousands and thousands of dollars' and was trying to conceal the fact from the family lest they should expect some things of me that they would not otherwise.

"When I heard that I was visiting in another part of the country and could not very well defend myself, so I hit on the expedient of sending my aunt a present of a five dollar bill. When she went to have it changed into the money of the country she was at last convinced, though at the price of having her dream of wealth rudely shattered."—New York Press.

A FAMOUS BEACON.

The Navesink Light, Near Sandy Hook, Is a Wonder.

The most powerful light in America is housed on a promontory near Sandy Hook, 250 feet above the beach, where it acts as a safeguard to all ships entering or leaving the harbor of New York. It is called Navesink light and is of 85,000,000 candle power. At fifteen or twenty miles its flash is as pointed and brilliant as a star. On a perfectly clear night its shaft of light can be seen 100 miles at sea. When it was erected it was operated at twice its present candle power. But ocean pilots objected to its strength, saying that so amazing an electric flash actually blinded them and interfered with their work. Uncle Sam heard the prayer of the pilots and turned down his pet lamp to 85,000,000 candle power.

The amount of oil consumed by the engine that provides the power for the light is only one gallon and seven-eighths an hour. That is the astonishing thing to the unscientific visitor—the comparatively small expense and effort required to maintain so great a light. There are two fair sized dynamos and two oil engines. One set is always kept in reserve. Of course the tremendous candle power is developed by means of a great lens, made in France. The lens weighs seven tons and a half, is seven inches thick and rests in mercury. It is revolved with ease.—Saturday Evening Post.

Purely Mental.

Mrs. Holden had been blessed with remarkable eyesight all her life. It was a great trial to her when at the age of seventy-two she was obliged to put on "reading glasses." "But they are really becoming to you, Aunt Hilda," said a gentle niece by way of consolation.

"No, they aren't," said Mrs. Holden, with her usual scorn for compliment. "Anybody's eyes look better without a glass in front of 'em, and you know it."

"But you couldn't read without them," ventured the niece, "and you love"—

"I could, too, read without 'em," said the old lady, refusing to be soothed. "I could read most as well as ever, but I couldn't sense it all—that's the only trouble."—Youth's Companion.

England's Largest House.

The proud distinction of being the largest house in England is generally accorded to Lord Fitzwilliam's Yorkshire seat, Wentworth Woodhouse. Of this house it is said that the three principal entrances are so far distant from each other that visitors are advised to bring three hats with them, one to be kept at each point of egress. A house which is 600 feet long, has a hall in which two average suburban villas could be comfortably placed and boasts a room for every two days of the year is certainly large enough to satisfy any reasonable ambition.—Exchange.

A "Wild Hair."

A "wild hair" is the most annoying freak of nature a man can be afflicted with. It grows in from the eyelid instead of out end, constantly brushing against the eyeball, sometimes causes an irritation that results in a loss of sight. To pull it out gives only temporary relief, since in a few weeks it comes back, as well grown and strong as ever. The only way to kill it is to destroy the sac from which it springs. This is done by means of the electric needle.

It is no wonder that stones which fall from the regions of space are fired by the impact when they strike our atmosphere. Astronomers estimate that they fall with a velocity of at least [illegible] yards per second.

Bonar Law's Fun.

The author of an interesting character sketch of Mr. Bonar Law, published by The Irish Times, mentions that the Opposition leader is a devotee of golf, and, during his life in Helensburgh, was constantly to be seen on the golf course there.

As a croquet player, too, the scientific, difficult croquet of to-day, he is considered an adept, but it is, perhaps, as a chess player that he shines most.

Some wise man once said: 'No fool can play chess," and nothing is more true.

Had that wise man been a traveler by the daily six o'clock from Glasgow to Helensburgh in the eighties, he might have seen the leader of the Opposition with a friend playing chess every evening on a traveling board, and as strenuous over that as over greater things. The contests were as keen as they were amicable.

Guns Heard Ninety-Seven Miles.

My house is on a high hill near Godalming, and as I sat reading one afternoon I heard, or rather felt, a long vibrating boom several times repeated. I thought it must be a motor van manoeuvering behind the house, but found nothing there. Then I guessed what it might be and forthwith wrote to the chief gunnery officer of H. M. S. Orion to make sure. Through the very kind courtesy of this gentleman I am able to state for certain that the discharge of the Orion's guns was distinctly audible ninety-seven statute miles from the ship, the sound taking somewhere about eleven minutes to travel the distance.—Letter in London Spectator.

Welsh Wedding Custom.

In the following quaintly formal letter the parents of Welsh brides sometimes bid their friends attend the wedding and bid them also not to come empty handed! "Whatever donation you may be pleased to bestow will be thankfully received and cheerfully repaid whenever called for on a similar occasion. The parents of the bride and bridegroom elect desire that all gifts due to them will be returned to them on the above date and will be thankful for all favors granted."

Some Brief Epitaphs.

The following are among the brief and curious epitaphs seen in European cemeteries: At Worcester, England, the slab erected over a departed auctioneer is inscribed with a single word, "Gone." In Sussex the initials and date of the death of the deceased are followed by two words, "He was." On the monument of Charles the Great of Germany the brief inscription is "Caralo Magno." The most remarkable is at Cane Hill Cemetery, Belfast, where the inscription says, "Left till called for."

Lamb's Quaint Humor.

Charles Lamb once said that he hated a certain man.

"Do you know him?" Lamb was asked.

"No," he answered.

"Let me introduce you to him," said Lamb's friend.

"No," responded Lamb humorously, "for if I shall know him I am sure I shall stop hating him."

Old Thellusson's Fortune.

The death of Lord Rendlesham, who was a grandson of Peter Thellusson, recalled the eccentric will which helped to mould the English law as to testamentary dispositions. Peter Thellusson, who settled in London in the middle of the eighteenth century as a merchant and amassed an enormous fortune, left $500,000 to his family, and directed that the rest of his property should be invested and so cumulated during the lives of the three sons and the lives of their sons and should then be divided among his eldest lineal male descendants or, if there were none, should go towards the reduction of the National Debt.

As the law then stood there was nothing at all unlawful about this singular will. It was, as a matter of fact, upheld by the House of Lords But the protracted accumulation of so much wealth was plainly against public policy, and it resulted in an act being passed in 1800 confining the power of bequeathing property for the purpose of accumulation to twenty one years from the testator's death.

Trees 400 to 500 Feet High.

None too soon a popular movement has been set on foot in Australia to preserve the gigantic stringybarks (various species of eucalyptus) of that country, which far exceed in height the famous "big trees" of California and are the tallest trees in the world. These trees sometimes attain heights ranging from 400 to 500 feet. Their timber is exceedingly valuable, and for this reason they have been ruthlessly destroyed by lumbermen.

GOING TO EASTER ISLAND.

British Expedition Will Probe the Earth's Greatest Mystery.

The Mana, a motor auxiliary yacht just launched at Whitstable, is to carry an expedition to the South Seas to investigate the origin of the gigantic prehistoric remains of Easter Island.

This island, the most easterly of the Polynesian group, is a lonely dot of land forty-five miles in area, 2,000 miles from the South American coast. Facing the sea on the island are enormous platforms made of uncemented stones, some of which weigh five tons. Some of the sea walls are thirty feet high and 200 feet long.

On the land side are broad terraces, also of stone, bearing pedestals on which formerly stood huge figures carved from lava. Most of these images have been thrown down, but there are 555 of them on the island. One is 68 feet high, with a nose 11 feet long. The figures all extend from head to hips, with receding foreheads, broad noses, thin lips, and powerful chins.

There is no metal on the island, and the only tool found was a prehistoric chisel, with which it would seem impossible to execute such colossal works. Moreover, the island, with its scanty water supply, could not have supported enough people to drag the figures from the quarry where they were made to the platforms. Some of the statues weigh 260 tons.

There is every evidence that a great calamity overtook the island and its inhabitants, for most of the figures are unfinished, some never even having been removed from the quarry. A popular theory is that Easter Island is the sole remnant of a continent which was overwhelmed by the sea after a great seismic disturbance. The designs of the stonework bear out this theory, for they are strikingly like some on the ancient Peruvian ring.

The Mana expedition, led by W. Scoresby Routledge and accompanied by geologists and other scientists from the British Museum, will make excavations in an effort to solve the mystery.

The Eel-Spearer.

From time immemorial in England that strip of land along the edge of the sea which is covered at high tide, but left bare at the ebb, has been common land. There is nearly always one figure to be seen upon it, working his way to and fro along the windings of the smaller creeks and over the mud, walking with careful, measured tread and never resting long upon either foot. This is the eel-spearer, who, with mud-pattens firmly laced to his feet, tows behind him a box about two feet six inches long and slightly rounded at the bottom.

This man knows every square inch of the mud for miles and has earned a living upon it for years, his sole stock in trade being his mud-pattens, his spear and the box that slips after him. When his tide is over he slings this box, with 20 or 30 pounds of eels in it, upon his spear across his shoulder—his pattens hanging in front—and so trudges to market.

When Robespierre Was "Stung."

Under the terror Robespierre used to play a peaceful game of chess at the Cafe Regence, and the story is told of a youth who once challenged him and beat him twice. Robespierre after his defeat asked how much he owed, no stakes having been previously fixed. The supposed youth, who in reality was a girl in man's clothes, presented an order for the release of her lover from prison, and Robespierre signed it. Napoleon Bonaparte during his consulship was seen at the famous cafe, but he showed himself [illegible]

Post Offices to Be Closed.

In another column reference is made to the new rural mail route which is to go into operation in a short time. This will have the effect of permanently closing two post offices: Jermyn and Guerin, in Otonabee township, the district where these post offices are situated being served by rural mail delivery.

Is Your Back Full of Ache All Day Long?

That Stab-Like Pain in the Back is Sure Indication of Kidney Trouble

Mrs. Anna Rodriguez writes as follows from her home in Valencia:

"For a long time I suffered with failing strength and nagging headaches. My condition grew steadily worse, my limbs became bloated and shaky, I was sallow, and thin, felt rheumatic pains, dizziness and chills. I unfortunately didn't suspect my kidneys, and was nearly dead when I discovered the true cause of my sufferings. I read so much about the wonderful health and strength that comes to all who use Dr. Hamilton's Pills I felt sure they would help me. Such blessings of health and comfort I got from Dr. Hamilton's Pills I can't describe. They speedily put me right, and their steady use keeps me active, energetic, strong and happy. I strongly urge others to regulate and tone their system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut."

No greater medicine exists than Dr Hamilton's Pills for the cure of indigestion, constipation, flatulence, liver, bladder and kidney trouble. Refuse substitutes. 25c per box or five boxes for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid by the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Annual Competition.

The attention of the public is called to the annual lawn and garden competition held by the Peterborough Horticultural Society, open to all citizens, the only obligation being to make application to the secretary C. H. Williamson, 203 King street, on or before July 31st. All desiring to avail themselves of this opportunity are kindly asked to take note.

To Locate at Belleville.

The Wood Chemical Company of Canada will probably locate in Belleville, the general manager being Mr. J. H. Larmonth, who is well known here through residence in Peterborough and his connection with the Peterborough Light and Power Co. and the Electric Power Co. The company is capitalized at $500,000. Belleville ratepayers are to vote on a by-law which calls for a free site and limited fixed assessment to the company.

A LADY MAIL CARRIER.

For many years the mail between Jermyn and Lang has been carried by Mrs. Robert Carter, who has had the contract from the Post Office Department. The distance is four miles, and Mrs. Carter has been on the job summer and winter, in all kinds of weather, and has performed her duties to the entire satisfaction of everybody. She will retire at the expiration of the present contract, in a couple of months, when the Jermyn post office will be closed on account of the establishment of rural mail delivery. The Times would suggest to the good people of the district where Mrs. Carter has toiled so faithfully, that her long services be marked in some tangible way. All know a hint to the good people of Jermyn and Lang is sufficient.

Excursionists From Toronto.

The members of the Bricklayers' and Masons' Union, of Toronto, invaded Peterborough several hundred strong, accompanied by a section of the 48th Highlanders' Band and a corps of Highland pipers. A reception committee composed of members of the local Bricklayers' Union, met the excursionists upon their arrival at the C.P.R. station, and formally welcomed them to the city. It required an extra train of 16 coaches to convey the excursionists to Peterborough. A procession was at once formed up and to the lively skirl of the bagpipes the visitors proceeded to the Oval, where a game of baseball had been arranged between the visiting and local members of the Union. A large proportion accepted the water route as a means of reaching the Oval.

THE NORTH AMERICAN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY

Is practically a mutual one, with the protection afforded by a guarantee fund upon which interest is paid While such fund is only $60,000.00, the guarantors are liable for five times this amount; so that the position admirably reflects the best points of stock and mutual companies. The Directorate is composed of both policy holders and guarantors, who are equally interested in its management. Home Office, Toronto.

VARICOSE VEINS CURED

☞ NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skillful. I wrote them and got The New Method Treatment. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $15 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $[illegible] and never loose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

TWENTY KILLED BY CLOUDBURST

Reno, Nev., July 20.—Ten bodies have been recovered and from five to ten more are believed dead as the result of a cloudburst 30 miles from Lovelock yesterday, which destroyed the mining camp of Mazuma, and partially destroyed the nearby camp of Seven Troughs.

In Mazuma, which suffered most, it was at first believed that nearly 100 persons were missing, but later the estimates place the loss of life at not more than 20.

HALF WAY UP MOUNTAIN.

Seven Troughs is situated half way up the mountainside with Mazuma at the base in a canyon three miles away. The wall of water swept down the canyon carrying buildings before it and overturning the Mazuma hotel. Those in the streets were carried down the gulch and many were cast to safety along the sides of the canyon. Word was received from Nernon by telephone and doctors, nurses and automobiles with provisions have gone from Lovelock. The body of John Trenchard was found three miles from his home.

No loss of life, but much loss of property is reported in Seven Troughs.

21 MORE BATTLESHIPS FOR BRITAIN

China May Split Into Two Republics

AFRAID OF SUFFRAGETTES

WINSTON CHURCHILL SAYS GERMANY'S WAR PREPARATIONS ARE UNEXAMPLED

Striking Force Kept in Full Commission and Ready For Action

Increased Naval Expenditure Directly Due to Policy of Germany

Five New Battleships to be Built at Once and Many More Every Year

London, July 22nd.—Winston Churchill said Premier Borden had authorized the statement that Canada desired any move that Canada should make would strengthen the Imperial navy.

London, July. 22.—Winston Spencer Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, in introducing the supplementary naval appropriation of $5,000,000 in the House of Commons this afternoon, said the direct cause of the increase in expenditure on the British navy was to be found in the new German navy law, the main feature of which was the increase in the striking force of ships of all kinds.

The effect of the new German navy law would, he said, be that nearly four-fifths of the entire German navy would be maintained in full permanent commission and instantly ready for war.

"Such preparation is remarkable, and, as far as I am aware, finds no example in the previous practice of modern naval powers."

Five Battleships a Year.

Mr. Churchill then announced the British Ship-building program for the next five years, saying that five battleships were to be constructed next year and four in each of the following years.

Fifteen hundred men would be added to the navy's personnel this year, he added, after which increases would be made as required.

DRIVE FRENCH PROTESTANTS OUT OF THE SOCIETIES

Montreal, July 22.—Godfrey Langlois, M.L.A., writing in his newspaper, Le Pays, calls L'Action Sociale, the clerical organ, to task for its narrow and exclusive policy for driving French Protestants out of the St. Jean Baptiste and other national societies. Mr. Langlois reminds his fellow-countrymen that the time is near at hand when French-Canadians will want every man of their race as a friend rather than an enemy.

Le Pays tells L'Action Sociale that, when Spain had driven out the Jews, the Moors, and other non-Catholics, and when Louis XIV. had revoked the edict of Nantes, Philip III. declared that Spain would then work out her glorious destiny, but the destiny of Spain was absolute decadence, and Mr. Langlois warns the French-Canadians that their lot will be the same if they don't get cured of their fanaticism and their intolerance.

PUBLIC MEN ARE AFRAID OF THE MILITANT SUFFRAGETTES

London, July 22.—Completely terrorized by the Suffragettes, English public men are guarded as at a time of Nihilistic activity in Russia. They are no longer worried by the risk of mere annoyance. They fear for their lives, and the safety of their families.

King George's advisors have warned him strongly against any public appearance for the present. Scotland Yard's ingenuity and resources are taxed to the utmost to protect the Cabinet, their wives and children and their homes.

Premier Asquith, Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George, Home Secretary McKenna, Winston Churchill, the First Lord of the Admiralty, and other Cabinet Ministers, have received the most ferocious threats anonymously, what will happen to them unless they declare for equal rights at the polls. Not only are they assured that they are in danger of being killed, but that the burning of their homes and the kidnapping of their children are planned.

The bitterness and determination of the Suffragette campaign were again evidenced yesterday, when Premier Asquith was attacked at the Chester railway station in his return journey from Dublin. Another attack was attempted upon his arrival here. At Chester, Dr. Jessie Murray and Mary Gray, two Suffragettes, rushed the Premier and shouted:—"Be warned in time!" Other women, who resented the attack on Mr. Asquith, turned on the Suffragettes and were handling them roughly, when a clergyman who was standing nearby, rescued them. The two women were detained by the police.

On the arrival of the Prime Minister at Euston station another woman attempted to attack Mr. Asquith, but was prevented.

PETES TAKE FIRST FROM BRANTFORD YESTERDAY

A fair crowd turned out yesterday at Riverside Park to see the first of the series between the local pros. and Brantford. There is no doubt, but but that it was the best game of ball played in these parts for a long time. Manager Rowan occupied a seat on the bench yesterday and from it kept his eagle eye all over the lot. And never during the whole game did he have any chance to get after the boys, who worked like sailers all through the game. The locals held the visiting team down to one run. A large crowd of fans are expected to be on hand to-day to cheer the boys on to victory.

WAR ON RATS TO BAR OUT PLAGUE

Washington, July 22.—Every Atlantic and gulf port is to-day enforcing strict precautions against the spread of bubonic plague into this country. Surg.-Gen. Blue of the Public Health and Marine Hospital service telegraphed orders to the officials at Portland, Me., Boston, Providence, New York and southern ports. They were directed, in view of the plague outbreak at Havana and Porto Rico, to confer with the city health officers and urge the collection, examination and destruction of rats, especially on the water front. Flea-infected rats are the most common means of spreading the plague. Passed Asst.-Surg. R. H. Von Ezdorf was ordered from Mobile to assist in the outgoing quarantine at Havana.

Orders went to Havana to commence thorough fumigation of all vessels bound for the United States.

Immediately after the discharge of cargoes, all rats will be destroyed and the vessel prohibited from going or lying at the docks or wharves there.

BRITISH DOCTORS VOTES TO BOYCOTT INSURANCE SCHEME

By a Large Majority They Decided to Break Off Negotiations With Lloyd George---Recommendation Has Yet to Be Confirmed

New York, July 22.—A London cable says:

One of the harshest blows at David Lloyd George's new Insurance Act was delivered Saturday at the meeting of the British Medical Association, the delegates to which represent the entire medical profession throughout 200 divisions.

The Chancellor has been negotiating with the doctors in reference to the administration of medical benefits under the Act, offering them six shillings for each insured person per annum. The doctors at first demanded half a guinea, but subsequently reduced this to eight shillings and six pence.

The meeting on Saturday carried by a large majority, amid scenes of enthusiasm, a recommendation to break off negotiations with the Chancellor. The recommendation needs confirmation by a later meeting, which seems likely to be given.

The Chancellor will thus be left to decide whether he will start a State medical service or leave each local insurance committee to come to terms with the physicians, or do what the Act provides, namely, return six shillings to each insured contributor who makes his own arrangement for medical attendance.

The members of the British Medical Association declare that they feel no anxiety regarding the threat that the Insurance Commissioner would ignore the association and appeal to local practitioners. They say, that any doctor who, in face of the association's decision, accepted "black leg" rates would be treated as a "black leg," and would be ostracized socially and have his name removed from all respectable medical bodies.

CANAL PROVIDED WITH LIFE BUOYS

Mr. J. H. McClellan, Superintendent of the Canal, Says That They Were Placed at the Various Locks Five Years Ago.

A Times reporter called on the Superintendent of the Canal yesterday and asked him if he proposed to carry out the suggestion of the City Council and have life buoys placed at the locks along the canal.

Mr. McClellan replied that five years ago he had placed on every lock on the Trent Canal, between Hastings and Lake Simcoe, a life buoy with 50 feet of rope attached; also a pike pole and a punt.

Anyone passing through the locks will see a life buoy hanging in a convenient and conspicuous place in each lock.

SCURRILOUS UNTRUTHS ARE EGGING ON A GERMAN WAR

That Is the Way Rev. Emil Von Jestinsky of Montreal, a Lutheran Pastor, Sees It---Blames the Yellow Press of Canada---Two Greatest Christian Nations

Montreal, July 22.—Declaring that the yellow press of Canada, which talked incessantly about war between Great Britain and Germany, were traitors to the Empire, Rev. Emil Von Jestinsky, pastor of the German Lutheran church here, last night announced his intention of travelling through Ontario as an evangel of peace. He contended that nothing was more unlikely than war between these two countries, if feeling was not embittered by the publication of scurrilous untruths about their relations in the newspapers.

Mr. Jestinsky continued by saying that Great Britain and Germany were the two greatest Christian nations in the world, and their peoples were brothers.

Mr. Jestinsky said be would proclaim his doctrine in every part of Ontario where there were Germans, whose support was needed to correct the misstatements being published throughout Canada.

WANT AN EXCUSE TO EXPEL THE FOREIGNERS

Harbin, July 22.—Japanese secret service agents arrived here to-day from Seoul to take possession of papers which Russian authorities found on about 100 Koreans charged with complicity in a plot to assassinate ex-Premier Prince Katsura of Japan, when be passed through recently to St. Petersburg.

Suspicion exists that evidence is being manufactured against American and Canadian Missionaries in Korea, where 123 natives, on trial for participation in an anti-Japanese conspiracy, implicated the missionaries by their original confessions and then knocked the props from under the prosecution by repudiating the confessions in open court.

Since then foreigners in the Orient have been wondering what step the Japanese would take next to find an excuse for driving the missionaries from Korea.

CANADA HAS NEW CAUSE TO REJOICE OVER FATE OF RECIPROCITY PACT

Sir Rodmond Roblin sees in Violation of Hay-Pauncefote Treaty a Strong Argument for Keeping From Entanglements With Our Neighbor to the South

Winnipeg, July 22.—In conversation with a Telegram reporter, Sir Rodmond Roblin said the reciprocity newspapers of Canada were welcome to all the benefit they could derive from a revival of the reciprocity issue.

"These newspapers seem to think that the people of Canada have changed their minds," said Sir Rodmond. "They will in due course of events discover their mistake. For my part, I am more strongly opposed to reciprocity than I ever was, and I will tell you why. I opposed reciprocity as proposed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier because I was Canadian and British, and desired to remain so. I also had a faith and spirit of independence that justified me in believing that Canada would not only continue to proper, but the ratio of prosperity would be increased if kept free from all entanments with a foreign nation. I had convictions and subsequent events proved they were justified, that their was not good faith on the part of the other party to the arrangement.

To Make Canada an Adjunct.

"The disclosures that took place a little while ago, wherein it was stated by the head of a great nation to the south of us that the purpose and object was simply 'to make Canada an adjunct of the United States,' was a confirmation of my fears.

"However, we have something at this moment, that is more significant and it should cause every man who is Canadian and British to thank God that we were saved the humiliation and possible political debasement that would have followed had reciprocity carried.

Violating Treaty Obligations.

"In the year 1901 an agreement was made between the British Empire and the people of the United States in what is known as the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. In consideration of England surrendering certain rights that she had secured by previous treaties, the United States agreed by what is recognized as binding upon nations, not to fortify the canal. This treaty was completed on the express understanding that there was to be no discrimination and that British ships were to be permitted to pass on the same conditions as American ships. This treaty is as binding in so far as the honor of a nation is concerned as any treaty that has been made with any civilized world, the Congress of the United States has now before it a bill, and, if I am not mistaken, it has passed one of the Houses, by which they propose to over-ride and violate the terms of that sacred treaty, to the injury of the British Empire. The moral of this fact cannot be lost upon the people of Canada.

A Warning to Canada.

"If the United States will treat with contempt, abrogate, and defy by legislative action, as is proposed, the conditions of a treaty made with the Great British Empire, with how much more contempt and indifference would they evade and over-ride the terms of a treaty or arrangement with Canada, if in their interest to do so. No individual waking from the horrors of the nightmare should be more thankful that the seeming condition was not a reality than should the people of Canada at this moment, that reciprocity did not carry.

Providential Escape.

"If there be any citizen in the Dominion who says that he is willing to tie himself up with the United States after such a revelation as is now on the diplomatic boards of the world, and which the better class of journals in the United States confess with shame to be a disgrace, then that citizen is wanting in ability to understand current events. He is credulous to a degree that makes him a menace to himself and friends, or is indifferent as to the future of Canada.

If Canada Stood Alone.

"There is another phase to the question. While Great Britain and the whole British Empire is in a general way interested in the Panama Canal, the chief interest centres in Canada. The British protest made against the legislation now before Congress was made on behalf of Canada and at Canada's request. Now, just suppose for a moment, that Canada was not part of the British Empire. Suppose she was acting on her own authority, what weight would her protest have at Washington? Why, there would be no more attention paid to it than there would to the objections of a petty South American republic.

"I repeat that all the citizens of Canada who are Canadian and British, and desire to remain so, should for the reason above set forth, thank God that the Reciprocity Pact did not carry."

MAYOR OF LONDON AS A LIFE SAVER

Rescued Five Young Men Whose Sailboat Had Capsized Near Port Stanely

London, Ont., July 22.—Mayor Graham, of London, at Port Stanley rowed out a mile and a half in Lake Erie shortly before noon yesterday, and rescued Jack Mitchell, Jack Greer, Russell Croden, James Orr and R. McKnight, all of this city, when a sailboat in which they were out sailing, capsized in a squall.

When Mayor Graham arrived he found the young men clinging to the keel of the overturned boat. With the exception of young Orr all could swim. Orr, however, was exhausted and was assisted into the Mayor's boat. The others were able to remain with the sailboat until the arrival of some launches which were sent out as soon as possible after Mayor Graham gave the alarm before he rowed out. These boats did not arrive until sometime after the Mayor reached the spot.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundreds of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address AM. Law, Ontario, Manager. 49 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are socalled Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 25c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 366 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

Preference Shares are preferential both as to assets and cumulative dividends at the rate of 7 p.c. per annum, also participate in dividends after 7 p.c. has been paid on common stock.

The average net profits of the Cafeterias, Limited, on King street, for the month of May, as shown by the report of the auditor, John I. Sutcliffe, C.A., amounted to over 30 p.c. on the entire issue of stock. A complete auditor's statement of the finances of Cafeterias, Limited, up to the end of May, may be seen at the offices of Messrs. Fleming & Marvin, Lumsden Building. This statement shows the monthly profits.

About $50,000.00 will be required to put the new Yonge street Cafeteria on a running basis. Of this amount about fifteen or twenty thousand dollars will be required to complete the interior finish, and make this restaurant one of the finest cafeterias in America. The balance will be required for outfitting the restaurant and providing a certain amount of working capital. The new restaurant will have a dining room of the large dimensions of 7,000 square feet on the ground floor, and will also have spacious additions for other purposes of the business.

Cafeterias, Limited, has found in the running of its business on King street that it has eclipsed the old style of waitress-serving restaurants, which is a great saving of labor and expense, and that the new restaurant is the best system of meeting the demands of the public for quick service, consistent with quality and efficiency of service.

We have opened subscription books for sale at par ($10.00) $50,000.00 fully paid shares of the above-mentioned 7 p.c. cumulative preference participating stock, carrying a bonus of 25 p.c. of the amount of the preference shares in common stock.

Payments as follows:

25% per share with subscription;
and 75% per share on allotment.

Subscription books are now open at our offices, and the right is reserved to allot only such subscriptions and for such amounts as may be approved, and to close the subscription without notice.

Subscriptions may be forwarded by mail or by telegram at our expense.

Westminster Abbey.

All visitors to London make it a point to visit the famous Westminster Abbey. But in reality there is no such place as Westminster Abbey, because the abbey disappeared many, many years ago. What they see now is the church that used to belong to the abbey, and the proper name for this building is the Collegiate Church of St. Peter. They keep up the old name Westminster Abbey because people like it, just as they keep the blood stains in the Tower freshened up with paint now and then.

The Great Steadier.

A minister once asked a young man on a train:

"Do you smoke, sir?"

"No, sir," was the reply.

"I suppose you drink—that is to say, moderately?"

"No, sir; I abstain," answered the young man.

"Do you gamble?"

"No, sir."

"Swear?"

"No, sir."

"Young man," said the minister, with an air at once pleased and puzzled—"young man, what are you, anyway?"

"I'm married," the young man answered.

Sympathy.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown had given their six-year-old son Ralph a most careful home training. With great reluctance they placed him in a public school. A few days later Ralph came home with a cut lip and swollen nose.

His mother exclaimed, "How did you hurt yourself?"

He replied: "I was sliding down hill at recess and ran into a tree. It hurt pretty bad, mother, but every one was awfully good to me. The boys were just fine—why, mother, there wasn't a boy in the class who didn't say 'Gosh!' when I ran into that tree."

Radium Treatment.

The demand for treatment at the British Radium Institute established in London on the initiative of the late King Edward, has increased so greatly that it has been decided to augment the staff and receive patients until 11 o'clock at night. Of the many persons treated since the opening of the institute last August several have been cured. Among these was a man who came especially for treatment for a rodent ulcer of the nose. He is now on his way home, sound and well.

An interesting description is given of the method of preserving healthy tissue by contact with the rays. An elderly woman had a rodent ulcer on one eye. A careful tracing of the face was then made and transferred to twin sheets across the head, between which there was a sheet of carbon. An outline of the ulcer was then drawn out on this shield, which was fitted over the face so that nothing was visible at the opening save the ulcer.

Editorial Notes

The spectacle of Premier Asquith dodging about Great Britain in an automobile to avoid the attacks of suffragettes must make Gilbert and Sullivan sorrow that they are dead.

Premier Borden is endeavouring to make it clear to the British people that Canada has got tired of being regarded as an adjunct and insists on being a conjunct.

Henri Bourassa has come out flat-footed in favor of annexation. After that vote last session of 166 to 24 which caused Henri to take the rest cure in Europe, there is probably nothing else for him to do to keep his name before the public.

This year the United States has on its pension roll the names of 557,293 soldiers and 317,463 dependents. Up to the present the Civil War pensions have amounted to nearly $4,000,000,000. This seems a vast amount, and yet it is but a part of the cost of that awful war. And yet this pension list covers about fifty years, while three years of the liquor traffic costs the country in money alone about as much as fifty years of soldiers' pensions; and in indirect ways that cost must be doubled. War is very costly, but beer is costlier still.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED ON JULY 15th, AND WILL POSITIVELY CLOSE NOT LATER THAN JULY 31st. THE COMPANY RESERVING THE RIGHT TO WITHDRAW THE SALE WITHOUT NOTICE. SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE ALLOTTED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6½ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profits now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit?
If Not, Here is Your Opportunity

We invite the closest inspection of this proposition, and will gladly mail prospectus containing full particulars. Again we sound the warning, unless you send us your orders for stock in the Canada Moving Pictures, Limited, without further delay, it will mean GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY permitted to slip by.

Opportunity knocks at each man's door at least once in a lifetime. Here it is, and our candid advice is, take advantage at once to the limit of your finances. The stock is selling fast and only a limited amount remains.

WHY

the stock of Trust Companies and Banks appeal to conservative investors.

The following are a few good reasons why you should invest NOW in the stock of the Acadia Trust Co., Ltd., of Vancouver, B. C.:

1. It is showing remarkable growth, having earned seventy (70 p.c.) per cent. on its paid-up capital since its inception, November 26, 1911.

2. It is thoroughly established (with no promotion stock).

3. It is subject to advance without notice; and will very shortly be amongst the premier Trust Companies doing business in British Columbia.

4. Its profits will necessarily be large.

5. It will declare large bonus dividends to reduce the uncalled liability, thereby increasing the paid-up portion of your stock.

6. Prospects of an increase in value are excellent.

WOULD HAVE BEEN MORE.

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir.—I see they are getting a move on about the Fenian raid pensions. It is stated by some that Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the late Government turned down the proposition to give the Fenian Raid veterans anything, and that if the late Government had been in power our fellows wouldn't have got a dollar. It is also stated that the vets. would have got more than the $100 from the present Government if it hadn't been for the fact that unexpectedly last winter the present Government had to pay not less than $10,000,000 to the G.T.P. magnates because of some bungle of the Laurier Government. Do you know anything about these things, Mr. Editor? The $100 is little enough, but it is a jolly sight better than being turned down and insulted. The Veterans certainly have nothing to thank the Laurier bunch for.

BLINDERS ARE USEFUL

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir.—I noticed on the editorial page of the Times the other day an article "War on Blinders," which, I think, shows inexperienced in handling horses. Many horses that are broke or trained to drive without blinders, go a great deal better with them. With blinders they are looking ahead to see the road, watching for holes, stones, and other obstructions—in other words, they see where they are going. Without the blinders most of their attention is attracted to what is behind them, watching every motion of the driver, who, if he happens to wave his hand at an acquaintance, gives the horse an impression that he is reaching for the whip, and he immediately breaks the driver's back by a sudden jump. By continually looking behind he stumbles over stones, steps into holes, and gets lazy, not feeling obliged to hurry his pace at command until he sees the whip reached for.

These are a few reasons why blinders are a good thing, and there is no cruelty about it if they are as they should be. I think a horse looks better without them, and some horses drive well without them, but the majority drive a good deal better with.

DEFENSE OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir.—In his letter to the Citizen of this city, which appeared a few days ago, Hon. R. W. Scott makes a few statements which some of us consider quite remarkable. He charges the public school system of the United States has been responsible for a "marked shrinkage in the moral and religious characteristics" of the citizens of the United States. Really, the honorable gentleman should surely inform the readers on whom he inflicts this terrible indictment from what sources he gets this information Unless he can indeed press these charges home by crushing evidence, surely he stands convicted of a gratuitous and unwarranted insult to a friendly people, and I believe that any person is fully justified in flatly contradicting this statement and calling for the production of substantiating evidence. Certainly the writer who has lived in the United States sufficiently long to become moderately well acquainted with the people is willing to state that he found every evidence of pure living and a standard of business honor which he has not always found equalled here. Nor do I think that Sir Richard will point with any particular pride to the results in France as being greatly in favor of clerical schools. Further, the Hon. R. W. Scott will probably find it convenient to inform us whether the appaling ignorance of the polyglot immigration with which the United States has been overrun, is derived from countries in which the public school system is in use. To be logical, Sir R. W. Scott will, of course, include the products of our own public schools in his sweeping condemnation, for he well knows that in all great essentials our city public schools are almost entirely similar to those of the United States. When the honorable gentleman states that the separate schools are as efficient as the public schools, and then admits that the supporters of the separate schools do not comprise the richer elements of the community he treads on very dangerous ground. Let this gentleman, sir, put his ear to the ground and he will find there is a question being very widely asked by his own people. The question is: Why should the supporters of the separate schools be less well off than those of the public schools? Are not their children equally bright, and is this not a country of equal opportunity to all? Many have answered the question by saying that in this way at least they have not received the same educational opportunities as the supporters of the public schools, and go into life less well fitted to keep in line with the progress of the country. By leaving aside the question of the comparative merits of our local schools it might be interesting to have Sir Richard explain the fact that where public schools do not exist and set a standard there are practically no schools at all, and those that do exist are not such as to be capable in point of numbers of equipment of giving the rudiments of letters to any but a small portion of the population. I have no hesitation in stating that, in a great measure, such efficiency as the separate school have in Ottawa to-day is almost entirely due to the competition with the public schools. And lest, sir, reticence might give an erroneous idea it would be well to impress upon the honorable gentleman that there are those citizens in this country who say that the time will never come when any person shall be forced to contribute to the up-keep of any schools whose purpose is the propagating of any particular religious tenets.

DIZZY HEADACHES
CURED IN ONE NIGHT

IF TROUBLED WITH HEAD-FULLNESS, RINGING NOISES, AND SPECKS BEFORE THE EYES THE STOMACH IS AT FAULT.

"I had terrible pains in my head. My appetite faded away and when I did eat anything it disagreed and made me very sick for hours after each meal. The active pains in my stomach and the dizzy headaches I had to endure almost set one wild. Sometimes attacks came on so severely that I had to go to bed. I would feel so worn, depressed and utterly miserable that for hours I wouldn't speak to my family. My system was poisoned with wastes, and nothing helped me till I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Without this grand system-cleaning remedy I would be sick, but each day brought me better health and spirits. I was cured and made as strong ruddy and healthy looking as one could wish, and will always use and recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

WAYWARD PRINCESSES

ROYAL WOMEN HAVE CAUSED DISQUIET IN EUROPE.

The Recent Kicking Over the Traces of the Infanta Eulalie of Spain Is Only One of a Long Line of Tempests Caused by Obstreperous and Eccentric Ladies of Queenly Blood—Some Other Trouble Makers.

Women are always difficult to manage, and especially in this case when they are of Royal or Imperial birth. Accustomed from their cradle to a far greater amount of adulation than falls to the share of their sisters occupying an inferior position in the social scale, they are spoiled to excess and are taught by their entourage to believe that everything they say or do is worthy of admiration, that they are superior to all others in comeliness, elegance and cleverness, and that even the most extravagant of their caprices are commendable as an indication of originality and independence of character.

With this bringing up there is little else to keep them within the bounds of conventionality than the laws of Court etiquette and the so-called statutes of the Sovereign Families to which they belong either by birth or by marriage. Often they find these laws and these statutes extremely irksome. They begin by resenting the tyranny thereof in silence, and frequently end by publicly emancipating themselves therefrom by some coup d'etat, writes "Ex-Attache."

The Infanta Eulalie, whose defiance of her nephew's authority over the publication of a book caused such a stir the other day, is the latest instance of a Princess of the Blood taking the bit between her teeth. She comes from a family that has furnished many instances in modern times of women in revolt against the Crown. She has always resented the rigorous and somewhat mediaeval etiquette of the Spanish Court. All sorts of queer pranks and freaks have been placed to her credit, including visits to the slums of Paris in masculine attire. But despite her oddities of conduct and her strange affiliations, it is only fair to the Infanta to state that no charges against her honor could ever be with justice maintained.

Another wayward princess was Pauline of Wurtemburg, daughter of that Duke Eugene of Wurtemberg, who, had he lived, would be at the present moment the next heir to the throne of that kingdom. Tiring of the trammels of royalty, she insisted upon renouncing her prerogatives, immunities, and status as a Princess of the Blood, obtained from her cousin, the late King Charles, the lowest rank of petty nobility, and as Pauline Von Kirbach married the late Dr. Willim, who until his death was in practice as a physician at Breslau. She, like the Infanta Eulalie, is a pronounced champion of the cause of female emancipation, in connection with which she has achieved some note as a platform speaker, while her affiliation with the Socialist element at Breslau is a source of distress to her relatives among the reigning Houses of Wurtemburg and of other sovereign states of the German Confederation.

It was only the other day that old Princess Charlotte of Schwartsburg-Sondershausen celebrated her ninety-fifth birthday at her pretty country seat, halfway between Berne and Fribourg, in Switzerland, where she has lived in the closest retirement ever since the death of her husband, Baron John de Jud. When she insisted on wedding him he was merely a Swiss Alpine guide who had saved her life at the peril of his own in some mountaineering expedition. The reigning Prince of Schwartzburg, who had already got past being surprised at anything she did in the way of eccentricity, gave not only his consent to the match, but even a baronetcy to the bridegroom on the condition that the couple establish their residence elsewhere than in Germany. The marriage turned out most happily, and the princess still mourns her baronised guide and husband, who is entombed in the park of her Swiss chateau.

Another princess who has given no end of trouble to her royal relatives by the unconventionality of her ways and by the independence of her behavior and utterances is Princess Letitia Bonaparte, only sister of the French Imperialist Pretender, and widow of King Humbert's brother Amadeus, Duke of Aosta, and consequently an aunt of Victor Emmanuel III.

During the lifetime of King Humbert he had occasion to find repeated fault with her; among other things, for riding about on a bicycle in the most "fetching" of knickerbockers, for ballooning expeditions, and for all sorts of pranks and extravagances, which led him on at least two occasions to order her to consider herself under arrest in the royal palace at Turin, and deprived her for months together of the use of the royal liveries, and from the enjoyment of the honors, military and otherwise, accorded to members of the reigning house. The present King of Italy is even less patient with Letitia, who, besides being his aunt, is quite the most festive and flighty of widows, and she is a source of constant anxiety, annoyance and trouble to himself, to his widowed mother, Queen Margherita, and, above all, to his grandmother, the old Duchess of Genoa, who is a perfect dragon of severity upon all questions of propriety and court etiquette.

A Stiff Fight.

Old Gentleman—Well, my little lad, are you going fishing or are you going to school?

Little Lad—I dunno yet. I'm just a-wrastling with me conscience.

Hard to Forget Sometimes.

"I always make it a practice to let to-morrow take care of itself."

"That's easy enough, but it's forgetting yesterday that causes trouble for so many of us."

Impolite.

"Why wouldn't you put out your tongue for the doctor this morning, Karl?"

"Oh, Emmy, I couldn't. I don't know him well enough."

Some One Should Tell Her.

No women ever made a greater mistake than that which is made by the woman who thinks she will please her husband by sitting up and waiting for him until 2 o'clock in the morning.

CITY OF GOLDEN DOMES.

Beauties of Peter the Great's "Paradise" of the Swamps.

"The City of Golden Domes"—such is the name so often applied to the metropolis of Russia, St. Petersburg. It was Peter the Great who founded the city and built it on a veritable swamp. The waters of the Neva river overflowed the lowlands all about where the beautiful city of the czar now flourishes, but it was at the expense of many thousands of lives that the foundation of the present metropolis was built. It is said that even now one may see the moisture underlying the city oozing up between the paving blocks on the Nevsky prospect, a busy thoroughfare. The city is not only built over water, but the heavens seem to frown upon human beings having intruded there, for it rains or snows at least 200 days of the year and sometimes a little more. The city is practically surrounded by water, for swamps abound on two sides, the sea and the river on another.

At the very beginning of the building of St. Petersburg every one seemed to hate the place, all save Peter the Great. And, in view of the dislike expressed by nobles and peasants alike, the ruler set thousands at work, "under compulsion of the knout," to build dikes and reclaim the land for the city. He called the city his "paradise" and forbade the use of stone in building elsewhere, ordering all the stone accessible to be brought to St. Petersburg. Any peasant who wished to enter the city could do so by fetching a cartload of stone. This was his passport. Indeed, people did not have to beg to enter St. Petersburg. They were forced by the czar's command to abandon other places and come to dwell in his "pet" city. The consequence was a crowded quarter, where the poor herded together like so many rats, living in squalor and misery. Even to this day the Russian metropolis is the most unhealthy capital of Europe.

But St. Petersburg has become a beautiful and a majestic city nevertheless. There is something imposing about her streets. The Winter Palace is splendid, as are also entire streets of beautiful buildings. It might be called a city of space, for the streets are so wide, and nowhere, save in the slums, does one find crowding.

Nevsky prospect is the fashionable street of St. Petersburg. It is only three miles in length, but it is as celebrated a highway as Regent street, London, or Fifth avenue, New York.

During the winter months the days are very short, artificial light being turned on at 3.30 in the afternoon and daylight not coming in full till about 10 in the morning. But during the summer months—June and July—one will see the sun at two o'clock in the morning and easily read a book at 10 o'clock at night by nature's own light. Thus the summer recompenses one for the dreariness of winter.

Just a Reminder.

A little boy who had reached the age when boys feel that a watch is the one thing that makes life worth living was told that for the present a watch could not be given him. But Edward continued to tease for one until the whole family was wearied. Then his father, after explaining that he should certainly have a watch when he was older, forbade him to mention the subject again. The next Sunday the children, as was their custom, repeated Bible verses at the breakfast table. When it was Edward's turn he astonished them all by saying:

"'What I say unto you, I say unto all: Watch!'"

Power of the Press.

A newspaper can drop the same thought into a thousand minds at the same moment. A newspaper is an adviser that does not require to be sought, but comes to you briefly every day of common weal, without distracting your private affairs. Newspapers, therefore, become more necessary in proportion as men become more equal individuals and more to be feared. To suppose that they only serve to protect freedom would be to diminish their importance. They maintain civilization.—De Tocqueville.

Waste of Energy.

If you hold your fist as tight as you can hold it for fifteen minutes the fatigue you will feel when it relaxes is a clear proof of the energy you have been wasting, and if the waste is so great in the useless tightening of a fist it is still greater in the extended and continuous contraction of brain and nerves in useless fears, and the energy saved through dropping the fears and their accompanying tension can bring in the same proportion a vigor unknown before and at the same time afford protection against the very things we feared.

Perilous Prospects.

"You say I must ride horseback," said the man of quiet habits.

"Yes," replied the physician. "Otherwise I can not answer for your life."

"But can you answer for my life if I try to climb on a horse?"

Too Literal.

Seads—Blinks is a lucky old dog. His wife fairly worships him.

Stacks—Yes, but she carries it too far sometimes. I was out there to dinner unexpectedly the other day, and she served up a burnt offering.

In Line With His Policy.

There was a skinflint millionaire whose only charity was foreign missions. "You see," the man explained, "I chose foreign missions because I want to make my money to go as far as possible."

Procrastination.

How mankind defers from day to day the best it can do and the most beautiful things it can enjoy without thinking that every day may be the last one and that lost time is lost eternity!—Max Muller.

A Royal Compliment.

Mgr. de Noemund, Archbishop of Toulouse, when preaching one day in the private chapel of Louie XIV. lost the thread of his discourse, so that he had to remain silent for some time. The king come to his lordship's relief with this graceful remark: "I am very glad, my lord, that you are giving me a little time to digest all the good things contained in the former part of your sermon."

A Chance.

"I've got an awfully poor memory," remarked Boggs. "I just can't remember anything overnight."

"You haven't got a five spot you could spare until to-morrow, have you?" asked Scroggs

This is Transcona's Year!!!

The promise of Transcona, when the transcontinental shops and yards were located there, now fulfilled doubly by the C. P. R.'s immense project, Transcona bids fair to become an industrial centre. Manufacturers already established, and more coming.

During the past two years there has been more money made by the conservative investor in Transcona property than any other investment we know of. Have you shared in the big profits realized?

The amount of money you make in TRANSCONA practically depends upon the number of lots you purchase now.

We have specialized in Transcona property from the very first, and control the best buying in all parts of Transcona.

SHADOW PICTURES.

Photographs That Can Be Made by the Aid of a Magnet.

It is possible to produce, with the aid of a magnet, shadow photographs resembling those made by action of the X ray. Either an electromagnet or a permanent magnet will answer the purpose.

Place a key or other iron or steel object on the sensitive film of an ordinary photographic plate, then bring the poles of the magnet near the other side of the plate and keep them there for five minutes or more. Upon developing the plate a shadow picture of the key or other object, as sharp and well defined as any of the X ray pictures, will be found.

By this method only iron or steel or other paramagnetic substances may be photographed, but the sensitive side of the plate is turned toward the magnetic poles and a disk of iron nearly as large as the plate is placed on the other side then shadow pictures of any nonmagnetic objects placed on the sensitive film facing the magnet may be obtained. The operations are, of course, conducted in a dark room.

With an electromagnet capable of lifting a weight of 100 pounds one scientist has made such pictures through two inches of interposed wood. He has also obtained shadow pictures with a compound steel magnet weighing little more than a pound.—New York Tribune.

Macey DESK FILE

It is a personal desk system. Keeps the details of your work always at your finger tips. It automatically reminds you of your appointments and engagements, it calls attention to collections due, prospective orders that need attention; it's a sort of mechanical memory—an automatic collector, salesman and correspondent. It's the prod for the forgetter—the office alarm clock—the safety valve of the over burdened pigeon hole. Ask us about it.

TORONTO Macey OFFICE EQUIPMENT CO. WINNIPEG

Method in His Madness.

Mrs. Wick—What is the use of standing there and calling the stove names? That won't make the fire burn any better.

Mr. Wick—I thought that maybe if I could insult the blamed thing it would get hot about it.

Himself to Blame.

"Didn't you once say that your wife was the making of you?"

"Only once," answered Mr. Meekton. "Henrietta heard it and said it was very unkind and unjust to blame her in that manner."

Sure Thing.

"You know," said the minister, "that money is man's worst enemy."

"Well," replied the man thoughtfully, "I suppose that is why some people like him for the enemies he has made."

One View of It.

"What is this here osteopathy?"

"It is the science of manipulating bones."

"Pshaw! Then it's nothing but the end part of the minstrel show."

His Success.

"He's one of our successful young business men."

"That so? In what way?"

"He succeeded in picking out a father-in-law with capital to invest."

Her Abilities.

"Do you believe there is anything in mind reading?"

"If there isn't my wife's an awful good guesser. She never has to wait for me to do any confessing."

How Icelanders Tie Horses.

The Icelanders have a strange but effective plan for preventing horses straying away from any particular spot. If two gentlemen happen to be riding without attendants and wish to leave their horses for any reason they tie the head of one horse to the tail of the former. In this state it is utterly impossible for the horses to move on, either backward or forward. If disposed to move at all it will be only in a circle, and even then there must be mutual agreement to turn their heads the same way.

Made Sometimes.

"Poets are born and not made," said the young man with the pale, interesting face and the long hair.

"Are they?" replied his wife. "Well, I'll show you that they are made sometimes. I'll make you watch the baby while I go shopping this morning or you shall never have another dollar that my father sends to me."

Considerate.

Business Man—You tell me I am hurting myself sitting so long at my desk, but I can't make any money if I don't.

Doctor—Have you enough to pay me?

Business Man—Y-e-s.

Doctor—Then stop.

Trouble Heiresses Have.

"We heiresses have many rivals for our hands."

"Yes," replied Miss Cayenne; "you must feel as if the pathway of life were filled with pocketbook snatchers."

The Felting Process.

The crinkly nature of wool is in part responsible for its felting power, but the most important factor in this regard is the scales which cover the fiber. There are from 1,100 to 3,000 of these scales to the square inch of fiber, the wool with the greatest number and most perfect scales being of the best grade for felting. To be placed in the wool class animal fiber must possess those qualities which will permit it to be used for felting. Wool is felted by causing the scales of the fiber to hook into each other when they are mechanically entangled, and the more firmly the scales grip each other the greater is the degree of closeness which the woollen thread attains.

Great Luck.

"And yet they say there's no such thing as luck."

"What's happened now?"

"My dentist just called up and canceled an appointment I had with him."

A Bushel of Children.

Willie—I've been married five years and got a bushel of children.

James—How's that?

Willie—My name is Peck. I've got four children. Don't four pecks make a bushel?

Same Thing.

Mrs. Exe—Does your husband keep a scrap book?

Mrs. Wye—Not exactly. But he keeps a check book, and we generally have a scrap when he draws a check for my benefit.

THE PRACTICAL JOKER

The Cheerful Idiot Has Many Crimes to His Credit.

A sense of the humorous side of things is frequently a valuable asset; and the man who sets out to make humor nowadays ought to be looked upon as a philanthropist.

But some folk have queer notions. The practical joker, for instance, the man who in a boarding-house devotes his energies to organizing some freak or other, from an apple-pie bed to a collapsible chair, "for fun"; a humorist who is a perpetual nuisance to everyone but himself.

It was surely a weird idea of a joke which a short time ago led the friend of a well-known British M.P. to chase after him, crying "Stop thief!" and "He's got my gold watch!"

The M.P. was promptly stopped by a policeman, and when the friend came up, he explained: "It's only a joke!" said he. But the constable failed to see the point, and at the police court next morning the humorist was bound over to be of good behavior for six months.

It was a similar idea of the funny side of things which led one jovial humorist to hoodwink a whole crowd at a Southern watering-place a year or two ago.

Towards dusk the people gathered on the sands were startled to observe two men struggling violently on the edge of the cliff above them. Suddenly one of the men appeared to gain the upper hand. He swung his opponent clean off his feet, and with apparently super-human strength, lifted him high above his head. Then in a moment he had hurled him over the cliff side on to the rocks and sand below.

Several women, who had witnessed the whole scene, fainted, while a small body of men rushed to the spot where the body had fallen.

And there, instead of the mangled corpse they expected to find, was a dummy figure, dressed in an old and dilapidated suit.

The joker had done it for a bet. He had undertaken to create a sensation—and he succeeded!

There was a pleasant sequel attending the efforts of the wag who tried to joke with Mr. George Pook, a wealthy Australian, when the latter was on a visit to this country. The humorist issued broadcast invitations to tea to welcome the man of money.

When Mr. Pook arrived at his hotel he found an enthusiastic crowd awaiting him. He protested very strongly against being held as the founder of the feast, but eventually decided to fall in with the idea, and those who had gathered there had no reason to regret the humor of the man who had played the trick. Whether the funny fellow himself was there or not never came to light.

Let the Cat Out of the Bag.

A certain English innkeeper's family conducted a weekly raffle. In this raffle the prizes were turkeys, ducks, young pigs, baskets of eggs and such like rural commodities. A quantity of steel disks, numbered from 1 to 25, were put in a black bag, and the little daughter of the innkeeper put her hand in the bag and drew a disk for each speculator in turn. The person whose number was the highest got the prize.

Well, it had been noticed that the innkeeper's wife had got the prize pretty frequently, but nothing was thought of this by the simple, honest rural folk.

One evening, though, the little girl, with her hand in the bag, paused. It was her mother's turn, and she did not draw forth her mother's disk in her usual quick and careless way. She rummaged about. The other rafflers looked at one another oddly. The innkeeper said:

"Come, come, child, hurry up."

"But, father," said the little girl, "I can't find the hot one."

Nasal Discharge Proves Catarrh is Active.

THE PURE BALSAMIC ESSENCES OF CATARRHOZONE AFFORD SUREST AND QUICKEST CURE.

Catarrhozone is certain to cure because its healing vapor is carried with the breath directly to the seat of the chest, nose or throat trouble. Being composed of the purest balsams and pine essences, it immediately allays irritations, facilitates the ejection of mucus, soothes and stimulates the lungs and bronchial tubes. The marvel of the age in curing winter ills—that's what thousands say about Catarrhozone. There is nothing so sure to cure, and to those in fear o. changeable weather—those who easily catch cold—those who work among lung-chilling surroundings, or where dust, impure air, fog or damp can affect them—let them get Catarrhozone and use it several times daily—it will cure every time.

BAD CASE CURED IN TWO DAYS.

"I was unfortunate enough to catch a bad cold from sitting in a draught in my bare head" writes Miss Nora E. Jemleson, well known in Sangre Grande, Td. "An acute condition of catarrh developed in my nostrils and for three days my eyes and nose ran most copiously. The usual remedies entirely failed to relieve. I read in The Mirror newspaper about Catarrhozone and sent to Smith Bros. drug store for a dollar outfit. In two days Catarrhozone cleared out my nostrils cured the sneezing, coughing, and all traces of catarrh."

Large size Catarrhozone, sufficient for two months' use, guaranteed price $1.00; smaller sizes 25c and 50c Beware of imitations and substitutors, and insist on getting "Catarrhozone" only. By mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

A Pleasant "Moonlight."

Notwithstanding the cool atmosphere, the excursion last night down the river by steamer Stoney Lake, under the auspices of the Young People of Knox church, was largely attended. A delightful evening was spent. A good program of music was given, and refreshments were served.

Model Country School.

A model country school will be erected on the Canadian National Exhibition grounds this year as a part of the Educational Exhibit. It will be complete from the garden plot in front of the door to the blackboard, and a teacher will be in charge who will explain the why and wherefore of each and every detail.

Appointed Sheriff.

Mr. David John Nesbitt, Brighton, has been appointed Sheriff of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham, in the place of Sheriff I. O. Proctor, who has resigned. Mr. Nesbitt is a brother of Mr. Sam. Nesbitt, representative in the Legislature for East Northumberland. The appointment takes effect on August 1st.

Evaporation Plant.

Mr. Wm. Flavelle, of Lindsay, has an idea that a milk evaporating plant would be a good thing for the farmers of Victoria and incidentally for the owners of the plant. He explained the proposition to a number in Bobcaygeon on Saturday last. The milk would be delivered at the railway station and conveyed to Lindsay in a refrigerator car. The plant would require 40,000 lbs. of milk daily.

New Canoe Slide.

The attention of Mr. Burnham having been called to the poor condition of the canoe slide on the dam below the Little Lake, he recommended that a new slide be constructed. This will be done at once, so that canoes and skiffs may be transferred without trouble or risk. This will be a great boon to the owners of small crafts on the Little Lake and below it.

Will Be Deported.

Henry Strange was charged at the police court yesterday with vagrancy, and will likely be deported. He has been in this country scarcely a month. He has lost four positions in succession, being unfit for manual work. He is also badly deformed on one side. While deportation arrangements are being carried on, the young man will have to remain in jail, lacking better accommodation. He is not capable of performing farm work, being physically unfit.

Locks Already Equipped.

The City Council in its wisdom, requested Mr. Burnham to ask the Department of Railways and Canals to provide life preservers and life ropes at the various locks on the Trent Canal. Our city fathers should have made sure that what they were asking was not already provided. If they had done so they would have saved making themselves ridiculous by such a request. Every lock is already provided with life preservers (with 40 feet of rope attached) as well as a pike pole and a punt.

New Grand Trunk Station.

Plans have been filed with the town council of Richmond, Que., by the Grand Trunk Railway for a new station building to replace the one destroyed by fire within the past year. The estimated cost is in the neighborhood of $20,000 and the plans show an imposing building which assures to Richmond one of the finest stations on the Eastern division. It will be erected on the old site, but the tracks at present interposed between it and Main street will, it is understood, be removed. Improvements to the station approach are also provided for.

Lindsay's Latest Industry.

The Post had a conversation with Mr. W. J. Fitzsimmons, a member of the firm last evening and was informed that men were already making automobile bodies at the old Union School and it was expected that next week the industry would be in full running order. The firm had a large number of orders on hand and the delay occasioned in moving the plant had put them behind considerable. During the past few weeks deperate efforts were made by the city of Peterborough to steal the industry, but they ended in failure. The firm was satisfied with Lindsay's advantages, notwithstanding the extravagant inducements offered by theE lectric City.

Visiting His Old Home.

Mr. Wm. Sheehy, brother of the well-known contractor, Mr. Richard Sheehy, arrived home from the Western States, after an absence of 36 years. Mr. Sheehy left Peterborough when a young man of 21 years of age and naturally finds the old town very much changed. The faces and forms of those he knew in the long ago are not now visible, having passed to the great beyond. Mr. Sheehy has been engaged in mining in Nevada, and, it is understood has done well. Mr. Sheehy expressed surprise at the way Peterborough has grown. He said to a friend on the train coming into Peterborough that he could walk from the station to his old home blind-folded, but when he alighted, he failed to recognize any of the old familiar places, much less any of those he met on the streets.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

Maude W.: The mussy, "stringy" condition of your hair is due to the use of soap and liquid shampoos, containing "free" alkali. You can quickly correct this condition by shampooing with canthrox, a teaspoonful of which dissolved in a cup hot water is ample for a thorough cleansing. The canthrox mixture thoroughly dissolves dust and dandruff, and neutralizes excess oil. Rinsing leaves hair and scalp wonderfully clean, and sweet, and the hair dries quickly, with an even rich color. Nothing equals canthrox for restoring the brilliance and silky fluffiness to the hair.

Gertrude B.: I know of nothing better to protect the complexion during summer than a plain sparmax lotion. This is made by stirring two teaspoonfuls glycerine into ½ pint witch hazel (or hot water), then adding 4 ounces spurmax. This is invisible when on, and imparts a delightful tint to the skin. You will find the spurmax lotion fine for banishing tan, freckles, oiliness to the skin, and other complexion disfigurements. The spurmax lotion will not spot from perspiration, and its use overcomes the need of powder or rouge.

Mayme L.: The dust-laden air of summer is hurtful to the eyes, and to banish the smart and restore the youthful sparkle you should put 2 or 3 drops of a crystos tonic in each eye daily. This harmless crystos eye tonic is made by dissolving an ounce crystos in a pint cold, clear water. This is fine for granulated lids, and takes out soreness and inflammation. Its use is a great benefit to the eyes, and often overcomes the necessity for wearing glasses.

A. B. C.: No, vaseline will not stop the hair from falling out. Shampoo with canthrox (see answer to Maude W.) and use this quinzoin tonic: To ½ pint alcohol add 1 ounce quinzoin, then ½ pint water. Rub a little well into the scalp frequently and the hair will stop falling out. Nothing equals the quinzoin tonic to stop irritation and correct scalp and hair troubles. The regular use of this quinzoin hair tonic will induce an abundance of silky, fluffy hair.

Clara S.: An oily skin is the result of powder clogged pores. Discard powder, rouge and greasy creams and use this plain almozoin cream-jelly, and your skin will grow clear, smooth and velvety: Stir 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine into ½ pint cold water, then add 1 ounce almozoin. After this is dissolved, apply generously and rub in well. Pimples and blackheads yield to this simple treatment and fine lines and hollows vanish as if by magic. You will find a spurmax lotion excellent to use in connection. For recipe, see answer to Gertrude B.

Marion: You will find great relief after taking parnotis, because it dissolves the fatty tissues gently and leaves no ill after effects. To prepare, dissolve 4 ounces parnotis in 1½ pints hot water, then take a tablespoonful before each meal. This is a safe, certain method for taking off fat, and when the desired weight is reached, the flesh is left firm and the skin is free from wrinkles. No vigorous exercise nor disagreeable dieting is required when this treatment is employed.

Melba M.: Liver spots and pimples indicate impure blood and you should take a kardene tonic to expel this poisonous matter. You can prepare this tonic at home by adding 1 ounce kardene to ½ pint alcohol, then ½ cupful sugar and hot water to make a quart. Take a tablespoonful before each meal and your blood will soon be pure and rich. This kardene tonic is unsurpassed as a body-builder and strength-giver, and taking it frequently saves doctor's bills.

Mrs. H.: Make a paste with a little powdered delatone and water to cover the hairs not wanted. Let remain 2 or 3 minutes then rub off, wash the skin, and the hairs have vanished. The delatone treatment is harmless, and seldom requires repeating, except in aggravated cases.

TO START WORK WITHIN YEAR ON CANADIAN BATTLESHIPS

Organ of the Asquith Government Says Work Will Be Under Way Before Next---Britain to Accelerate Warship-Building Program

London, July 23.—The Evening News, the Government organ, says authoritatively that there is to be an acceleration of many months in the ship-building program. Four armoured ships will be laid before next July, and Canadian ships will be included in this earlier start.

Premier Borden and the other Canadian Ministers were in the "distinguished strangers' gallery" during Winston Churchill's naval speech. The Pall Mall Gazette to-night says they were silent, but keenly attentive witnesses to the tremendous fact that Canada is about to lead the overseas Dominions in the giving of their young strength to support the Motherland in the great struggle that lies ahead for the maintenance of Imperial supremacy and the peace of the world.

PREMIER BORDEN CAN BRING CANADA A CORDIAL MESSAGE

London, July 23.—Responding to the toast of "Our Guests" at the Chamber of Commerce banquet last night, Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden declared that he and his colleagues had been received with the most cordial and friendly spirit and they had every reason to believe that some good result would accrue from their mission. He and his colleagues, he felt assured, could give to the people of the Dominion of Canada a message of friendship, co-operation and determination on the part of the people of these Islands, that they along with the people of the vast dominions overseas, were not afraid of any responsibility to the Empire, however great it might be.

French-Canadians Loyal.

There were two great races in Canada, the French and the British, and they were working side by side in the task of developing that vast country It might be that testimony would like to be heard on that subject, but it would be testimony which would not be necessary owing to the fact that His Majesty had no more devoted subjects in the Dominion than those of French descent. The two races were conscious of the responsibility which the greatness of the heritage imposed upon them, while the dominions were endowed with the sense of unity and responsibility essential to the maintenance of a great Empire. They were also keenly alive to the importance of steamship lines and cable communication.

Lord Emmett, Under Secretary for the Colonies, suggested that they should have an Imperial Parliament devoted to Imperial affairs, and a smaller Parliament devoted to local affairs. If they had an Imperial Parliament it would open the door to co-operation in the dominions.

Now Is The Time.

Winston Churchill, referring to his naval statement as to co-operation overseas remarked: "By many nations ships are being built, and we have to protect from danger and alarm the dominions and territories scattered over every continent and across every ocean. Well do we understand the truth of Premier Borden's words. 'The day of peril is too late for preparation.' He said that there was an earnest disposition on the part of the Dominions to take a more active part in Imperial affairs and that disposition would be effective to the unity of the British Empire carrying with it the safety of its component parts.

NINE MONTHS PRISON FOR JOHN MITCHELL

Washington, July 23.—John Mitchell, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, to-day was sentenced in the District of Columbia Supreme Court to nine months' imprisonment for contempt of court growing out of the Buck Stove & Range Company case. An appeal was taken and $4,000 bail furnished to abide by the decision of the Upper Court.

In the same case, President Sam. Gompers recently was sentenced to one year and Secretary Frank Morrison to six months.

UNIFORMED BOY SCOUTS WILL HELP TO KEEP STREETS TIDY

New York, July 23.—Beginning on Monday next, 1,500 uniformed Boy Scouts, with the co-operation of the Street Cleaning Department and the Department of Health, will undertake the work of cleaning bits of paper, garbage and refuse from the streets of the East Side and other congested neighborhoods of the city.

The work was suggested by the Tenement House Committee. It is expected that the undertaking will be repeated at intervals throughout the hot season, promoting good health in the sections which suffer most from the heat.

The Boy Scouts will work under command of Spencer Lorillard, Jr., director of the organization for New York City.

A COMING EVENT.

One of the biggest and most popular events of the season will be the Printers' picnic, which takes place on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 3. The steamer Stoney Lake will leave the Wolfe street wharf at 1.30 sharp and proceed to Jubilee Point, where five hours of pleasure will be indulged in, returning for home at 8.30 o'clock. VARICOSE VEINS CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skillful. I wrote them and got The New Method Treatment. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $[illegible] a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $[illegible] and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.
HENRY C. LOCUST.

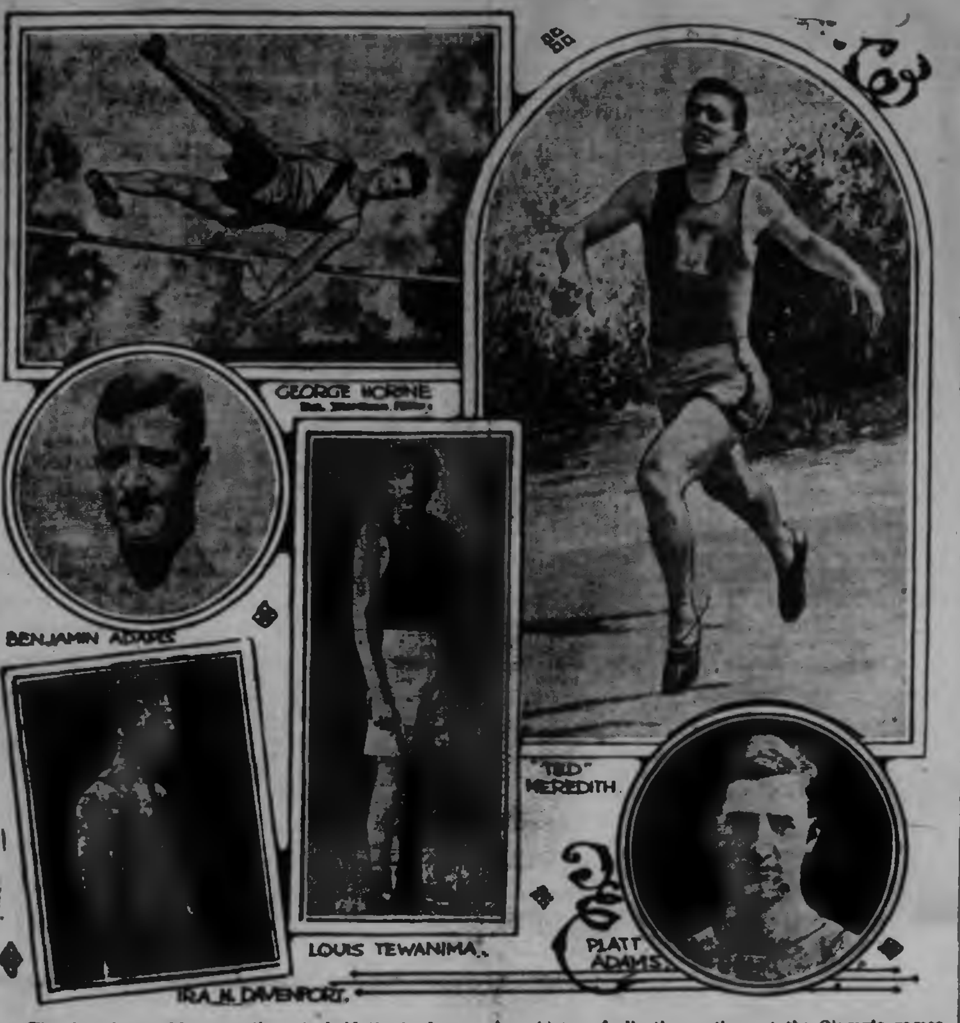
AMERICAN ATHLETES WHO HAVE WON HONORS AT THE OLYMPIC GAMES.



The American athletes continue to hold the lead over the athletes of all other nations at the Olympic games. "Ted" Meredith, an American schoolboy, has this early in the games proved the sensation of the meet, making a new world's record in the 800 metre flat race. His time was 1m. 51 9-10s. In this event Ira Davenport, Chicago University, came in third. Platt Adams, N.Y.A.C., was second in the standing broad jump; George L. Horine, Olympic Club, San Francisco, was second in the running high jump, and Louis Tewanina, Carlisle Indian School, came in second in the 10,000 metre run.

An Eight-Foot Waterway

Reports that the present Minister of Railways and Canals does not sympathize with the Trent Valley project are wholly erroneous. What it is understood he did say was, not in favor of a six-foot canal, but that he was most distinctly in favor of an eight foot waterway. It is admitted that there is plenty of water for an eight-foot canal, and in view of these circumstances the Minister's hearty co-operation is assured. At no time did he give any impression of a half-hearted support of this project. Hon. Mr. Cochrane will be in Peterborough in the autumn, when a great number of important matters will be brought before him for solution.

It is admitted the world over that anything less than an eight-foot canal will not pay the country, and it is of little use to commerce.

THE LONDON STANDARD SAYS BRITAIN ISN'T BUILDING ENOUGH

London, July 23.—The approval which Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, has won from the bulk of public opinion since he entered the admiralty, was strengthened by his speech yesterday on naval problems before the House of Commons. The speech was admitted even by his political opponents to be adroit, courageous and public-spirited, and although his statement as to the German naval policy is regarded as that of an "alarmist," it is not held to overstate the case. There is, however, considerable divergence of opinion respecting the manner in which the First Lord of the Admiralty proposes to deal with the problems.

Too Much of Talk.

The newspapers which preach the German peril in season and out of season profess the greatest concern over his proposals, saying that they are quite inadequate. Thus, the Standard says that although Lord Churchill's "alarmist and sensational" exposition of the German policy is indisputable, his speech is calculated to arouse rather than allay the apprehensions, because he does not announce the steps to be taken to secure the margin of the English over the German fleet. The Standard is in the main intensely disappointed, saying: "The country is looking for action it is again put off with words. We are thankful that the policy of abandoning the Mediterranean has been repudiated, but the policy of holding in the Mediterranean an ample force has not been adopted as the Government's policy in an hour of national danger. This is a policy of words, not ships."

Another view, is this, that Lord Churchill is hampered by a cleavage of opinion in the Cabinet. The holders of this view credit him with being fully alive to the grave needs of national defence, and anxious to meet the situation on bold lines, but with being compelled to accept a compromise.

THE WEATHER.

To-day' South-easterly winds and showery.

Musician: "Then you think that music serves no useful purpose in life?"
Philistine: "On the contrary, I am convinced that it prevents the hair from falling out!"

T.V.C. OFFICIALS IN TROUBLE

Several Lockmasters On The Carpet For Serious Offence

Sir William Mackenzie's Private Yacht Permitted to Pass Through Several Locks on Sunday, a Privilege Denied to All Other Boats.

Considerable surprised was occasioned on Monday last when it was known that Sir William Mackenzie's launch, the "Wawinet" had passed through the locks between Lakefield and Peterborough during Sunday, owing to the fact that there is a stringent regulation against using the locks on Sunday. The Times interviewed the Superintendent of the Canal and learned that the boat in question passed through the Lakefield lock on Saturday night. Sunday morning it proceeded to No. 2, the Captain persuading the lockmaster, P. Sullivan, to let the boat through. This was given as a reason by lockmaster Barrette, of No. 3, to do likewise, as well as lock No. 4, controlled by Mr. T. Wallace, and No 5, in charge of Mr. J. McCliggott. When the yacht reached the lift-lock Mr. Alex. Richardson, who is in charge there, refused to let the Wawinet proceed without an order from the Superintendent, and this it was impossible to obtain. Consequently the boat had to remain until Monday morning, when it left for Rice Lake.

Mr. McClellan was naturally very indignant that the regulations had been violated, and at once reported the matter to the Department at Ottawa, where it is expected the lockmasters who were at fault will be disciplined.

On account of the extenuating circumstances it is hoped that the Department will overlook the blunder of the lockmasters.

The Wawinet had on board Count and Countess De Lesseps and Miss Mackenzie, daughter of Sir William Mackenzie. The party returned from Rice Lake yesterday and went north to Kirkfield, where Sir William Mackenzie has a summer home.

SUFFRAGETTE LEADER PLACED UNDER ARREST

Charged With Complicity in Attempt to Burn Mr. Harcourt's Residence.

London, July 23.—Dr. Ethel Smith a leader of the Suffragette movement was arrested to-day on a charge of complicity in the attempt to burn down the historical residence of Lewis Harcourt, Secretary of State for the colonies, at Nuneham Park on July 13.

On that date two women were found in the grounds of the residence by the nightwatchman and one of them, Helen Craggs, a daughter of Sir John Craggs was arrested. She was found to be carrying a quantity of inflammable material and spirits.

PROTESTANTS TO BE ROBBED OF MARRIAGE CASE VICTORY

Privy Council Refused to Hear Argument On Question Two, Which the Supreme Court Decided So Sweepingly in Favor of Protestant Contentions

Will Canada get a "lemon" in the stated marriage case?

The Privy Council to-day declined to hear argument on question two submitted to them in the stated marriage case, which is as to the status of a marriage of two Roman Catholics in Quebec performed before a Protestant minister. No reason was assigned for this decision, but presumably it follows the opinion of Chief Justice Fitzpatrick and Mr. Justice Anglin, who held that the Herbert case, which raises the same question, and is in appeal, makes the question sub-judice, and that in any case, it would be improper to decide so important a question without giving persons whose rights were affected a chance to be represented by counsel.

The first question, which is as to the power of the Dominion to pass the Lancaster bill, was decided against the federal jurisdiction by the Supreme Court, and the sweeping victory secured for the Protestant contentions was on question two, which the Privy Council refuses to answer. The decision to-day seems to rob the Protestants of their victory. Perhaps the Canadian judgment will stand until overruled by a higher decision, which has not been given, as so far the Privy Council has not declared that the Supreme Court exceeded its powers in answering the question. The Council, however, intimated that it might possibly send for the lawyers and hear argument later.

TAFTS FOLLOWERS CALL RECIPRCCITY A DEAD ISSUE

Washington, July 23.—President Taft has indicated to several Western senators who were active opponents of Canadian reciprocity that he would favor a repeal of the Act.

Some of those with whom the President had talked, think he may send a message to Congress on the subject or will state his position in his speech of acceptance when a committee of the Chicago convention notifies him in August of his nomination. Senate leaders say that so far the Senate leaders say that so far President has had no direct communication with the finance committee on the subject, nor sent any communication to the committee saying he favors a repeal of the law.

Now a Dead Letter.

Mr. Taft will not withdraw his own support of Canadian reciprocity as a principle, it is understood, but will take the position that the United States should not continue an offer that Canada refuses to accept. The reciprocity law continues in effect in the United States notwithstanding Canada's refusal to endorse it.

Senators McCumber, Heyburn, Gronna and others have urged a repeal and an amendment was put on the steel tariff bill recently passed by Congress and now in conference, providing for such action.

It is asserted among western senators that if any tariff measure is passed in the Senate this week an amendment will also be incorporated for the repeal of the reciprocity law. In case any one of these bills reach the President and be vetoed, it is expected he will make clear in his veto measure the fact that he would approve a measure to repeal the reciprocity law.

STRANGE SUICIDE OF MODENA MAN

Bought Coffin, Lay Down In It, and Then Set Fire to Carbon.

Milan, July 23.—Angelo Milani, a wealthy manufacturer of Modena, has committed suicide in somewhat original fashion.

He bought a coffin, took it home, and, setting fire to some carbon in his room, took his place in the coffin to await death.

On the following day when his maid went to call her master she found a card on his door on which was written: "Bring the undertaker to take away my body."

The police were summoned and entered the room, they found the coffin closed. M. Milani was inside wearing his decorations. His arms were folded, and lying at his feet was a document directing the manner of his obsequies and granting a gratuity to all who attended his funeral.

PRINCESS BORN IN VANCOUVER

Hawaiian of Royal Blood Sees First Light of Day in British Columbia

Vancouver, July 23.—Royalties are no novelty in Vancouver. First and last they have come and gone by dozens. Every royalty and semi-royalty who comes to America, ultimately lands in Vancouver.

Ultimately—but not primarily. Only one has seen Vancouver first, and that quite literally. And she, indeed has not seen any other place. She is a princess, albeit a very little princess, high Princess Victoria Elizabeth Kaiulani, three right royal names and she was christened in the baptismal font at Christ Church, Rev. C. C. Owen giving her her first churching.

She was born in Vancouver some few weeks ago, this little descendant of the kings and queens of sunny Hawaii.

GOVERNMENT TO TEACH WOMEN TO COOK

Toronto, July 23.—The Ontario Government has begun the work of establishing a course of demonstrations among the Women's Institutes which was provided for by funds given in the Federal grant to the provinces in aid of Agriculture. The plan is to group five or six institutes at a common meeting place. Fifteen lectures will comprise the course, which will start on October 1st. The subjects include: Typical methods of cooking, combinations, different ways of serving fresh fruit and vegetables; soups, puddings and combinations, with especial relation to infant, children, and invalid diet, from milk: the various ways of using cereals and eggs; roasting and broiling, the correct cuts, food value of meet, and the ways of utilizing tough meats; the use of substitutes for meat; such as nuts, peas, and fish; the preparation of salads, the cooking of poultry, the preparation of food for invalids. Optional courses on home-nursing, sanitation, and sewing are given to the extent of two lectures out of the fifteen.

RICHESON WAS BURIED AT MOTHER'S SIDE

His Sister Wins Father's Consent to Carry Out Prisoner's Wish.

Lynchburg, July 23.—The last request of the Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, electrocuted in Boston last May for the murder of Miss Avis Linnell, was complied with Thursday, when his body was laid beside that of his mother. The father of the former pastor had the remains buried beside those of young Richeson's grandparents. A sister of the former pastor, Miss Russell Richeson of Philadelphia, finally obtained consent of her father for the removal of the body. It was disinterred Thursday, carried five miles through a drizzling rain and replaced in the ground beside that of his mother.

SALLOW FACES

Often Caused by Tea and Coffee Drinking.

How many persons realize that tea and coffee so disturb digestion that they produce a muddy, yellow complexion?

A ten days' trial of Postum has proven a means, in thousands of cases, of clearing up a bad complexion.

A Washington young lady tells her experience:

"All of us—father, mother, sister, brother—had used tea and coffee for many years until finally we all had stomach trouble more or less.

"We all were sallow and troubled with pimples, breath bad, disagreeable taste in the mouth, and all of us simply so many bundles of nerves.

"We didn't realize that tea and coffee caused the trouble until one day we ran out of coffee and went to borrow some from a neighbor. She gave us some Postum and told us to try that.

"Although we started to make it, we all felt sure we would be sick if we missed our strong coffee, but we tried Postum and were surprised to find it delicious.

"We read the statements on the pkg., got more, and in a month and a half you wouldn't have known us. We all were able to digest our food without any trouble, each one's skin became clear, tongues cleaned off and nerves in fine condition. We never use anything now but Postum. There is nothing like it." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

"There's a Reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly; Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundreds of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario, Manager. 49 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 to J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 366 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

Preference Shares are preferential both as to assets and cumulative dividends at the rate of 7 p.c. per annum, also participate in dividends after 7 p.c. has been paid on common stock.

The average net profits of the Cafeterias, Limited, on King street, for the month of May, as shown by the report of the auditor, John I. Sutcliffe, C.A., amounted to over 30 p.c. on the entire issue of stock. A complete auditor's statement of the finances of Cafeterias, Limited, up to the end of May, may be seen at the offices of Messrs. Fleming & Marvin, Lumsden Building. This statement shows the monthly profits.

About $50,000.00 will be required to put the new Yonge street Cafeteria on a running basis. Of this amount about fifteen or twenty thousand dollars will be required to complete the interior finish, and make this restaurant one of the finest cafeterias in America. The balance will be required for outfitting the restaurant and providing a certain amount of working capital. The new restaurant will have a dining room of the large dimensions of 7,000 square feet on the ground floor, and will also have spacious additions for other purposes of the business.

Cafeterias, Limited, has found in the running of its business on King street that it has eclipsed the old style of waitress-serving restaurants, which is a great saving of labor and expense, and that the new restaurant is the best system of meeting the demands of the public for quick service, consistent with quality and efficiency of service.

We have opened subscription books for sale at par ($10.00) $50,000.00 fully paid shares of the abovementioned 7 p.c. cumulative preference participating stock, carrying a bonus of 25 p.c. of the amount of the preference shares in common stock.

Payments as follows:

25% per share with subscription;
and 75% per share on allotment.

Subscription books are now open at our offices, and the right is reserved to allot only such subscriptions and for such amounts as may be approved, and to close the subscription without notice.

ORIGIN OF "BLACKLEG."

The Term Came From Race Track Men Who Wore Black Top Boots.

The term blackleg, which has come to mean one who systematically tries to win money by cheating in connection with races or with cards, billiards or other games of skill or chance and is used as synonymous with a swindler, a welsher, is of uncertain origin. Some authorities connect it with the black legs of a gamecock, so much used by the sporting fraternity for betting purposes.

According to another and more probable view, the expression had no disgraceful sense attached to it at first, but was applied to turf and sporting men because they were often in the habit of wearing black top boots. When blackleg had thus become a current phrase for professional sporting men it probably passed into use as applied more particularly to those who took an unfair advantage of their opportunities to cheat the unwary.

The derivation of this term was once solemnly argued before the full court of queen's bench upon a motion for a new trial for libel, but that learned tribunal was unable to decide its origin.—London Standard.

The Bitter End.

You have probably often heard a person say "I will follow it to the bitter end" or something to that effect, but very few persons know that this is a nautical term and is borrowed from a ship's cable. If you have ever been on a big ship you must have noticed two big pieces of wood sticking up out of the deck forward, alongside each other. They sometimes have a windlass between them, and they are used to secure the cable that goes to the anchor. These pieces of wood are called the bitts. When the ship comes to anchor and the cable is paid out all that part of it which is abaft or behind the bitts is called the bitter end of the cable. In a storm or in poor holding ground for anchors the more cable that is paid out the better the anchor will hold, and when the captain is at all doubtful he pays out his cable to the bitter end sooner than risk any harm to his ship.—New York Press.

ARE THEY POLYGAMISTS?

On Saturday, June 29th, a party of forty reached Montreal from Liverpool, thirty of them being new converts to the Mormon faith, and ten being Mormon missionaries. The party was under the direction of Elder J. T. Hales. The reporters who met the party found them somewhat excited over what had been said recently about the Mormon faith and practice. Elder Hales was very emphatic. "All we ask," said the Elder, "is British fair play. We are not guilty of Polygamy. We neither preach nor practice it in Canada or the United States. Since the manifesto was issued on September 30th, 1890, not a plural marriage has been contracted. Of course," he added, "those who had plural wives have maintained them—a man would not be a man if he cast the woman adrift." Unfortunately for the elder, there seems to be convincing proof that the Mormons do practice polygamy, and since 1890 there have been new polygamous marriages, says the Christian Guardian. There was sworn evidence before the United States Senate Committee in 1904 in regard to five of these, and President Smith testified that all his wives had borne children to him since 1890. Our readers will find this matter presented at length in the Christian Guardian of May 8th, 1912, by our Ottawa correspondent. In view of the fact that at present there are said to be 231 Mormon missionaries in England, and not a few in Canada, it is well that the facts concerning this faith and practice should have widest publicity. In spite of all the protestations of zealous missionaries, the evidence seems overwhelming that polygamy has not been abandoned either in teaching or in practice, and if converts unite with them they should know very clearly just what kind of an organization it is to which they are committing themselves.

Editorial Notes

The British Suffragettes have commenced playing with fire, and they will doubtless end by being scorched.

Archbishop McNeil, the new Toronto prelate, is an accomplished astronomer; naturally he knows nearly all the heavenly bodies by sight.

Lord Edward Seymour has purchased a fruit farm and market garden west of Toronto, and will settle there. His truck farm should be a great success, because the Lord will be with it.

They say that Fred Haultain will now accept a position on the bench. If so, the political career will end of the man in all western Canada who is best fitted to govern. In Canadian politics the law of the survival of the fittest does not always operate.

One of the ironies of history is that the most prominent place where the Battle of the Boyne was first celebrated was the Vatican. It would have been a terrible blow to our Orangemen friends if they had been told yesterday of this strange historical fact. The Vatican was much more concerned in those days in seeing King Louis humbled than in preserving a Stuart on the English throne.

In effect Mr. Henri Bourassa has taken the new line that if Quebec can no longer command the lion's share of patronage in Canada, it will go in for annexation to the United States. Of course, Bourassa is only Bourassa, and if he doesn't represent any more as an annexationist than he did as a nationalist, it is scarcely worth mentioning to him that Quebec can only annex itself to the United States when the rest of Canada does, and that will be never.

ABANDONED CATS.

(Editor Morning Times

Sir.—There ought to be some way of reaching and punishing the many families who go away in the summer leaving the family cat to wander at large. In every community there are such cases each summer, and often the offending persons are those whose kindness of heart and respect for the conventions of society are never in question at other times. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, I am told, admits that it is helpless in the matter, as far as legal prosecutions are concerned. The offending family usually offers the plausible excuse that the cat ran away or that arrangements were made with somebody to feed it.

But these things do not prevent the abandoned cats from making the midnight vocal, nor from raiding garbage cans. And the medical experts say that stray cats are carriers of disease and thus a menace as well as a nuisance to a community. If those who abandon pets cannot be reached by law they ought to be shamed by public opinion into some understanding of their responsibility.

THE SOLDIERS' SERVICE

(Editor Morning Times)

Dear Sir.—I have been looking for sometime to see an apology offered for the unfair advantage taken of Rev. Mr. Pogue, and the St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in connection with the soldiers' service. Now let us be fair. Having been a resident of this city for several years and fairly well acquainted with its ways, I looked the first week of the New Year for the usual "Week of Prayer" services, and as they were not forthcoming I made enquiries and found that negotiations had been entered into by the Ministerial Association, but they were called off because the Anglican pulpits were closed against other clergymen. And so the other churches held their services the second week in January without the assistance of their Anglican friends.

Now, Mr. Editor, look at it. In January Mr. Pogue was denied the privilege of conducting a service in St. John's church, yet within six months the rector of St. John's wants and takes the use of St. Paul's church and thrusts the Anglican service upon the audience. Is that courtesy? Now, while I am an Anglican and admire many things in my church, yet I am British and I love fair play. And I, for one, will individually clear my own skirts, and through your paper say to Mr. Pogue and his church that the better class of Anglicans have no sympathy with the treatment that was accorded him and his people in connection with the said service, and I trust this will help heal the wound.

Yours truly,

—A Member of St. John's Church.

A GREAT CRISIS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—It must now be plain to everyone interested in the fate of the British Empire, that the coming of the pro-British party into power in Canada was not a moment too soon. The latest cables show the supreme anxiety of the Government of Britain to increase its naval effectiveness in the face of the German peril. There is no mincing of words, Mr. Churchill points his finger squarely at the "German peril." The despatches show that a tremendous cheer went up when Mr. Churchill announced that Mr. Borden had just told him that Canada would do whatever is necessary to aid in meeting the foes of the Empire. What a contrast this is to the faint-hearted policy of Mr. Borden's predecessor, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who refused to commit Canada to an equivocal position in this or any other supremely important imperial matter. The re-adjustment of alliances, Japan going to Russia and possibly to Germany also, makes Canada's aid worth having and it is a matter of intense gratification that our chief representative has spoken boldly, definitely and like a true loyalist in this hour of trial. There is no doubt where Canada stands.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profits now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit?
If Not, Here is Your Opportunity

We invite the closest inspection of this proposition, and will gladly mail prospectus containing full particulars. Again we sound the warning, unless you send us your orders for stock in the Canada Moving Pictures, Limited, without further delay, it will mean GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY permitted to slip by.

Here Is Relief!

Sufferer of Twenty Years States Dr. Hamilton's Pills Are a Real Cure

"I can't remember any time during the past 20 years when my head was not aching. If I bent over, dark specks would come before my eyes, and it seemed as if all the blood in my body wanted to rush to my head". Thus opens the letter of Mrs. Enoch S. Spry, of Putman P. O., and continuing her interesting statement she says: "Work or exertion made my heart beat terrible, and going upstairs caused such shortness of breath that it fairly frightened me. My doctor told me that if that was the cause, Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the greatest blood renewer on earth. I feel strong enough now to work like a man, as for going upstairs on the run, it doesn't bother me at all. I eat and sleep as well as any person ought and as for dizziness, which used to frighten me so much before, it has entirely disappeared. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a wonderful woman's medicine. They helped me in other ways, too, and I know every woman that uses them will have comfort and good health. Refuse anything offered you instead of Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, 25c per box. All dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

An Autograph Request.

Ambassadors receive many queer requests in the course of their official duties. Here is one that was sent to Mr. White by a western woman, who inclosed pieces of linen, when he was minister to Germany many years ago: "We are going to give a fair in our church, and I am making an autograph quilt. I want you to get me the autographs of the emperor and empress, the crown prince and Bismarck, and tell them to be very careful not to write too near the edge of the squares, as a seam has to be allowed for putting them together."

Near Fulfillment.

"Jones told me today that the ball on the top of that tall tower building was blown down by the strong gale and came very near striking him down."

"I've told Jones often that highballs would sooner or later be the death of him."—Baltimore American.

Brutus and Caesar.

"Brutus," said Caesar as he drew himself up majestically, "this is exceedingly rude of you."

BALKED THE BULL.

Presence of Mind That Saved the Life of a Little Child.

A regiment of the German army resting in a country road was appalled to see a great bull madly pursuing a little child in a field near by and yet so far away that the child could not be reached in time to save it nor yet saved by the shooting of the animal.

The bull had his horns down, and all the soldiers were horrified to see that in another moment the child must be gored to death. For an instant no one seemed to know what to do, and then the drum major shouted to the buglers of the band, who stood near with their instruments in their hands, to sound a loud blast. They looked aghast.

"Sound, I say, for God's sake, to save the child!" repeated the drum major.

Then the buglers blew a blast at the top of their lungs. The drum major knew that animals of that species were so much affected by strange and high pitched musical sounds that they seemed compelled to imitate them. This bull proved to be no exception to the rule.

As soon as he heard the bugle blast he paused in his pursuit of the child, glanced toward the band, raised his head and began to bellow madly. The buglers kept up as high and discordant a tumult as they could, and meantime soldiers were running to the rescue of the child.

Before the bull had finished his attention to the bugles the child was in a place of safety.—New York Tribune.

STOCKINGS OF SILK.

The First Pair Queen Bess Wore Made a Hit With Her Majesty.

Up until the time of Henry VIII. stockings were made out of ordinary cloth. The king's own were made out of yard wide taffeta. It was only by chance that he might obtain a pair of silk hose from Spain. His son, Edward VI., received as a present from Sir Thomas Gresham "a pair of long silk stockings." For some years longer silk stockings continued to be a great rarity. Says Stow:

"In the second year of Queen Elizabeth her silk woman, Mistress Montague, presented her majesty with a pair of black knit stockings for a New Year's gift, which after a few days' wearing pleased her highness so well that she sent for Mistress Montague and asked her where she had had them and if she could help her to any more, who answered, saying, 'I made them very carefully, of purpose only for your majesty, and, seeing these please you so well, I will presently set more in hand.'

"'Do so,' quoth the queen, 'for indeed I like silk stockings so well, because they are pleasant, fine and delicate, that henceforth I will wear no more cloth stockings.'

"And from that day up to her death the queen never wore cloth, but only silk stockings."—New York Herald.

Ant Colonies.

An ant nest or colony arises from eggs laid by one or more "queens." The developing young are tended by the sexless neuters, or "workers." The maggots, or larval ants, are fed by them, often nourished out of the nurses' mouths, and are as carefully watched in respect of the temperature and other conditions of the nurseries as are infantile human beings. When full development occurs the pupae change into ants, which are either winged or wingless. The latter are the "neuters," or workers. They may develop big jaws and appear as the "soldiers" of the colony. Those which are winged are the founders of new colonies. They are of both sexes, and they produce the eggs whence the new generations will be evolved.

Doughnuts.

Light, tender doughnuts quite unlike the usual solid kind are made with a cupful of sugar, a teaspoonful of butter, two eggs and a cupful of milk. Mix a scant pint of flour that has been sifted with two rounding teaspoonfuls of baking powder, making a paste that is soft. Stand the bowl containing it on the ice until it is very cold and then roll it out and fry before it loses its shape. The idea is to make the paste a little softer than can be rolled before it is stiff with cold and to use as little flour as possible. The doughnuts should be turned continually while they are frying.—Baltimore American.

Too Professional.

"I saw that man gazing into your eyes," said Maud.

"Yes," replied Mamie. "I felt complimented until I learned that he is studying to be an oculist. I had the same disappointing experience with a young dentist who was always anxious to make me smile."—Washington Star.

And It Came True.

"Have you ever had a dream that came true?"

"Yes. I had one only a few nights ago that came true. I dreamed that I was going to receive a telegram which I would be afraid to show to my wife."

"And you got it? Was it from another woman?"

"Yes."

"Say, old man, I am surprised"—

ARTIFICIAL PERFUMES.

It Is a Wise Flower That Knows Its Own Scent.

There are few perfumes today that cannot be made from chemicals, synthetically, as the chemists call it. Formerly all perfumes were extracted from flowers, fruits, spices, woods or other vegetable and animal substances. The first perfume to be imitated was vanilla, in 1876. Heliotropine followed, being obtained by oxidation of a byproduct of camphor.

Terpineol is one of the most freely used constituents of perfumes. This is a near relation of turpentine. With this, a little oil and aqua fortis a chemist can produce a perfume that can scarcely be distinguished from those exhaled by the lily of the valley, lilac and jasmine, varying according to the proportions in which the chemicals are blended.

Artificial violet is a combination of citrol (an essence extracted from lemons), Indian vervayne or lemon verbena

Belgian Marriages.

In Belgium it is the custom to give certificates of marriages in the form of little books, which also contain a summary of the marriage laws and among a mass of other miscellaneous information directions for the feeding and care of infants. There are also places for entering the names and birthdays of the children of the marriage, the authorities considerately affording space for twelve such entries.

Explained.

"I hear that Miss Grumby is a wonderfully correct person."

"That's because of her occupation. She is a dressmaker's designer."

"What has that to do with it?"

"It makes her naturally lead a pattern life."—Baltimore American.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, July 22.—At the Montreal Stock Yards, West End Market, the receipts of live stock for the week ending July 20 were 1400 cattle, 1400 sheep and lambs, 1500 hogs and 600 calves. The supply on the market this morning for sale amounted to 600 cattle, 600 sheep and lambs, 1200 hogs and 500 calves.

There was no important change in the condition of the market for cattle to-day, except that the feeling was steadier than it has been of late, owing to the smaller offerings and the improved demand, owing to the cooler weather. Really choice steers were scarce. Demand on the whole was fairly good and an active trade was done. A few full loads of choice steers sold at $7.25, but the bulk of the trade was done in cattle at prices ranging from $5 to $6 per cwt. Common and inferior stock met with a slow sale.

Owing to the continued small supplies of hogs coming forward a much stronger feeling has developed in the market since last Wednesday and prices have scored a further advance of 25c to 50c per cwt. The demand from packers for supplies was keen as there is a scarcity of stock on spot and in consequence an active trade was done. Selected lots sold at $9 per cwt., weighed off the cars.

Small meats were about steady as the supply of such was not in excess of the requirements. The demand for lambs was good, but the trade in sheep and calves was only fair, as butchers in many cases had sufficient stock of the latter on hand for the present.

Butchers' cattle, choice, $7.25 to $7.50; medium, $5 to $6; common, $4.50 to $[illegible]; choice cows, $5.50 to $5.75; bulls, $3 to $4.25; milkers, choice, each, $75 to $80; common and medium, each, $50 to $70;

DESK FILE

It is a personal desk system. Keeps the details of your work always at your finger tips. It automatically reminds you of your appointments and engagements, it calls attention to collections due, prospective orders that need attention; it's a sort of mechanical memory—an automatic collector, salesman and correspondent. The Influence of Clothes.

He—Did you ever observe what a difference clothes make on one's mind? Now, when I am in my riding togs I'm all horse; when I have on my business suit my mind's full of business; when I get into my evening dress my mind takes a purely social turn.

She—And I suppose that when you take a bath your mind's an utter blank?

He Was Spurned.

"Believe me," said old Gotrox, "although I'm an old bachelor I'm sure I could learn to be a good husband. You know, a man is never too old to learn."

"Nor too old to yearn, perhaps," replied Miss Pechis; "also I'm sorry to say you're not too old to spurn."

Sickened of the Scalpel.

An extraordinary event led Lassone, physician to Louis XVI. of France, to abandon his anatomical studies. While selecting from among some dead bodies a suitable subject for dissection he imagined that one of them showed doubtful signs of death and sought to revive a life which was perhaps not extinguished. His efforts were crowned with success. He cured the man and as he was poor nourished and supported him, but the idea of having been on the point of committing a crime so affected Lassone that he felt himself unable to pursue his accustomed labors, and from that time forward he studied natural history and chemistry in place of anatomy.

Animal Ink.

Along the rocky shores of New England is much indelible ink. It is better than any that can be bought—a beautiful crimson in color and when applied to fabrics absolutely unchangeable. This ink is contained in little bottles put up by Nature herself, the receptacles in question being certain whelks, or sea snails, of the species known to science as Purpura lapillus. If the shell of one of these whelks be broken there will be found just under the skin of the back a slender whitish vein containing a yellow liquor. The latter when applied to linen with a small brush and exposed to the sun turns first green, then blue, then purple and finally a brilliant crimson. Nothing will wash it out.

An Ivory Mat.

Many people have never even heard of such a thing, and it is not to be wondered at, for these mats are exceedingly rare, and it is said by those who know that only three of these beautiful curiosities exist in the whole world. The one we now write about is the largest one made. It measures 6 by 4 feet and, though made in a small hill state in the north of India, has an almost Greek design for its border. It was only used on state occasions, when the rajah sat on it to sign important documents. The original cost of the mat is fabulous, for 6,400 pounds of ivory were used in its manufacture. The finest strips of ivory must have been taken off the tusks, as the mat is as flexible as a woven stuff and beautifully fine.—London Graphic.

How a Big Bridge Breathes.

A curious fact about all large steel bridges is that they are provided with "breathing apparatus," in the shape of rollers fitted under the feet where they rest on the land. This permits of a little to and fro motion, which occurs as a result of changes in temperature in winter and summer. A movement of more than a foot is allowed for, for instance, in the great Forth Bridge. Sometimes the rollers are immersed in a trough of oil to prevent them from rusting, so that they will answer most sensitively to the slightest change of temperature.

East Indian Magic.

A traveler tells a story of Indian magic. The juggler was a Malay, who stroked with his fingers the blade of a long knife or creese. The observer saw water fall drop by drop from the blade, which became flaccid, like a strip of india rubber. Thrown on the ground, it bounced about, but was a knife blade again when lifted by the juggler. An examination showed that there was no water on the mat on which the observer saw the drops falling.

Mr. Wm. Flavelle, of Lindsay, has an idea that a milk evaporating plant would be a good thing for the farmers of Victoria and incidentally for the owners of the plant. He explained the proposition to a number in Bobcaygeon on Saturday last. The milk would be delivered at the railway station and conveyed to Lindsay in a refrigerator car. The plant would require 40,000 lbs. of milk daily.

The attention of Mr. Burnham having been called to the poor condition of the canoe slide on the dam below the Little Lake, he recommended that a new slide be constructed. This will be done at once, so that canoes and skiffs may be transferred without trouble or risk. This will be a great boon to the owners of small crafts on the Little Lake and below it.

YOUNG REPUBLIC.

English Experiment to Be Made With Bad Boys.

The founding in England of a self-governing community for refractory boys and girls, on the lines of the George Junior Republic was discussed recently at Sunderland House, London, placed at the disposal of the promoters of the scheme by the Duches of Marlborough.

Earl Grey presided, and among the audience were the Dowager Countess of Dunmore, the Countess of Cromer, Lady Meyer, the Earl of Sandwich, and Admiral Hon. Victor Montagu.

It is the intention of a group of philanthropists to revolutionize the present reformatory system and to give delinquent boys and girls the chance of developing into desirable citizens.

The worse the boy the better pleased will be his rescuers, and the super-scallywag will be put in a position of supreme authority in the juvenile republic.

He will be president, and will himself select the cabinet and legal ministers by whom the republic will be governed.

Girls will not be tied down to housework, but will have opportunities of learning suitable trades.

The Earl of Sandwich has granted a a farm, rent free, in Dorsetshire, where it is hoped that a colony of ten pioneers will set up a self-governing community next October.

"We want to introduce the element of responsibility into the life of these reformatory children," said George Montagu, chairman of the committee. "That is the only method by which bad boys may be turned into good citizens.

"Loyal citizens working for their daily wage will have no sympathy with shirkers, and the lawless newcomer soon learn the truth of the maxim, 'If any will not work, neither shall he eat.'

"We hope that the existing farmhouse, which we have called Flowers Farm, will become the nucleus of a small village.

"The Home Office is already interested, and all we need now is financial support. A capital sum of $60,000 is required, and the upkeep will cost from $15,000 to $20,000 a year."

English Boy Scouts.

Each year sees new development in the organization of the boy scouts In England, where the movement was originated and where it has a marked military aspect, wireless telegraph and signals corps have been formed among youngsters who, if conditions of a few years ago prevailed, would probably be members of juvenile gangs of a more or less mischievous character. As yet only one troop has a wireless installation; it is the Second Eltham association, which owes its equipment to the generosity of Sir Harry North. The boys meet twice a week for instruction and practice, have built their own "aerials" and can erect their installation anywhere. They also have a heliograph section.

Literary Consuls.

Great Britain has had several literary consuls. Charles Lever, the Irish novelist, for instance, was British consul at Spezzia and Triest during the last fifteen years of his life and was succeeded at Trieste in 1872 by Sir Richard Burton, the traveler, who wrote many of his best books there, including his translation of the "Arabian Nights," and died there in 1890. And one must not forget that most prolific but nearly forgotten writer, G. P. R. James, who turned out his three novels a year for about forty years, was British consul at Norfolk, Va. and died as consul general at Venice in 1860.—London Graphic

Origin of Texts.

The custom of taking a text as the basis of a sermon originated with Ezra, who, accompanied by several Levites in a public congregation of men and women, ascended a pulpit, opened the book of the law and, after a prayer, "read in the book in the law of God distinctly and gave the sense and caused them to understand the reading." Previous to the time of Ezra the patriarchs delivered in public assemblies either prophecies or moral instructions, and it was not until the return of the Jews from the Babylonish captivity, during which they had almost lost the language in which the Pentateuch was written, that it became necessary to explain as well as to read the Scriptures to them.

A Norway Legend.

According to a work on Norway, the scantiness of the soil in that country is explained by some of the country people as follows: At the creation of the world the angels whose duty it was to scatter the soil forgot Norway. Seeing this, the guardian angel of the land made complaints to the Creator. What was to be done? Impossible to start the whole of creation for the sake of Norway. "Come, my little angels," said he; "look carefully and perhaps you may still find a little earth." The conscience stricken angels swept the floor of heaven, and the little dust they found they gathered in their draperies and scattered over the Norwegian rocks.

Stops a Cough IN ONE NIGHT

CATARRH AND WEAK THROAT NOW CURED WITHOUT SWALLOWING DANGEROUS DRUGS

By Breathing the Soothing, Healing Vapor of Catarrhozone All Throat and Catarrhal Trouble is Quickly Cured.

It's simply wonderful to think how quickly a bad throat or Catarrh can be cured with Catarrhozone. Its rich balsamic vapor is carried along with the breath into the innermost recesses of the lungs, bronchial tubes and chest, making it impossible for the germ of any disease to live. Thus soreness in the chest is at once alleviated—phlegm is loosened and ejected from the throat, old-standing coughs are removed.

"I suffered from an irritable, weak throat for three years. I had a severe cough, pain over the eyes, constant bad taste in my mouth, and noises in my ears. It was chronic catarrh. Nothing gave me permanent relief till I used Catarrhozone. In one hour it relieved, and in a few weeks drove all trace of Catarrh from my system.

"TIMOTHEUS A. SALMON.,
"No. 6 Lopez street, Kingston, Ja."

REMEMBER THIS—you breathe Catarrhozone and it will cure any throat, chest or bronchial cold. Large size, guaranteed, costs $1.00, and lasts two months; smaller sizes, 25c and 50c. Beware of imitations and insist on "CATARRHOZONE" only. By mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

Women Trespassers Fought.

When the owner of a berry patch, in which some women were picking berries without permission demanded one-half of the stolen fruit, the women, determined to keep the luscious product of their labor, badly mauled the man, tearing his clothes. Spread Rails Cause Trouble.

On Saturday afternoon the weekend train between Toronto and Bobcaygeon met with a mishap, thought to have been caused by spread rails, between Burketon and Nestleton, which fortunately was not attended with any serious results to passengers and crew. The soft ground at the place of the accident prevented the telescoping of the cars, and saved the lives of a number of passengers.

A Narrow Escape.

Two motorists from Detrout had a narrow escape from death in Mariposa township on Sunday when, in speeding their large touring car along the country road it skidded and turned over several times. The occupants of the car were only bruised, and are fortunate in having an almost miraculous escape from serious injury. The car, which was travelling 40 mile an hour at the time of the accident, was smashed almost beyond repair.

Laid at Rest.

A large number of friends attended the funeral of Mrs. John Kylie, which took place yesterday morning from 464 Charlotte street to Peter's Cathedral, where requiem high mass was sung, Rev. Father Ferguson officiating. The pallbearers were Messrs. Richard Kylie, John O'Reilly and J. W. Diamond of Lindsay, Mr. Jas. Kylie, of Hiawatha, and Messrs. Martin and Denis Kylie of this city. Among the floral contributions was a wreath from The Times Co., where Mr. James Kylie is employed.

The Only Possible Solution.

In last night's Examiner an attempt is made to discredit the member for West Peterborough on account of separating the offices of Inspector of Weights and Measures and local Immigration Officer. Our contemporary must indeed have a very short memory. If we mistake not, it was the Examiner which found fault with the unsatisfactory condition of affairs in the local Immigration office, due to the absence of the officer on account of his other duties of Inspector of Weights and Measures. The Government did the only thing possible under the circumstances, by separating the offices. We fear it will be impossible for Mr. Burnham or anyone else to please our contemporary until the wound of September 21st is healed.

Mr. Smiff Explains.

A correspondent of the Bobcaygeon Independent wishes an explanation of the letters R.S.V.P. used on invitations. Have they anything to do with dress? They have not. It might be supposed that they suggest the wearing of Red Slippers and Velvet Pants, but such is not the case, they have nothing to do with slippers or with pants. They are the initial letters of the French words Respondez s'il vous plait, which means Reply if you please. It is generally convenient for a person who is issuing invitations to know how many to expect and have to be provided for. The party receiving such an invitation is expected to reply without fail, definitely whether the invite is accepted or not. It would perhaps be better in plain common English were used, and the party inviting used the term Please reply, but there is an idea that the use of French words gives tone and distinction, that they are more Comme il faut, so to speak just as Bouillon looks swell on a bill of fare, when hash would put the bill of fare on the rough. Comprenez. In other words, Do you tumble.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

PRINCE RUPERT LAND A SURE INVESTMENT

A splendid opportunity for both the large and small investor is explained fully in an advertisement on another page of this issue. It is a chance to obtain shares in a company that is being formed to handle Prince Rupert real estate. Of all the Western land, Prince Rupert is one of the finest for investment purposes. It is the terminal of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, and gives promise of a rapid increase in land values. This will result in early dividends, and a rise in the value of the company's shares. Lucas & Company have received a number of inquiries from this section of the country and many Ontario investors are wisely putting their money into the company.

LOST TO BRANTFORD RED SOX TOOK 14 HITS

In a well-played game yesterday, the Brantford boys walloped out 14 safeties and secured 10 runs, holding Peterborough to five hits and one run. The local boys exhibited a good deal of pepper, but the pitching was weak and they could not get out of the hole.

Dubby Shea played good ball on first and the two former London boys Brant and Nichols showed some classy work in the infield. The Petes lost by failing to hit in the pinches and in pitching. Their fielding both yesterday and the day before was clean and snappy.

HOW TO ABSORB AN UNLOVELY COMPLEXION

(Phyllis Moore in Town Talk.)

The face which is admired for its beauty must have a satin-smooth skin, pink and white and youthful looking. The only thing I know of that can make such a complexion out of an aged, faded, or discolored one—I mean a natural, not a painted, complexion—is ordinary mercolized wax. This remarkable substance really absorbs the unsightly cuticle, a little each day, the clear, healthy, girlish skin beneath gradually peeping out until within a week or so it is wholly in evidence. Of course such blemishes as freckles, moth patches, liver spots, blotches, and pimples are discarded with the old skin. If you will procure an ounce of mercolized wax at the drug store, use like cold cream every night, washing off in the mornings, you'll find it a veritable wonder-worker.

Another valuable natural treatment is a wash lotion to remove wrinkles which can be easily prepared. Dissolve 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel. Bathe the face in this and you'll find it works like magic.

NO SPECIAL SESSION FOR A NAVAL APPROPRIATION

More Probable That the House Would Not be Called Until January Said a Cabinet Minister--An Emergency Bill Next Session

Ottawa, July 24.—The story that there would be a special session of the House called in October to pass an emergency naval appropriation, is not regarded seriously in Ottawa, and is described by the Cabinet Ministers who are in the city as the dog-day imaginings of a Liberal newspaper correspondent.

One Cabinet Minister told a correspondent that instead of a special session, it was more probable that the House would not be called until January. However, it is likely that Parliament will be summoned as usual in November, so that to go to all the extra expense of a special session in October is regarded as ridiculous. There will be no announcement as to the Government's naval policy until after the return of the Premier, and it has been decided upon by the Cabinet. In the meantime no one in Ottawa pretended to know what policy will be decided, although there is plenty of gossip.

It is the general feeling that this next session there will be an emergency bill, while the main naval measure will be postponed for another year for more mature consideration. The elections would be held after the session of 1913-14, and the naval bill will be part of the Government programme submitted to the people for approval.

SHIP BUILDING IS LIVELY IN ENGLAND JUST NOW

London, July 24.—Bearing upon the prosperous condition of the shipping trade are the quarterly returns of "Lloyd's register of shipping."

The figures constitute an absolute record in the history of shipping construction. On June 30 there were excluding warships, no less than 529 vessels of about 1,774,000 tons gross under construction. This number includes 492 steam vessels of 1,762,000 tons and 37 sailing vessels of 11,000 tons. The total shows an increase of 87,000 tons on the preceding quarter and 298,000 tons as compared with a year ago. It is, perhaps, less satisfactory that warships under construction also constitute a record at 503,000 tons, against previous highest of 454,100 tons in 1900.

At the present time there is little doubt that freight rates are high and generally rising. At the same time if the present rate of output of new ships is maintained some effect will be produced on competitive routes.

RUSH WORK ON GERMAN FLEET CAUSES ANXIETY

New Third Squadron of Eight Battleships Ready in Fall of 1914, and More to Follow

Berlin, July 24.—Such progress has been made with the strengthening of the German navy, voted almost unanimously during this year's session of the Reichstag, that it now officially announced that the new third squadron of eight battleships will be commissioned by the Autumn of 1914, far earlier than had been thought possible. This will bring the active battle fleet up to 25 battleships in full commission.

Crews for the four battleships of the reserve squadron, which according to the same law, are to be kept in full readiness for sea at all times, will not be available probably for two or three years after that the alarmists in the British press and Parliament are premature in assuming the presence at sea of 29 fully manned German battleships in the Autumn of 1913.

No New Navy Bill.

This increase in the German fleet according to the statement of a responsible German diplomat, is solely due to the provocative contained in the speech of the British Minister David Lloyd George, delivered at the height of the Morocco crisis in 1911. Commenting on the more conciliatory utterances of Mr. Lloyd George at the Mansion House banquet this year and on Sir Edward Grey's reference to the improvement in Anglo German relations the official stated that, had it not been for Mr. Lloyd George's declarations, there would have been no new German navy bill this year.

Increase in Meat More Than Both.

The extra expenditures entailed by the army and navy bills are contemplated cheerfully by the average German, who finds much more to worry him financially in the increased cost of living, the increase in the price of meat during the past ten years alone costing him more each year than his total annual contribution to the maintenance of the army and navy.

Five Dollars Each Per Year More.

While the total charges for the army and navy, including this year's increases, is less than $5 per head per year, a German economist, Dr. George Goldstein, has computed that each Berliner will pay 21 marks (or approximately $5) more for meat this year than he would have paid ten years ago, for the normal family of five or six this represents an extra decline on the family exchequer of $25.00 or $30.00. Dr. Goldstein arrived at his figures by taking the total dressed weight of cattle, sheep swine, etc., slaughtered for Berlin consumption annually and multiplying this by the increase in the retail price per pound and showing by the official statistics over the average price ten years ago. For greater Berlin the total extra cost is about $18,000,000 per annum.

PROFIT-YIELDING INVESTMENT OFFERED

There appears on another page of this issue an advertisement for Canada Moving Pictures, Limited, which is worthy of investigation by all who could be benefitted by a prompt-yielding investment. The company is being organized to control a number of playhouses. Already they have one whose earnings for last year averaged $300, a year, and they are determined to procure none but successful moving picture houses. This will assure a monthly dividend and safeguard the interests of the stockholders.

The moving picture business is one of the most profitable in America, and in the organization of this company the smallest, as well as the largest investors have an opportunity of sharing in the profits.

BUFFALO CHILDREN DIE OF PARALYSIS

An Epidemic of Dread Disease Has Broken Out in Small Area—28 Cases Are Reported.

Buffalo, N.Y., July 24.—An epidemic of infantile paralysis exists in Buffalo. Twenty-eight cases are known to the city Health Department, which is four times the number for the entire State last year. Three deaths have occurred here since the recent discovery of the sickness and more cases are likely to be fatal.

Twenty-five of the cases were found in a comparatively small area.

Children who catch this disease are fairly certain to be crippled by it for life, if they do not die.

I remember, I remember, the house where I was born,
But my dear old sainted mother never spoke to me of corn,
Or of Toasties, known so well to fame, that scientific food,
I fear that in my early days, our life was very crude.

CHARLES R. CRANE

CHAMP CLARK AND GOVERNOR WILSON SHAKING HANDS AFTER CONFERENCE AT SEA GIRT

Governor Wilson and Speaker Clark met on the lawn in front of the Little White House at Sea Girt, N. J., for the first time since their historic battle for the Presidential nomination.

The Speaker visited the Governor in conformity to the rule of the political game which prescribes that the defeated candidate must lay aside any disappointment he may feel and help the party by aiding his successful rival.

Charles Van Hise, president of the University of Wisconsin, and Charles R. Crane, of Chicago, who was one of the original La Follette boomers, were among the other prominent callers.

BORDEN MAKING HISTORY

The despatches from London indicate clearly that Premier Borden has risen to the occasion. This is clear from the speeches of Mr. Asquith and Mr. Church in the Imperial House on the naval question. In the words of the First Lord of the Admiralty the emergency aid which the Dominion will extend to the Empire will not be delayed, and will not be unworthy the dignity and power of Canada. The other outlying Dominions already show signs of following Mr. Borden's lead and, as Mr. Churchill has said, a united Empire means the safety of the Empire and probably also the peace of the world. The organization of a permanent scheme of Canadian participation in Imperial defence is quite a distinct branch of the problem, and in connection therewith Mr. Borden's request for a voice in the settlement of the Empire's foreign policy has already borne fruit. Mr. Borden is certainly making history.

AN EARTHQUAKE

Guayaquil, Ecuador, July 24.—The heaviest shock of earthquake felt for many years occurred here this morning at 7 o'clock. It caused a great panic among the inhabitants of the city, most of whom left their homes and rushed to the open spaces. No material damage has yet been reported.

THE PRINTERS' PICNIC.

There will be something doing every minute at Jubilee Point on Saturday, August 3, when the Printers will put on a good program of sports. A good time is assured all. Get your tickets from any printer. A grand drawing competition is one of the great features of the day.

PREMIER ASQUITH NEEDED A GUARD

Three Detectives Accompanied Him to the Charteris-Tennant Wedding.

New York, July 24.—A cable to the Tribune from London says:

The Suffragettes have become so keen after Premier Asquith that he does not dare even to go to a wedding without a guard. The Premier was attended by three detectives when he attended the marriage yesterday of the Hon. Guy Charteris, second son of Lord and Lady Elcho, and Miss Frances Lucy Tennant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Tennant, and a niece of Lord Glenconnor and Mrs. Asquith, at St. Margaret's, Westminster.

The bride had twelve bridesmaids, and a distinguished company, witnessed the ceremony.

THE WEATHER.

To-day's probabilities: Easterly winds; showery, with local thunderstorms.

NAVY SPEECHES A LANDMARK IN THE HISTORY OF THE WORLD

London, July 24.—Lord Selborne, speaking in the Lords anent the Asquith and Churchill naval speeches, said "I've no hesitation in saying that their utterances concerning the Dominions form a landmark in the history of the world. I don't for a moment grudge that it has fallen to the lot of political opponents to be in office when the time came to say those words, because they are sentiments in which we share to the full. There is nothing we would rejoice in more than to have the whole question of Imperial unity removed from party politics, as we hope the question of the navy may be."

Apropos of the French visit of the Canadian Ministers, the Mail declares that anything tending to improve relations between Canada and France is a gain to the Empire. The visit will emphasize the fact that Britain and France long since ceased to be divided. French-Canadians must see that in strengthening the defences of the Empire they are also pledging France's security.

185 YEARS OLD.

Manzanillo, Mex., July 24.—An official investigation into the claim that Jose Calavario who died a few days ago at Tuxpan, was 185 years old has been made, and it has been announced that it was fully announced by Church records that he was born in 1727.

During a period of more than 75 years before his death he was known where he lived as "the oldest man in the world."

PREMIER BORDEN SEES A REAL DOG OF WAR.

FACTION PLEASING SHOULD NOW CEASE IN THIS COUNTRY

Winnipeg Tribune, Conservative Organ, Says Time Has Come For United Action--Germany The Common Enemy

Winnipeg, Man., July 24.—The Winnipeg Tribune says: "Those who have been proclaiming and hoping that the shores of Britain were not in danger of attack must stop and reflect on the significance of the announcement of the British Cabinet made through Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill. Safety lies in absolute preparedness and Britain is now preparing.

"Our Premier has said: 'The day is too late for preparation.' The people of Canada has said that for years. It is gratifying to know that legislatures are coming around to the people's way of thinking. The Canadian public will await with patience the result of the deliberations at Ottawa, remembering what Mr. Borden has said, which interpreted by him doubtless means that procrastination and policy shaping to please this or that faction must cease and that the time has come to reciprocate and do what is necessary at once in order to strengthen the defences at the seat of the Empire.

"Close relationship between France and Britain must have the effect of educating the disturbing Quebec faction to see that it is profitable, as well as patriotic, to assist in defence against a country that is now placed in the light of being a common enemy Britain and France. Whatever is done by Canada let us hope it will not become an issue in party politics. The news should go forth to the world that Canada is a unit without cavil on the question of standing shoulder to shoulder with the mother nation of the Empire."

LLOYD GEORGE MAY RESIGN TO LEAD LAND CAMPAIGN

London, July 24.—Discussing the present situation in the Liberal party. The Times says the question of moment in political circles is whether Mr. Lloyd George will resign his office and conduct a political land campaign. It goes on: Mr. Lloyd George has appointed a committee on land policy with the sanction of Mr. Asquith. The body of land reformers in the Liberal party has been running to an extreme land tax policy at the bye-election in the country with some success. Whether the country is or is not ripe for such a policy, the Liberal party, as a whole, is not ripe for it, but if the electorate can be captured by a political land campaign, there are many Liberals who believe they can win the next general election, and Mr. Lloyd George is marked out as the protagonist.

"To conduct this campaign with freedom, Mr. Lloyd George would have to resign his office. The question of the moment in political circles is whether the Chancellor will take the plunge."

BRITAIN WANTS FRANCE TO INCREASE HER NAVAL STRENGTH

And Follow England's Example in Order to Preserve Naval Equilibrium

Paris, July 24.—That the world is not yet on the eve of the cessation of the struggle between Great Britain and Germany for naval supremacy is the prevalent opinion in France after careful study of the recent speech by Winston Spencer Churchill in the House of Commons. The continuation of the rivalry between those two countries causes a note of regret here, but there is an inclination to believe that if it must go on France should learn a lesson from England's procedure and herself increase her navy.

The Matin commenting on the subject says it is in a position to declare that Italy, Austria at the instigation of Germany are about to build additional super-Dreadnoughts in regard to which nothing has been permitted to transpire. Italy is to construct six of these vessels, each of 20,000 tons displacement and capable of steaming at a speed of 25 knots while Austria is to build three each of that displacement.

The newspaper continues: The fulfilment of this programme will destroy the present naval equilibrium in the Mediterranean and give a big advantage to the Triple Alliance.

C.P.R. IS OPERATING LINE OF AUTO OMNIBUSES IN AUSTRIA

New York, July 24.—A cable from Vienna says: The Canadian Pacific Railway has extended its activities to Austria.

Besides arranging to run a regular service of observation cars in connection with the express trains of the Austrian State Railways, the Vienna headquarters of the company has begun a service of auto omnibuses for regular excursions in the neighborhood of Vienna.

The observation car service will open on August 19. Some seventy American and English journalists, managers of travel bureaus in London, Paris, Berlin, etc., and prominent railroad men will, it is expected, take part in the first tour, which will be from Vienna to Salzburg, Ischl, and Trieste. The guests will be entertained by the municipalities of Vienna, Vilch and Trieste.

The Hungarian Minister of Commerce and Railways has entered into negotiations with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company for the establishment of a similar train service on several lines of the Hungarian Railroad System, mainly to the Tatra mountains and Transylvania.

BRITAIN TO FORBID DISASTROUS STRIKES

Government Will Pass Legislation to Check Them--Affecting Commercial Supremacy

London, July 24.—The Government has decided to deal with the problem of labor disputes by legislation. Chancellor Lloyd George, in the course of the debate in the House of Commons last night, on the dockers' strike, said the labor disputes were becoming more and more serious, and were more and more challenging British Commercial supremacy. The time had come, said Mr. George, to reconsider the whole problem and the Government proposed to deal with it by some form of legislation in the immediate future.

His hearers inferred that the Chancellor meant that some form of compulsory arbitration was intended.

This is likely to bring the Government into conflict with the Labor members of parliament, who are part of the bloc and who will wholly oppose any such movement.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly; Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address AM. PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 388 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

Preference Shares are preferential both as to assets and cumulative dividends at the rate of 7 p.c. per annum, also participate in dividends after 7 p.c. has been paid on common stock.

The average net profits of the Cafeterias, Limited, on King street, for the month of May, as shown by the report of the auditor, John I. Sutcliffe, C.A., amounted to over 30 p.c. on the entire issue of stock. A complete auditor's statement of the finances of Cafeterias, Limited, up to the end of May, may be seen at the offices of Messrs. Fleming & Marvin, Lumsden Building. This statement shows the monthly profits.

About $50,000.00 will be required to put the new Yonge street Cafeteria on a running basis. Of this amount about fifteen or twenty thousand dollars will be required to complete the interior finish, and make this restaurant one of the finest cafeterias in America. The balance will be required for outfitting the restaurant and providing a certain amount of working capital. The new restaurant will have a dining room of the large dimensions of 7,000 square feet on the ground floor, and will also have spacious additions for other purposes of the business.

Cafeterias, Limited, has found in the running of its business on King street that it has eclipsed the old style of waitress-serving restaurants, which is a great saving of labor and expense, and that the new restaurant is the best system of meeting the demands of the public for quick service, consistent with quality and efficiency of service.

We have opened subscription books for sale at par ($10.00) $50,000.00 fully paid shares of the above-mentioned 7 p.c. cumulative preference participating stock, carrying a bonus of 25 p.c. of the amount of the preference shares in common stock.

Payments as follows:

25% per share with subscription;
and 75% per share on allotment.

Subscription books are now open at our offices, and the right is reserved to allot only such subscriptions and for such amounts as may be approved, and to close the subscription without notice.

Subscriptions may be forwarded by mail or by telegram at our expense.

HOW TO USE KITCHENETTE.

Hints on Wasteless Buying and Oderless Cooking.

The kitchenette housekeeper has problems to meet that do not confront the woman with a full fledged kitchen. Without an inch of superfluous room it takes care and skill to become proficient in wasteless buying, odorless cooking and easy serving.

The beginner will do well to shop here and there until she finds a marketman with an eye to her interests as well as his own. If he realizes that she is to be a regular customer he will give her many a valuable hint. He will pick out a bunch of asparagus that will cook in the shortest time and may be eaten to the last scrap as against her choice of showy white stalk and meager tip. He will gently dissuade her from fresh spinach, which is so great in bulk as to cause her embarrassment in her cramped quarters, and recommend young carrots or string beans instead

So taught, the miniature housekeeper will soon know where to find the tightly headed hearts of lettuce and the trim white bunches of celery, both devoid of waste. She will learn that an extra thick beefsteak is the kitchenette's substitute for roast beef, at a minimum of expense and without an ounce of waste.

Wasteless buying must be one of her aims in life. She must learn to be mistress of the art of concentration in every detail of her housekeeping. With a little practice she will soon learn what and how much to buy, she will discover how to get the most out of her small gas stove, and she will learn the secret of cooking things in small pieces, so that they will leave no objectionable odor. Onions may be quartered and cabbage cut fine, as for cold slaw, before boiling. Cauliflower may be divided into florets and quickly boiled until tender. Any of these, covered with a cream sauce and turned into a buttered baking dish, may be tucked out of sight in the oven, hot and ready to serve at the right time. With a little practice in timing the cooking process the cooking odor problem may be reduced to a minimum.

It's all a matter of taste. If you prefer a rich, old, creamy ale—that proves its quality by its delightful flavor—just try "Gold Label."

THE SOUTH AMERICAN ATROCITIES.

According to the report of Sir Roger Casement, British Consul at Rio de Janeiro since 1909, the atrocities in connection with the rubber trade on the Amazon equal even those of the Congo. Rumors to this effect have reached the British Government, and Sir Roger was sent to the Amazon district to make a personal investigation. His report confirms all that had been said, The territory of Putuwayo, where the outrages occurred, lies on the north bank of the upper Amazon, and is supposed to belong to Peru, but Colombia and Ecuador have also asserted claims to ownership. In this district of Putuwayo dwell a number of Indian tribes, and the white man has had no reason to complain of evil treatment on their part. But, in 1896 the firm of Arana Bros appeared on the scene in search of rubber, and from that time to the present the story seems to have been one of unspeakable cruelty. Of late a British company, the Peruvian Amazon Co., have been handling the rubber trade in the district, and three of its representatives accompanied Sir Roger Casement on his tour of investigation. The story which Sir Roger fiendish cruelty, and most exemplary tells is one of wanton killing and punishment should be meted out to the parties. It matters little whether Peru or Colombia attend to the matter, but the civilized world will demand that such a blot upon civilization be promptly erased. If neither of these countries feels disposed to act, then either Great Britain or the United States should see to it that the outrages cease and that the guilty are punished.

PROUD OF THEIR WORK.

A campaign has been inaugurated by the Grand Trunk Railway to secure 18,000 farmers for Western Canada, and agents are working in the agricultural districts all through the province with considerable success since, up to the present time. No fewer than 8,500 farmers and homeseekers have left Toronto in special excursion trains via the G.T.R. A peculiar feature of this campaign is the fact that neither the Grand Trunk nor the Grand Trunk Pacific owns any farm lands in the West. Such real estate holdings as they possess are townsite properties that have already been subdivided and a well known passenger official is authority for the statement that in no case have farmers been influenced to settle in any particular section of the country. This was proved by the tickets which were made out to destinations throughout the three prairie provinces, although a slight preference in favor of the Peace River district was evident. "The excursionists," observed the official, "are of an exceptionally good class. Our men have picked the very best, and we are decidedly proud of their work. In every case they are well-to-do agriculturists, and I do not know of one of these passengers who has carried with him less than $500 in cash when he boarded the train, while the majority have a great deal more than this. They are, in fact, the cream of the farming population of Ontario." Although it is admitted by the railway that all the excursionists will not settle permanently in the west, it is estimated that fully two-thirds of them will take up land. Of those that have already left, none have returned so far and reports from the various western offices of the G.T.P. show that practically all have secured farms.

Natural Cure for Catarrh Obviates Taking Drugs

It Has Superseded the Old-Fashioned Stomach-dosing Remedies, and Invariably Cures Quickly.

It was their inability to reach the real source of catarrh and bronchitis that caused the medical profession to drop liquid cough medicines and adopt "Catarrhozone" instead. Catarrhozone provides a method of breathing right into the lungs certain rare medicinal vapors which are so healing and comforting as to entirely banish coughs, catarrh and throat trouble in a very short time.

The most wonderful thing about Catarrhozone is that no matter where the germs of bronchitis or catarrh are hidden, Catarrhozone will reach and destroy them.

"About five years ago I took a cold in the head and Catarrh set in. It kept increasing by leaps and bounds I kept putting off getting anything until at last I found I would have to. After trying several things I heard of your remedy, Catarrhozone and procured a bottle and began using it. I was not long in finding out I had struck the right thing. I am recommending Catarrhozone to all who have catarrh, etc.

"(Signed) Everton L. Wassan,
Blair P. O., Queen's Co., N.B.

Catarrhozone has made an astonishing record of cures. Its method is right; no drugs; just healing balsamic vapors, that bring instant relief to Catarrh and all throat, bronchial and chest colds. Get the large size, last two months, is sure to cure you, price $1.00; smaller size, 50c; sample or trial size, 25c. All dealers, or the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N.Y. and Kingston, Ont.

FIRST ANIMAL HOSPITAL.

It Was Established in the Orient Over Two Thousand Years Ago.

One must go to the orient and look back more than 2,000 years to find the first animal hospital known.

The famous Buddhist emperor of India, Asoka, whose long reign from 264 to 227 B. C. abounded in many good works, was probably the earliest to establish a hospital for the treatment of animals, says Our Dumb Animals. Asoka was a true humanitarian as well as a most powerful sovereign and, although ruling a vast domain, became deeply impressed by the horrors of warfare.

He gave up his desire for conquest, and the rock inscriptions, which are still extant, record such beneficent edicts of his as the counseling of planting shade trees, the digging of wells, sending out of missionaries, appointment of special officers to supervise charities, the establishing of hospitals for humankind and animals.

It is of interest to know that the last remaining of Asoka's hospitals was devoted to animals. It covered twenty-five acres and was divided into proper wards and courts for the accommodation of the patients. When an animal was sick or injured its master had only to bring it to the hospital, where it was cared for without regard to the caste of its owner and where, if necessary, it found an asylum in old age.

Where Name Spa Originated.

Perhaps few people know that the term "spa" as applied to a watering place originated with the resort of that name in Belgium, which a hundred years ago was one of the best known resorts in Europe. Its vogue has continued to a great extent up to the present time, though the high play that once made it famous is not now allowed by the Belgian government. They call it the "pearl of the Ardennes," and its name is merited, situated as it is in one of the most charming valleys of that range with a most beautiful country surrounding it. Nothing could exceed the beauty of the walks and drives in the height of summer, for the well tended parks and gardens of Belgium are famous, and the whole country is dotted with beautiful country houses.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the ig profits now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

THE PHONOGRAPH.

Its Invention Was the Result of a Cut on the Finger.

An accident—a cut on the finger—caused Edison to invent the phonograph or talking machine.

Mr. Edison told the story of this invention to a reporter. At the time, he said, he was singing into a telephone, and in the telephone's mouthpiece he had placed, for safe keeping, a fine steel point. Suddenly this point cut his finger. He found, to his surprise, that it had been moving here and there and roundabout, guided by the vibrations of his voice.

He placed a strip of yellow paper under the steel point, replaced it in the mouthpiece and said the alphabet. The steel while he spoke ran over the paper, and for each letter of the alphabet it made a different mark or scratch.

This was what Mr. Edison had hoped for. He now held the steel point still and drew the paper scratches slowly over it. There was given forth, very faintly, the alphabet as he had repeated it.

Thus the principle of the phonograph—the registering and the reproduction of the voice's vibrations—was discovered through the cutting of a finger. It was Edison's finger, though, that was cut. Smith's or Brown's might have been quite hacked off and no phonograph would have resulted.

ARTIFICE OF AN ARTIST.

The late Mr. Horsley, R. A., has recorded that at one time he studied almost daily one of Turner's finest water colors, called "The Snowdon Range," admiring especially the tender warmth of the light clouds encircling the moon. He tried all sorts of glasses to see if he could discover how the particular glow was gained, but without success.

Chance revealed the secret. The picture began to buckle from its mount, and its owner, Sir Seymour Haden, put it into the hands of a noted expert to be remounted. When he had successfully removed it from its old mount the expert sent for the owner to show him what he had discovered. A circle of orange vermilion had been plastered on the back with an ivory palette knife where the artist wanted the effect and then worked off sufficiently far through the pores of the previously wetted paper to give the show of color, while retaining the smooth surface, without a trace of workmanship on the right side.

This may have led Mr. Horsley himself to use, as he did, brilliant orange as the foundation for a white muslin dress.

Walking Canes.

From the time when man wandered through the pathless forests bearing on his shoulder a murderous bludgeon with which to strike down his enemies the cane has never entirely gone out of fashion. The modern exquisite would feel as much at sea without it as did the beau of whom Steele's Tatler spoke in 1709, when it said that the cane had "become as indispensable as any other of his limbs" and that with "the knocking of it upon his shoe, leaning one leg upon it or whistling upon with his mouth he does not know how he should be good company without it." It may be flattering to the vanity of such a one to know that the grotesque and arabesque heads that he delights in displaying on his walking stick are lineal descendants of the carved baton that the fools and jesters of the middle ages wielded.

A Cheerful Reason.

A French governor of the south Pacific colony of New Caledonia assumed his authority while the natives of New Caledonia were still cannibals. There had been rumors of an insurrection, and the admiral called before him a native chief, who was faithful to the French cause, and questioned him as to their truth.

"You may be sure," said the native, "that there will be no war at present, because the yams are yet far from being ripe."

"The yams, you say?"

"Yes. Our people never make war except when the yams are ripe."

"Why is that?"

"Because baked yams go so very well with the captives."

THE UNDERWORLD.

The Well Off Know Little of the Misery That Exists In London.

Thomas Holmes has written a book entitled "London's Underworld"—a strange, enthralling and even horrible tale, yet one which holds the mirror up so true to nature that it is fascinating in the extreme.

"One half the world," it is said, "never knows how the other half lives." It may have been true before the age of cheap books and newspapers, but it cannot be wholly true to-day. One half knows something of the doings of the other half through the medium of the printed word, but at best books are but the reflected knowledge of others.

The author of "London's Underworld"—is perfectly frank about it. Most writers on sociology are obsessed with the great idea of reforming the "submerged." Not so Mr. Holmes. He faces the facts of life. He does not make the mistake of supposing that the flotsam and jetsam of London society wants to be reformed, or that men in which are called the higher walks of life have a right to assume that their methods of living are the best for "all sorts and conditions of men."

Twenty years of personal contact in his capacity as a police court missionary with what are called the degraded ranks of society have taught Mr. Holmes that we cannot standardise men.

Across the pages of this fascinating book comes a collection of the strangest life stories one can read. The characters amused police court spectators and lightened the pages of the newspapers. Here is the famous chess player who made frequent appearances in the courts, and was handed over to Mr. Holmes with the idea of helping him on a better road of life.

"My dear Holmes," he would say, "Why do you break your heart about me? Let me alone, let us be friends, you are what you are because you can't help it; you can't be anything else if you tried. I am what I am for the same reason. You get your happiness, I get mine. Do me a good turn when you can, but don't reason with me; let us enjoy each other's company and take [illegible]

[illegible] This is the philosophy of an the tribe. The end is premature death in a garret, suicide or starvation in the street. The end is certain; it is only a matter of time, and the victim is perhaps the one who least regrets his failure.

They come to Mr. Holmes as he writes his stories of them, "the unspeakably degraded person smoking cigarettes, his absence of shirt hidden by a rusty cassock, lolls in my easy chair; my burglar friend who had done forty years and was still asking for more, they are all around me. And my dipsomaniac friends have come too; I hear them talking and arguing, when a strident voice calls out No arguing No arguing! Argument spoils everything!' and Jane stops the talk of others by occupying the platform herself and recites a chapter from the book of Job."

But the "Song of the Shirt" is written over again in these pages; flesh and blood are apparently as cheap as they were when Hood wrote his immortal verse; the world of grinding poverty goes round as it did then.

In London, Mr. Holmes tells us [illegible] at least [illegible] women whose earnings do not exceed three halfpence an hour.

The funeral of one child is only a pageant for others. Here women work and starve, and here childhood, glorious childhood, is withered and stricken; but here, too, the wicked, the vile, the outcast, and the thief find sanctuary.

The public houses do a roaring trade on the ready-money principle, while the chandler supplies scraps of food and half ounces of tea on very long credit. . . Undertakers thrive exceedingly, but the butcher and baker find it hard to live.

"If all the girls of England could see what I have seen," writes Mr. Holmes, "if they could take, as I have taken," some measure of the keen anguish and sorrow that comes from such a step, they would never try the experiment of marrying a man in the hope of reforming him. . . And the same holds good with men.

The heroism of the hard-working poor rises far above the sordid stories of the depraved; the marvel is that such heroism exists in such sur-

THE VICTORIAN ORDER.

Three Noblewomen Represented In Nursing Movement.

The Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada was founded to meet real needs in the Dominion. Up to the time of its organization there were two large classes of people who were left practically unprovided for in time of illness. There was first the class of the very poor, who could not afford to pay anything towards their nursing care, and, then, the much larger classes, necessarily in a new and prosperous country like Canada, of the people of moderate means, who were able and willing to pay something towards their care, but could not pay the private nurse's fees—moderate though these fees are—nor could they accommodate an extra person in their homes. These needs had gone on for a long time, but it was not until the year 1897 that any satisfactory attempt was made to meet them. In that year, when all of the late beloved Queen's loyal subjects were seeking suitable memorials to commemorate her Diamond Jubilee, the happy thought came to Lady Aberdeen to found an Order of Nurses, whose special work would be the care of those two large classes. So the Victorian Order of Nurses was founded, under royal charter, and the chief objects set forth.

The objects are:—

(1) To supply nurses thoroughly trained in hospital and district nursing, and subject to one central authority, for the nursing of the sick who are otherwise unable to obtain trained nursing in their own homes, both in town and country districts;

(2) To bring local associations for supplying district nurses into association by affiliation with the Order which bears Her Majesty's name, and to afford pecuniary or other assistance to such local associations;

(3) To maintain, as a first necessity, a high standard of efficiency for all district nursing;

(4) To assist in providing small cottage hospitals or nursing homes.

Then in the year 1900 Lady Minto who was then honorary president of the Order made an extended tour through the Dominion, and was so impressed with the needs of the people in the newer—the outlying—parts of Canada for more adequate nursing care than could be given by means of visiting or district nursing, that she was instrumental in starting a fund which finally settled into what is now known as the Lady Minto Cottage Hospital Fund. It is from the interest on this fund that grants are made from time to time towards the building of small hospitals in parts where they are needed, and where there would be difficulty in raising the necessary money without such assistance. The next improvement was the plan formulated in 1909, known as the Lady Grey County District Nursing Scheme.

Roughly outlined, it is to organize local associations in large country districts—twenty miles square or more—to supply trained nurses for the people on the ranches, farms, or homesteads. The nurses will have their headquarters in the most central spot possible, and will go to patients near at hand, or five, ten, fifteen, or twenty mile district. They will combine district with continuous nursing, and we hope that the nurses will not only prove nurses to the sick and suffering, but also be friendly visitors, teachers, and advisers to the people in the lonely parts of this vast land.

The order is in its fifteenth year, and there are under it thirty-one town districts, one country district, seventeen hospitals, and four training centres. The staffs vary from one of fifty-one nurses. There are now 186 nurses working under the Order. It extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean, has branches in every province, excepting little Prince Edward Island, and each year the nurses are penetrating into new parts of the country.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

She Won Her Robes.

Miss Melrose Sissons of Portage La Prairie has had since she was a child a "satiable" desire to grapple with legal problems. So, in due course, she hied forth to Winnipeg to the University of Manitoba, and obtained from there a degree "Magna cum lauda." Portia's robes were drawing closer, but when she asked to be allowed to study at the Blackstone fountain, she discovered that women could attend colleges and universities, take degrees and medals, but they must not study the profession on which she had set her heart. The honorable benchers informed her that only persons were admitted to the study and practice of law, and that whereas the law was interpreted according to English procedure which held that the word "person" meant "male person," therefore, she being a woman and not a person could not study or practice law in Manitoba. Miss Sissons decided to go further west and find out her status there. In the meanwhile, the Hon. Hugh Armstrong, Provincial Treasurer, having heard of the reading of the benchers, gave notice of an amendment. Government and Opposition saw eye to eye with him upon this point, and thus was the cause won in Manitoba.—Saturday Night.

It is a personal desk system. Keeps the details of your work always at your finger tips. It automatically reminds you of your appointments and engagements, it calls attention to collections due, prospective orders that need attention; it's a sort of mechanical memory—an automatic collector, salesman and correspondent. It's the prod for the forgetter—the office alarm clock—the safety valve of the over burdened pigeon hole. Ask us about it.

Coaling the Sun.

Coaling the sun is an expression used by physicists to indicate the necessity of renewing the stock of motive power, exactly analogous to coaling a vessel for an ocean journey. Many maintain that this is done by the incessant showers of meteorites which rain in upon it from celestial space. Thus it is that the sun's energy is continually kept up and its fires are fed. Atom after atom in the continuous collisions of matter is changed into vapor and adds its quota of energy to the great central storehouse—in fact, "coals the sun."—Exchange.

The Servant Problem.

"I, sir," said the demonstrative candidate, "am a servant of the people."

"Gosh!" replied Farmer Corntassel. "Ain't this servant problem gettin' to be awful?"—Washington Star.

Heaven will be inhabited by every man who has heaven in his soul.—Beecher.

Somewhat Mixed.

"Willie, can you tell me what a vegetarian is?"

"A vegetarian is a person who lives on vegetables," replied Willie.

"That is correct. Now I wonder who can tell what an octogenarian is."

"I know," replied Eddie.

"Well, what is an octogenarian?"

"An octogenarian is a person that shocks the other genarians."—Chicago Record-Herald.

His Ancestors.

The chauffeur never spoke except when addressed, but his few utterances, given in a broad brogue, were full of wit.

One of the men in the party remarked, "You're a bright sort of fellow, and it's easy to see that your people came from Ireland."

"No, sor; ye are very badly mistaken," replied Pat.

"What!" said the man. "Didn't they come from Ireland?"

"No, sor," answered Pat. "They're there yit."

Fruit of the Soap Nut Tree.

Natives of India find many uses for the dried fleshy berries of the soap nut tree. These "nuts" are employed as detergents, and by the dyers of India are supposed to possess special merits in the preparation of certain dyes. In Kashmir the soap nut is preferred to the European soaps for washing shawls. In other parts of the country it is specially valued for washing silks and is used by Indian jewelers to restore and brighten silver plates and ornaments tarnished by exposure. The soap is also used medicinally.

A Trade Secret.

"Tell me," said the society woman who had consented to meet the well known actress, "how you manage about your photographs."

"Do you mean how I manage to supply the demand for them?"

"No. How do you manage to have them show the face you had twenty years ago and the hair and costume of the present day?"

Staining Wood Dark Hues.

The appearance of walnut may be given to white woods by painting or sponging them with a concentrated warm solution of permanganate of potassa. The effect is different on different kinds of timber, some becoming stained very rapidly, others requiring more time for this result. The permanganate is decomposed by the woody fiber. Brown peroxide of manganese is precipitated, which is afterward removed by washing with water. The wood, when dry, may be varnished and will be found to resemble very closely the naturally dark woods.—Harper's Magazine.

Old English Houses.

St. Albans, which claims the oldest inhabited house in England, now an inn, is rich in old hostelries. The Fechen there dates back to the fifteenth century, though the present building is modern, save for some old woodwork in the coffee room. The priory, too, in Holywell hill, was once the Bull Inn and as such was visited by Queen Elizabeth, while off the High street is the George Inn, dating from 1446, which at one time had its private chapel for the use of its guests.—London Chronicle.

His Honor at Stake.

"Young man, how do you expect to marry my daughter if you are in debt?"

"Why, sir, in my opinion it's the only square thing to do. The longer I am engaged to her the worse off I will be."—Life.

DOMINION BREWERY CO.

RECEIVING NEW CITIZENS.

Every Consideration Is Shown to the Incoming Stranger.

We hear a great deal about Canada's efforts to get immigrants, but everyone seeking admission to the Dominion is not necessarily accepted. The Canadian is glad to welcome the new-comer, but he very properly requires that he shall be "desirable"; he has no intention of making his broad acres a dumping ground for other nations' outcasts.

Consequently, one of the duties of the immigration department is to examine the immigrants as they land, and suffer only those to proceed who satisfy certain requirements, of which the chief are that they be healthy, are going on farms, into domestic service, or into assured employment, and have a little money in their pocket, so that they are not likely through any mischance to become a public charge. The money qualification is waived in the case of farm hands and domestics going to assured situations, and of certain persons going to join a relative.

The examination of the shiploads of immigrants as they disembark at Quebec is one of the most instructive and poignant sights in the Dominion. The breaking of home ties and the departure for a strange land will ever form one of the most touching themes for the artist, whether of the pencil or the pen; and only second to it in interest is the landing on this side, when, after the discomforts of the long voyage, the little family looks with widely-opened eyes on the strange sights that abound, wonders what the new home will be like, and prepares for the tedious overland journey to the final destination. What a blending of hope and fear, of confidence and misgiving, of sick longing for the old friends, and eager curiosity concerning the new.

It is at such a critical juncture in the immigrant's career that a little kindness goes a long way. Hence it is one of the department's instructions to its agents to extend to the new arrivals all courtesy and consideration. Comfortable quarters are provided for their accommodation at the various stopping places en route, and all information is readily given to assist them in reaching the distant town or homestead to which they may be going.

In fact, a stranger in Canada need never fail of information and counsel. His own experience has made the Canadian sympathetic, and even a busy man will go far out of his way to direct a wayfarer to a difficult destination.

Of the various callings followed by the settlers, farming—either as laborers or as homesteaders—that is, farmers of their own free grant of land—claims by far the majority. This, according to the authorities, is as it should be. The Government does not encourage in any way the immigration of skilled laborers, mechanics, or artisans of any sort. Only farmers, farm laborers, and domestic servants are advised to go, and the Government publications strongly insist that all others should have definite engagements in Canada before leaving home, and have enough money to support them for a time in case of mishap.

Perpetual Motion.

Perpetual motion machine? Suppose that man could finally perfect a machine that would run itself. It would not deliver a trace of power. The entire force would be employed in the running. It would have to be free from friction, not nearly, but absolutely. This man cannot accomplish. But the machine would of necessity have to start itself, an impossibility. Only creative mind is able to do this.—New York American

Hold Up in Lindsay.

In Lindsay, on Tuesday, was perpetrated a hold up, of the wild and wooly type, when five grown men stopped the youthful driver of a delivery rig and appropriated the consignments of groceries therein. They did not seem satisfied with the spoils and destroyed the goods. No clue has been found to establish the identity of the highwaymen.

MEN WHO DON'T EXERCISE

SUFFER FROM INDIGESTION, HEADACHES, POOR APPETITE, SLEEPLESSNESS

Nothing so Sure to "Set Up" a Man Make Him Feel Brisk and Vigous, as Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Lack of exercise and overwork are the causes that combined to almost kill Samuel S. Stephens, Jr., one of the best known citizens in Woodstock.

In his convincing letter Mr. Stephens says:—

"A year ago I returned home after a long trip, completely worn out. I was so badly affected by chronic biliousness, so much overcome by constant headaches, dizziness, that I despaired of every getting well. I

"It was a blessing that I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. In one week I felt like a new man. The feeling of weight and nausea in my stomach disappeared. My eyes looked brighter, color grew better, and, best of all, I began to enjoy my meals. The dizziness languor and feeling of depression passed away, and I fast regained my old time vigor and spirits. To-day I am well, thanks to Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

For health, strength, comfort, and good spirits there is no medicine like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Beware of substitutes, and don't let any dealer palm off some other pill on which he can make more money. 25c per box, or five boxes for $1.00, by mail from The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

Free Methodist Conference.

The annual conference of the Free Methodist Church will meet in Peterborough on August 28th, and continue in session for several days. It is expected that about 100 delegates will be in attendance. The meetings will be held in the Aylmer street Free Methodist church.

Confronted With Revolver.

In attempting to arrest a trespasser on the C.P.R. bridge, a C.P.R. policeman was confronted with a revolver by Flynn Boswick, who was promptly handcuffed, and after a struggle, transported to the cells. He appeared in the police court yesterday, but was remanded. The policeman states that this was the hardest case he has yet had to handle.

Peterborough Man Oldest Orangeman

Toronto has claimed the oldest Orangeman in the person of Mr. Armstrong, 91 years of age, and 70 years an Orangeman. But Mr. Francis Weir, of Peterborough, 88 years of age, has been an Orangeman for 72 years, two years longer than Mr. Armstrong. Mr. Weir is still in good health and has been a member of No. 80 lodge since 1840.

Engineer Saves Life.

The quick work of a G.T.R. engineer saved the life of a woman on that company's tracks near the Protestant Home. The lady was walking on the track, and as a freight train rounded a curve and approached her she sank in a nerveless heap on the track. By quick work the engineer was able to stop the train and save her life.

Cottages All Occupied.

Word comes from Stoney Lake that nearly all the cottages have been taken for the season by their owners, or occupied by tenants, and it certainly looks like one of the briskest years for Stoney Lake. A large number of young men are camping on the islands, and the unusually fine fishing this season has added to the number of usual summer visitors.

The New Wharf.

Yesterday Capt. C. W. Calcutt, on the Government tug J. B. McColl, steamed along the front of the new wharf, from end to end, a distance of about 500 feet, and thus the McColl is the first boat to use the structure. There is ten feet of water at the wharf and in the channel in front so that steamboat men need not fear of grounding. The wharf is now receiving the finishing touches under the capable superintendence of Mr. Edward Wade.

Court Stanley Excursion.

A large number of local Foresters and citizens took in the excursion to Lindsay yesterday under the auspices of Court Stanley, A.O.F. They left Wolfe street wharf at 7.45 o'clock calling at the Lift Lock and Warsaw. All enjoyed the pleasant sail through the lakes and the excursionists returned tired, but happy, last evening on the G.T.R. flyer. Messrs. J. T. Pratt and R. J. McWilliams, who were in charge of arrangements, are to be congratulated on the success of their efforts.

Canadian Cadets.

Canadian Cadets will have to do some active training to make a favorable showing in the contests at the Exhibition this year. So says one of the chief officers who will be in charge of the camp. The boys from New Zealand have put in one month's solid training and it is stated that they will arrive here in excellent shape for both the athletic and the drilling competitions. The Australian cadets set sail on June 5th, and their program on board the boat calls for daily training to get in condition for the events here.

Astronomical Society At-Home.

On Tuesday evening a pleasant and successful At-Home was held under the auspices of the Royal Astronomical Society to their friends and members, at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer O. Fiske, Lt.-Col. and Mrs. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Schneider, and the Misses Miller, assisted in receiving the guests. The lawn was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Miss Florence Scott sang a charming song, and Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., Mr. W. A. Logan, Mr. D. Esson, Mr. F. H. Dobbin, Dr. Eastwood and Mr. Wm. Madill spoke briefly. A letter from Hon. and Mrs. J. R. Stratton was read, expressing their regret at their inability to be present.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

TORONTO

In this fine weather, auto speeding has become a decided menace to life, in Peterborough.

At the Toronto Exhibition this year there will be Australian and New Zealand Cadets.

Two local boys, Ken. Routley and Doug. Huycke, took Count de Lesseps to a telephone when his launch was stranded in Stoney Lake a year ago.

Pedestrians returning from work in the south of the city are finding it very inconvenient, not being able to cross the C.P.R. bridge. Is another one needed?

Many citizens claim to be overtaxed for garbage collection.

If any person forgets the Printers' Picnic on Saturday, Aug. 3, they will regret it for the remainder of the season.

BORDEN WON'T DISAPPOINT ENGLISH EXPECTATIONS

One in Touch With Naval Negotiations Says Premier Borden's Naval Speech Will Amply Satisfy—Can't Frame Imperial Council Scheme Without Taxation

London, July 25.—An important statement is expected from Premier Asquith to-day in the House of Commons on the Dominions and Imperial defence.

British opinion has been fully satisfied by the definite assurances that Canada will not wait until Premier Borden's Empire Council schemes are matured before giving emergency naval help. Those most closely associated with the naval scheme, assures me that Premier Borden's statement, when made in Canada, will amply satisfy every English expectation.

Meanwhile, no responsible statesman here has yet ventured to suggest a tangible plan for giving the Dominions representation upon the Council of Empire Defence. Most of them, when asked, regretfully admit that they cannot frame any satisfactory scheme which does not include a council possessing powers of taxation.

Plan Too Radical for the Government.

To-day, even the defence question is overshadowed by discussions upon Lloyd George's future. The announcement in Wednesday's Times that Lloyd George might resign office to conduct an active land reform agitation throughout the country has caused a tremendous sensation. It is understood he desires legislation of a far more radical nature than an influential section of the Liberal party will tolerate. He has received abundant support from constituencies, and is convinced he can sweep the country.

BIG TARIFF BATTLE TO BE STAGED IN THE U.S. SENATE

Leaders Are Lining Up Their Forces For a Three-Day Fight—Repeal of Canadian Reciprocity Figures Largely

Washington, July 25.—Senate leaders to-day began lining up forces for the three-day tariff fight that was expected to begin with the consideration of the wool bill. With both Republican and Democratic forces undecided upon a plan, the situation appeared unusually complicated.

The Democratic wool bill was to be taken up for amendment when the Senate met.

The sugar bill and the excise tax bill are next in order, after the wool bill. The prospect of agreement between the Senate and the House on tariff measures seems to be lessened by the avowed purpose of Senator Cronna to present amendments for the repeal of Canadian reciprocity. The Senate has passed such amendment on the metal bill, but the House stoutly refused to accept it.

Some indication of the line of action was expected to be given by the lining up of the forces after to-day's session.

BRITAIN HAS NO QUARREL WITH ANY ONE, SAYS ASQUITH

London, July 25.—Premier Asquith attempted in the House of Commons to-day to erase the impression of England's belligerency created by Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill's recent speech in explanation of the planned enlargement of the British navy.

"England has no quarrel with any one in the world," said the Premier. "She covets no territory, and has no wish for further expansion. Our armament is simply insurance.'

"We have cultivated with great and growing cordiality on both sides our special international friendship. They have stood test of time and test of bad as well as of good weather, and questions which ten or fifteen years ago might have caused ill-feeling or worse, now yield smoothly to mutual accommodation in perfect good will."

Premier Borden and his colleagues would attend a further meeting next week, said Mr. Asquith. It was impossible to exaggerate the value of these interchanges of views.

Bonar Law, the Conservative leader, gave it as his opinion that the Government was "cutting the navy too fine."

"Careful consideration convinces me," he said, "that Lord Roberts did not exaggerate when he said England never was in graver peril."

Absolutely False.

An item appeared a short time ago in the Examiner, alleging that private parties were entertained on the Government steamer, "Bessie Butler." The Superintendent says this is absolutely false. Whatever the custom may have been in the past, the "Bessie Butler" will be devoted to public purposes, and not to the entertainment of private parties.

VARICOSE VEINS CURED

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skillful. I wrote them and got The New Method Treatment. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn [illegible] a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning [illegible] and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment."

NEW YORK HERALD

The New York Sunday Herald Magazine section on July 28 will tell, bombarding icebergs with shot and shell is not cool work even in hot July. Phantoms of the deep there are which are real to many modern seamen, and with the probable arrival of a haunted ship this week in New York Harbour the tales which the Herald will tell of spectres that people the imagination of sailors will have an appeal to the fancy of young and old.

All of a satin flutter is Deal Beach Casino these days, and Miss Alice Latimer tells of shimmering gowns and a slighted ocean in her piquant style. A modern Homer attunes his lyre to greet the Olympic victors, fresh from their triumphs over the seas. The doings of a colony of young artists at Woodstock, and a venerable painter who for fifty-two years has been on a fixed post are timely and diverting features.

Learn also of a man who from his New York office daily feeds and clothes his family of 70,000 souls.

"Marty" O'Toole and his wonderful $22,000 arm will be described by Mr. J. A. Fitzgerald in this week's "Batter Up."

Gideon A. Baker, he of the trenchant typewriter, will give some exceedingly illuminating facts about Woodrow Wilson, schoolmaster, and certain other public men who were pedagogues in their time.

MURDER DONE AT WINDSOR ON FERRY

Globe-Trotter, Refused Admission to Canada by Inspector, Shoots Him Dead.

Windsor, July 25.—Travelling Immigration Inspector H. G. Herbert of Ottawa was murdered to-day on the ferry Excelsior by Wm. Ferguson a one-legged globe-trotter. He was shot dead.

GREAT PREPARATIONS.

Great prearations have been made for the pleasure and comfort of those who attend the Printers' picnic, to Jubilee Point on Saturday afternoon Aug. 3. One great big day for all. Tickets are selling fast—Have you secured yours yet?

THE WEATHER.

To-day: Strong northwest winds; fair and cool.

WILL COST $40,000

The Government Engineer who came here yesterday in response to a request of the member for West Peterborough, to give his opinion as to the proposed dry dock, expressed himself as very much in favor of the suggested site. He went over the site with the Superintendent, and before leaving telephoned Mr. Burnham that he would have the plans prepared at once. This will mean that boats on the Canal can be put into dry dock and repaired, a very great advantage to steamboat owners and one that will have far-reaching effects for the benefit of traffic.

It will probably cost nearer $40,000 than $30,000.

WITNESSES AFRAID OF WHAT GANGSTERS MAY DO TO THEM

Arrest For Perjury Follows Testimony of "John The Barber

New York, July 25.—The W. J. Burns Detective Agency informed the district attorney that their men have gone to work on the Rosenthal case, and that every bit of resourcefulness and energy they possessed will be directed toward getting at the truth. It was said that 23 Burns men have already been detailed for the work, and that Mr. Burns, himself, when he returned to New York in a day or two will devote his entire time to the investigation.

From Lieut. Chas. Becker the district attorney wanted to know why he is so interested in the grad jury proceedings. The grand jury is going not merely into the accusations that Becker was not merely a grafter, but is considering also the testimony of Herman Rosenthal's relatives and friends that the gambler believed the police would kill him.

BECKER'S CHAUFFEUR.

Otto Aversi, the chauffeur who has been wheeling Becker around town for more than a year, admitted today that he went straight to the Lieutenant at police headquarters on Monday afternoon after telling the grand jury that Becker had coached him about what he was to say. If Becker is willing to appear before the grand jury he will be asked about this conference, and Aversi will be requestioned.

The discovery that Aversi rushed to Becker from the grand jury was made just before Joseph Immerman, a brother of Mrs. Rosenthal told the grand jury that Rosenthal had told him that he was afraid of Becker, and had described the relations that existed, he said, between the lieutenant of police, the gambler and Jack Rose. Statements made by Immerman as to the profitable dealings of policemen with gamblers will be threshed out by the grand jury.

DENIES KNOWLEDGE OF PLOT.

Rose himself tells for the first time of his relations with Rosenthal and with Becker. He denies that he had any knowledge even that Rosenthal was to be killed, and he says that his activities in obtaining the affidavit from Dora Gilbert were as much on his own account as on Becker's.

GOMPERS SLASHES JUDGE IN EDITORIAL ON LABOR CASE

Says There Is No Theory So Subversive to Democracy As the Theory of Infallibility—Judge Takes Kingly Viewpoint

Washington, July 25.—In bitter phrases, culminating in a diatribe against Justice Daniel Thew Wright, President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor to-day discussed the jurist's recent sentencing of Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison for contempt of court, in a signed editorial in the American Federationist, as follows:

"Justice Wright discoses the mental attitude of a bygone age when the masters owned the workmen who were their slaves or serfs. . . .

"As a lineal descendant of the King, or his representative, the Chancellor," Justice Wright, undertook to deny to the workers of our time their equality before the law, their rights gained by the constitution of our country.

"Justice Wright would forbid that men ever criticize a judge or his decision.

"In so doing he is propagating a dangerous dogma, for there is no theory more subversive to democracy than the theory of infallibility.

"Any court that is compelled to resort to the suppression of criticism in order to protect itself against contempt is not one that is standing for the ideals of democracy, justice, and liberty.

"The opinion . . . is a comment that reflects with utmost clearness this kingly viewpoint, the mental bias and mental process that stand out so conspicuously different from the conceptions of the rights of citizenship among our people.

"Its pseudo . . . individualistic political theory reverberates like a voice from the tomb of the 'vested interest' philosophers."

Wright, Gompers asserted, was unable to grasp that the labor leaders were not fighting to undermine the judiciary, but striving for judicial reform.

SIR WM. MACKENZIE FAVORS DREADNOUGHTS FROM CANADA

London, July 25.—Replying to a deputation from the Maritime League yesterday, the Hon. J. D. Hazen declared that the question of the protection of trade routes in time of war by the conversion of merchant ships into cruisers hadn't been overlooked by the Canadian Government, and further, he was sure he revealed no confidence by saying that this important question had been the subject of negotiations with the Admiralty.

Speaking of the mission of the Canadian Ministers here, he said: "I think there is a very strong feeling among the people and electorate of Canada in favor of Canada doing something that may be regarded as fairly substantial towards the defence of the Empire. We realize that we owe a great deal to the protection of the British navy. We realize our existence as a Dominion in a very large measure depends upon it at the present time. It would be premature and improper for me to say what the result of the visit here is or to what it will lead. No declaration on the subject will be made until after our return to Canada, when we shall discuss these matters with our colleagues and lay before them the result of our interviews with the Admiralty."

Referring to the permanent naval policy, Mr. Hazen said: "If the Dominion participated she must adequately be represented in Imperial Councils. The feeling in Canada is that there can be no partnerships without a voice in the management of affairs."

Sir Wm. Mackenzie, who sailed for Canada yesterday, declared strongly in favor of three Dreadnoughts from Canada for use in the North Sea.

PETERBOROUGH PRESENTS BERLIN WITH ANOTHER GAME

What promised to be a good game of ball yesterday at Riverside Park, turned out to be almost a joke. The locals played a good game up till the very end, when, after getting the lead, opened up a gap which let the visiting team score three runs, when they had two men out and two were on the bases. One spectator said it looked like a merry-go-round. There was not a very large crowd in attendance, owing to the threatening condition of the weather. Treacey, in the box, pitched a fine game for the locals, while Trout handed out the usual good work. Berlin played a fairly fast game of ball, and when an opening showed itself, they were there with the goods, batting out some long drives. The score at the end of the 8th innings was 4 to 3 in favor of Peterborough, and at the end of the 9th was 6 to 4 in favor of Berlin.

CANADIAN PREMIER RESUMES CONFERENCES WITH CHURCHES

London, Culy 25.—The Admiralty is likely to publish an official statement shortly in the nature of a justification of naval expansion in the interests of the Empire as a whole, special emphasis will be laid on the value of overseas contributions.

Premier Borden resumed his conference with Winston Churchill today. It is understood a few more conferences after the French visit will close the negotiations. The Ministers, both British and Canadian, are understood to applaud the suggestion that the naval question is outside of party politics.

The Archbishop of Canterbury sat next Chairman Rt. Hon. Lewis Harcourt at the Imperial Government's dinner given Premier Borden and his colleagues last night. Fifty were present including prominent notabilities of the United Kingdom.

The Canadian Ministers will be received at Calais en route to Paris on Saturday by M. Reiter, naval officer of the French Government. They will return from Paris on Wednesday.

TWO SEVERELY HURT IN BAD RUNAWAY

Mr. M. Manning, of Peterborough, and His Brother-in-Law Meet Disaster in Port Hope.

A serious accident happened on Wednesday afternoon at Port Hope, in which two men were seriously injured, one of them probably fatal. Mr. M. Manning, of this city, was severely cut and bruised, while Mr. John Martin, of Canton, his brother-in-law, is badly injured both internally and externally, and little hopes are entertained for his recovery.

Mr. Martin had driven in Port Hope with his relative to consult a doctor, having been in bad condition physically for some time past. They were driving along Walton street, when a motor cycle driven by Arthur Hudson of Toronto, gave the horse such a fright that he ran away.

Both men were thrown to the pavement with force and when Mr. Martin was picked up he was unconscious, and suffering from internal injuries. He is quite advanced in years and on this account the accident will be hard on him.

A WINNING START.

A Perfectly Digested Breakfast Makes Nerve Force for the Day.

Everything goes wrong if the breakfast lies in your stomach like a mud-pie. What you eat does harm if you can't digest it—it turns to poison.

A bright lady teacher found this to be true, even of an ordinary light breakfast of eggs and toast. She says:

"Two years ago I contracted a very annoying form of indigestion. My stomach was in such a condition that a simple breakfast of fruit, toast and egg gave me great distress.

"I was slow to believe that trouble could come from such a simple diet, but finally had to give it up, and found a great change upon a cup of hot Postum and Grape-Nuts with cream, for my morning meal. For more than a year I have held to this course and have not suffered except when injudiciously varying my diet.

"I have been a teacher for several years and find that my easily digested breakfast means a saving of nervous force for the entire day. My gain of ten pounds in weight also causes me to want to testify to the value of Grape-Nuts.

"Grape-Nuts hold the first rank on our table."

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address AM. PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 25c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 386 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

Preference Shares are preferential both as to assets and cumulative dividends at the rate of 7 p.c. per annum, also participate in dividends after 7 p.c. has been paid on common stock.

The average net profits of the Cafeterias, Limited, on King street, for the month of May, as shown by the report of the auditor, John I. Sutcliffe, C.A., amounted to over 30 p.c. on the entire issue of stock. A complete auditor's statement of the finances of Cafeterias, Limited, up to the end of May, may be seen at the offices of Messrs. Fleming & Marvin, Lumsden Building. This statement shows the monthly profits.

About $50,000.00 will be required to put the new Yonge street Cafeteria on a running basis. Of this amount about fifteen or twenty thousand dollars will be required to complete the interior finish, and make this restaurant one of the finest cafeterias in America. The balance will be required for outfitting the restaurant and providing a certain amount of working capital. The new restaurant will have a dining room of the large dimensions of 7,000 square feet on the ground floor, and will also have spacious additions for other purposes of the business.

Cafeterias, Limited, has found in the running of its business on King street that it has eclipsed the old style of waitress-serving restaurants, which is a great saving of labor and expense, and that the new restaurant is the best system of meeting the demands of the public for quick service, consistent with quality and efficiency of service.

We have opened subscription books for sale at par ($10.00) $50,000.00 fully paid shares of the above-mentioned 7 p.c. cumulative preference participating stock, carrying a bonus of 25 p.c. of the amount of the preference shares in common stock.

Payments as follows:

25% per share with subscription;
and 75% per share on allotment.

Subscription books are now open at our offices, and the right is reserved to allot only such subscriptions and for such amounts as may be approved, and to close the subscription without notice.

Subscriptions may be forwarded by mail or by telegram at our expense.

The Storthing.

Norway's legislative body is known as the storthing, which means the "great court" and should be pronounced to rime with "courting." The second part of the word is identical with the English word "thing," as the Scandinavian languages, in common with Anglo-Saxon, have the same word for "thing" and "council." In modern English a trace of the second sense survives in the word "hustings," which came to mean the public platform upon which a candidate appeared at election time, though originally the "husting" was the council at which the candidate was elected, the "house thing" or house council.

A Clock Without Works.

In the courtyard of the palace of Versailles is a clock with one hand, called L'Horloge de la Mort du Roi. It contains no works, but consists merely of a face in the form of a sun, surrounded by rays. On the death of a king the hand was set to the moment of his demise and remained unaltered until his successor joined him in the grave. This custom originated under Louis XIII. and continued till the revolution. It was revived on the death of Louis XVIII., and the hand still continues fixed on the precise moment of that monarch's death.

TIMBER FOR SALE.

TENDERS will be received up to and including the first day of October 1912, for the right to cut white and red pine and spruce, on two timber berths on the upper waters of the Jocko River east of the townships of Garrow and Lockhart, in the District of Nipissing, Province of Ontario, the berths being designated "Jocko No. I." and "Jocko No II." each containing twenty-five square miles more or less.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE.

How to Cook Various Kinds of Summer Vegetables.

Carrots a la Poulette.—Wash and scrape carrots and cut in small cubes. There should be two cupfuls. Remember that the best flavor as well as the brightest color lies nearest the skin, for which reason they should never be pared. Cover with boiling water and let stand five minutes. Drain and cook in boiling salt water to cover until soft. Melt three tablespoonfuls of butter, add three tablespoonfuls of flour and stir until well blended; then pour on gradually, while stirring constantly, one cupful of chicken stock (the liquor in which a fowl has been cooked) and one-half cupful of rich milk or cream. Bring to the boiling point and add carrot cubes and one-half teaspoonful of lemon juice and season with salt and pepper. As soon as thoroughly heated add the yolks of two eggs, slightly beaten. Turn into a hot vegetable dish, garnish with a sprig of parsley and serve at once, says Woman's Home Companion.

Peas when fresh, young and tender are most delicious and should be cooked right from the vine to be at their best. They are often almost ruined in the cooking by using too large a quantity of water. There should be little, if any, water to drain off when they are done; then, again, the salt had better not be added until the last ten minutes of the cooking. Peas that have lost much of their natural sweetness are improved by a bit of sugar.

Peas a la Francaise.—Cook three tablespoonfuls of butter with one slice bacon five minutes. Remove bacon and add two cupfuls of shelled peas and eight small onions. Cover with boiling water and cook until vegetables are soft. Drain and add one-fourth cupful of cream and one egg yolk, slightly beaten. Season with salt and pepper.

Wealth may seek us, but wisdom must be sought.—Edward Young.

ROYALTY IN THE MINE.

King George is not of the type which Victor Hugo satirized in "Le Roi s'Amuse." The British press not only denies that he is frivolous: it finds him "very human," points to his democractic traits, and has been dwelling with considerable admiration on the concern he shows for the lives and fates of his subjects. In all these respects the monarch seems to have earned the plaudits showered upon him. And that tour be made through the West Riding won people as well as press. To read of the King visiting workingmen's cottages, chatting with the occupants and busying himself with their interests and cares, recalls Haroun Al-Raschid in his most bending mood. But it was his majesty's descent of a mine which captured the popular imagination. Who would expect to see this potentate of the British Empire, lantern in hand, groping his way along a cutting 350 yards below the surface of the earth, just come close to the miner in his perilous daily tasks? Yet the King did something even more undignified. Snatching up a pick be proceeded to attack the coal seam, and "with short, sharp stroke" says an eye-witness, "cut away several lumps," one of which was afterwards removed from the pit by a member of his suite. All through this scene the only thing which served to remind the royal coal hewer of his regal state was the tremendous enthusiasm of the mine workers. It began when the pitmen on the bank gave him a hearty "send-off"; as his majesty touched bottom "a roar of cheering came up the shaft." And to that local manifestation the Daily Telegraph adds its assurance of "the infinite pleasure felt by a mining population at his majesty's interest in their calling." Here are episodes in a King's life which need neither glorious roll of drums in a London thoroughfare to recommend them nor the pomp and magnificence of a durbar ceremonial to pass them into history. Yet it is only their rarity that impresses. The more frequent they become the less will they require emphasis.

Editorial Notes

The inclination of many Liberal newspapers to once again walk right into the political graveyard by trying to resurrect the reciprocity bogey indicates a lack of judgment that is difficult to explain.

We wonder if the time will ever come when patriots who make a business of serving the dear people will abandon the habit of raising their own salaries when they get in office.

The methods of Mr. Charles A. Prouty, of the Interstate Commerce Commission are evidently very similar to those of our own late Chairman of the Board of Railway Commissioners, Judge Maybee, when it comes to plainness of speech. "This proceeding is really an investigation of the general railroad situation in New England," declared Commissioner Prouty of Vermont recently in opening a three days' hearing of complaints of rates and service on the New York, New Haven & Hartford, the Boston and Maine, and the Maine Central Railroads. "Since the New Haven took over the Boston & Maine there has been created in this territory what is practically a railroad monopoly greater than that which in any other equal area of the United States."

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for the opinions of its correspondents

AN ASTONISHING RESOLUTION.

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir.—The International Bibe Students' Association, at their General 1912 Canadian Convention, held in Toronto June 30th to July 6th, unanimously adopted a resolution, declaring "That it is the sense of the International Bible Students' delegates here assembled that we do not find the Bible to teach the doctrine of a literal 'Hell fire' or place of fire and brimstone for the punishment of the wicked," etc., and appealed to every minister in Canada to publish his belief.

I have received a copy of said resolution, and believe it to be my duty to write as follows:

Let the Bible speak for itself. We appeal first to the words of Jesus Christ, the son of God. Matt. 18:8 "Wherefore if thy hand or thy foot offend thee, cut them off, and cast them from thee; it is better for thee to enter into life halt or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet, to be cast into everlasting fire." Matt. 25:41: "Then shall He say unto them on the left hand, Depart from Me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels." Rev. Luther Lee says "both texts declare that the wicked shall be punished with everlasting fire." Matt. 9:43, 44: "It is better for thee to enter into life maimed, than having two hands to go into hell, into the fire that shall never be quenched; where their worm dieth not and the fire is not quenched." The instrument of his punishment is here called "fire" and fire that never shall be quenched must be endless. Mark 3:29: "But he that shall blaspheme against the Holy Ghost have never forgiveness, but is in danger of eternal damnation." His guilt is endless, and so is his punishment. Matt. 25:46: "And these shall go away until everlasting punishment, but the righteous unto life eternal." A venerable minister once preached a sermon on the last judgment. On the next day some thoughtless men agreed that one of their number should go to him, and if possible draw him into a discussion. He went accordingly, and began the conversation, saying: "I believe there is a small dispute between you and me and I thought I would call this morning and settle it." "Oh," said the good man, "what is it?" "Why," he replied "you say that the woe of the finally impenitent will be eternal and I do not believe it." "Oh, if that be all," he answered, "there is no dispute between you and me. If you turn to Matt. 25:46 you will find that the dispute is between you and the Lord Jesus and I would advise you to go immediately and settle it with him." Mark 9:48: "Where their worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched." On this text Mr. Wesley says in part: "Consider this: does not our Lord speak as if this were real fire? No one can doubt of this. Is it possible then to suppose that the God of all truth would speak in this manner if it were not so? Does He design to frighten His poor creatures? What, with scarecrows? With vain shadows of things that have no being? O, let not one think so. Impute not such folly to the Most High." Jude says: "And the angels which kept not their first estate, but left their own habitation, He hath reserved in everlasting chains, under darkness, unto the judgment of the great day. Even as Sodom and Gomorrha ...... are set forth for an example, suffering the vengeance of eternal fire." Rev. 20:13, 14: "And the sea gave up the dead which were in it: and death and the grave (marginal reading) delivered up the dead which were in them: and they were judged, every man acc[illegible]rks. And death and hell were cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death." Rev. 21:8: "But the fearful and unbelieving ..... shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: this is the second death."

Those international Bible Student delegates say they do not find the Bible to teach the doctrine of a 'literal hell fire,' or 'place of fire and brimstone for the punishment of the wicked.' Strange indeed that such plain texts as those quoted, and many others just as clear, should escape their notice, which certainly do teach this, if they teach anything. But these wise (?) men tell us where they have been scratching in the following language: they say "secular history of the formation of the creeds of the middle ages reveals the fact that for various reasons either wisely or unwisely, the doctrine of torment in 'hell fire' was added to the gospel, as taught by Jesus and the twelve apostles, necessitating many ridiculous interpretations of the Lord's parables." So then it is from "secular history" these Bible (?) students receive their information and not the inspired word of God. Is it any wonder that they teach such errors, when they draw their material from such a source, and know so little about their Bibles? They further say: "We believe the vast majority of ministers of all Protestant denominations have privately repudiated the 'hell fire' theory, but have, for supposedly good reasons hesitated to inform their congregations." If this is actually true, then such Protestants are far removed from original Protestantism, and good loyal Protestants should protest strongly against this dangerous teaching. Surely the perilous times Paul warns us of as "coming in the last days" (II Tim., 3) are upon us. He declares there will be "men of corrupt minds, reprobate concerning the faith, having turned away their ears from the truth and are turned unto fables."

The claim these delegates make, that "because these Protestant ministers have withheld the fact of their having repudiated this 'hell fire' theory thousands and perhaps tens of thousands are being driven into infidelity" is, in our opinion, entirely wrong. It is not their failing to declare these things to the people that is making infidels, but it is the real state of minds of these heterodox teachers that is producing such baneful results.

What a man is carries greater weight than what he says, and when a minister of the gospel disbelieves the Bible, even though he may not boldly declare his infidelity, the very atmosphere he produces will be oppressive with infidel malaria, and all who breath this poisoned air, or feed on the hash he serves them, will be infected with the terrible malady. Jude says, concerning these: "Woe unto them, for they have gone in the way of Cain, and ran greedily after the error of Balaam for reward, and perished in the gainsaying of Core. These are spots in your feasts of charity, when they feast with you, feeding themselves without fear, clouds they are without water, carried about of winds, trees whose fruit withereth, without fruit, twice dead, plucked up by the roots, raging waves of the sea, foaming out their own shame, wandering stars, to whom is reserved the blackness of darkness forever." Jesus says (Rev. 22:19): "If any man shall take away from the words of the Book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the Book of Life, and out of the Holy City, and from the things that are written in this Book."

Sir Francis Newport was trained in early life to understand the great truths of the gospel. But he became an avowed infidel, and soon became hopelessly ill. When he felt that he must die he cried: "Whence this war in my heart? What argument is there now to assist me against matters of fact? Do I assert that there is no hell, while I feel one in my bosom? Am I certain there is no after retribution, when I feel present judgment? Wretch that I am, what will become of me? That there is a God I know, because I continually feel the effects of His wrath; that there is a hell, I am equally certain, having received an earnest of my inheritance there already in my breast. O that I was to lie upon the fire that never is quenched a thousand years, to purchase the favor of God! But it is a fruitless wish. Millions of years will bring me no nearer to the end of my torment than one poor hour. O, eternity, eternity, forever and ever!" Soon after, his voice failed, and uttering a groan he cried out, "O, the insufferable pangs of hell!" and died.

It is sad and sorrowful that Bible Associations, Professors in Church Universities, and ministers of Protestant denominations are laboring so hard to destroy the very book for which Protestants at one time so earnestly contended, to which we owe our present liberties, and on which so much depends. Ps. 11:3: "If the foundations be destroyed, what can the righteous do?" It certainly is high time that we "should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto Saints." (Jude 3.)

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the ig profits now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

MONTREAL, July 24.—Business in Manitoba spring wheat over the cable continues very quiet, but there is a fair demand from foreign buyers for oats and sales of several loads were made at a further advance of 3d. Latest from Apsley

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE NORTHERN PART OF THE COUNTRY.

The Forestry Commissioners, after a week's survey through Anstruther and North Burleigh, spent a week east of Lasswade, and are now camped in South Burleigh.

Fishing parties are now the order of the day. Mr. and Mrs. Brown and family, with a number of friends, are at Mr. Brown's cottage, Trout lake, for a week's outing; other parties are planning to go later.

The members of the Methodist appointment at North Burleigh held a very successful entertainment in the Town Hall, Apsley, Friday night, 19th. The programme consisted of readings, recitations, music, etc. Afterwards lunch was served; proceeds amounted to about $20.00.

Wm. Tucker, Jr., is making a good job of the cement walk, and it is to be hoped funds will be available to finish it.

J. G. Hardill and Stanley Taylor, representing the T. Kennear & Co., and the Kingan Hardware Co., arrived Wed. 17, ahead of time, and as usual took good orders from the Apsley merchants. We missed Ernie this trip—he was too busy to come.

Mr. and Mrs. Mills, of Lindsay are in this vicinity for a month visiting friends.

Mr. Norman Lean had the misfortune to lose a valuable young cow on Sunday. It was unaccountable what happened to her. The week previous he found her away from the other cows and quite blind, and would neither eat nor drink. It is supposed to have been caused either by lightning or heat—it had been very hot here lately, 92 in the shade.

Mr. Walter and Miss Ellen Gerrard were the guests of Miss Millie McIlvena Sunday.

Miss Maggie McIllvena is home from Toronto on her holidays.

The "little secretary" is getting up a book entitled "How to Build Cement Walks." The information is derived from 137 people who gave their views gratis. Some of them have seen cement walks and actually walked on them. Anyway, all knew just about how they should be made, and all had a different theory. It will be a valuable book (when published). No doubt the proceeds of this book will go towards building new walks, though some will be set aside to provide for the widows of those killed by the overseer—when they get too gay testing the walk before it was dry.

On account of the brothers from Peterborough coming ahead of time, the members of the Wisdom Club got a hurry-up call to assemble at the Hall. Quite a number responded. When President "Anvil Jim" took the chair all the officers except Fatty William were present, and about seven members. Fatty went down to the Orange celebration and must be celebrating yet, as he has not returned. Any information as to his whereabouts will be thankfully received by his anxious friends, especially Jeff and Matilda. The case of John and Stanley was then taken up, and after an impartial trial they were found guilty and sentenced to one-half hour each breaking stone for the cement walk. They were taken down by the two guards, given stone hammers, and set to work. Si acting as timekeeper, John put in his half hour faithfully and broke at least a quart of stone, but Stanley's hand becoming badly blistered, he was let down with half time. However, it will be a warning for them in the future to come on time and bring Ernie. No dues collected, but John kindly contributed seven copies of last year's Grocers' Reviews, and a time-table for the Peterborough and Apsley Electric Railroad, dated Aug. 35th, 1982, and Stanley's contribution was a number of speeches on the navy question by O. P. Benhem. The meeting adjourned sine die.

When Appetite Fails And Digestion is Bad

There Is Danger Ahead for the Man That Neglects Nature's Warnings

Dyspepsia Tendencies are Serious, and Should be Treated Accordingly.

There is a strong moral in the statement of James Schrum, of Pleasant street, Dartmouth, N.S. Like thousands of people, he was failing in health because his stomach and digestive organs were out of repair. His vitality was slipping away; he was losing ground every day.

"I could not have held on much longer. I was wasting away simply because no remedy I used gave tone and strength to my stomach. The vital forces of my system seemed dead. I was advised to try Dr. Hamilton's Pills. What hidden weakness they searched out I don't know, but in a miraculous way they have made me a new man. My stomach troubles are cured, rich blood now runs through my veins—clear skin and unmistakable evidences of health and vigor. I feel every day. Dr. Hamilton's Pills have certainly mastered the secret of curing the sickly enervated man and I strongly urge everyone in failing or lost health to use this grand remedy."

Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut are purely vegetable—25c per box, 5 boxes for $1.00, all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

AN HONORED CANADIAN.

The Recent Death of Lady Tupper Is a Loss to the Canadian People.

A long and happy life ended in the death of Lady Tupper, the wife of Sir Charles Tupper, whose wedding took place sixty-six years ago. Many Canadians will remember that in October, 1896, the golden wedding of Sir Charles and Lady Tupper was celebrated at Ottawa, when they received the hearty congratulations of friends and admirers from all provinces of the Dominion. Speaking to a newspaper representative on that occasion, Sir Charles said:

"Yes, it will be exactly fifty years to-morrow since Lady Tupper and I were married. We were born within a mile of each other, near Amherst, in Cumberland County, Nova Scotia, and knew each other from childhood days. My wife was a daughter of the Hon. Silas H. Herbert Morse, prothonotary of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, and her mother was Elisabeth Stewart, a sister of the late Hon. Alexander Stewart, C.B., Master of Rolls and judge of the Court of Admiralty.

"We were married," continued Sir Charles, "at my wife's residence by the Rev. Canon Townsend. The marriage took place at her residence because the Anglican church was being rebuilt at the time."

The diamond wedding of Sir Charles and Lady Tupper was celebrated ten years later. For the last five years Lady Tupper's health had been precarious and her death was not unexpected. Lady Tupper became widely known and loved in the Motherland long ago, where her husband's activities in the interests of Canada brought them into contact with Court circles and with noted statesmen of both the great political parties, and, of course, their families. As far back as 1867, while in England on the occasion of the London Conference on Confederation, Lady Tupper had the honor of being presented to Her Majesty Queen Victoria at a special drawing room at which only representatives of foreign countries or persons recently appointed to high office were presented. She was again presented to Her Majesty in 1886.

While Sir Charles had his official residence in London, as High Commissioner for Canada, from 1884 to 1896, Lady Tupper had many arduous and responsible social duties to fulfil in connection with his official position which she discharged with the grace, dignity and sweetness which characterized her actions throughout her life.—Saturday Night.

Gardening In Ontario.

With the warmer suns there are abundant signs of an increasing interest in gardening throughout the Province of Ontario.

It is good to surround the homes of the people with beautiful, uplifting things, and a country without such environment will not stand. Mere commercial endeavors, without thoughts of civic beauty, flower smothered home surroundings and everything that tends to bring the country into the town are sordid and uninspiring.

We shall be glad to see more small gardens, the gardens of those who must follow this hobby in their spare hours, in the large cities. This feature, which impresses everyone who visits the old homeland, will come in time into this country—the fruit and vegetable plots and flowers with them, the cottages or houses—whichever one is pleased to call them—set, as far as possible amidst natural, and certainly economic, surroundings.—Canadian Courier.

HATCHING THE PLOTS

AUTHORS SEEM TO HAVE NO VERY DEFINITE RULES.

An Idea Comes and After Being Worked Over and Over Many Times a Start Is Made—Eccentric Woman In Paris Was the Basis of Bennett's Old Wives' Tale — W. W. Jacobs Uses the Twiddling Method.

Mr. Arnold Bennett, in his preface of a new edition of his well-known book, "The Old Wives' Tales," gives an interesting account of how he hit upon the plot and wrote the story. In 1903 Mr. Bennett was in the habit of frequenting a certain Parisian restaurant. One night a queer old woman, a mass of oddities and eccentricities, came into the restaurant and set everybody laughing at her. Mr. Bennett reflected that the poor, grotesque old creature had once been young, and, likely enough, charming. "At this instant," he says, "I was visited by the idea of writing a book, which ultimately became 'The Old Wives' Tale'."

A peep into the literary workshops of other leading novelists of the day reveals some curious facts regarding their methods of work — methods which are as various as they are interesting.

Mr. Hall Caine, for instance, first evolves an idea which he thinks will prove the groundwork of a story. Having turned the theme over in his mind, he then thinks out some central character in whose person it could be illustrated. Then he fits in subordinate characters and writes out what he calls his first scenario or synopsis of the book. This is written at great length, and sometimes extends to as much as 40,000 words. Then comes the making of the second scenario and the gathering together of material which will furnish local color; and in regard to this part of his work Mr. Hall Caine is most conscientious.

For instance, when he was writing "The Eternal City" he obtained an introduction to the Papal secretary, and through him secured permission to spend some time in the Pope's private chambers. He would note down every detail in a room, down to the smallest article of furniture, not because he expected to use all these details, but in order that he might feel when writing that he knew the Pope's chambers as well as he knew his own.

And it is not until this second scenario is complete in every detail that Mr. Caine commences the actual writing of a novel. All his stories are written with his own hand, and it is a curious fact that he seldom writes for more than half an hour a day; but for two or three hours before he puts pen to paper he thinks out every word, until the whole passage is engraved, so to speak, on his mind.

"It is," says Miss Braddon, "when Thought sits waiting and Fancy holds the door that the plots of my stories build themselves very readily. When my tale has been chosen I carry it about with me in the shape of portable mental luggage for a long time, adding to it, shaping it, rounding it off as opportunity occurs. Then comes the pen and paper stage, note-taking, and so on, and then it is time seriously to tackle the task of writing the book itself. I don't mind where I write or when, but it is my opinion that it is in travel, strange surroundings, and the sense of pleasurable excitement that hangs over exploration, even of the most modest sort, the pen impetus comes most strongly."

On the other hand, Mrs. C. N. Williamson, whose stories, written in collaboration with her husband, have gained such popularity, confesses that she cannot write if she has ugly surroundings. "It upsets me completely," she says, "and spoils my thoughts to be in an ugly room. Where I can write best I write fastest, but my husband finds it rather the other way. He had no superstitions but I would not write unless I had on a quaint thumb-ring I bargained for with a Bedouin gypsy at Bethlehem when I was in the Holy Land. It was his lucky ring, and it is mine. I feel quite lost without it."

Miss Braddon's son, Mr. W. B. Maxwell, makes the interesting statement that he always begins with the characters of the story, endeavoring in notes to build them up as substantially as possible before trying to construct a book. "My characters," he says, "are altogether imaginary. Of course, all writers, consciously or unconsciously, must use such materials as their own observation of life has provided, but I have always avoided any attempts to make a word portrait of a real personage."

It is not unusual for a novelist to hit upon a theme for a good story and place it on one side to gradually mature. Take Mr. Horace Annesley Vachell, for instance. "As a rule," he says, "I work at my stories very carefully long before I put them on paper. One gets an idea, a possible theme for a novel, and then one pigeonholes it. After that for a year or two one collects the material best likely to enrich that theme. I suppose a number of men work in this way. When the period of incubation ends I go seriously to work and work hard. I write and rewrite until the book is finished in the rough, then I revise with great care, adding and subtracting."

Mr. Vachell usually works from nine to ten in the morning, and after tea puts in another hour. On the other hand, Mr. Max Pemberton is a little more strenuous, and does his work between eleven and one o'clock in the morning and five and seven in the evening. Mr. Pemberton prefers to work in the country, for he says that his experience proves that you can do in the country a good day's work in three hours, whilst in London you do a bad day's work in seven.

Mr. W. W. Jacobs says he uses the "twiddling method" in writing his stories.

Fruit of the Soap Nut Tree.

Natives of India find many uses for the dried fleshy berries of the soap nut tree. These "nuts" are employed as detergents, and by the dyers of India are supposed to possess special merits in the preparation of certain dyes. In Kashmir the soap nut is preferred to the European soaps for washing shawls. In other parts of the country it is specially valued for washing silks and is used by Indian jewelers to restore and brighten silver plates and ornaments tarnished by exposure. The soap is also used medicinally.

A Trade Secret.

"Tell me," said the society woman who had consented to meet the well known actress, "how you manage about your photographs."

"Do you mean how I manage to supply the demand for them?"

"No. How do you manage to have them show the face you had twenty years ago and the hair and costume of the present day?"

Macey DESK FILE

It is a personal desk system. Keeps the details of your work always at your finger tips. It automatically reminds you of your appointments and engagements, it calls attention to collections due, prospective orders that need attention; it's a sort of mechanical memory—an automatic collector, salesman and correspondent. It's the prod for the forgetter—the office alarm clock—the safety valve of the over burdened pigeon hole. Ask us about it.

TORONTO Macey OFFICE EQUIPMENT CO. WINNIPEG

Ethel Explains.

Kate—That Bragson girl claims to have made a thousand refusals of marriage.

Ethel—That's true. When Gus asked her to be his wife she replied, "No; a thousand times no!"

Not a Landlubber.

Delle—Nothing queer about that. That's only her modest way of saying he's fond of smacks.

The Only Way.

"I think, dear, I'll make my will."

"Why should you do that? You have nothing to leave."

"I know, but it seems to be the only way in which I can hope to have a will of my own."

A Big Family.

A ewe belonging to Mr. John Thomas, Llanedarne, near Cardiff, has given birth to five lambs. Two are the usual number, three are unusual, and five extraordinary.

Money and Matrimony.

"I never saved a dollar until I was married."

"And now?"

"Now I never have one that I feel that I can afford to spend."

His Spats.

And do you mean to say you and your husband never had any spats?"

"My husband had a pair once, sir, but he gave 'em to the boy who sprinkled our grass."

Feast of Kisses.

Halmagen, in Roumania, possesses a public festival which is probably unique in the world. It is a little town of about 1,200 inhabitants, and on the morning of its annual fair day the population from about eighty villages come trooping in in swarms. To them go out all the young women, married or single, of Halmagen, each bearing a small flower garland and vessel of wine and all attended by their godmothers. This last precaution is taken from motives of deference for Mrs. Grundy. As the visitors approach, the young women offer to each a taste of wine and—a kiss.

Letters of Introduction.

Letters of introduction should not be worded in too complimentary or highly flattering terms. As they are left unsealed and delivered in person it is embarrassing for the caller to deliver them. The letter should simply introduce the bearer, state that he is a friend and that any courtesy or entertainment shown him will be greatly appreciated.

A Financial Expert.

Moreton Frewen is one of the world's authorities on finance. He is a resident of London, but is well known all over the world. Mr Frewen has been quoted recently as saying there is great danger to the financial world in the exportation of gold to India. The natives of India have been hoarding silver for many years, but the high silver duty has now discouraged the importation of silver and the result is that they are hoarding gold, and thus causing a shrinkage in the circulation.

Hotel for Working Girls.

Vancouver's W.C.T.U. has an active organization which was formed to own and operate an hotel wherein working girls and women will be provided with inexpensive quarters.

At a recent meeting of this organization it was decided to rent a house and open it at once, pending the more leisurely purchase of a site and erection of a building.

This step was decided on because of the pressure of the present need and the zeal and ability to meet such a necessity.

The "Look Out Committee" has already examined a number of houses in the central portion of the city in search of a suitable building.

Dickens' List of Names.

It is not really surprising that the names of Dickens' characters, odd as they are, should be found in real life, for it was from life that many of them were taken. Some, as we know, were copied from the names over shop doors, etc. But this was not the novelist's only source of selection. Among his papers John Forster found carefully drawn up lists of names, with the sources from which he obtained them, and the longest lists were those drawn from the "Privy Council Education Lists." Some of the names thus noted are too extravagant for anything but reality—Jolly Stick, Bill Marigold, George Muzzle, William Why, Robert Gospel, Robin Scrubbam, Sarah Goldsacks, Catherine Two, Sophia Doomsday, Rosetta Dust, Sally Gimblet.—London Chronicle.

Canadian Cadets will have to do some active training to make a favorable showing in the contests at the Exhibition this year. So says one of the chief officers who will be in charge of the camp. The boys from New Zealand have put in one month's solid training and it is stated that they will arrive here in excellent shape for both the athletic and the drilling competitions. The Australian cadets set sail on June 5th, and their program on board the boat calls for daily training to get in condition for the events here.

MASTERS OF FOOTPRINTS.

The Gauchos Are Wonders In Tracking Men and Beasts.

The Gauchos of the South American pampas are of mixed Indian and Spanish blood. Among them the tracker holds a high place, for his instinct in tracking men and beasts makes him indispensable. Some of his achievements would seem wonderful even to the American Indian and our old time guides of the plains. In a confused track of animals' feet he can tell how many of them are laden or have riders. He will detect the footstep of a human being or an animal and follow them for many miles without tiring.

The stories told of Calibar, a noted tracker, illustrates the instinct and memory of the Gaucho when hunting for his man.

Once when Caliber was absent from home his best saddle was stolen. His wife carefully covered up the footmarks and showed them to him on his return, two months after the robbery.

One afternoon, a year and a half later, he was passing along a street in the suburbs of a certain town when suddenly he stopped and examined certain footprints. Following them, he came to a house, entered it and there found his saddle, soiled and torn.

Once a criminal under sentence of death having escaped from prison, Calibar was sent in pursuit. The fugitive, knowing he would be hunted, had taken every precaution to leave no trace, even to walking a long distance in a shallow stream.

Calibar followed the stream until he came to a place where he saw a few drops of water on the grass.

"He got out here," said Calibar.

Through fields and over walls he followed the fugitive until he led the soldiers into a small vineyard. Examining the approaches to the house, he told the soldiers they would find the criminal inside. They searched the premises, but could not find their man.

"He is inside," insisted the tracker. A second and more thorough search found the men, and the next morning he was shot.

In Honor of John Cabot.

Halifax is preparing for a very interesting function, to take place in August next, when His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, will dedicate the tower now being erected above Halifax harbor in memory of the landing in Nova Scotia of John Cabot, that brave old navigator, who during the reign of King Henry VII. carried the flag of England to the New World, when it was almost as unknown as it was new. This was four hundred years ago, and the tower in Halifax will remind the people of Nova Scotia at how early a date their fair land came into the light of history.

Cabot sailed from Bristol, then certainly the third, and possibly the second, seaport in England. Long ago Bristol erected a monument to commemorate these exploits of the Cabots, and next August the Lord Mayor of Bristol, accompanied by other representative citizens, will come out to Halifax and take part in the dedication of Halifax's monument to Cabot. In commemorating the achievements of the brave old navigator, St. John's, Newfoundland, has first place so far as this side of the Atlantic is concerned. Several years ago it erected a Cabot tower on one of the hills overlooking the city and harbor, and from which can be had a magnificent view.

Much Easier.

It is much easier to agree to what you know isn't so than to argue with the man who doesn't know anything about it.—Puck.

Girls Wanted.

Girls Wanted by the Canadian General Electric Co.

A Pleasant Trip.

The excursion yesterday under the auspices of All Saints' Bible Class to Gore's Landing, was a very enjoyable one. There was a good attendance.

A Record.

St. John's Choir has a rehearsal last night, when over 40 voices assembled. This is a record for any summer season.

Was "Short-Circuited."

Yesterday a short circuit on a George street car made things interesting for Motorman Morton. Flames shot out from the controller, which was badly scorched. It was stated that the short circuit almost caused serious trouble at the power house.

Bowmanville Coming.

On Monday a big excursion will reach Peterborough from Bowmanville, which will be run under the auspices of the Lawn Bowling Club of that town. The party will proceed to Lakefield and Burleigh, many no doubt stopping off here to see the city and the bowling games.

Boy Scouts.

The 1st troop of Boy Scouts will parade, as strong as possible, this evening at 8.45 p.m. sharp. Special drill of royal salute for Toronto Exhibition. Colours for parade. J. W. Vick, Scoutmaster.

Logs Delayed the Excursion.

Lindsay Post : The excursion from Peterborough to Lindsay, under the auspices of Court Stanley, A.O.F., was largely patronized, but the Stoney Lake did not reach Lindsay until after 8 o'clock. The steamer was delayed owing to the presence of logs at Lakefield, Buckhorn and Bobcaygeon. Those on board, however, thoroughly enjoyed the outing.

No Camp this Year.

The Boy Scouts, in view of their proposed trip to Toronto Exhibition will not go into camp this year. As to the Toronto Exhibition inspection by H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught, it was thought likely that almost all scouts in the district would be on hand. In the meantime arrangements are being pushed ahead locally for the event, to which all the scouts are looking forward with great interest.

Steamer Stoney Lake Popular.

The steamer Stoney Lake has become deservedly popular as an excursion boat, and is in constant demand for excursions. Yesterday afternoon she carried a large crowd to Idyl Wyld, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Mark street Methodist Church, where an enjoyable time was spent. The party returned about nine o'clock.

You May Have Catarrh And Not Know It

HEAD AND THROAT BECOME DISEASED WITH CATARRH FROM NEGLECTING COUGHS AND COLDS.

Catarrh is Treacherous—When Fully Developed is a Horror—Note Its Symptoms.

"Is your breath bad ?"
"Is your throat sore ?"
"Do you cough at night ?"
"Is your voice raspy ?"
"Does your nose stop up ?"
"Have you nasal discharge ?"
"Do you spit up phelgm ?"
"Has your nose an itchy feeling ?"
"Have you pain across the eyes ?"
"Is your throat irritable, weak ?"
"Do you sleep with mouth open ?"
"Are you subject to sneezing fits ?"
"Do your ears roar and buzz ?"
"Are you hard of hearing ?"

If you have any of these indications of Catarrh, cure the trouble now — stop it before it gets into the lungs or bronchial tubes—then it may be too late. The remedy is "Catarrhozone" a direct breathable cure that places antiseptic balsams and healing medication on every spot that's tainted by catarrhal germs.

There can be no failure with Catarrhozone—for years it has successfully cured cases that resisted other remedies. "No one can know better than I the enormous benefit one gets from the very first day's use of Catarrhozone," writes T. T. Hopkins, of Westvale, P.Q. "I had for years a stubborn case of bronchial Catarrh, ear noises, headache, sore eyes, stopped-up nose and throat. It affected my appetite and made my breath rank. Catarrhozone cured quickly."

Get Catarrhozone, use it, and you are sure of cure beware of imitations and substitutes. Large size Catarrhozone, with hard rubber inhaler, lasts two months, and is guaranteed. Price $1.00 at all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

H. J. Beemer Dead.

Mr. H. J. Beemer, a former well-known contractor, who was for a time identified with many Quebec enterprises, has passed away in London, England, where he went some years ago to recuperate his health. Mr. Beemer built this line between this city and Omemee, known as "the missing link," as well as severa other contracts in this neighborhood. He had many friends in Peterborough who will regret to hear of his demise.

New Canoe Slide.

At a meeting of canoe men and Superintendent McClellan, of the Trent Valley Canal, final plans were approved for the new canoe slide to be built at No. 7 Lock. The new slide will be much longer than the old one, and will also be less dangerous as the bottom of the structure will be free from the current. The slide will also be equipped with rollers, so that heavier classes of boats such as skiffs, punts, &c., may be handled with ease. No. 7 Lock is situated below Little Lake.

Station Agents' Outing.

The 66 members of the Order of Station Agents who returned to Montreal from Ottawa on the Grand Trunk, proceeded to Quebec Sunday evening, where they spent the whole of yesterday. At the head of the delegation is Mr. Earl M. Morton, the president, while included in it is Mr. Tom E. Chapin, editor and publisher of the "Railroad Employe." While at the capital the party stayed at the Chateau Laurier and were ably chaperoned by Messrs H. G. Elliott, General Passenger Agent, A. E. Roseveare, Assistant General Freight Agent, and G. T. Pettigrew, Division Freight Agent.

Highest Wages For Farm Labor.

The Ontario Immigration Officer in Toronto now has 2,950 applications for assistance from Ontario farmers, and has no men to send. The Empress of Britain, docking at Quebec, this week, has 150 men slated for Toronto, but of this number he does not expect that more than ten will be available for farm labor. Hundreds of men slated for Toronto, never arrive there he states, being captured by contractors and agents for western construction work. The farmers of Ontario are offering highest wages for farm labor, with little prospect of the demand being filled.

Monaca Club's Visit.

The members of the Monaca Club, which had their encampment on the Fenelon River for the past month, left on Monday last for their home in Pennsylvania. During their stay they made themselves very popular with the Fenelon Falls people, on account of their princely hospitality. The club has a brass band as well as an orchestra, and their evening concerts were delightful. On the 12th of July, several members of the club came with the Orangemen to Peterborough, and favored The Times with a visit. The editor of this great family journal acknowledges with thanks a pressing invitation to pay their camp a visit. However, important affairs of state interfered and prevented him doing so. Nothing is so fascinating to the mind of the g.f.j. as a shady nook close to Kawartha's limpid waters, with the sweet strains of Monaca Band in the distance, and a pitcher of good cool buttermilk as a stimulant.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

BRITISH DREADNOUGHTS FEARED BY GERMANY

PARIS TO VIE WITH LONDON IN ENTERTAINING BORDEN

Great Importance Attached to Visit of Canadian Ministers to France

Imposing Programme Arranged For Their Honor During Their Stay in Paris

Paris, July 26.—The Canadian Postmaster-General, Hon. Louis Philippe Pelletier, arrived here last evening. He was met by a representative of Premier Poincare, the Canadian Commissioner to France, Dr. Philippe Roy, and the secretary of the Franco-American Committee, Gabriel Louis Jaray.

The principal object of Mr. Pelletier's visit is to arrange, if possible, with Mr. Chaumet, Under-Secretary for Posts and Telegraphs, for a reduction in cable rates and for the introduction of a two cent postage between Canada and France. The Postmaster-General will be joined on Saturday by the Canadian Premier, Hon. R. L. Borden; the Canadian Minister of Justice, Hon. C. J. Doherty; the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, Hon. J. Doiglas Hazen, and Hon. A. E. Kemp, Minister without portfolio.

Mr. Hazen will confer with M. Delcasse, the French Minister of Marine on the subject of reciprocal shipping.

NO PARTY STRIFE

The Montreal Herald, the leading Liberal paper of Quebec, supports the Borden policy as follows:

"When this present crisis has passed—let is pass how it may—the foundation of an Imperial policy of defence must be laid." Such a policy must be formulated by the whole Empire, so that the whole Empire will have direct responsibility for it. What is clear is that Mr. Churchill's speech has opened a new era, that the overseas Dominions have assured an enhanced importance in Imperial affairs, that whosoever would challenge the might of Britain must challenge also the might of those young nations which, under her wise guidance, have reached responsible manhood."

ROOSEVELT SHOUTS FOR GREATEST WORLD NAVY

Oyster Bay, N.Y., July 26.—An attack on the Democratic majority in the house of representatives for refusing to adopt the two battleships program was made to-day by Col. Roosevelt. He declared that the upbuilding of the navy must go on if the United States is to maintain its position among the nations of the world.

"Any talk as to what we intend to do about the Munroe doctrines, the Panama Canal, the protection of Hawaii, or any other matter is not merely offensive but contemptible," he said. "If we abandon building up the navy and show that we really have neither the power nor the will, if the need should ever come, to make our words good deeds."

MIKADO DYING

Tokio, July 26.—The condition of Mutsuhito, Emperor of Japan, is to-day regarded by those in immediate attendance as extremely grave. The physicians have issued only one bulletin up to two o'clock this afternoon and that announced no change which is regarded as ominous by the public.

He appears to have suffered a relapse and it is feared that his heart cannot stand the strain.

CALLS YOUNG FLYER A LIVING WONDER

That William B. Hemstrought, who is to fly in the Agricultural Exhibition grounds on Civic Holiday, Aug. 19th, is a wonder as an aviator, is the opinion of Lincol Beachey, one of the most famous birdmen in the world. He awarded this praise in Elmira, where both he and Hemstrought have just completed an exhibition. On Friday both will fly in Stow Park.

"What do I think of Hemstrought as an aviator?" Beachey was asked by the Elmira Star-Gazette.

"Really, he is going to be a wonder. Although young in the business he has already performed feats of daring which would make many airmen with more experience think twice and some to turn back.

"Just watch him fly and I am sure you will agree with me. He knows no fear and is willing to try any 'stunt' suggested to him without fear. He handles a machine with professional skill and has absolute confidence in himself, which is one of the principal assets of the successful aviators. To be able to think quickly and act with precision is essential oftentimes when a man's life is at stake. A moment's hesitation or indecision might cause a fatal accident and the end of a most promising career."

LIVES ON EXCITEMENT.

"Hemstrought, like Beachey, is modest and dislikes to talk about his past accomplishments. 'I am going to fly, and Beachey will have to go some to show me his heels,' he said. 'I understand the aviation field here is ideal, and there should be no reason why the great Beachey should not pull off some wonderful exhibitions while in your city.'"

CHARLES STAPLETON HAS PASSED AWAY

One of Peterborough's Oldest and Best Known Citizens—Resided Here for Sixty Years—Funeral To-morrow Afternoon.

There passed away yesterday morning at the residence of his son, Mr. C. S. Stapleton, 484 Gilmour street, an old and esteemed resident of Peterborough, in the person of Mr. Charles Stapleton, Sr., aged 87 years. The deceased had not been in good health for some time, but was able to be around until about ten days ago, when he took to his bed, and gradually sank until the end came as above. Mr. Stapleton was one of the most widely known citizens of the city, his occupation as an auctioneer having brought him into contact with people in all parts of the district. He was born in Prince Edward County in 1825 and came to Peterborough in 1842, when it was a mere village, eight years before its incorporation as a town, and has been actively associated with its development. He came here in company with his uncle, the late Sheriff Conger, afterwards member of Parliament, and later Mr. Stapleton became deputy sheriff, and for about 30 years he was bailiff of the first Division Court of the county. He also followed the occupation of auctioneer, and continued in that capacity till within a year or two of his death. He was also a land valuator, and incidentally was connected with the real estate business. In his younger days he was for several years a member of the Volunteer Fire Brigade and assistant engineer, at the time the late Col. Poole was chief of the Brigade. He was actively associated with the organization of the Peterborough Waterworks, was one of the directors of the company and for a time acting superintendent. An ardent and capable horseman, he naturally became a member of C. Squadron of the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons, having been captain and quartermaster, and retiring with the rank of Major. He was the recipient of a long service medal presented at the same time as that given Col. H. C. Rogers. He was also for 25 years and up till his death a director of the Little Lake Cemetery Company. During a part of his life Mr. Stapleton was extensively engaged in the live-stock shipping business, sending his stock to the English and chief United States markets.

In religion, he was an Anglican, and member of St. John's congregation nearly all his adult life. He was a member of the Masonic Order, the oldest member of Corinthian Lodge, A.F. and A.M., No. 101. He was made a member in May 6th, 1867, and in February, 1900, had the honor of being made a life member. He was therefore, at the time of his death, perhaps the oldest member of the order in Peterborough. In politics he was a staunch Conservative, and in his active years was prominently associated with the promotion of its interests. Mr. Stapleton had not only a long record as a public-spirited citizen, but in his private life he showed the possession of a large heart. Wherever, especially when the city was younger, there was sickness or trouble, among his neighbors, his services were always promptly and generously given.

He was married in early life to Miss Sarah Norton, Cobourg, who died some years ago. He leaves behind three children: Mr. H. C. Stapleton, Toronto, Mr. C. S. Stapleton, 484 Gilmour street, and Mrs Frank Smith (Miss Mamie Stapleton) of London, England. Three brothers and two sisters residing in Hillier township, Prince Edward County, also survive him.

Funeral under Masonic auspices, from the residence of Mr. C. S. Stapleton, 484 Gilmour street, to-morrow, at 2.30 p.m., to Little Lake cemetery.

WILL NOT LET CHICAGO LOWER LEVEL OF LAKE

Ottawa, July 26.—"The United States has decided against letting Chicago bring any more water through its drainage canal. That was our recommendation in 1908 and it will be adhered to."

Such was the statement made by Mr. George Clinton, of Buffalo, a member of the old International Waterways Commission, which is meeting in Ottawa to-day.

WAS SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Mr. David Wallace Badly Hurt at C.G.E. Shops.

Mr. David Wallace, Reid street, was severly injured yesterday morning at the C.G.E. works. It appears he was working at a circular saw, cutting a rather heavy piece of maple when the block flew back striking him across one wrist and the abdomen. He was thrown to the floor by the force of the blow. The Dan Spence Ambulance was called and Mr. Wallace was removed to the Nicholls Hospital. Dr. Carmichael attending him. His condition is regarded as critical.

Mr. Wallace had just returned from a trip to the west and had resumed work only this morning.

Last night we called up Dr. Carmichael, who stated that he could not say anything further than that Mr. Wallace was very seriously injured. He was, however, doing as well as could be expected.

MR TUCKER'S BARNS BURNED NEAR APSLEY

Apsley, July 26.—Mr. Z. Tucker, of Anstruther, met with a severe loss to-day, just after the noon hour. He was preparing to bring in the last two loads of his hay, when from some cause as yet unknown, fire broke out near one of his barns and in a few minutes was beyond control. All the buildings, including a new barn, built only a few years ago were totally consumed with contents—about 15 tons of hay, threshing machine, binder, grain chopper, and many other small implements. Five fine young pigs were also destroyed. The telephone brought all the neighbors, and with their assistance, the house was saved. Mr. Tucker estimates his loss at about $2,000.00 or more—$500.00 insurance.

Mr. Tucker has the sincere sympathy of the entire community in his loss.

PATIENCE, VETERANS!

Reasons Why Fenian Raid Grants Have Been Slow in Making Their Appearance—Enormous Work Involved in Proving Claims.

The remark is frequently heard, and the question asked: "How is it that some of the veterans have received their $100 and others have not?" The answer is given in a telegram from Ottawa of the 23rd inst. It says:

"The issuing of the Fenian Veterans' $100 grant is proceeding very slowly. In two weeks but 450 grants have been paid. This delay is not due to any lack of applicants, but rather because of the number of letters or requests being received at the Militia Department from men who believe that they are entitled to the money, although they actually were never in active service. A number of these applications have to be carefully examined and returned and the process of sorting the good from the bad is a slow one."

Have a little patience, Vets. The cheques will come. Don't forget great bodies move slowly.

JUST THREE VOTES SAVED ASQUITH FROM A DEFEAT

Snap Vote On a Motion by Lloyd George Was Carried by 136 Votes to 133—Irish and Laborities Save the Situation

London, July 26.—The British Government was nearly turned out of office by a snap division in the House of Commons this afternoon, the small margin of only three votes saving it from defeat.

In the presence of the usual thin Friday attendance of members, David Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, moved that Monday be devoted to the discussion of the supplementary appropriations. The Opposition protested and forced a division. By dint of a hurried search in the lobbies of the House, the Government whips just managed to save the situation.

The announcement that the Government had been successful by only 136 against 133 votes was greeted by the Opposition with loud cries of "Resign."

The Liberal members have been recently somewhat slack in their attendance at the House, and the Government majority on several occasions had for this reason been below 50. Only the keenness of the Irish Nationalists and the members of the Labor party has enabled the Government to hold the fort.

TO ISSUE A WRIT AGAINST THE COUNTY

Dominion Government Will Press a Claim for $3,000 Against Peterborough County, in Connection With the Buckhorn Bridge.

Instructions have been received here to collect by process of law, the $3,000 due to the Dominion Government from the County of Peterborough in connection with the bridge at Buckhorn, and also to collect the cost of maintenance.

It will be remembered that the bridge was taken over by the county by Mr. J. R. Stratton, ex-M.P. on June 22, 1911, but it seems that he had no authority for doing so and all attempts to get the late Minister of Railways and Canals to state that it was the intention of the late Government to complete this transaction if it had been returned to power have failed.

The present Government has time and again expressed its willingness to carry out any such agreement, if somebody in authority in the late Government will vouch for the fact that the agreement was ever made, and since no one will do so, the Hon. Frank Cochrane can find, of course, no excuse for collecting debts that are due.

This matter has aroused a great deal of interest and it will be a severe blow to the prestige of the Reeve of Harvey, who took an especial interest in the matter, and was supposed to have, through his friend, Mr. Stratton, worked wonders for the benefit of the townships of Harvey and Smith. No attempt has been made to show why the late Government should have made any such agreement, and it may be taken for granted that the Hon. George P. Graham would not have turned the whole thing down if there had been any reason in it.

It is to be hoped that a similar mix-up will not be arrived at in reference to the proposed new bridge at Gannon's Narrows. Many complaints have been made that the township of Harvey has received the short end of the stick in connection with their claim for damages. This will be investigated later by the request of the member for West Peterborough, although the township agreed in the face of this statement to make a final close out for a balance of $950. This balance is undoubtedly too small according to public opinion in Harvey. There can be no doubt that some of these matters have been very badly handled and it must strike the Harvey taxpayer as peculiar, that private parties can clear $200,000 out of the Burleigh Falls and Buckhorn power right at their own doors, without expending a dollar on development and for a total return to the government for $50 in cash, while such a bungle is made over a bridge at Buckhorn. It might very reasonably have been taken off the shoulders of the county tax payers, if the matter had been handled in a business-like way.

PEOPLE'S CHIMES A MISNOMER?

Strong Feeling That They Are Not Being Used As They Should be

There is a strange feeling throughout the city that what are known as the "Peoples'" chimes are not being managed in the interests of the people. A few days ago a number of citizens called at the Times in regard to the alleged refusal of the Church authorities to have the chimes rung on the 12th of July, and they requested this journal to look into the matter in the interests of the people. It is claimed that those in charge of the chimes were advised to have them rung on the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne. It is further said that the bells were rung to mark the anniversary of the Roman Catholic Bishop of Peterborough last year and also on St. Patrick's Day, but that the Church wardens refused to let them do honor to the memory of King William of Orange. The fact that fifteen or twenty thousand strangers were in the City on July 12th would in itself have been sufficient reason to warrant the use of the Chimes.

If the facts above are correctly given, it would appear that a grave mistake has been made. The church wardens for the time being are Messrs A. H. Stratton and H. Morphet and it is to these gentlemen, as well as to the pastor, Rev. J. C. Davidson, that the public look for an explanation.

The following clause, taken from the deed or contract made with St. John's Church when the Chimes were handed over by the citizens to the Church, will be of interest

"And in the spirit of said gift, the Rector and Wardens aforesaid, for and on behalf of the Church and Parish of St. John's aforesaid, hereby accept the gift of said Chimes, and for themselves and their successors, voluntarily agree to use and operate them forever as a Public Trust, for the Glory of God, for the Good of His Church and Holy Religion, and for the benefit of the citizens of Peterborough, and in conformity with the said last mentioned purchase undertake to cause the said Chimes to be rung on Public Holidays and National occasions free of any charge whatever."

THE WEATHER.

To-day: Fine and cool.

ASQUITH AND CHURCHILL MAY PAY VISIT TO CANADA

London, July 26.—An interesting suggestion is made in The Times editorial to-day. It says: "It would be unbecoming for Mr. Borden to announce his policy on so large and momentous a matter anywhere but in the Canadian Parliament. Few things we can suppose would more surely deepen the effect of his statement when it comes, and do more to knit yet more closely the ties which his visit here and his conferences with the ministers have done so much to strengthen than a return visit to the Dominion of two or three statesmen with whom he has taken counsel in Whitehall. The Prime Minister and the First Lord have been to see with their own eyes the position in the Mediterranean and we doubt not they have learnt much by that visit. Could not Mr. Asquith and Mr. Churchill devote part of their coming recess to visit Canada? We are confident that such a step would be taken by the world as marking a new date in the annals of the Empire.

LABOUR DAY CELEBRATION.

Labor Day is to be fittingly observed in Peterborough this year. The Trades and Labor Council have taken the matter up by appointing a committee.

President Moore of the Trades and Labor Council will be chairman of the general committee and J. M. Galbraith, secretary. The chairman and secretary and J. P. Dillon will be a committee on printing and publicity; and Hugh Robertson, C. F. Browne, T. Dark, T. Williams, A. J. Sharpe, C. R. Jenkins, Albert Sheward, G. Skidding, Geo. Ahern and G. Brousseau were appointed a prize and programme committee.

A band will be engaged for the day and tenders will be called for the refreshment privileges on the grounds.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address AH. PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 85c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 85c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 360 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

Preference Shares are preferential both as to assets and cumulative dividends at the rate of 7 p.c. per annum, also participate in dividends after 7 p.c. has been paid on common stock.

The average net profits of the Cafeterias, Limited, on King street, for the month of May, as shown by the report of the auditor, John I. Sutcliffe, C.A., amounted to over 30 p.c. on the entire issue of stock. A complete auditor's statement of the finances of Cafeterias, Limited, up to the end of May, may be seen at the offices of Messrs. Fleming & Marvin, Lumsden Building. This statement shows the monthly profits.

About $50,000.00 will be required to put the new Yonge street Cafeteria on a running basis. Of this amount about fifteen or twenty thousand dollars will be required to complete the interior finish, and make this restaurant one of the finest cafeterias in America. The balance will be required for outfitting the restaurant and providing a certain amount of working capital. The new restaurant will have a dining room of the large dimensions of 7,000 square feet on the ground floor, and will also have spacious additions for other purposes of the business.

Cafeterias, Limited, has found in the running of its business on King street that it has eclipsed the old style of waitress-serving restaurants, which is a great saving of labor and expense, and that the new restaurant is the best system of meeting the demands of the public for quick service, consistent with quality and efficiency of service.

We have opened subscription books for sale at par ($10.00) $50,000.00 fully paid shares of the above-mentioned 7 p.c. cumulative preference participating stock, carrying a bonus of 25 p.c. of the amount of the preference shares in common stock.

Payments as follows:

25% per share with subscription;
and 75% per share on allotment.

Subscription books are now open at our offices, and the right is reserved to allot only such subscriptions and for such amounts as may be approved, and to close the subscription without notice.

Subscriptions may be forwarded by mail or by telegram at our expense.

At a meeting of canoe men and Superintendent McClellan, of the Trent Valley Canal, final plans were approved for the new canoe slide to be built at No. 7 Lock. The new slide will be much longer than the old one, and will also be less dangerous as the bottom of the structure will be free from the current. The slide will also be equipped with rollers, so that heavier classes of boats such as skiffs, punts, &c., may be handled with ease. No. 7 Lock is situated below Little Lake.

Found Wife in Canada.

William Cobbett, the celebrated English statesman, to his last day never regretted the hour in which he first set eyes on the young woman who made him the "happiest husband alive." He was walking along a street in Halifax, Nova Scotia, when he first saw her, stooping industriously over a wash-tub, her arm frothing with soap-suds and her comely features veiled by a curtain of steam. But a look was sufficient.

"That's the wife for me," he exclaimed; and, though for a time the seas divided them, he knew no peace until he had made a wife of the "servant-of-all-work," who had counted herself passing rich on $25 a year.

Banishing the Bill-Board.

The Alberta Woman's Association is one of the most influential organisations in that western province. Its membership includes almost every woman university graduate in the province, as well as the wives of the members of the university senates and the board of governors. It was organised about six months ago for the promotion of higher education in the province.

The members are interesting themselves in the bill-board campaign of the City Planning Commission, and many club women are expressing their approval of the desire of the commission for more stringent bylaws.

Scot Was First.

The first man to enter for a homestead, when the policy of free grants of land was adopted by the Government, was a Scotsman. His quarter-section was in Manitoba, near Portage la Prairie, where, with his wife, he still lives, a hale old man, full of reminiscences and sound advice.

SPAIN'S BAD ACTION.

The flagrant violation of neutrality laws of which the Spanish Government has been guilty in conniving at the operations of the Portuguese royalists and giving them an asylum in Spanish territory threatens to bring on a serious clash between the governments at Madrid and Lisbon. Quite naturally Portugal resents such a disregard of her rights, and it is not surprising that reprisals should follow, the Portuguese retaliating not only by shooting to death captured rebels, but also by sending a menacing warning to Madrid.

Under the circumstances Spain can make no defense of her action. She has broken the law of nations with deliberate intent, for without her permission it would be impossible for the followers of ex-King Manuel to organize their expeditions on Spanish soil and then send them into Portuguese territory.

It is true that the sympathy of the Spanish monarchy is with the suppressed monarchy of the sister country but this sentimental consideration does not justify the violation of neutrality, because Spain has no more right than England, France, or the United States to lend any countenance or aid to the Portuguese monarchists, and should she cause Portugal to treat her as an enemy she cannot count upon the endorsement or support of any of the European powers.

SUICIDE AS PUNISHMENT.

Nathan Swartz, author of one of the vilest murders that ever stirred New York, has killed himself. Because New York is now engrossed in a new sensation the death of Julia Connor's slayer almost escaped attention, and it is worth recalling now only because it was self-inflicted. To Samuel Swartz, the murderer's father, who, after hearing his son's confession advised him to kill himself, the country might give thanks. The carrying out of his advice has spared us the details of one of those awful murder trials from which there is no escape once public interest has fastened upon them.

We are wont to scoff at mediaeval customs, but this one of providing murderers with those conveniences which enabled them to cheat the hangman out of his fee was not half bad. Why should not a man who has been indicted for murder have a chance to confess his guilt by committing suicide? If only one out of every four chose that way of pleading guilty what a gain for the public! The prosecuting officers could devote their attention to other matters and the public attention to other matters, and the dramatic stories of his struggle to preserve a worthless life, might light on some more interesting topic of the day.

Editorial Notes

At Windsor a Boy Scout rendered "first aid" to a brakeman who was seriously injured, and the despatch mentions that the injured man's shirt had to be used for bandages. The railway companies have entered into co-operation with the St. John Ambulance Association in having numbers of their employees trained in first aid to the injured. It would be a still further improvement if every railway employe was furnished with a small first-aid packet, such as soldiers carry, in his pocket, on active service.

Italy is in a very embarassing position so far as her war with turkey is concerned. She set out to conquer Tripoli after having received the formal consent of the other Christian powers of Europe. She began with great noise and bluster and with apparently brilliancy, but she has finally failed to show herself equal to the job. She has caught a tartar and cannot let him go.

TREAT ALL ALIKE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I was amazed to read in the Examiner a few days ago the reason given for not playing the bells on the 12th of July. Your contemporary says that as the chimes are the common property of all parties and creeds, it therefore is plain that they should not be used on any occasion that does not represent unanimity of sentiment. Surely the editor's memory must indeed be short or he would remember when Canon Davidson had the bells rung for Bishop O'Connor and on St. Patrick's Day. I have no objection to this, but Mr. Davidson and his wardens must be given to understand that they must be fair, and treat all alike. Besides, I claim that loyal Roman Catholics as well as Protestants should unite in celebrating the anniversary of the Boyne which secured liberty to all alike.

A Contributor to the Chimes.

OUR NEXT MAYOR.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The time is rapidly approaching when it will be in order to select a chief magistrate for 1913, and I would like to say that the ratepayers should see to it that the very best man for the position is secured. The city has now come to the "parting of the ways," so to speak—it must either advance or go back. Let us see to it that we advance. Then the first step is to choose a progressive man for Mayor, as well as a good Council to support him.

I am one who believes that a Mayor should win his spurs in the Council, before he is entitled to the higher honor. We have a few good men there, who have gained the necessary municipal experience to fit them for the higher office. Such a man as Alderman Gorhon would make an ideal chief magistrate. There are also others who are almost equally well qualified. If Mayor Bradburn will consent to run again, he will undoubtedly get the call, as he has done well so far.

The Times seems to be the paper that appeals to the masses, and I would like to see next year's Council matters discussed in its columns. It is none too early to begin thinking about it.

C.G.E. Football Team Expects a Good Game.

The C.G.E. Football team goes to Oshawa to-day to play the first of its final games. The team leaves on the 11.40 G.T.R. train and will return this evening, via the C.P.R. midnight. The line-up has been selected as follows:

Goal—Evans.
Backs—Gribb and Hall.
Halves—Ward, Padgett (Capt.) and Vickers.
Forwards—Fallis, Moraity, Mason French and Davie.
Spare—Simmonite.

Blaze in a Car.

About five o'clock yesterday a fire broke out in a C.P.R. car, which had been used for a cookery for a construction gang. The blaze is supposed to have started from the cook stove in the car and in a few moments the car was in flames. An engine ran the car under a railway hydrant, but the water came down over the top of the car and did not get inside. The arrival of the fire department, however, soon settled the blaze. The interior of the car was badly damaged.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the ig profits now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit? If Not, Here is Your Opportunity

Throat Becomes Diseased From Neglecting Colds

Then Catarrh Sets in, Mucous Drops Into the Stomach, Coughing, Headaches and Debility Follow

That the best method of curing Catarrhal disease consists in using Catarrhozone is now freely admitted. Catarrhozone is infinitely superior to cough medicines, tablets, sprays and emulsions, which for the most part are of no practical value except to ease the cough for the time being. Often liquid cough medicines contain opium, morphine and cocaine. With Catarrhozone you take no drugs — you employ Nature's way—just inhale Catarrhozone's soothing, healing vapor and relief and cure follow promptly.

Weak Throat, Racking Cough Cured.

"For five years I suffered from a severe bronchitis. A harsh, dry racking cough kept my throat in a raw condition from one year's end to another. Before going to sleep at night I always had a bad attack, and in the morning before each breakfast I suffered greatly. My voice was harsh and raspy, and sometimes I found it difficult to make myself understood. Catarrho- from the first day. It cured me and sone seemed to soothe and heal now I wouldn't think of being without a Catarrhozone inhaler — it means life to me."

The above experience is related by Mr. Alexander P. Savery, of Hamilton, Pa., and proves the effectiveness of Catarrhozone, which will cure every cough, cold, bronchial or catarrhal attack. The dollar size of Catarrhozone contains two months' treatment and is guaranteed. Smaller size 50c, sample size 25c. All dealers or the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Cooked In a Knapsack.

Charles XII. of Sweden invented the first portable military fireless cooker. He had a knapsack lined with hay to strap to a soldier's back. When starting on a march a big chicken was split open and the inside dressed clean and then filled with butter. In the chicken was placed a small cannon ball of hot iron. The hot cooking chicken was then placed in the hay knapsack. When the camp was pitched at evening the meat was deliciously cooked and all soaking in butter.

Exposed.

Transient—Was the show last night the real thing, as they advertised?

Uncle Eben—Real thing nothing! It was a fake. The boys exposed it. We got hold of the fellow who played the villain, and after riding him around town he finally confessed that he warn't no real villain after all; just pretendin'.

TO AVOID PASTY, SHINY STREAKED COMPLEXIONS

(From Beauty's Mirror.)

Those who abhor sticky, greasy, shiny complexions should religiously avoid creams, powders and rouges these heated days. There's no need for them, anyway, since the virtues of mercolized wax have become known. No amount of perspiration will produce any evidence that you have been using the wax. As it is applied at bedtime and washed off in the morning, the complexion never looks like a make-up. Mercolized wax gradually takes off a bad complexion instead of adding anything to make it worse. It has none of the disadvantages of cosmetics and accomplishes much more in keeping the complexion beautifully white, satiny and youthful. Just get an ounce of it at your druggists' and see what a few days' treatment will do. Use like cold cream.

Another effective summer treatment—heat tending to cause wrinkles and flabbiness—is a skin-tightener made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in a pint witch hazel. Its use (as a face bath) leaves no trace.

Fenian Raid Money.

It will be of interest to many in Peterborough and elsewhere to learn that the $100 government grant to the Fenian Raid veterans cannot be garnisheed. So declared the Judge Advocate General, Col. H. H. Smith in reply to a question from the Militia Department. His answer reads: "In no case may money payable by the Crown be garnisheed or attached not even when such money is in nature of a debt. The money in question the Fenian Raid grant, is a mere gift. It is in the nature of a pensionary allowance, and not even a volunteer himself may bring suit for its recovery, so no suit by way of attachment or otherwise may be brought against the Crown by his creditors."

ATE REIL'S BREAKFAST.

John Todd of Montreal Tells a Story of 1870 in the West.

"The first meal I ate in the west was a portion of Louis Riel's and the Hudson Bay Co. official's breakfast, inside Fort Garry walls, August 24, 1870, for dinner." The speaker was Private John Todd, well known in Montreal, and the time he spoke of was forty-two years ago and the conditions those that then affected that city. Mr. Todd belonged to the 1st battalion, 60th King's Own Royal Rifles, and his regiment was one of the very first to step into the domains of Western Canada proper.

He later made another trip west in 1873, but the first excursion was full of interest. When he found his health would not bear the inclemencies of the outside weather he engaged as cook for the 78th W. M. P. At that time there was no Winnipeg. A few shacks existed along Portage avenue, and old Trinity Church was on its site, but that was all there was outside of the fort itself.

It was during midsummer of 1873 that Mr. Todd went west for the second time. He joined the Northwest Mounted Police in the spring of that year at Montreal, going west with Major Walsh of Brockville, and the three Steele brothers, Samuel, Richard and Dick. The first fall he stayed in the west was very wet and he caught rheumatic fever.

He tells the story of his life in the following words:

"I joined the first detachment of the Northwest Mounted Police the latter part of September, 1875. A little later we left Ottawa, P.Q., for Collingwood, Ont., with Major Walsh, of Brockville, in command, en route for the Red River, Manitoba. When we landed in Collingwood we had to wait a few days for a steamer to convey us across the lakes to Port Arthur.

"During our short stay in Collingwood, I met with an accident caused by two little boys wrestling behind me. One threw the other against me, causing me to stumble and the ruff of the sleeve of my right arm caught in the trigger of the weapon I was carrying causing it to explode. The bullet entered between the thumb and finger of my right hand coming out at the wrist and entering in again into the thick of the arm, and lodging in the elbow. Major Walsh took me over to the city doctor and had him examine the arm. He said it was only a flesh wound and that it would not signify; I might continue my journey.

"That evening the steamer moored up at the wharf and next morning we got aboard of her. Shortly she loosed her moorings and cleared the port. She was heavy loaded between freight and passengers. The first evening on the boat I had to get a sling and place my left hand and arm into it and pack them in ice. We traveled over the big lakes and Dawson road from Port Arthur to old Rat Portage. Between boating and portaging that was our route from there across the six-mile portage to the northwest angle of the continuation of the old Dawson trail.

"We passed Fort du Scheme into, or rather through St. Boniface, then across the Red river in a scow. After landing I was placed in a military hospital under the care of old Dr. Todd until such times as the mounted police got settled and got a place fixed suitable for hospital at the lower Fort Garry, twenty-three miles north of Winnipeg. After I was transferred I had no peace, the doctors were probing for the bullet in my arm. They decided on amputation of the arm at the shoulder. But I objected and later got the bullet out with an application of milk and brown sugar poultices.

I changed them every night and morning and after I took off the fourth poultict I had the bullet at the edge of the skin and I got one of the boys to tie it stationary with a piece of cotton. When the doctor came in next morning, I asked him if he had a lance or a sharp knife. He just cut the skin and Mr. Bullet dropped out on the floor and the little villain rolled away under the bed to hide.—Montreal Standard.

ITALY'S LUCKY TRAMPS.

The State Shelters Them and Food and Drink Come Easy.

Assuredly the tramp in Italy is a man to be envied! Save for a coat to his back and shoes to his feet there are few things which he need worry about as he passes from village to village in that country of blue skies and sunshine. Food he can find in the vineyards and on the fig trees, drink is obtainable almost for nothing, so plentiful is wine, and shelter is provided for him gratis by a benevolent government.

"I was often struck during my recent journey in northern Italy by the delightful public dormitories which are erected by the roadsides throughout the country, especially in the valleys leading from the Mediterranean coast to the hill towns of Liguria.

I visited a dormitorio publico on the highway near Camporosso, in the Nervia valley, and surely no wayfarer could desire a more charming resting place. The authorities have placed it under the shade of the olive trees, so that, however hot the sun may be, the footsore traveler can obtain his much needed siesta in a perfectly cool place. It looked so attractive, standing there in the shade, that I myself was almost tempted to escape from the sunshine and seek refuge beneath its hospitable roof."—Wide World Magazine.

SCOTCH TERRIERS.

Their Origin and the Conditions That Made Them a Necessity.

In ancient times each district in the highlands had its "todhunter," whose duty it was to see carefully to it that the then flourishing firm of fox, otter and company did not do a too prosperous business in lamb and poultry. Sometimes these todhunters were of "the laird's men," sometimes they were supported by the whole community of small farmers and grazers, but always they were local dignitaries. There was honor and considerable profit in their office, and in time it came to be more or less hereditary. Their duty was simple. They waged a war of extermination against the vermin, which, however, was a very different matter from the good old English sport of fox hunting.

In the rough country horse and hound would have been worse than useless, and Reynard made his den in such rocky ground that he could not be dug out. The sole solution was a dog small enough to follow the fox or otter or badger or wild cat into his lair, strong enough to bring him out dead or alive and game enough to do both. A dog developed from this necessity, and that dog was the ancestor of the present day Scottish terrier.—William Haynes in Outing.

Water at Meals.

There is a very popular fallacy abroad—namely, that a person should never drink water with his meals. There is one and only one danger in this. That is the temptation to wash down half masticated food with water. There is one distinct advantage in the digestion of food when water is taken with the meals. As food is swallowed it goes to the stomach in a lump about the consistency of a bread dressing. One can see that it requires a great length of time for the digestive juices to penetrate the mass and come in contact with the food particles. If the food is diluted with water the digestive juices can easily have access to it. In this and in other ways water keeps the digestive tract clean. If people drank enough water there would be no operations for appendicitis.—Kansas Industrialist.

Why Animals Fear Man.

The universal antipathy of animated nature for man can scarcely be explained as the teaching of experience. Man has played his role of universal meddler for too short a time to have

THE VICTORIAN ORDER.

Three Noblewomen Represented In Nursing Movement.

The Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada was founded to meet real needs in the Dominion. Up to the time of its organization there were two large classes of people who were left practically unprovided for in time of illness. There was first the class of the very poor, who could not afford to pay anything towards their nursing care, and, then, the much larger classes, necessarily in a new and prosperous country like Canada, of the people of moderate means, who were able and willing to pay something towards their care, but could not pay the private nurse's fees—moderate though these fees are—nor could they accommodate an extra person in their homes. These needs had gone on for a long time, but it was not until the year 1897 that any satisfactory attempt was made to meet them. In that year, when all of the late beloved Queen's loyal subjects were seeking suitable memorials to commemorate her Diamond Jubilee, the happy thought came to Lady Aberdeen to found an Order of Nurses, whose special work would be the care of those two large classes. So the Victorian Order of Nurses was founded, under royal charter, and the chief objects

The objects are:—

(1) To supply nurses thoroughly trained in hospital and district nursing, and subject to one central authority, for the nursing of the sick who are otherwise unable to obtain trained nursing in their own homes, both in town and country districts;

(2) To bring local associations for supplying district nurses into association by affiliation with the Order which bears Her Majesty's name, and to afford pecuniary or other assistance to such local associations;

(3) To maintain, as a first necessity, a high standard of efficiency for all district nursing;

(4) To assist in providing small cottage hospitals or nursing homes.

Then in the year 1900 Lady Minto who was then honorary president the Order made an extended tour through the Dominion, and was so impressed with the needs of the people in the newer—the outlying—parts of Canada for more adequate nursing care than could be given by means of visiting or district nursing, that she was instrumental in starting a fund which finally settled into what is now known as the Lady Minto Cottage Hospital Fund. It is from the interest on this fund that grants are made from time to time towards the building of small hospitals in parts where they are needed, and where there would be difficulty in raising the necessary money without such assistance. The next improvement was the plan formulated in 1909, known as the Lady Grey County District Nursing Scheme.

Roughly outlined, it is to organise local associations in large country districts—twenty miles square or more—to supply trained nurses for the people on the ranches, farms, or homesteads. The nurses will have their headquarters in the most central spot possible, and will go to patients near at hand, or five, ten, fifteen, or twenty mile district. They will combine district with continuous nursing, and we hope that the nurses will not only prove nurses to the sick and suffering, but also be friendly visitors, teachers, and advisers to the people in the lonely parts of this vast land.

The order is in its fifteenth year, and there are under it thirty-one town districts, one country district, seventeen hospitals, and four training centres. The staffs vary from one of fifty-one nurses. There are now 188 nurses working under the Order. It extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean, has branches in every province, excepting little Prince Edward Island, and each year the nurses are penetrating into new parts of the country.

Sickened of the Scalpel.

An extraordinary event led Lassone, physician to Louis XVI. of France, to abandon his anatomical studies. While selecting from among some dead bodies a suitable subject for dissection he imagined that one of them showed doubtful signs of death and sought to revive a life which was perhaps not extinguished. His efforts were crowned with success. He cured the man and as he was poor nourished and supported him, but the idea of having been on the point of committing a crime so affected Lassone that he felt himself unable to pursue his accustomed labors, and from that time forward he studied natural history and chemistry in place of anatomy.

Animal Ink.

Along the rocky shores of New England is much indelible ink. It is better than any that can be bought—a beautiful crimson in color and when applied to fabrics absolutely unchangeable. This ink is contained in little bottles put up by Nature herself, the receptacles in question being certain whelks, or sea snails, of the species known to science as Purpura lapillus. If the shell of one of these whelks be broken there will be found just under the skin of the back a slender whitish vein containing a yellow liquor. The latter when applied to linen with a small brush and exposed to the sun turns first green, then blue, then purple and finally a brilliant crimson. Nothing will wash it out.

Milking the Cow.

"The sight of one of his good cows standing under a tree down the lane at milking time would throw the modern dairyman into a fever," writes Charles White. "The harmless, necessary cow of these enlightened times stands in her highly hygienic stall, which is floored with concrete and frequently scrubbed. The cow herself is curried and brushed every day. Where is the haymow? Gone; gone with the milkmaid, the dodo and the auk into the obsolete past. One listens in vain around the barn for the old slogan, 'Git over thar, gol ding ye!' with the accompanying bump of the knee against old bossy's ribs. All that has gone out too. Cruelty is costly. Kindness pays. In these days of conservation the man who mistreats animals is picking his boss' pocket."

Woman's Work.

A lady doctor writing to The London Chronicle on "Women Workers" makes the following unanswerable statement: "If you come to estimate a day's work, even in foot pounds, the woman who cleans, bakes, washes and takes to school six children, carries water and tramps up stairs and down for sixteen hours a day need not fear comparison as to kinetic energy even with a miner working eight hours."

"True, but is all this quite necessary?" asks London Punch. "Could not her children sometimes get to school unaccompanied and unbathed? And why must she keep on carrying tramps up and down stairs all that time? Is it even fair on these poor unemployed?"

A Business Victim.

"Does you 'member dat dawg I used to have?" asked Mr. Erastus Pinkley.

"Yes," replied Uncle Rasberry. "You means dat mixed dog?"

"He was kind o' mixed. He was what I calls a black-an'-tan-dale terrier. Well, suh, dat dawg ain' brought me nuffin' but bad luck. I sold 'im to a man foh two dollahs, an' de two dollahs he slipped me were counterfeit."

"What you gineter do?"

"What kin I do? If I shows 'im any way to prove de transaction was unlegal he's gineter make me take de dawg back."—Washington Star.

Hospital Ships.

According to the rules of civilized warfare, hospital ships are exempt from capture. They must, however, fly the Red Cross flag as well as their national flag. All hospital ships are painted white, with a broad green band running right round the hull. The medical, hospital and religious staff of any captured ship cannot be made prisoners of war.

Contradictory.

"Did she accept him?"

"Oh, yes, after looking him up in the financial reports and finding that he could."

All Settled.

Mistress—Going to leave, are you? Tired of working for a living? What are you going to do then?

Maid—Nothing, ma'am. The fortune teller tells me that I'm going to marry money.

News About Two Great Men.

Even Franklin himself would be surprised at the following information gathered from a freshman's essay:

"Franklin's education was got by himself. He worked himself up to be a great literal man. He was also able to invent electricity. Franklin's father was a tallow chandelier."

This followed:

"Sir Walter Raleigh was put out once when his servant found him with fire in his head. And one day after there had been a lot of rain, he threw his cloak in a puddle and the queen stepped dryly over."—Everybody's.

She Knew.

Mistress—Nora, I saw a policeman in the park today kiss a baby. I hope you will remember my objections to such things. Nora—Sure, ma'am, no policeman would ever think of kissin' yer baby when I'm around.—Louisville Post.

Good Place to Stop.

"Yes, before papa would consent to my marrying George he insisted on looking up his past life."

"Mercy, that was risky!"

"But he didn't go very far. He stopped just as he found that George was the only nephew of three rich uncles."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

British Columbians Plan to Build a Great Highway.

Throughout the length and breadth of Canada there is just now an awakening to the needs of better roads. East and west and north and south the cry for improved highways is heard, says P. W. Luce in Canadian Courier.

As with many another public affair the west was the first to take cognisance of this condition on a large scale, and with a view to hurry forward the day when all Canadian roads would be a credit to the nation, the Canadian Highway Association was formed in New Westminster last November, its main object being to construct a highway that will reach from the west coast of Vancouver Island to Halifax, N.S., and that will be traveled by automobiles, horses and vehicles for every mile of road.

It is not the purpose of this association to build this road; such an enterprise is far beyond the power of any private body or association; it is essentially a matter for the Governments, Federal and Provincial. But the work which the Canadian Highway Association plans to do will, and has tended to, advance the construction of the transcontinental highway.

Education is the means whereby the officers of the Canadian Highway Association plan to create and awaken the cry for good roads to such an extent that the public all over Canada will rise and demand this boon. Every year, in an indifferent, halting way, with something of the beggar's plea for alms, the tax-payers of this country have petitioned for better roads and for the improved highways. The intention is that in the future the economic necessity of good roads be so strongly impressed on the powers-that-be that adequate grants will be made without cavil. And this is as it should be, for no country in the world is in greater need of good roads than Canada is to-day.

Perhaps because its headquarters are in the Province of British Columbia, the work of the association has met with a greater success in the west than has been the case in the east. The officers, or rather the majority of them, are western men in close touch with western conditions, and acquainted with western members of Parliament, both provincial and federal. Personal representation is a mighty leverage when concession is sought from a Government, and this has been used repeatedly in British Columbia. The result is that a sum of $1,800,000 in excess of any previous appropriation was secured from the Legislature this year, and that a big portion of this is to be spent on the construction of the British Columbia section of the Canadian highway. Through the Hope Mountain district is perhaps the most difficult road that will ever be built in Canada. The sum of $75,000 has been set aside for the work there this year, this being supplemented by an equal amount given by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

W. J. Kerr, of New Westminster, is president of the association. He has shown his active interest in the cause of better roads for many years, and has made this his one hobby. Independently wealthy and full of virile enthusiasm, Mr. Kerr was mainly responsible for the calling of the convention that resulted in the formation of the Canadian Highway Association.

Well Done.

FIFTY YEARS IN WILDS

CIVILIZATION IS NOW CATCHING UP TO FATHER GROUARD.

Devoted Priest Who Went Into the Peace River Valley When There Were Very Few White Men West of the Red River, Is to Be Given a Great Celebration on His Golden Anniversary.

There is a settlement in the far north which is coming into the public notice very much these days, because it is the head of navigation on Lesser Slave Lake, and is destined, for a time at least, to be a distribution point for the great Peace River valley. The name of the town is Grouard. Almost everybody who is at all interested in the north country, knows of the town, not so many, however, know of the man for whom it was named.

To go back in the records of time forty-nine years is no particular feat for the historian. That is what one might call contemporaneous history. But to go back that far in the history of the far north is to hark clear back to the beginning of things recorded, or nearly so.

The name Grouard has been identified with the development of the Peace River valley for the last forty-nine years, although the town of that name is but a few days old. It is a name which was taken into the north by a man—a very human, manly man, but yet a very good man.

Forty-nine years ago, when Emile Grouard penetrated the loneliness of the northern wilderness to carry the cross to the savage tribesmen, he was a young priest, invested with his holy orders only a year before. He was young in experience, but he was strong in the enthusiasm of his pious mission, and brave in the faith of the greatest missionary church in the world. The perils and hardships of the north were far greater than they are to-day, but where there was an unbaptized heathen to be taught the gospel, the obstacles could not be too great for this zealous missionary.

At that time, nobody but the agents of the Hudson Bay Co., an occasional stray trapper, and one or two representatives of the Government had ever visited the Slave Lake country. The Mounted Police had not yet sprung into existence, and the pale face was a novelty to the Indians, and not a very welcome novelty, either. The civilized world looked on the north as a waste of snow and ice and worthless jungles. It was considered of no commercial interest beyond being an open range for fur-bearing animals.

Nobody but a man with the courage of a great cause could have taken upon himself to pioneer that country with the message of love, and deliberately isolate himself away from even the casual paths of civilized man. But such a zealot was Father Grouard.

Times have changed considerably since then. The Peace River valley to-day is the lodestone which is drawing the pick of the men of the rest of Canada, the Old Country, the United States, and a half dozen other countries. Its population, though small, is growing with surprising rapidity. From several different points, railroad lines are racing to tap its mines of eternal wealth. The tide of civilization is sweeping northward like the rush of the Mississippi broken through its levees. Bishop Grouard is no longer isolated. In the fullness of his years, he can gaze from the head of Lesser Slave Lake in all directions, and see the seed he sewed in his youth bearing rich fruit.

Bishop Grouard, now a venerable, snowy bearded patriarch of 77 years, is about to celebrate the golden anniversary of his priesthood. The event will take place on the 29th and 30th of June. The people of Grouard and the surrounding country are making elaborate preparations to mark it with a fitting celebration for such a significant event in the story of the north country.

This will be the biggest thing that has happened in a festive way so far in the history of Slave Lake; indeed, there may never be anything quite like it again. For these reasons the north folk are taking a tremendous interest in the perfection of the details of the program.

The whites will not be alone in doing honor to the grand old man of the Peace River. Perhaps they will be only a minor feature of the celebration. For the word has been sent out among the remaining fragments of the northern Indian tribes, scattered as they are now, and from every part of the north tribesmen and halfbreeds are preparing to go to Grouard for the anniversary. These people, who have known Bishop Grouard the longest and loved him the best, see more plainly, perhaps, than the palefaces the actual significance of what they are to celebrate. To them the bishop is little less than a deity. And that may be said without impiety, for he has worked so much good among them for more than a generation that to them he is the physical manifestation of the great teaching which he brought.

So the Indians will gather from far and near, and they will pay their respects after their own way, not overlooking, of course, the great barbecue which is to be prepared. It will be the last great assemblage of these rapidly disappearing people, probably, and there is something tragically sad in the realization of this fact, and in the additional fact that it is the power of the influence of one man, and he the representative of the white man's religion, that has brought them together for the final grand pow wow.

The first sawmill and the first grist mill in the far north were built by the bishop, and he it was who first plowed the wonderfully fertile soil of the valley of the Peace. He chose the site of the present town of Grouard and built the first house thereon. He it was who built the first steamboat on Lesser Slave Lake.

In the French chamber of deputies each speaker has to mount a tribune near the president's chair. On a deputy coming forward to address the assembly an usher invariably brings a glass of some beverage and places it at his side. Under the empire orators were allowed only a glass of sweetened water, and nowadays when a new speaker advances the usher, to be on the right side, gives him a glass of sweetened water, but among the veteran speakers water alone is not very high in favor. Cold soup, coffee, wine, spirits and lemonade are among the favorite beverages.

TO DETECT ICEBERGS.

Prof. Barnes of McGill Has Invented a Device.

In the realms of experimental physics Canada has produced some great men. On it, too, lustre has been shed by other brilliant men who have come and gone like birds of passage—men who, coming to Canada practically unknown, have found here the inspiration and the means which have laid firm and solid the foundations of great careers.

Just now the attention of the world of experimental physics is focused upon one who is essentially Canadian in upbringing, in tradition, in education, and also in the particular direction in which his genius is manifesting itself.

This man is Prof. Howard T. Barnes, D.Sc., F.R.S.C., the Director of the Physical Laboratories and the Macdonald Professor of Physics at McGill University.

Canada knows something about ice, and it seems peculiarly fitting that it should have produced a man who is now the greatest authority on ice that the world possesses. That, I think I can say, is the title that is generally conceded by the greatest scientific authorities to Prof. Barnes.

During the past few years Prof. Barnes has been devoting the best energies of his mind to experiments the express object of which has been to make impossible such a disaster at sea as that which occurred to the Titanic. He now has in his laboratory, as the concrete result of those experiments, an instrument, which he declares, and which his brother-scientists believe, should for all time prevent a repetition of such an accident.

This instrument he calls a microthermometer. It is, in fact, a thermometer of superlative sensitiveness, which, he declares, will infallibly detect an iceberg at a distance of not less than two miles on the windward side of it and seven miles on the lee ward side.

Prof. Barnes' device is an adaptation of the electrical resistance thermometer—so sensitive that it will record a variation of one-thousandth of a degree. This thermometer is designed to be permanently attached to the ship under the water, and by means of wires leading from it to the chart room to make a continuous record in the chart room of the water temperature. So striking is this record that, whereas on an ordinary thermometer a single degree is usually represented by only one-eighth of an inch, the new thermometer represents a single degree by an interval of two feet.

He is still a young man, under 40 years of age, and thus not so very far removed from his student days. A glance at his face is sufficient to reveal him to the observant as a thinker. His dark eyes have in them that "inwardness," that steady, confident look which comes, not of arrogant self-assertion, but of the quiet strength of the intellectual power.

The instrument has already been tried with absolute success on the Government steamers in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Prof. Barnes is now going to try it on a transatlantic trip. The steamship Royal George, outward bound from Montreal on May 1, was equipped with two of these thermometers, and Prof. Barnes directed its use, as he sailed on the ship to England to lecture, by invitation, on this very subject before that famous body of scientists, the Royal Institution.—Toronto Globe.

OUR MOST HYBRID WORD.

"Remacadamizing" Can Boast of Having Five Language Parents.

The most hybrid word in the English language, according to Professor A. F. Chamberlain of Clarke university, writing in the Popular Science Monthly, is "remacadamizing." Professor Clarke points out that this word is derived from five languages—Latin, Gaelic, Hebrew, Greek and English. He resolves it into its factors as follows:

First.—Re, a Latin prefix, signifying a repetition or doing over again.

Second.—Mac, a Gaelic word for son, in common use as a prefix for genealogical purposes.

Third.—Adam, the representative in many European languages of the Hebrew name of the first man, according to the Mosaic account of the creation as given in the book of Genesis.

Fourth.—Iz (or ize), the modern English representative, through the French, iser of the Greek verbal terminal izein.

Fifth.—Ing, the English suffix of the participle present, verbal noun, etc.

The root of this word, "macadam," illustrates in another way the vitality of our English speech and its ability to draw new words into its vocabulary whenever the need arises. The term "macadam" is really the family name of the man, John Macadam, who in 1819 devised the now common method of paving roads with small broken stones, etc. Celtic and Semitic had already combined to produce macadam meaning "son of Adam," which the English language then took up and further molded to suit [illegible].

There are many such hybrids, but this is probably the worst.

British Columbians Plan to Build a Great Highway.

Throughout the length and breadth of Canada there is just now an awakening to the needs of better roads. East and west and north and south the cry for improved highways is heard, says P. W. Luce in Canadian Courier.

As with many another public affair the west was the first to take cognisance of this condition on a large scale, and with a view to hurry forward the day when all Canadian roads would be a credit to the nation, the Canadian Highway Association was formed in New Westminster last November, its main object being to construct a highway that will reach from the west coast of Vancouver Island to Halifax, N.S., and that will be traveled by automobiles, horses and vehicles for every mile of road.

It is not the purpose of this association to build this road; such an enterprise is far beyond the power of any private body or association; it is essentially a matter for the Governments, Federal and Provincial. But the work which the Canadian Highway Association plans to do will, and has tended to, advance the construction of the transcontinental highway.

Education is the means whereby the officers of the Canadian Highway Association plan to create and awaken th cry for good roads to such an extent that the public all over Canada will rise and demand this boon. And this is as it should be, for no country in the world is in greater need of good roads than Canada is to-day.

Perhaps because its headquarters are in the Province of British Columbia, the work of the association has met with a greater success in the west than has been the case in the east. The officers, or rather the majority of them, are western men in close touch with western conditions, and acquainted with western members of Parliament, both provincial and federal. Personal representation is a mighty leverage when concession is sought from a Government, and this has been used repeatedly in British Columbia. The result is that a sum of $1,000,000 in excess of any previous appropriation was secured from the Legislature this year, and that a big portion of this is to be spent on the construction of the British Columbia section of the Canadian highway. Through the Hope Mountain district is perhaps the most difficult road that will ever be built in Canada. The Mounted Police had not yet sprung into existence, and the pale face was a novelty to the Indians, and not a very welcome novelty, either. The civilized world looked on the north as a waste of snow and ice and worthless jungles. It was considered of no commercial interest beyond being an open range for fur-bearing animals.

Nobody but a man with the courage of a great cause could have taken upon himself to pioneer that country with the message of love, and deliberately isolate himself away from even the casual paths of civilized man. But such a zealot was Father Grouard.

Times have changed considerably since then. The Peace River valley to-day is the lodestone which is drawing the pick of the men of the rest of Canada, the Old Country, the United States, and a half dozen other countries. Its population, though small, is growing with surprising rapidity. From several different points, railroad lines are racing to lap its mines of eternal wealth. The tide of civilization is sweeping northward like the rush of the Mississippi broken through its levees. Bishop Grouard is no longer isolated. In the fullness of his years, he can gaze from the head of Lesser Slave Lake in all directions, and see the seed he sowed in his youth bearing rich fruit.

Bishop Grouard, now a venerable, snowy bearded patriarch of 77 years, is about to celebrate the golden anniversary of his priesthood. The event will take place on the 29th and 30th of June. The people of Grouard and the surrounding country are making elaborate preparations to mark it with a fitting celebration for such a significant event in the story of the north country.

This will be the biggest thing that has happened in a festive way so far in the history of Slave Lake; indeed, there may never be anything quite like it again. For these reasons the north folk are taking a tremendous interest in the perfection of the details of the program.

The whites will not be alone in doing honor to the grand old man of the Peace River. Perhaps they will be only a minor feature of the celebration. For the word has been sent out among the remaining fragments of the northern Indian tribes, scattered as they are now, and from every part of the north tribesmen and halfbreeds are preparing to go to Grouard for the anniversary. These people, who have known Bishop Grouard the longest and loved him the best, see more plainly, perhaps, than the palefaces the actual significance of what they are to celebrate. To them the bishop is little less than a deity. And that may be said without impiety, for he has worked so much good among them for more than a generation that to them he is the physical manifestation of the great teaching which he brought.

So the Indians will gather from far and near, and they will pay their respects after their own way, not overlooking, of course, the great barbecue which is to be prepared. It will be the last great assemblage of these rapidly disappearing people, probably, and there is something tragically sad in the realization of this fact, and in the additional fact that it is the power of the influence of one man, and he the representative of the white man's religion, that has brought them together for the final grand pow wow.

The first sawmill and the first grist mill in the far north were built by the bishop, and he it was who first plowed the wonderfully fertile soil of the valley of the Peace. He chose the site of the present town of Grouard and built the first house thereon. He it was who built the first steamboat on Lesser Slave Lake.

Free Drinks.

In the French chamber of deputies each speaker has to mount a tribune near the president's chair. On a deputy coming forward to address the assembly an usher invariably brings a glass of some beverage and places it at his side. Under the empire orators were allowed only a glass of sweetened water, and nowadays when a new speaker advances the usher, to be on the right side, gives him a glass of sweetened water, but among the veteran speakers water alone is not very high in favor. Cold soup, coffee, wine, spirits and lemonade are among the favorite beverages.

TO DETECT ICEBERGS.

Prof. Barnes of McGill Has Invented a Device.

In the realms of experimental physics Canada has produced some great men. On it, too, lustre has been shed by other brilliant men who have come and gone like birds of passage—men who, coming to Canada practically unknown, have found here the inspiration and the means which have laid firm and solid the foundations of great careers.

Just now the attention of the world of experimental physics is focused upon one who is essentially Canadian in upbringing, in tradition, in education, and also in the particular direction in which his genius is manifesting itself.

This man is Prof. Howard T. Barnes, D.Sc., F.R.S.C., the Director of the Physical Laboratories and the Macdonald Professor of Physics at McGill University.

Canada knows something about ice, and it seems peculiarly fitting that it should have produced a man who is now the greatest authority on ice that the world possesses. That, I think I can say, is the title that is generally conceded by the greatest scientific authorities to Prof. Barnes.

During the past few years Prof. Barnes has been devoting the best energies of his mind to experiments the express object of which has been to make impossible such a disaster at sea as that which occurred to the Titanic. He now has in his laboratory, as the concrete result of these experiments, an instrument, which he declares, and which his brother-scientists believe, should for all time prevent a repetition of such an accident.

This instrument he calls a microthermometer. It is, in fact, a thermometer of superlative sensitiveness, which, he declares, will infallibly detect an iceberg at a distance of not less than two miles on the windward side of it and seven miles on the leeward side.

Prof. Barnes' device is an adaptation of the electrical resistance thermometer—so sensitive that it will record a variation of one-thousandth of a degree. This thermometer is designed to be permanently attached to the ship under the water, and by means of wires leading from it to the chart room to make a continuous record in the chart room of the water temperature. So striking is this record that, whereas on an ordinary thermometer a single degree is usually represented by only one-eighth of an inch, the new thermometer represents a single degree by an interval of two feet.

He is still a young man, under 40 years of age, and thus not so very far removed from his student days. A glance at his face is sufficient to reveal him to the observant as a thinker. His dark eyes have in them that "inwardness," that steady, confident look which comes, not of arrogant self-assertion, but of the quiet strength of the intellectual power.

The instrument has already been tried with absolute success on the Government steamers in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Prof. Barnes is now going to try it on a transatlantic trip. The steamship Royal George, outward bound from Montreal on May 1, was equipped with two of these thermometers, and Prof. Barnes directed its use, as he sailed on the ship to England to lecture, by invitation, on this very subject before that famous body of scientists, the Royal Institution.—Toronto Globe.

OUR MOST HYBRID WORD.

"Remacadamizing" Can Boast of Having Five Language Parents.

The most hybrid word in the English language, according to Professor A. F. Chamberlain of Clarke university, writing in the Popular Science Monthly, is "remacadamizing." Professor Clarke points out that this word is derived from five languages—Latin, Gaelic, Hebrew, Greek and English. He resolves it into its factors as follows:

First.—Re, a Latin prefix, signifying a repetition or doing over again.

Second.—Mac, a Gaelic word for son, in common use as a prefix for genealogical purposes.

Third.—Adam, the representative in many European languages of the Hebrew name of the first man, according to the Mosaic account of the creation as given in the book of Genesis.

Fourth.—Is (or ize), the modern English representative, through the French, izer of the Greek verbal terminal izein.

Fifth.—Ing, the English suffix of the participle present, verbal noun, etc.

The root of this word, "macadam," illustrates in another way the vitality of our English speech and its ability to draw new words into its vocabulary whenever the need arises. The term "macadam" is really the family name of the man, John Macadam, who in 1819 devised the now common method of paving roads with small broken stones, etc. Celtic and Semitic had already combined to produce macadam meaning "son of Adam," which the English language then took up and further molded to suit its genius.

There are many such hybrids, but this is probably the worst.

COINS AND THE MINT.

Metal Money That Uncle Sam's Officials Buy and Sell.

The mint does not buy old coins or paper money, except certain rare colonial coins in fine condition, desired for the mint's cabinet. Mutilated or uncurrent United States gold and silver coin is purchased as bullion. The mint has no pattern pieces for sale, and the government pays no premium for the return of any of its coins or paper money.

New coins cannot be struck in this country in the absence of authorization by congress. The mint supplies United States coins only and not of any past date. The fifty dollar gold piece and the half dollar and quarter dollar pieces in gold were struck by private parties on the Pacific coast during the '49 period and [illegible] by the federal government.

The coinage of the following coins ceased in the years named: The half cent, copper, in 1857; one cent, nickel, 1864; half dime and three cent, silver, and two cent, bronze, in 1873; twenty cent, silver, 1878; trade dollars, 1883; one dollar and three dollar, gold, and three cent nickel, 1889. The Columbian half dollar was coined in 1892 and the Isabella quarter in 1893. The Lafayette dollar was struck in 1899, the date on the coin (1900) being that of the unveiling of the memorial.

Certain markings, indicating the place of coinage, are to be seen on our coins. Those struck at the Philadelphia mint have no mint mark, but those struck at all other mints are distinguished by a small letter on the reverse, near the bottom. These letters are "C" for Charlotte, N. C., discontinued in 1861; "CC" for Carson City, Nev., discontinued in 1893; "D" for Dahlonega, Ga., discontinued in 1861; "O" for New Orleans, and "S" for San Francisco.

The coins of the United States now authorized by law are: In gold, double eagle, eagle, half eagle, quarter eagle; in silver, dollar, half dollar, quarter dollar and dime; minor, five cent, nickel and one cent, bronze.

Proof sets of both gold and silver coins are to be had by purchase from the mint. When business there is slack medals may be struck from dies furnished by individuals, public institutions and incorporated societies at a charge sufficient to cover the cost of the operation and the value of the metal.—Scientific American.

Had Stomach Rumblings Distress Before Meals

Was Seldom Free From that Weary, Droopy, Half Dead Feeling.

Now Cured, and Gives Good Advice to Others With Dyspeptic Tendencies.

If you have any stomach distress all you will certainly be interested in the following experience, which is told by Mr. Edward Dawkins:

"When I was working around the farm last winter I had an attack of inflammation," writes Mr. E. P. Dawkins, of Port Richmond. "I was weak for a long time, but well enough to work until spring. But something went wrong with my bowels, for I had to use salts or physic all the time. My stomach kept sour, and always after eating there was pain and fulness, and all the symptoms of intestinal indigestion. Nothing helped me until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Instead of cutting, like other pills, they acted very mildly and seemed to heal the bowels. I did not require large doses to get results with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and feel so glad that I have found a mild yet certain remedy. To-day I am well, [illegible], no sour stomach, a good [illegible], able to digest anything. This is a whole lot of good for one medicine to do, and I can say Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the best pills, and my letter, I am sure, proves it."

Refuse a substitute for Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. 25c per box or five for $1.00 at all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Hotels Are Full.

Mr. Shearer, of Buckham, was in the City yesterday and called on the Times. He says that fishing never was better than it is this year at that popular resort. The hotels are all full with summer guests, and everybody appears to be having a thoroughly good time.

Norman Sukloff's Case.

Norman Sukloff, the proprietor of a store on George street, appeared at the police court yesterday, charged with violation of the early closing by-law. After hearing evidence, pro and con, the Magistrate reserved judgment. Mr. D. O'Connell acted for the defense.

A Record Catch.

Rochester Times: Mr. and Mrs. Andrew A. Shearer and family, of Columbia avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Maples of Garson avenue have been spending a fortnight's vacation at Burleigh Falls, Canada. On a fishing expedition, Mr. Shearer landed a 15½ lb. maskilonge measuring 50 inches from tip to tip, which was said to be a record catch at Burleigh. He is having it mounted.

Fly Attacks Potato Plant.

Reports from the Belleville district indicate that there is a small green fly at work on the potato plants, which is working great havoc. The fly locates itself under the leaves and on the blossoms, which it destroys, thus depriving the tubers of nourishment. It is said that the ravages of this insect are as bad as those of the Colorado beetle and that it cannot be got rid of as easily as the Colorado pest.

Visiting Northern Ontario.

Travelling on the Grand Trunk, the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario, and the National Transcontinental Railways, a party of about 100 Liberal members of the Ontario Legislature and Liberal supporters will make a tour of New Ontario, starting from Toronto, July 30th. The itinerary includes Cobalt, New Liskeard, Matheson, Monteith, Cochrane, Timmins, Whitney, Porcupine, Swastika, Englehart, Charlton and Haileybury. In all the trip will take about a week.

Assault Case Dismissed.

John Quinlan charged Stephen Corkery at the police court yesterday, with assaulting him last Tuesday morning on the River Bank, in East City. A dispute arose over the spilling of a load of wood, of which Quinlan was in charge and which he had been engaged to draw by Corkery. After taking a lot of evidence the case was dismissed. Mr. G. W. Hatton appeared for the defense and Mr. G. N. Gordon for the prosecution.

Robbing the Grand Trunk.

Heavy punishment has been awarded at Belleville to a gang of thieves who have been disturbing the neighborhood for some time. The offense on which they were convicted was that of entering a Grand Trunk car and stealing from it a quantity of shoes. Three of the prisoners were sentenced to five years in the penitentiary, while a fourth was given two years in prison. The remaining member of the gang, while acquitted of the theft, was given six months for vagrancy.

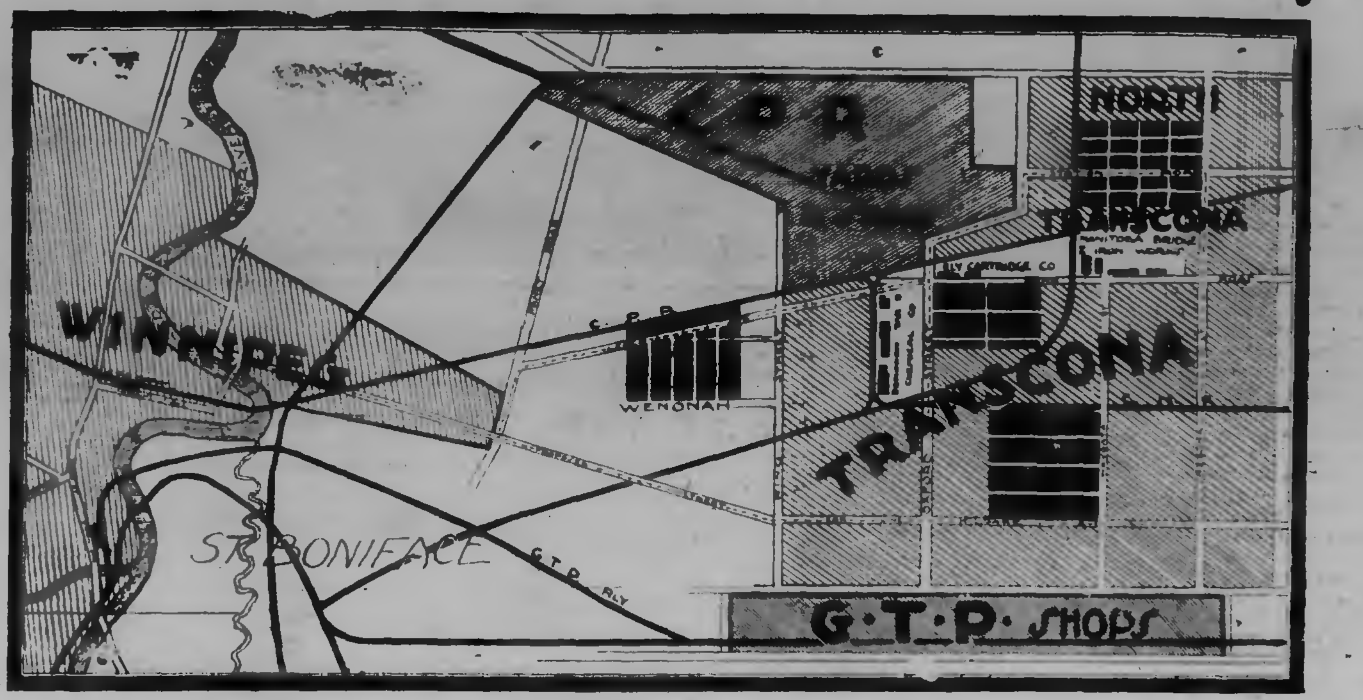
Mr. Miller visited the unfortunate girl yesterday morning and decided to institute deportation proceedings. A warrant will be issued for the girl's arrest, and she will be taken care of by the authorities until the necessary deportation papers arrive.

Take Our Advice and Invest in Transcona To-day



Winnipeg's Railway and Industrial Centre

TRANSCONA is rapidly becoming the recognized manufacturing centre of Winnipeg, and will be to Winnipeg what Toronto Junction is to Toronto.

The Grand Trunk Pacific are rushing to complete their immense shops at Transcona, one unit of theses are already finished, the machinery is now being tested, and in a few weeks' time one thousand men will be employed permanently and other sections will be pleted as rapidly as possible, and will give employment to a small army of mechanics.

The C. P. R. are now building the largest railway yard in the world at Transcona, together with elevators, round houses and other terminal facilities. Several industrial plants are already located in Transcona, and many others will be located there in the near future. The Dominion Tar and Chemical Co., and the Ely Cartridge Company now have their plants in operation. The Manitoba Bridge and Iron Works are building an enormous plant, and expect to have a part of it completed by the first of the year.

The G. T. P. shops will give employment to four or five thousand men, and in the near future the C. P. R. will require fully one thousand mechanics and yard men and the several manufacturing plants will require sufficient men to bring the total number of employees in Transcona up to fifteen thousand, this will mean a city with a population of over fifty thousand people.

Transcona has been incorporated, a progressive Council elected, and contracts have been already let for several mile of sidewalks, streets graded, electric light, and the question of sewage is now under consideration.

Investors who buy in Transcona to-day will make large profits. Real estate values in Transcona are exceptionally low, considering the possibilities of this young City. Lots that we are now offering for $5.00 per ft. and upwards will be worth from $100.00 to $300.00 per ft., in less than five years' time.

Any Investor can make 100 p.c. or more on their money in a very short time by investing in Transcona Lots.

Hay is selling freely in town for $12 per ton.

Mr. Matt Elliott, of Norwood, who recently underwent an operation at the Nicholls' hospital, Peterborough is progressing favorably.

One week from to-day, the Printers journey to Jubilee Point, where a grand programme of sports will be run off. If it's a good time you're after, come with the Printers.

Mr. Eugene Rex, of the Nugent Drug store, caught a maskilonge while fishing with an ordinary hook and line for bass. The lunge weighed 17½ pounds.

The crops throughout the Peterborough district are looking fine. In some places the early rain did considerable damage, but this has been more than offset by the splendid growth of the past six months.

Tickets are now on sale for the Printers' Picnic, which takes place to Jubilee Point, on Saturday afternoon, August 3rd. The excursionists will have five hours at the point, and a good time is assured. Get your tickets from any printer.

COMMODORE S. JAMIESON.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

EMPEROR JAPAN DEAD? Unconfirmed Report Received Last Night | ONE DREADNOUGHT A YEAR This is What Sir Rod. Roblin Wants | CHARGES AGAINST KAISER

FEAR OF HOSTILITIES IS SPREADIMG AMONG ALL CLASSES IN OLD COUNTRY

Diplomat Who Has Worked Hard for an Anglo-German Rapprochement Says He Grows More Afraid Daily That Nothtng But War Can Be the End

London, July 27.—The people of England are beginning to think as they could scarcely fail to do after the solemn tones of the weeks Parliamentary speeches, that we at any moment be confronted by a condition of actual hostilities. Our arsenals have for months worked day and night completing stores of armaments. England has absolutely no desire for war. Boasting has died away. The "Mafeking" spirit has vanished. The nation stands ready for battle yet longing for peace. Undoubtedly, however, the conviction is rapidly gaining ground among all classes that war is almost inevitable.

A prominent leader of the Anglo-German friendship movement significantly told me, "I have worked unceasingly to establish good international relations. I grow more afraid, however, each day that nothing but war can be the end." This sentiment of uneasiness helps to explain the overwhelming enthusiasm here over Canada's present attitude to imperial defence. Englishmen believe that if anything can check Germany's hostile designs it is such support from the Dominions as Canada now promises.

Have Stopped the Guessing.

Following Winston Churchill's openly expressed wish in Monday's debate that we should not seek prematurely to discover Canada's intention, the most speculative forecasting of the Dominion's naval policy has ceased. Englishmen are content with the knowledge that negotiations are proceeding with entire smoothness and that Canada will do the right thing.

Meanwhile Premier Borden temporarily leaves us for Paris, with a popularity such as a statesman from the Dominion has rarely obtained.

The one subject of dispute is not "Shall naval increase come," but, "Are the Government's present plans sufficient." Unionist journals and speakers steadily maintain that Mr. Churchill was in favor of much larger estimates, but was prevented by Lloyd George.

Bonar Law's Great Naval Speech.

Bonar Law's Thursday evening speech on the navy debate is admitted by both sides to be his most Parliamentary utterance. The Liberal papers, like the Daily Chronicle, praise his genuine eloquence while representatives of his own side, like the Daily Telegraph, declare that by general consent he arose to a big occasion with complete success. His earnestness, absence of rancor, and broad patriotic tone are universally praised.

UNIONISTS CAPTURE CREWE IN THREE-CORNED FIGHT

Made a Gain There Owing to the Bitter Fight Put by the Laborities—Unionist Vote Increased by 335, While the Liberal Vote Fell Off Materially

London, July 27.—The Crewe election in Cheshire was won by E. Y. Craig, Unionist, who secured 6,260 votes. Murphy, the Liberal received 5,294 votes, the Labor candidate 2,485 votes. The Unionist majority over the Liberal was 966.

In December, 1910, the Liberal majority was 1,704. In April, 1910, it was 1,594; in January, 1910, 2,342, and in 1906, 2,508.

No Laborite contested the seat at the last election, but in January 1910, when the Liberal majority was 2,342, the Laborite polled 1,380. On that occasion the Liberal secured 7,761 or 2,407 more than were polled by the Liberals in yesterday's election. The Unionist vote increased 335, as compared with the vote in the last election.

STRIKE BREAKERS ARRIVE IN THE CITY

The Moulders' Strike Becoming Acute in the Wm. Hamilton Co's Works—Six Men Arrive From Hamilton and are Quartered in the Works, Where They Eat and Sleep.

Eleven weeks ago the Moulders' Union of the city went out on strike in the various foundries. They requested a reduction of working hours per day from ten to nine, and their demand was rejected by the employers. The shops effected were: The Wm. Hamilton Company, The G. Walter Green Co., Adam Hall Co., The Peter Hamilton Co., The Lock Works and Ruth and Condon. The total number of moulders employed was about 75.

The Lock Company acceded to the demand of the men at once, as also did the Adam Hall Co., after a day and a half. Mr. Adam Hall was out of the city at the time and on his return he at once signed the agreement, as also did the G. Walter Green Co., Mr. Green also being away from home. Ruth and Condon who employed only one moulder, likewise signed. The strike is therefore still on in the two Hamilton shops, the Peter Hamilton Co. standing pat, it being their quiet season.

The Wm. Hamilton Co. employ about 18 moulders and the closing down of this department of their works naturally has effected other departments, a number of the men being laid off.

Strikebreakers Imported.

Some time ago a number of strikebreakers were imported by the Wm. Hamilton Co., but these men, so The Times is informed, did not remain long. A second batch reached the city on Saturday night, and left the train at or near the Diamond, and were taken direct to the Wm. Hamilton works, where provisions had been made for them, and where they will remain, beds and meals being provided.

In the meantime some picketing is being done by the strikers.

The Times would suggest that Mayor Bradburn might get busy and offer his services as a mediator. The men are being paid $2.75 per day for ten hours work, and their demand for nine hours without any reduction in pay should not be an insurmountable difficulty.

MOTERS FOR FARMERS

Brownsville, July 27.—Nearly 2,000 Oxford and Elgin county residents heard Hon. Adam Beck announce last night that the Hydro-Electric engineers are now at work on a motor which will be for the special use of the farmers. This motor when perfected will be taken along with the power lines and its use demonstrated.

GET YOUR FACE IN SHAPE.

The Printers' Picnic on Saturday Next Will be Better Than Ever—A Long List of Events for Both Young and Old.

One of the funniest features of the Printers' Picnic, which will be held next Saturday afternoon to Jubilee Point, will be the pie-eating contest, honestly, it is worth the price of the ticket alone to see those youngsters, and some of the older people too, trying to get on the outside of one of those juicy huckleberry pies, and some contortionistic stunts will be pulled off by the young lads while attempting to get around the whole pie at once. There will be a whole barrel of fun let loose down the river on Saturday, and its up to you to get in on it with the Printers. Tickets are now on sale from any printer, or at the Wolfe street wharf on day of picnic.

JACK ROSE
CLUB HOUSE OF THE SAM PAUL ASSOCIATION IN EAST SEVENTH STREET
POLICEMAN FILE WITH FACE COVERED LEAVING POLICE HEADQUARTERS
FUNERAL OF HERMAN ROSENTHAL

"Jack" Rose, former partner of the murdered gambler, Hermcn Rosenthal, surrendered to the New York police on hearing that he was wanted as a material witness. Rose admits hiring the car in which the murderers made good their escape after killing Rosenthal. Policeman File, who was near the scene of the crime, but who failed to make any arrests, has been suspended pending further investigation. Sam Paul, head of an association on the lower east side, is expected to be an important witness. The funeral of Rosenthal attracted a curious throng from the underworld.

CHARGES TO BE PROBED

The persistent charges in the Examiner recently that private persons have been entertained aboard the Bessie Butler, have aroused a demand for an investigation, which accordingly, we understabd, has been applied for. The Superintendent explicitly and flatly denies the charges. It is of course, freely granted that strangers to the city and their Peterborough hosts may at any time, when not interferring with more serious public business, have the Bessie Butler placed at their disposal. That is for the credit of the city and the nation. But that a favored few should be selected from amongst local people of means to enjoy the comforts and luxury of a boat that cost the public over $17,000, when hot weather finds the poor and needy struggling for a breath of air, has stirred up the fighting instincts of the neglected ones. In view of the hot charges and equally hot demands, the public will wait the outcome with interest.

NEW CURE FOR INSANITY

Boston, July 27.—The cure of insanity by the injection of substances from a healthy brain is described by Dr. William Maule Smith, of the British Medical Association, in a report which has just reached this city. The surgeon describes several occasions on which he obtained cerebrin and cholesteren from healthy brain tissues and injected those substances into insane patients. The treatment, he declares, caused the delusions to vanish and grave disorders to clear up.

INTERRED WITH MASONIC HONORS.

Funeral of the Late Charles Stapleton, One of Peterborough's Oldest Citizens.

The remains of the late Charles Stapleton, a faithful and esteemed member of Corinthian Lodge, No. 101, A.F & A.M. for many years, were interred in Little Lake cemetery yesterday afternoon with Masonic honors. The funeral was attended by members of both local lodges and a large number of friends and acquaintances.

Rev. R. B. Grobb, M.A., rector of All Saints' church, officiated at the grave. The beautiful and impressive last sad office of respect to a departed Masonic brother was conducted by Rt. Wor. Bro. H. A. Morrow, assisted by Rt. Wor. Bro. R. E. Wood, Very Wor. Bro. H. C. Winch, and Wor. Bros. E. A. Peck and D. Burnett.

The pall bearers were Very Wor. Bro. H. C. Winch, Rt. Wor. Bros. R. E. Wood and H. A. Morrow; Wor. Bros. T. E. Bradburn, F. A. Peck and D. Burrett.

The floral tributes to the memory of the deceased gentleman were many

ONE DREADNAUGHT EVERY YEAR TO BRITISH NAVV

Canada Don't Want Navy Any More Than Scotland Does—If We Are Part of Empire We Must Assume Responsibilities

Mount Clemens, Mich., July 27.—Premier Roblin of Manitoba, who is here taking the baths, gave an interview on the subject of the navy proposals. "As I indicated in a speech at Winnipeg two years ago," said Sir Rodmond, "I think Canada should give one Dreadnought of the best type to the imperial navy every year. I have not the slightest idea what proposition Mr. Borden has made to the Imperial authorities, but I have no doubt that he has taken a step in the direction of a substantial contribution, and that his policy will be favored by the people of Canada."

"What would you say about a Canadian navy?" he was asked.

"We don't want one any more than Scotland does," was the reply. "My stand is for one navy, one flag and one king. What earthly good would a navy be in Canadian waters with the British fleet engaged with Germany in the English channel. If we are going to be a part of the Empire we must assume our responsibilities, and to do this, in my opinion, we ought to pay our share in the Empire's defence. And I believe that a substantial contribution every year would meet the situation better than frittering away our money on a navy that might be of no possible use to the Empire in time of trouble."

The Manitoba leader will be here with Lady Roblin for a week or ten days.

MIKADO DEAD

Special to The Times.

London, July 28.—An unconfirmed report has reached this city from Tokio, that the Emperor of Japan passed away this evening. It is known that he had been slowly sinking for several days. On Saturday his condition was so grave that the royal family were summoned to his bedside, although he rallied slightly during Saturday night.

HOW THE YOUNGER UNIONISTS NEARLY DEFEATED MINISTRY

Hid Themselves Away Within Easy Call and Nearly Got a Snap Verdict Against Asquith—Sensation May Come in the Fall Over Land Reform

London, July 27.—Lloyd George's position continues to be keenly debated. The Times' ballon d'essai, suggesting his resignation of office because of his failure to carry the majority of the Cabinet with him on land reform, has been stoutly denied, but it was raised on good grounds. The Chancellor's position is undoubtedly strained, and early autumn may bring some surprising changes.

While Parliament is showing on naval matters an entire absence of the party spirit other matters reveal it in a pettier light. Some days a group of the young, fighting Unionists have kept themselves concealed in premises within easy call of St. Stephen's, attempting to lull the Government whips into a feeling of false security by their absence, and so win a snap vote against the Government. Their tactics nearly succeeded yesterday, when a minor Government motion was only carried by a majority of three, the Government whips being caught on the top.

BRITISH VS. GERMAN NAVY

Comparison of the Strengt of the Two Powers at Close of Last Year—British More Numerous But Others Rapidly Increasing

The following shows the relative strength of the British and German navies up to the end of 1911:—

	Great Britain	Germany
Battleships—
First class (Dreadnought)	22	14
Second class	10	0
Third class	30	20
Fourth class (obsolete)	0	2
Armored cruisers—
Invincibles	6	5
Other types	34	9
Cruisers (modern, with speed over 23 knots)	33	23
Destroyers (10 years old or less)	126	96
Torpedo boats (modern)	47	0
Submarines	69	24
Peace strength (men)	134,000	64,000
Reserves	56,000	60,000

Britain's naval strength under the new programme will, in 1917, comprise 43 super-Dreadnoughts and 40 Battleships of the second and third classes.

Germany, in 1917, will have approximately 38 super-Dreadnoughts and 20 battleships of the third class. The ultimate programme provides for 20 armored cruisers, 38 cruisers and 144 destroyers.

Britain's programme includes even a larger list of supporting vessels, statistics for which are not immediately available.

McNAMARA IN DUNGEON TO MAKE HIM TALK?

San Francisco, Cal., July 27.—That James McNamara, serving a life sentence in San Quentin penitentiary for murder committed in the dynamiting of The Los Angeles Times building, is held in solitary confinement in an effort to make him confess further details of that conspiracy, was charged yesterday against Warden John E. Hoyle, by a delegation of nationally prominent labor leaders.

Warden Hoyle denied the accusations, told the committee that McNamara was in "solitary" because he was incalcitrant, and assured his guests that their visit would neither lengthen or shorten McNamara's "punishment, which already lasted 20 days, or twice the usual time."

ACADIA TRUST COMPANY

Stock in a Reliable Trust Company Offered For Sale at Ground Floor Prices.

There appears on another page of this issue an advertisement soliciting purchase of shares in the Acadia Trust Company, Vancouver, B.C. Any investor who place their money in this company are amply safeguarded by Government regulations, requiring a sworn statement of the companies finances.

The company was incorporated in November, 1911, and since that time has raised its capital from $100,000 to $1,000,000, and has paid 70 per cent on its paid up capital. This is a reassuring review of the company, and its prospects promise even a brighter year to follow. It is expected that a large number of Eastern Ontario investors will take advantage of this offer which is a safe, yet profit-yielding investment.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly; Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 66 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario, Manager, 69 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 350 George St. directly opposite Crossman's store.

Preference Shares are preferential both as to assets and cumulative dividends at the rate of 7 p.c. per annum, also participate in dividends after 7 p.c. has been paid on common stock.

The average net profits of the Cafeterias, Limited, on King street, for the month of May, as shown by the report of the auditor, John I. Sutcliffe, C.A., amounted to over 30 p.c. on the entire issue of stock. A complete auditor's statement of the finances of Cafeterias, Limited, up to the end of May, may be seen at the offices of Messrs. Fleming & Marvin, Lumsden Building. This statement shows the monthly profits.

About $50,000.00 will be required to put the new Yonge street Cafeteria on a running basis. Of this amount about fifteen or twenty thousand dollars will be required to complete the interior finish, and make this restaurant one of the finest cafeterias in America. The balance will be required for outfitting the restaurant and providing a certain amount of working capital. The new restaurant will have a dining room of the large dimensions of 7,000 square feet on the ground floor, and will also have spacious additions for other purposes of the business.

Cafeterias, Limited, has found in the running of its business on King street that it has eclipsed the old style of waitress-serving restaurants, which is a great saving of labor and expense, and that the new restaurant is the best system of meeting the demands of the public for quick service, consistent with quality and efficiency of service.

We have opened subscription books for sale at par ($10.00) $50,000.00 fully paid shares of the above-mentioned 7 p.c. cumulative preference participating stock, carrying a bonus of 25 p.c. of the amount of the preference shares in common stock.

WILLING, BUT LAZY.

Peruvian Indians Work When They Are Coaxed With a Lariat.

An American whose business interests in Peru have led him from time to time to spend considerable periods in the interior of that country has found that the Indians of Peru are the laziest people in the world. If they have a duty to perform, a promise to keep or a debt to pay, though not unwilling to meet the obligation, they can, it is said, hardly summon resolution to do so without some assistance. During his stay at a place called Cajamarca, in the Cordilleras, the American was enabled to witness an instance of this.

He was sitting one evening with his hosts at the door of their house. Suddenly there was a great noise in the quiet street, and a horseman rode up. It was a friend of the family, who was on his way to settle an account with a troublesome debtor. When the family hinted that a creditor would hardly be received at such an hour the man touched something hanging on the pommel of his saddle and said that he had something there that would settle things.

His debtor was an Indian who lived not far away in the country and who had promised to make for him three or four hundred large adobe bricks in payment for some small wares that he had purchased two years before. He seemed perfectly willing to fulfill his contract and whenever he was reminded of it would promise to be on hand the next day, but he never appeared. An hour later the merchant, who was repairing his house, returned with his man at the end of a lariat. The next day the American saw him cheerfully at work. It was but a matter of getting the Indian busy.—National Magazine.

DIVIDENDS VERSUS HUMAN LIFE

Within a fortnight something like a hundred lives have been lost in railway collisions in the United States, scores of other passengers being injured. The annual toll taken by American railways has been long constituted a reproach to American railway traffic methods, and illustrated the utter inadequacy of existing laws to prevent the slaughter.

Now comes the statement from a railway official of distinction that the collisions which are of almost weekly occurrence are in large measure due to the speed craze which has seized most of the railway managements. The United States government pays large sums annually to the railways in the shape of mail carrying contract money. The government requires that the mails be despatched with the utmost haste. The rivalry between railways which traverse common territory has converted mail trains into veritable agencies of death and disaster. In two instances within the month it was a mail train which crashed into a slower train ahead. Especially at the season when the government is about to award the annual mail carrying contracts the railways exert themselves to make such a speed showing as to influence in their favor the action of the postal officials.

That, in so many words, is the statement of this American railway official. It would indicate that a fruitful cause of the frightful death record of American railways is found in greed for higher dividends. The mail contracts of the United States government are usually profitable to the transportation companies. Competing lines are thus, it appears, engaging in a struggle for governmental favors, which holds at light value human life and safety.

THE PANAMA CANAL TOLLS.

As one might almost expect, the general attitude of the United States press, including the religious papers toward Great Britain's protest in the matter of the discrimination of Congress in favor of United States coastwise trade, and certain other shipping through the Panama Canal seems to be "we have done it and therefore it must be right, and Great Britain may mind her own business." In striking contrast to this general attitude is the putting of the case made by The Congregationalist, of Boston, a paper that has frequently, of late, achieved the fine distinction among United States journals of being somewhat fair to the great mother nation. The Congregationalist believes that according to the Hay-Paumcefote Treaty, Congress has no right to remit the tolls to United States ships accepted as naval auxiliaries. It thinks too, that to discriminate against vessels owned by railroad companies is not justified. As to remitting the tolls to vessels engaged in the coast wise trade it believes that Congress may possibly not be breaking the treaty in so doing; yet that is acting unwisely, and that the proposed action should not be taken. "We think Congress would be wise," it says, "to avoid even the suspicion of unfair treatment for other nations in its control of what must become one of the great waterways of the world. There are other ways of encouraging navigation under the flag than this of putting our good faith and impartiality in suspicion." Such an open-minded statement of the situation is certainly very refreshing to see.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profits now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit?
If Not, Here Is Your Opportunity

We invite the closest inspection of this proposition, and will gladly mail prospectus containing full particulars. Again we sound the warning, unless you send us your orders for stock in the Canada Moving Pictures, Limited, without further delay, it will mean GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY permitted to slip by.

Opportunity knocks at each man's door at least once in a lifetime. Here it is, and our candid advice is, take advantage at once to the limit of your finances. The stock is selling fast and only a limited amount remains.

Edison predicts that in a few years the cold stove in summer will be almost as common as the hot stove in winter—a stove to radiate coolness when the mercury lingers among the nineties. But it will not be the same sort of cold-stove as the average Peterborough natural-gas stove on the coldest mid-winter days.

Mr. Asquith was able to tell his Dublin audience that he was the first British prime minister who had visited Ireland since the Union—that is to say, for more than a hundred years. And he might have added that he is the only British prime minister, except Gladstone, that the Dublin people would have been glad to welcome in all that time.

THE VETERANS' GRANT.

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir.—I see the Toronto Globe and papers of its ilk, including the local Grit organ, are trying to make it appear that the Dominion Government is acting in a niggarly manner with the veterans in granting only $100 to those who served during the Fenian raid.

I would like to say just here that the late Government had the opportunity to settle these claims, but did not do so. Sir Wilfrid and his Government treated the repeated requests of the veterans with contempt. When the new Government got into power, Col. Sam Hughes was not long in securing the necessary legislation to enable the Government to pay each man $100.

Another thing that should not be forgotten: If the late Government had been competent it would not have lost that ten million dollars that was worse than thrown away, through a mistake, due to incompetency. Had this loss been avoided, I am told that the grant would have been at least $200 instead of $100. So that it ill becomes the Liberal press to find fault in the matter.

—Veteran.

THE PROBABLE RESULT.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—What would happen to Uncle Sam and the Monroe doctrine if the British navy is wiped out in the coming struggle with Germany?

British Born.

Reply—The people of the United States would probably be all talking the German language in a few years, and there would be no Monroe doctrine.—Ed. Times.

WHY SNIFFLE AND SNEEZE WITH CATARRHAL COLD?

By Breathing the Healing Vapor of Catarrhozone You Get Relief In Ten Minutes.

Every second person that you meet seems to have a sneeze and stuffed feeling in the forehead and nostrils. To cure promptly, say, in half an hour, there is nothing worth using except Catarrhozone. You inhale its balsamic vapor, and feel as if you were among the Norway pines. This is because Catarrhozone contains a healing medicine, light as pine air, which is breathed straight into the lungs and bronchial tubes. Away goes the cold; sneezing and catarrhal cough cease, bronchial irritation stops; in short, you are cured of catarrh by a pleasant, simple remedy, free from sedatives and irritants.

That catarrhozone is a swift, certain means of destroying colds and catarrh is proved by the following statement of Mr. Pulos, one of Brockville's best known merchants:

"In the fall of 1908," writes Mr. Pulos, under date of June 10th, 1910, "I contracted a very severe cold, which developed into Catarrh. At that time I was living in New York State and treated with four different physicians, who afforded me no relief. On coming to Brockville I was advised by a friend to try Catarrhozone. I bought the dollar outfit, and was gratified by the results. I was completely cured by Catarrhozone and have used it since to check a cold with unfailing results. It is the grandest medicine in existence, and I hope my testimony will be of some use to other fellow-sufferers."

(Signed) George Pulos."

An ideal protection for the chest, lungs, nose and throat is the frequent use of Catarrhozone. Two months' treatment (the large size), costs $1.00, medium sizes 50c, at all dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., of Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada the stock of Trust Companies and Banks appeal to conservative investors.

WHY

The following are a few good reasons why you should invest NOW in the stock of the Acadia Trust Co., Ltd., of Vancouver, B. C.:

1. It is showing remarkable growth, having earned seventy (70 p.c.) per cent. on its paid-up capital since its inception, November 26, 1911.

2. It is thoroughly established (with no promotion stock).

3. It is subject to advance without notice; and will very shortly be amongst the premier Trust Companies doing business in British Columbia.

4. Its profits will necessarily be large.

5. It will declare large bonus dividends to reduce the uncalled liability, thereby increasing the paid-up portion of your stock.

6. Prospects of an increase in value are excellent.

A FEW FACTS OF INTEREST

The Acadia Trust Company Limited, was incorporated November 26, 1911, with an authorized capital of One Hundred Thousand ($100,000) Dollars, which is now being increased to One Million Dollars ($1,000,000.00); and the charter granted by this Province covers all business profitable to a Trust Company.

Trust Companies, under the B. C. Act, are required to render quarterly statements to the Minister of Finance, giving very detail of their assets and liabilities, thus affording absolute security to investors and depositors.

Tennis the Game of Kings.

Tennis is the game of kings. The oldest of existing ball games—it is mentioned in the Arthurian romances—tennis was originally the pastime of the kings and nobles, and it was long before its descendant—lawn tennis—became popular with all classes. The game reached England from France and Italy, and by the time of Henry VII. we find a royal tennis court at Windsor. Henry VIII. was an expert at the game. [illegible]

DO YOU KNOW

That the City of

MONTREAL

IS GROWING IN LEAPS AND BOUNDS ?

Do You Know How to Invest ?

Do you know that the population of Montreal has increased at a greater ratio during the last two years than that of any other city on the American Continent ?

Do you know that Montreal's actual increase exceeds 50,000 people a year, or the population of a small city comes to Montreal every year—AND STAYS THERE ?

Do you know that Montreal's densely populated districts extend five miles to the West, four and a half to the East and six to the North? While the South Shore, simply through lack of transportation up to two years ago, was practicaly neglected.

Do you know that the South Shore to day is Montreal's most popular and beautiful suburb? And why should it not be? It is high, dry and level, and these three requirements being met is naturally healthy. The transportation question is solved with fast electric car lines and a new bridge and tunnel are projected and approved.

We Offer you the Chance to Invest in

BELLEVILLE

The Finest Sub-Division on the South Shore, Three Miles from the Centre of Montreal, 20 minutes ride, 5c. fare

We believe that this is an investment which will appeal to the residents of Peterborough and District as a better investment than land in the far North West where the only way of ascertaining where and what the land is is by corresponding with somebody there.

OUR GREAT OFFER

We do not want people to buy property from us without seeing it, and purchasers of any of our Montreal property—particularly Belleville—can visit same at our expense by communicating with our local representative, when full particulars will be given.

WILES OF GEM THIEVES

GENIUS AND RESOURCE NOW MARK THEIR CALLING.

The Day of the Clumsy Window-Breaking Jewelry Robber Has Passed Because Merchants Have Adopted All Sorts of Safety Contrivances—The Criminal Has Now Set His Wits Against the Inventor.

The "crook" of to-day who makes a specialty of jewel robberies possesses nerve and ingenuity which, applied to more legitimate pursuits, would assuredly earn for him a fortune. Of course, there is the clumsy thief with very limited brain, who smashes the jeweler's window with half a brick hoping to be able to decamp with a handful of jewels ere passers-by and the jeweler's assistants have recovered from their surprise. The up-to-date jeweler, however, checkmates the window-smasher by hanging an extra plate of glass from the ceiling by chains just inside the window pane. The force of the brick might break the outside glass, but it would be checked by the inner plate, and, even if it did break the latter, the thief would have two jagged holes to put his hand through—a difficult job to manage successfully.

And then there is the equally clumsy thief who enters a jeweler's shop, ostensibly to purchase jewels, and endeavors to bolt with a number which he snatches off the counter, quite forgetting that there are such things as automatic closing doors, and that, while one assistant is serving there are usually one or two others seemingly deeply engaged in various work connected with the shop, but in reality standing in close proximity to the door, and ready to circumvent any such trickery.

The clever jewelry thief, however, adopts quite different tactics. Take for instance, the man who a short time ago, became known as a regular, if not a very wealthy, customer at a West End (London) jeweler's. He frequently made small purchases, and admired at the same time the more costly jewels displayed in the cases on the counter. One day he asked to look more closely at a certain diamond necklace which he had previously admired, and the obliging jeweler took it out of the case to show him.

After duly praising it, the customer handed it back and the jeweler would have taken no further note of the incident had he not happened to notice that the necklace had attached to it a tag of buff color. All goods in the shop bore white tags and he immediately surmised that something was wrong. The man was detained and search revealed that he had the original necklace while the other handed back to the jeweler was an imitation.

It appeared that during the several visits paid by the customer he had made a close study of the necklace as it lay in the case taking in the minutest details and from memory had an imitation made from paste diamonds correct enough in every particular to deceive almost anyone; and this he had changed for the real necklace while admiring it. Had he not made the small mistake of attaching to it a wrong-colored tag the jeweler might still be bemoaning the loss of a $2,500 necklace.

This palming of real jewels and handing back imitations is a favorite game with jewelry thieves, and only by the greatest care can loss at their hands be prevented. An elaboration of this trick has, by the way, been tried very successfully both in London and in New York. A smartly-dressed woman with a pretty child—usually a girl—drives up to a fashionable jeweler's and asks to inspect a selection of stones. Naturally the child displays a certain curiosity, which is apparently checked by the lady, who frequently admonished the youngster with words: "No, darling; you must not touch these things. Keep your hands away."

The child seems so innocent of wrongdoing that the jeweler suspects nothing, and perhaps engages the child in conversation, and it is while so doing that he offers the lady an opportunity for substituting some paste stones for the real. Or, if a chance occurs, the lady will detract the jeweler's attention from the child for a moment and allow the precocious youngster, who, of course, has been trained for the part, to effect a substitution of the imitation for the real.

And then there is the old dodge, still worked very successfully, of affixing a piece of cobbler's wax in the hollow heel of a boot, accidentally knocking off a ring or so from the counter, treading on it, and after submitting to a search by the suspicious jeweler and threatening all sorts of legal proceedings for indignity, walking out with the spoils, worth perhaps $200 or $300.

The half-eaten apple scheme is also an old one, but even now is worked successfully. The operator enters a store munching an apple, and while examining uncut stones, presses one into the apple, casually saunters to the door, and throws it out. Then he returns and buys a little something. His confederate on the outside gets the apple and the stone.

The umbrella-carrying thief is also another one to look out for. It is easy to sweep goods off the counter into the folds, and the alert salesman always keeps his eyes open to the stranger who handles a handerchief while looking over goods but apparently does not put that article to natural use.

Perhaps Ignorance Was Bliss.

Mabel—I have at last experienced the great, the wonderful event of my life. Yesterday, when the sudden failure of the electric light at the Blank's reception plunged the company into darkness, he kissed me passionately.

Julia—Who?

Mabel—Who? That's just what I should like to know!

Only Partly True.

"Did you say I was a deadbeat?"

"Nope. I never said you were dead."

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

PEOPLING THE LAND.

New Brunswick Has Launched on a Striking Campaign.

New Brunswick has decided to keep young farmers in the east and to encourage immigrants of an agricultural turn to settle on lands as yet unfarmed in that province, says Harold Brown in The Canadian Courier. Spending $12,000,000 to make a national harbor of Courtenay Bay does not epitomise the progressive policy of modern New Brunswick. There, as in all other fertile areas of Canada, the land is the thing. New Brunswick is still a province of large unclaimed areas of arable land. While the mad rush for free land is still on in the valleys of the Saskatchewan; while the trek to the free lands of the Peace River is going ahead of the railroads; while large areas of good land are being settled upon in British Columbia; and while Ontario is still pushing back the unsettled boundaries of its huge clay belt — the Maritime Provinces are beginning to realize that it is better economics for the east and better for the immigrant, to settle land which has lain idle along the Atlantic since the Micmacs first hunted the moose in Nova Scotia.

New Brunswick's forward policy on the land question began in a vigorous protest against the continual exodus of thousands of her best young agriculturists to the west; and against the almost more serious efflux of productive population to the eastern States. Newspapers and Boards of Trade, merchants and manufacturers and people in general made the protest something of an organised howl. The howl became an intention. The intention took form in legislation. The bill to encourage the Settlement of Farm Lands was the result.

Precedent to the bill, however, and the direct cause of it, was a somewhat remarkable paper read at the recent Immigration Conference in Fredericton, by Charles H. McIntyre. Mr. McIntyre was born on a stone-knob farm in New Brunswick. While still a youth he managed to get an education as far as graduating from the University of New Brunswick at Fredericton; after which he studied at Harvard, took a course in American law and set up a legal office in Boston, where he is now a prominent citizen, a past president of the Boston Canadian Club, and as much interested in his native province as though he were still living in Fredericton.

"Speaking generally," he said, "the average young man without funds cannot purchase a farm and from its proceeds redeem himself from debt before he is worn out."

Mr. McIntyre cited the examples of several other countries in dealing with the manless land question: England, Germany, Ireland, Brazil, Australia, New Zealand. The basic principle in all these somewhat varying methods of getting idle people on to idle land, and of building homes for workingmen was—some form of state assistance. Most of the aid given by the state took the form of loans to farmers. Mr. McIntyre outlined three methods of Government aid to potential farmers, and he recommended the appointment of a land settlement commission to be the agency by which any one of the three methods should be carried out.

The first-mentioned was the case of the fund in Government savings banks on provincial credit as advance loans to farmers. The second was provincial debentures. The third was bonds issued by the Land Settlement Commission itself, under provincial guarantee.

The bill of the New Brunswick Legislature, born of this idea set forth by Mr. McIntyre, makes the idea into a fact. It provides for the creation of a "Farm Settlement Board" of three commissioners, one of whom must be the Provincial Superintendent of Immigration, who becomes the secretary of the board.

Free Drinks.

In the French chamber of deputies each speaker has to mount a tribune near the president's chair. On a deputy coming forward to address the assembly an usher invariably brings a glass of some beverage and places it at his side. Under the empire orators were allowed only a glass of sweetened water, and nowadays when a new speaker advances the usher, to be on the right side, gives him a glass of sweetened water, but among the veteran speakers water alone is not very high in favor. Cold soup, coffee, wine, spirits and lemonade are among the favorite beverages. [illegible]

Red Cedar Nearly Gone.

There was a time within the present generation when red cedar was to be found in every part of Canada. There was so much red cedar, in fact, that everybody thought, without making any special calculation, enough was in sight to last a few thousand years. This being the situation, everybody who had nothing else to do took a hand at wasting it. Lavish use was made of it in hundreds of ways, and some persons actually were sufficiently ruthless to turn it into firewood.

More would have done this, no doubt, but it wasn't as a good heater. It made a fine blaze, but it was not a satisfying winter fuel. Of course, the people were riding to a fall in the timber, and many now wish their forefathers had not made such reckless use of red cedar. It has been getting scarcer and scarcer in the last ten years, and now we have reached such straits that it is being purchased either in the tree or in the fence wherever it can be found.

As a result of its paucity the use of red cedar is becoming more and more restricted. Twenty years ago railway companies put millions of feet of it under their tracks as ties, and vast use of it was made in interior house finishing, cabinet-making, cooperage and canoe building. Little by little timber workers have turned to other kinds of wood because cedar was so hard to obtain, and now its use is largely confined to cigar boxes and lead pencil casings.

The Old School at Its Best.

It was in the early days of the railroad, and Aunt Ruth had boarded the train for her first trip. Her maid had neatly arranged her carpet bag, band box and reticule around her, but there was some trouble with the engine, so that the train did not start at once. Aunt Ruth had spread out her ample skirts like an open fan, and her little feet were daintily perched upon a footstool. Just then the conductor passed through. Touching him lightly upon the arm, she said, "You may tell them I am seated and am ready to go now."—Woman's Home Companion.

The Real Danger.

Damocles sat all night at the banquet with a sword hanging over his head.

"That's nothing," he said. "The thing that bothers me is what my wife will do to me when I get home."

Nothing Wasted in China.

The Chinese never waste anything. A shopman puts up parcels with half the paper and string used by Europeans. Servants collect and sell match boxes and things which seem to us to be useless. In the country you will see a boy in a tree beating down a single leaf with a stick for fuel. Women when too old for any work collect dry grass for the same purpose. A man collects his fowls and then beats old, damp mats or matting. Cockroaches and other vermin jump out, and the fowls have a meal that costs nothing. You give a coolie an old coat that you are ashamed to wear, and he will probably get a tailor to transform it for 30 or 50 cents into two pairs of excellent trousers for himself.—Detroit Free Press.

Trouble at Campbellton.

During the election fever of September last there was trouble between two prominent citizens of Campbellton, N.B. Dr. Doherty's umbrella pierced the eye of Daniel Bruce, and the wound proved fatal. The doctor has been acquitted of manslaughter and some of the citizens are indignant over what they claim to be a "miscarriage of justice."

Without expressing any opinion on the case, it may be pointed out that it will now be in order for some freak legislator to introduce a bill forbidding the carrying of umbrellas for a period of thirty days preceding a general election. Mr. Lewis seems to have a fondness for freak bills, and if so, here is his opportunity.—Canadian Courier.

TRAINED TURTLES.

Tricks These Clumsy Creatures May Be Taught to Perform.

Of all living creatures, says a writer in the Strand Magazine, the turtle is undoubtedly the slowest in its movement and probably possesses the least brain. Yet a well known American naturalist has succeeded in training three of these creatures to do a number of little tricks. He places them, one above the other, on spools, and if a piece of cabbage or other green stuff is held out in front of them they will make a complete circuit, all moving in unison, keeping their balance and not tumbling off.

The bigger turtle will also ring a bell. This it grasps in one of its forefeet, jerks it off the ground and then gives it a shake. It is quite amusing to watch the slow, deliberate manner in which this is done. The turtles have always lived in their owner's house, spending their time in the kitchen hunting down the vermin.

One of the turtles draws a little cart about the garden, a task which he apparently does not resent in the least. Of course he is never kept harnessed for any length of time. He is quite tame, follows the children about the garden and will even eat from their fingers.

FEMININE AUTOCRATS.

Women of Sahara Rule the Men With Rods of Iron.

The Tuaregs, found in the vilayet of Tripoli, are descended from the Auxoriani of old, who in the fourth century took Leptis from the Romans after eight days' siege.

Among the Tuaregs, writes Hanns Vischer in "Across the Sahara," it is man, the brute, who by all the laws of the country has to obey the women. Descent is traced through the mother. Woman shows her proud face to all the world, while the man goes veiled. In the presence of a woman of noble birth men cover their faces and heads altogether. The women give the children what little instruction they have and train them to respect and obey them.

The stick he carries and the great wooden box into which he puts what his wife suffers him to have are all the man possesses and all he retains if for some reason his wife chooses to divorce him.

In Ghat when a man goes out after sunset he is usually followed by a negro servant, sent by his wife to dog his steps, and woe to him if he forgets himself or comes home too late! He will find the door shut and must count himself lucky if he is not put on to the street altogether.

The young man who in spite of all this wants to marry must pay a heavy sum for the bride, to obtain which he is obliged to look for other means than his usual work for the Arab trader. Thus he is forced into taking part in one of the annual rhazzias.

The women decide when the right moment has come, and the men sally forth against some luckless caravan or to the rich highlands of Tibesti.—Detroit Free Press.

Three Essentials For Success.

He who would succeed must arm himself with three vital and most necessary weapons—first, he must have ceaseless industry; second, he must have limitless ambition of purpose; third, he must possess unquenchable enthusiasm, coupled with a determination to succeed. Given these three and something else besides—the gift of imagination—and it matters not, I believe, whether the life of a man begins in a cobbler's shop or a grocery store or whether it begins in such an illuminating joyfulness in beautiful things as that which brightened my early childhood. With any beginning success will, of a surety, be his who makes himself truly deserving of it.—Howard Pyle in Woman's Home Companion.

Laziness a Disease.

Laziness should be regarded as a disease when no organic cause of ill health exists, and people should be compelled to get through their allotted work as they would have to take their powders of quinine if they were suffering from influenza. There are scores of self pitying loafers on the sick list of every doctor who need, not drugs, not "treatment" of any sort, but simply work. To prescribe rest cures for this type is directly inciting them to a lazy life, when their dissatisfaction, general seediness and lack of vitality are the direct outcome of having too little to do already. It is not more rest that they require, but compulsory, methodical, regulated work six days out of seven. Work is the best medicine in the world, the ideal stimulant, because it leaves no ill effects.—London Express.

HERE IS MORE PROOF OF QUICK CURE FOR ALL FOLKS THAT ARE WEAK, AILING, NERVOUS.

More Praise for Dr. Hamilton's Pills

"For a period last summer the thought of food excited feelings of nausea," writes Mrs. C. A. Dodge of Bloomsbury. "The heat had made me listless, and the distaste for food reduced me to a condition of semi-starvation and brought me to the verge of nervous collapse. Tonics were useless to restore an active desire for food. The doctors told me my liver and kidneys were both at fault but the medicines they gave me were too severe and reduced my strength so that I had to abandon them. At the suggestion of a friend who had been cured of blood and skin trouble I began the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. The difference I first noticed was that while they cleansed the system, instead of feeling weaker I felt better after taking them. Indeed, their activity was so mild it was easy to forget I had taken them at all; they seemed to go right to the liver and in a very brief time not only did all source of nausea disappear but I began to crave food and I digested it reasonably well. Then I began to put on weight until within three months I was brought to a condition of good health. I urge Dr. Hamilton's Pills for all who are in poor health."

Get this best of all medicines to-day and refuse a substitute for Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. Sold by all druggists and storekeepers, 25c per box, or five for $1.00. Sent postpaid by the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Will Remain In Toronto.

The Toronto Carpet Company, which talked of moving to Peterborough, has decided to remain in Toronto, the city making concessions as an inducement for them to do so.

Is Progressing Favorably.

Mr. David Wallace, who was very painfully injured on Friday in the C.G.E. works, is progressing favorably, and unless further complications arise his broken wrist will soon be in shape.

Committed Suicide in Court.

In the Hamilton Police Court on Friday morning, a man named Harry Gilmore committed suicide by drinking a bottle of carbolic acid. He was charged with assaulting his wife, and had only been married four weeks.

Stoney Lake Regatta.

The annual Stoney Lake Regatta will be held on Wednesday August 7th at Crowe's Landing. An attractive prize list has been arranged for and it is expected that a large number of local people will take in this regatta.

Belleville May be Side-Tracked.

A rumor that the proposed C.P.R. track will not pass through Belleville at all, is causing considerable disturbance in that city. It is said that the new track may be diverted north of the city, as this would be a less expensive route.

Boucher Homestead Sold.

It is understood that the residence of the late Dr. Boucher, on Brock street, has been disposed of to a medical man from Western Ontario. The price, we are informed, was in the neighborhood of $5,800.
son will be punished.

Grass Fire in East City.

Yesterday afternoon about two o'clock, a grass fire near the C.P.R. tracks on Rogers street caused a little excitement in that quarter of the city. The fire brigade was sent for and extinguished the blaze. There was no resultant damage.

Electric Tie-ups Eliminated.

Owing to Peterborough being now a station on the trunk line of an electric transmission system, recently completed by the Electric Power Co., Ltd., there is no more danger of the city being tied up by lightning. When one system is crippled the other will turn in the power.

Forty Pound of Butter.

A young lad who has been engaged by Mrs. Carr, of Cavan, to carry for her a forty pound basket of butter, left the valuable care in a secluded part of the market and deserted it. Mrs. Carr not finding it applied to police headquarters for assistance. A search revealed the basket, and the boy's actions were subjected to an investigation by Chief Thompson.

$5,000 of Standing timber on three islands in Bala Bay, Muskoka, about forty-two acres, also 11-roomed residence, ice and bath house, fully equipped steamer landing one hundred and fifty feet long, close to post office, schools, churches, stores; three hours from Toronto. Boating, bathing fishing, hunting unsurpassed. Furniture, library and orchestra in house alone cost six thousand. This is the most desirable hotel site on the entire lake system. Owner will sacrifice for quick sale. This property may be inspected any time. J. R. Sutherland & Co., 75 Yonge street. Main 6622.—D-182.

Local Boy a Hero.

Mr. Herbert Stock, of this city, who is summering on Juniper Island Stoney Lake, made an heroic rescue last week, saving Mrs. Hunt, a Stoney Lake visitor from drowning. The lady lost hold of a plank she was using as a float and only the promptness of Mr. Stock, in dashing to the water's edge and jumping to the rescue saved her life.

Entrance Record Improved.

Out of a total of 22,165 candidates who tried the Entrance Examinations into the High School this year throughout the Province, 13,603 passed or about 61.8 per cent. This is a slight increase over last year's average, when 58.6 per cent. passed out of 22,198 candidates. Peterborough's average, it will be remembered, was 66.6 per cent.

Haliburton's New Bridge.

The Minden Echo says that when the lower bridge is completed Haliburton will have the honor of having the third of its kind in the world. There have only been two others of the same construction built in America. When the first one was built all the papers in the United States were full of praise for the scientific accomplishment. Those bridges are certainly a credit to the council and the people who voted for them.

Saturday's Prices.

The following were Saturday's retail prices: Raspberries maintained their price of 15c., with black currants at 20c per quart, while red currants realized 25c. for two quarts. Tomatoes, owing to the recent cool spell, were very scarce, in fact scarcely any could be obtained. Cherries sold at $1.25 and $1.50 per basket, and for a number of Duchess apples 30c a peck was asked. Local potatoes were 40c per peck, while American potatoes realized 50c a peck.

Pickpockets at Work.

During the progress of Saturday's baseball game between the printers and the Sacred Heart teams, some person who evidently wished to go to the Printers' Picnic, and did not have the necessary to purchase a ticket in the right way, went into the pockets of one of the players and took five adult tickets. It will be wise for the person guilty of this serious offence to get them back in that pocket again before picnic day as the committee have the numbers of same, and therefore will have a sharp lookout at the boat while taking tickets. Unless these tickets are returned immediately the guilty per-

Should Mark the Event.

Mr. A. H. Stratton, with his usual enterprise, has had the Mann Planing Mill on London street, which he purchased a short time ago, put in first-class shape. Those living in the neighborhood need not be surprised if they see the genial ex-postmaster steering boards through the planer and performing stunts of the like nature. It is therefore safe to say that things will hum on Dublin street. The mill expects to start work on August 1st, and The Times would suggest that the event might be marked by the ringing of the "People's" chimes. It is no 12th of July event, so there could be no possible objection offered.

An Exciting Runaway.

Mr. Thomas Miller, who drives one of T. Kinnear & Co's rigs, effected a daring and gallant act on Saturday night shortly before eight o'clock. It appears that the horses attached to the Oriental bus, took French leave of their driver at the C.P.R. station, and dashed at a terrific clip up George street. Pedestrians and driving travellers dispersed in all directions before them until they had passed Simcoe street. Just above Simcoe street, two buggies, one containing a lady, and the other a gentleman, got in the way of the horses and the bus. It looked like a serious accident, but Mr. Miller dashed out and seized the horses, stopping them and preventing the heavy bus crashing into the two buggies. No damage was done, the bus being only slightly injured, but a serious accident was as related, narrowly averted.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

STEAMSHIP COLLISION — A C.P.R. Liner Damaged When She Sinks Collier | MARRIAGE VERDICT — Privy Council Upholds the Provinces | PROTESTANT DEMAND RELIEF

WHEN EMPRESS BACKED AWAY SINKING SHIP HELD ON, THREATENING DISASTER

Passengers Feared C.P.R. Liner Would Be Dragged Down —Suspense Was Terrible—Suddenly, With a Jerk, the Empress Broke Loose and Was Safe

Quebec, July 29.—On Saturday afternoon at 4.45 o'clock the passengers of the C.P.R.'s Empress of Britain were startled by a sudden shock and crash, loud shouts of consternation, the noise of rending and tearing iron plates and wood, and experienced what is to be in a collision at sea. The big liner had smashed into a large collier called the Helvetia, coming from Capre Breton, at a point in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, where the course of the outboing Atlantic liners crosses that of the heavy ships bringing coal to Montreal from the mines near Sydney.

The Empress was at a point between Cape Magdalen and Fame Point when the collision occurred, and though she was not steaming at full speed, on account of the fog prevailing, the force of the impact was terrific. The weight of the Empress carried her clean through the Helvetia, at a point, said to be near amidships, and in a very few minutes, while the life-savers worked desperately, the collier went to the bottom. So quickly however, did the lifeboats work that so far as is known at present not a single person on the Helvetia was drowned.

Excitement was Intense.

The excitement on the Empress was intense, but a panic was averted by the presence of mind and reassuring words of the captain and officers. Most of the passengers were on deck when the crash came. Once their own safety was assured them, the passengers concerned themselves in the efforts made by the Empress' crew to save the crew and passengers on the sinking coalship. But in spite of the calming effects of the officers' remarks, the sight of the crumpled up bow of the Empress, and the knowledge that the vessel had taken in considerable water and her forepeak was full, making the vessel list slightly, kept the passengers in a state of nervous anxiety.

Over thirty persons forming the crew and passengers of the Helvetia were rescued. Of the latter, several were Chinamen, and two others were ladies.

Limping Back to Quebec.

The Empress is now limping back to port with most of 730 well-frightened passengers. As soon as Captain Murray had satisfied himself the vessel's bulkheads would stand the strain, he turned her round and started her back to Quebec under her own steam, at the rate of about eight miles an hour. The ship reached Father Point at 1.15 Sunday afternoon, and left that place for Quebec at 7 o'clock on Sunday evening. She would reach Quebec this evening. A number of the second and third class passengers and the mails were transferred to the outgoing Allan liner Pretorian, while at Father Point.

The Helvetia which sank after the collision was bringing a cargo of 8,000 tons of coal from Sydney. The skipper of the Helvetia was Captain Connell.

WOULD MEDIATE BETWEEN STRIKERS AND EMPLOYERS, IF ASKED

The City Fathers met in special session last night. There were present Mayor Bradburn, Aldermen Gillespie, Morgan, Anderson, Duncan, Johnston Duffus and Brown.

Mr. Burnham, M.P., was present in the interest of securing for Peterborough city improved freight rates. Council promised active co-operation in the matter, and a meeting will probably be called for Friday night, when the Board of Trade and Manufacturers will be asked to be present and take part in a joint discussion of the project.

Strikers and Strike-Breakers.

Ald. Johnston raised the question of mediation between the striking moulders and the two Hamilton firms. He contended that with the importation of strike-breakers from Hamilton last Saturday night, the situation had reached a crisis demanding serious consideration of the question of mediation, if possible, by representative men. Some years ago, he offered, the then Mayor and a committee mediated between strikers and the B. F. Ackerman Co. with gratifying results, and he thought that perhaps similar procedure might be acceptable with regard to the present strike of moulders which had been in force some months now.

The Mayor—"Any member of the Council or myself would be pleased to give our services, but I do not think we could do anything unless approached by the parties interested."

Ald. Morgan—"The strike will work itself out, the two companies will have to settle shortly; they are losing money every day."

The Mayor—"It would be pretty hard for mediators to adjust this matter in the face of all the firms but the Peter Hamilton Co. and the Wm. Hamilton Co. having capitulated to the men's demand for a nine hour day."

Ald. Morgan—"The only firms who are holding out against the men are the two companies who have received concessions from the city."

Ald. Johnston—"Nine hours a day are long enough for any men to work."

Ald. Duncan—"Especially moulders."

The Council did not feel like interferring in the matter unless by mutual request of both strikers and manufacturers, and left the question in a lively hope that the situation would "work itself out in a short time now."

Water for Bonaccord Street.

Ald. Brown thought pressure should be brought to bear upon the Water Commissioners to provide water for Bonaccord street.

It appears that one "hydrant" would be necessary for all purposes, and the commissioners are holding out for Council's consent to two hydrants being placed in the locality in question, contending that such a course would be necessary in order to net them a revenue of ten per cent. of their outlay. This it their undeviating policy.

Ald. Duncan thought the Water Commissioners too stiff. "In Hamilton, to encourage building, the Commissioners give the water for nothing," he said.

The Mayor and Ald. Johnston, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, will again interview the Commissioners re this matter, and report Monday night."

A Traffic By-law.

Moved by Ald. Duffus, seconded by Ald. Duncan,—That the Board of Works be instructed to have drafted a traffic by-law to regulate speed and turning of the corners by vehicles, to specify the right-of-way in whichever direction a rig—auto or otherwise—is travelling, together with other provisions in the protection of citizens. Said by-law to be ready for Monday night's council meeting, if possible.

At Ald. Morgan's request, a clause will be embodied in this by-law providing that street cars shall stop crossing intersecting streets. At present they stop AFTER crossing a street (in contradistinction to the rule in Toronto and other large cities), which procedure Ald. Morgan characterizes as a menace to pedestrians and equestrians.

Visited Burleigh.

Yesterday Superintendent McClellan, of the Trent Canal, accompanied by Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., visited Burleigh and inspected the work in progress there in connection with improvements that are being made there by the department of railways and canals. They found everything going along very satisfactorily. They also visited Lake Simcoe and intermediate points and returned this morning. On the Lake Simcoe division there are a number of lighthouses and wharves under construction.

THE C. P. R. STEAMER EMPRESS OF BRITAIN.

MR. BURNHAM'S OPINION ON THE MARRIAGE JUDGMENT

In response to a request for his opinion, Mr. Burnham, M.P., says, regarding the marriage judgment: "The Borden Government on having its attention called to the matter, agreed to ask the courts if it had the power to pass an act dealing with marriage. If it had, then to do so. If it had not, then to obtain the power and then do so. Sir Wilfrid Laurier would have nothing to do with the matter, saying that Parliament had no power, and that he did not propose to try to obtain it. This is the regard he has for the power and authority of the People. The Examiner rejoices in the same preference for ecclesiasticism, and it would be an ill prospect for this or any other country if the majority of its people would sit meekly down under such a disability. Let the churches claim and have what they like in the matter. That should have nothing to do with the State, which must be supreme as the people's only means of representation, or else disappear in favour of some other power, at least in such all-important matters as marriage. I repeat that it is inconceivable that a free People will consent to be shorn of its rights in this or any other respect. The State has rights as well as the Churches, and amongst those rights surely is the right to say what it wants. If not, then the State is still the subject of some other power, as before the rise of Democracy."

WHITE CAPS LOST TO GUELPH YESTERDAY

In an unusually flighty game yesterday the Guelph "Maple Leafs" hung the tin can on the White Caps after having been led by Rowan's Rustlers for seven innings. Under the managership of Applegate, their new leader, who pitched the whole game for the victors. The Petes played steady consistent ball until the seventh innings when their balloon took an unprecedented ascent and six leafs blew across the pan raising the score to 8—5, where it stood till the finish. Heavy batting and ragged fielding gave the game to the leafs in this innings after it had been won in the preceding six. For a change, the White Caps batted well and on the whole the game was a fairly good one. The Petes play Guelph again to-day.

The Otonabee Doing Well.

LICENSES MAY BE SUSPENDED

Fines Aiso For Hotel Keepers Who Do Not Make Honest Returns

MAY HOLD INQUIRIES

EVERY hotel in Peterborough and in fact the Province of Ontario, is subject to a rigid law in regard to their licenses. When the liquor license authorities have reason to believe that a license- making an honest return of his bar receipts, the provincial secretary is authorized to order an enquiry as to the correctness of the return. This power is given under a code of special regulations just passed by the Ontario Government, as provided for in the statute providing for taxing of bar receipts. An enquiry may be conducted by the inspector of the license district, or by a provincial inspector, and all accounts and invoices and other records must be produced, and witnesses are compelled to give attendance and give evidence under oath.

The inspector has all the powers of a commissioner under the act respecting inquiries concerning public matters. Where inquiry establishes a return as correct, the cost of the proceedings must be defrayed by the province. But where the incorrectness of a return is established, the cost must be paid by the license-holder. Until such costs are paid, the license is suspended. The provincial secretary, when returns are found to be incorrect, suspends the license or makes such other fines equitable "under the command of the commissioners."

Where receipts exceed $35 per month, cash register receipts must be produced showing the sales, and the sales must be entered daily in a special book for the purpose. The monthly return to the Department must be made on a special form, and the license-holder must subscribe to an affidavit that the return is correct.

MEETING TO-NIGHT.

A meeting of the members of the Bowling Club will be held on the green to-night at 8.30 o'clock. Business of importance. All members are requested to be present.

THE WEATHER.

To-day: Northwest winds; fine and moderately warm.

WHAT WE HAVE WE'LL HOLD.

PRIVY COUNCIL DENIES RIGHT OF CANADA TO PASS A MARRIAGE LAW

Uniform General Marriage Law Cannot Be Passed, as the Provinces Have Sole Jurisdiction and Can Invalidate Marriage Not Solemnized as Required

London, July 29.—The judgment of the Privy Council in the marriage case to-day is in effect to confirm the answers given by four judges of the Supreme Court, that the Lancaster bill was ultra vires of the Dominion Parliament. Their Lordships expressed the opinion that the Provincial Legislatures in legislation on the solemnization of marriage within the Province could impose conditions affecting the validity of the contract.

Question Too Superfluous.

What B.N.A. Act Decides.

"The decision of these questions," the Lord Chancellor declares, "turns on the construction to be placed on sections 91 and 92 of the British North America Act of 1867. Sections 91 enacts that Parliament of the Dominion may make laws for the peace, order and good Government of Canada in relation to all matters not coming within the classes of subjects by the Act assigned exclusively to the Legislatures of the Provinces, and for greater certainty, but not so as to restrict the generality of the foregoing terms and section, declares that notwithstanding anything in the Act exclusive of the Legislative authority of the Parliament of the Dominion, extends to all matters coming within the classes of subjects enumerated

Marriage and Divorce.

"One of these is marriage and divorce. The section concludes with the declaration that any matter coming within any of the enumerated classes shall not be deemed to come within the class of matters of a local or private nature comprised in the enumeration of the classes of subjects by the Act assigned exclusively to Legislatures of the Provinces

"Section 92 enacts that in each Province the Legislature may exclusively make laws in relation to matters coming within the classes of subjects enumerated in this section. Among these is the solemnization of marriage in the Province. The enumeration also includes inter alia property and civil rights and generally matters of merely a local or private nature in the Province.

Validity Affected By Solemnization.

"There have doubtless been periods, as there have been and are countries, where the validity of marriage depends on the bare contract of the parties without reference to any solemnity, but there are at least as many instances where the contrary doctrine has prevailed. The common law of England and the law of Quebec before Confederation are conspicuous examples which would naturally have been in the minds of those who inserted the words about solemnization into the statute. Prima facie these words appear to their Lordships to import that the whole of what solemnization ordinarily meant in the systems of law of the Provinces of Canada at the time of Confederation is intended to come within them, includibg the conditions which affect the validity."

PROTESTANTS WILL DEMAND AMENDMENT OF THE B.N.A. ACT

Rev. W. H. Hincks Declares an Instant Agitation Will Start Against Ne Temere

Toronto, July 29.—"If the Privy Council has based its decision on the British North America Act, this can mean only one thing: An immediate agitation throughout Canada for an amendment to that Act," said the Rev. W. H. Hincks, pastor of Broadway Tabernacle, when informed of the findings of the court of last resort on the marriage question.

"I am extremely sorry that this should be the case," he continued, "because we had hoped to avoid any further agitation. But this cannot be avoided now; every Province will join hands in a demand that the regulations concerning marriage be unified and placed in the hands of the Central Government. Prince Edward Island and British Columbia will be quiter eady to join in such a movement, and resign what rights they have, for already British Columbia is sick of the growth of the divorce evil with which she has to deal.

Will Be World Wide.

"That we should ask for such an amendment will not be altogether a new thing, nor a very startling departure, for the last amendment to that Act was made at the request of Quebec itself.

"Moreover, the agitation will not be confined to this country, for already we have received requests from Great Britain to join hands in a movement to render the present condition of affairs in regard to marriage in any part of the Empire an impossibility.

"It means that a battle will be begun which can only end in wiping out of existence this detestible ne temere decree, so far as it is operative in any part of the British dominions. There will be a uniting of forces, and we know we shall be joined by many Roman Catholics, who believe in fair play and equal civil rights for all."

JOSEPH DUFFUS IN A NEW GARAGE.

Moved Into Premises Vacated, Saturday, by the McLaughlin Motor Car Co.

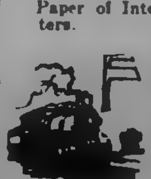
The McLaughlin Motor Car Co. vacated their garage at 195 Simcoe street, last Saturday, shipping all their cars back to the factory. This move came as a surprise to the community. Those commodious premises however, are now occupied by Ald. Joseph Duffus, who moved into them yesterday. Mr. Duffus handles the well known "Ford," "Russell," and "Reo" cars, all high class machines finding a ready market. Mr. Duffus will give a day and a night service at his new garage, will be pleased to meet all who had business at the stand previous to his occupancy of the same, and assures a continuance of that courtesy and prompt business attention which has rendered his garage popular with the auto-purchasing public.

EXPLOITS OF GIRL BURGLAR

Climbed Out of a Home Dormitory and Made Rich Hauls

PREVENT TRAIN WRECKS

Invention Said to Make Railway Collisions Almost Impossible—Paper of Interest on Navy Matters.



London, July 29.

FOR some time Whitely Bay has been the scene of remarkable exploits by a 19-year-old burglar. Clad in nightie, she climbed out of the dormitory window of the village home of which she was an inmate on probation, and descended to the ground by means of the branch of an apple tree. She very successfully assumed the role of a burglar in four or five different houses in the neighborhood. In one she made a selection of garments which she thought suitable for a night's venture. In others she gathered what goods and valuables and money she could lay hands upon, and regaled herself with pies

Chased by a night policeman, she immediately took to her heels and it was not until she had raced for almost a mile that the panting policeman caught her. She was wearing an Inverness coat, a skirt and a jacket, straw hat and a fur stole, all of which she had gathered on the rounds. She had also in her possession a gold chain, lockets and pendants, a silver-mounted umbrella, a shawl, a silver brooch and purses with money in them.

Remarkable Invention.

Almost incredible are the possibilities attaching to an invention that has nearly been completed and which will make railway accidents practically impossible. Since the first demonstration of the "railophone," which renders possible telephonic communication with a railway train in motion, was given about a year ago, the inventor, Mr. Von Kramer, has made great strides. In conjunction with Prof. Knapp of Birmingham University, he has evolved a sensitive detector, by means of which, he states, it is possible to pick up these [illegible]

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario, Manager. 49 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 tn J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 380 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

Preference Shares are preferential both as to assets and cumulative dividends at the rate of 7 p.c. per annum, also participate in dividends after 7 p.c. has been paid on common stock.

The average net profits of the Cafeterias, Limited, on King street, for the month of May, as shown by the report of the auditor, John I. Sutcliffe, C.A., amounted to over 30 p.c. on the entire issue of stock. A complete auditor's statement of the finances of Cafeterias, Limited, up to the end of May, may be seen at the offices of Messrs. Fleming & Marvin, Lumsden Building. This statement shows the monthly profits.

About $50,000.00 will be required to put the new Yonge street Cafeteria on a running basis. Of this amount about fifteen or twenty thousand dollars will be required to complete the interior finish, and make this restaurant one of the finest cafeterias in America. The balance will be required for outfitting the restaurant and providing a certain amount of working capital. The new restaurant will have a dining room of the large dimensions of 7,000 square feet on the ground floor, and will also have spacious additions for other purposes of the business.

Cafeterias, Limited, has found in the running of its business on King street that it has eclipsed the old style of waitress-serving restaurants, which is a great saving of labor and expense, and that the new restaurant is the best system of meeting the demands of the public for quick service, consistent with quality and efficiency of service.

We have opened subscription books for sale at par ($10.00) $50,000.00 fully paid shares of the abovementioned 7 p.c. cumulative preference participating stock, carrying a bonus of 25 p.c. of the amount of the preference shares in common stock.

Payments as follows:

25% per share with subscription;
and 75% per share on allotment.

Subscription books are now open at our offices, and the right is reserved to allot only such subscriptions and for such amounts as may be approved, and to close the subscription without notice.

Subscriptions may be forwarded by mail or by telegram at our expense.

A rumor that the proposed C.P.R. track will not pass through Belleville at all, is causing considerable disturbance in that city. It is said that the new track may be diverted north of the city, as this would be a less expensive route.

Owing to Peterborough being now a station on the trunk line of an electric transmission system, recently completed by the Electric Power Co., Ltd., there is no more danger of the city being tied up by lightning. When one system is crippled the other will turn in the power.

JEFFERSON'S FAMOUS HOME.

Matchless In the Earthscape That Encircles Its Setting.

Monticello divides interest with Mount Vernon as the most historical homestead in Virginia. It is inseparably connected with the life of Thomas Jefferson, and his writings on philosophy, statesmanship, history, political economy and the common affairs of life, accomplished in its classic shades, have made him known as the "sage of Monticello." The architecture of the building is unique. It is, first of all, Jeffersonian, but as the name of the estate is Italian the builder preserved the harmonies in basing the form on Italian ideals.

The summit of the "little mountain" was leveled to form a park of some ten acres, in the center of which the lines of the mansion were laid. It has four fronts, and it is difficult to determine which presents the widest and most attractive view. In any direction there is outspread a superb view of a landscape that cannot be matched in its splendid setting of mountain and valley, highland and meadow, forest and stream. The prospect is an earthscape limited only by the power of vision.

The house was begun in Mr. Jefferson's youth and built in sections. Thirty years elapsed before its final completion owing to the fact that the builder was his own architect and contractor, and the demands of his country required more of his time than he could devote to his private affairs. When it was finally completed the influence of French art had left its impress on the builder's mind, and the interior decorations and furnishing reflected the taste of the Louis periods.—Francis N. Barksdale in Leslie's.

Ideal Protection Against Inroads of Catarrh

By Breathing the Rich, Balsamic Vapor of Catarrhozone You Prevent and Cure All Head, Nose and Throat Disease.

Remember this: You don't take drugs when using Catarrhozone, you simply inhale a healing vapor that cures every type of catarrh, bronchitis, asthma, throat and nose soreness and irritation.

No medicine brings such prompt relief, exerts such an invigorating influence, or so thoroughly and speedily cures throat troubles as "Catarrhozone." Doctors, hospitals, sanitariums, all say that for those who suffer from changeable weather, for those who are predisposed to catarrh, lung trouble, deafness, or bronchitis, no treatment is so indispensable as "Catarrhozone."

Victim of Chronic Catarrh Cured.

"I contracted a severe cold while following my occupation of furniture travelling, and eventually it developed into Catarrh. The desultory mode of life I was following gave me very little chance to improve my condition, and at last I became a victim of chronic catarrh. I bought a large package of Catarrhozone, used it as per directions, and have never been bothered since. I will be only too glad to give any information I possess to any person suffering from the disease that was the bane o. my life two years.

A. H. SWARTZ, Brockville, Ont.

For certain cure, for relief in an hour, use Catarrhozone, the only direct, breathable medicine. Two months' treatment guaranteed, price $1.00, smaller size 50c.; at all druggists, or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont., and Buffalo, N.Y., U.S.A.

WILSON, TAFT AND ROOSEVELT.

Indications are daily increasing that while the Democratic radicals, to the last man, will support Wilson, the candidature of Roosevelt will not have the support of anything like the full strength of even the progressives, who previous to the conventions last month had been actively supporting the progressive movement in the Republican party. Roosevelt's ability to draw from the Democratic party a considerable vote was destroyed by Bryan's triumph in the Baltimore convention and by the nomination of Wilson. There is already a considerable list of progressive Republicans who will either, like La Follette, Cummins and Hadley, support the Republican party ticket, at least nominally, or, like Osborn and Brandeis, support Wilson; and it is figured out as probable that Roosevelt will be able to do no more than to take away enough Republican States into the Wilson column.

The friends of Roosevelt are basing their estimates of his strength mainly on the showing he made in the spring primaries against President Taft. They are assuming that he could carry the same States in November; but it must not be forgotten that fully one-half the Republican voters stayed away from the polls in the primary contests. If that large proportion of the Republican party was not sufficiently interested in Roosevelt to go to the polls then it is not considered probable that a large proportion of that proportion would turn out to vote for him in November in his new character as a party bolter.

Taking it for granted that the leakage to Roosevelt from the Democratic party will be negligible, if there is any at all, and that substantially all Roosevelt can do is to draw away a certain number of Republican votes from Taft, the question remains whether Roosevelt becomes exceedingly aggressive in his personal campaign, he will not drive a substantial number of conservative Republicans to Wilson. Discussing this question the Springfield Republican says:

"It seems one of the surest things imaginable that in case conservative Republicans late in October should become alarmed over the possibility of Roosevelt's election, or a failure of the electoral college to elect by a the Democratic candidate as offering majority vote, they would turn to the surest and most expeditious solution of the problem of government during the ensuing four years."

The reference to the possibility of the electoral college being so divided up that there would not be the clear majority over all that is required by the United States constitution to secure the election of a President would automatically throw the election into the House of Representatives, which as has already been shown in detail by figures published in the Free Press, is now so constituted that neither the Republicans nor the Democrats could command the constitutional majority of the States required for a choice.

The States would vote as States, each State casting one vote and that vote being determined by the majority of the members representing it in the House. Arizona and Nevada, for example, with less than two-thirds the population of Manitoba, would thus have precisely as much say as New York and Texas, with two-and-a-half times the population of the whole of Canada. It so happens that in the present House the delegations from Nebraska, Rhode Island and Maine are equally divided between Republicans and Democrats, and the votes of those States would be eliminated by the fact, with the result that there would be a deadlock. Wilson lacking one vote necessary to make him President of the United States. It is not considered at all likely that, should such a state of affairs come about, that there would be a continuance of the deadlock, which would be broken by the casting of Republican votes in some State delegation for Wilson in some State delegation either equally divided or under Republican control—an outcome to which the way would be paved by Wilson's polling as it seems probable he will, a larger electoral college vote than any other candidate.

PUBLIC OPINION

THE MEANNESS OF THE EXAMINER.

Editor The Times:

Sir,—The Examiner seems to be quite upset (since the last general election), and is quite worried about the wharf on George street. Every now and again, when the fit takes it, it grumbles about this wharf. A collapsible wharf it calls it. This sounds quite "catchy," and the Examiner is tickled to death over this phrase. There are lots who are amused also at the Examiner's attitude over this wharf. I mean those who know the true history of the Quebec bridge, which did actually collapse and took with it into the St. Lawrence scores of workmen. If the Examiner is sincere and really wishes Government undertakings that are unsound and unbusinesslike to be exposed, why didn't it expose the late Liberal Government's work over this Quebec bridge affair, and not waste its breath over a wharf here that certainly up till now has not "collapsed" and does not seem likely to.

The late Government took over the Quebec bridge from a company that had received bonuses from the Dominion of Canada towards that bridge from the Province of Quebec and from the City of Quebec. They had spent all they had received and were in debt something over $900,000. They were utterly bankrupt—stranded; their charter was not worth a dollar. Then what did the late Government do? They gave the contract for construction to a corporation in the United States, not to a Canadian firm, and mark this—the capital of this United States company was only $100,000, and the bridge they were to construct on this capital was to cost millions of dollars. How is this for a business transaction by a Government? If it had been a Conservative Government how the Examiner would have raved about it! What a righteous rage it would have worked itself into, and what lessons it would draw from it! But it was a Liberal blunder, and so nothing is said about it. We all know how that bridge dropped into the St. Lawrence, carrying with it scores of workmen, and the Liberal Government had been paying millions on that bridge and had not even insured the payments it made. Yet not a word about it from the Examiner. It prefers to see evils which do not exist, and shuts its eyes to evils which are real. That is why I say "the meanness of the Examiner."

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Lindsay has a tax rate of 30½ mills. Peterborough's rate is only 22 mills. Should not we be thankful?

The garbage collection system, is after all, beginning to satisfy a number of those in the collection district.

Two young men promising to make restitution to the C.P.R. for stolen doors, were dismissed yesterday in police court.

It is so seldom that Lindsay secures a decent factory that the papers there hardly know how to conduct themselves when a real live industry enters the town.

Now that one man is able to give his exclusive attention to the inspection and adjustment of weigh scales, the cost of living in Peterborough may be reduced.

A song service under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A. camp was largely attended on Sunday evening.

To-morrow is lady's day at Riverside Park. No further invitation is needed for the fair fanettes to come and root in the Guelph Peterborough struggle.

are received by the train, and to relay them up into stronger currents to operate electric bells or hooters, or even to put on the brakes of trains, or to stop them at the will of the signalman at the stations. Thus a signalman ten or twenty miles away may press a button and the train stops automatically. Another feature of the "railophone" is that trains equipped with it can automatically bring back their signals to the danger position if they have been inadvertently left open by the signalman, and as any such forgetfulness is recorded, at the time it occurs, the instrument settles the question of who is to blame if a driver passes a signal which should be against him.

Paper of Interest.

At the annual meeting of the Navy Record Society in Whitehall, Sir John Laughton, the retiring secretary, announced that a lady, in searching among Mexican archives, had discovered the records of the trial for heresy and treason of the Portuguese pilot whom Drake took with him on the Mexican expedition, and what seemed almost incredible, the journal and log of the pilot himself. The sequel was that she also found papers of great interest relating to Hawkins and Drake which would in time be published.

Lady Cops.

To have lady police officers patroling some beats in Vancouver is the decision arrived at recently by that city's board of police commissioners, which authorized Chief Chamberlin to appoint two suitable members of the fair sex to work in conjunction with the police force in maintaining law and order in the city.

It was explained by the police commissioners that the duties of the lady officers would be to keep a watchful eye on the movements of recalcitrant girls who were likely to fall into the crutches of the law. Men will not have a chance to be arrested by the lady constables, but it is possible that the male members of the force will be informed of many things that may have escaped their notice.

Dickens' Humanness.

The best part of Charles Dickens, the great novelist, was the humanness of him, coming out in the tender pathos with which he streaked the funny side of life. Primarily a humorist, he was, like many another humorist, a humanist too. Dickens came out of that lower London life, one-third grotesque, one-third pitiful, one-third heroic, which he pictured in his writings. He had lived the struggles of Oliver Twist, of David Copperfield and of Philip in "Great Expectations." That was the reason why he was able to lay hold of people's hearts when he described those deathless persons.—New York Mail.

Tit For Tat.

Mrs. Jenkins was standing before the mirror arranging her thin hair when her baldheaded husband entered the room.

"Say, Emily," he began, "why don't you do your hair the way you used to?"

"Why don't you?" reported Mrs. Jenkins.—Lippincott's.

Bee Stings.

If stung by a bee rub off the sting instead of pulling it out with the nails of the thumb and forefinger and thus forcing more venom into the wound. Ammonia applied to the wound made by a bee sting will usually afford immediate relief.

FIFTY THOUSAND MEN REQUIRED

Farm Laborers' Excursions — This Year's Wheat Crop Will be the Largest in the History of Canada.

The wheat crop of 1912 will be the greatest ever harvested in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, thus requiring the farm laborers of the East to recruit and assist in harvesting the world's greatest bread basket.

The Governments of the respective Provinces state that fifty thousand men will be required for this year's harvest. These will have to be principally recruited from Ontario, and the prosperity of Canada depends on securing labor promptly. The Canadian Pacific, on which company will fall practically the entire task of transporting the men to the West, is already making special arrangements for this year. Excursions from points in Ontario to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, will be run and special trains operated, making the trip in about thirty-six hours and avoiding any change of cars or transfers. This will be a day shorter than any other route.

Dates, rates and conditions will be [illegible] lars.

An Inveterate Punster.

"You have no business in that boat," said Theodore Hook one day to a stout man seated in a little craft on the Thames. "What do you mean?" said the man angrily. "Exactly what I say," retorted Hook. "You have no business in that boat." "Then perhaps it may interest you to know," said the stout man still more angrily, "that this is my own pleasure boat." "Exactly," said the inveterate punster, "a pleasure boat. That is just what I said. You have no business in that boat." And before the man in the boat had recovered from his astonishment Hook had strolled away.

Deadly Glasses.

A contrast to the Venetian glasses which were popularly supposed to fly to pieces if poisoned liquor were poured into them were glasses which poisoned all who drank from them. The poison was crystallised at the bottom of the glass, from which it was indistinguishable, and as it dissolved very slowly it could be used many times with deadly effect. Some such glasses can be seen at the British museum.—London Chronicle.

Reasonable Anxiety.

"Captain," said the pilot anxiously, "I fear the vessel is ashore."

"Humph," ejaculated the captain as the steamer's nose went farther into the mud, "your fears seem to be, like the vessel, well grounded!"—Baltimore American.

A Love Test.

This tale is told in the orient. A lady one day found a man following her, and she asked him why he did so. His reply was, "You are very beautiful, and I am in love with you." "Oh, you think me beautiful, do you? There is my sister over there. You will find her much more beautiful than I am. Go and make love to her." On hearing this the man went to see the sister, but found she was very ugly, so he came back in an angry mood and asked the lady why she had told him a falsehood. She then answered, "Why did you tell me a falsehood?" The man was surprised at this accusation and asked when he had done so. Her answer was: "You said you loved me. If that had been true you would not have gone to make love to another woman."

A Southern Antidote.

If Americans need an antidote for restlessness they can find it among the mountaineers of the south. It is said that when a native is asked to hurry he replies, "Don't forget there's a whole day tomorrow 'tain't been tetched yet."—Detroit Free Press.

Dutch Etiquette.

In Holland etiquette demands that an unmarried woman walk on the right of her escort, while a married woman takes her husband's left arm.

Lost time is never found again, and what we call time enough always proves little enough.

Alaska's Delegate.

It takes the Alaskan delegate nearly a year to cover his district in a campaign. He reaches the coast cities by boat, goes down the Yukon to the interior and goes in as far as time and facilities permit to the interior camps. So closely is the population packed in the settled districts, however, that he is able to tell by midnight of election day from the telegraphed reports from the more important cities whether or not he has been elected.—Argonaut.

Always Against Them.

Mike Kelly had been a habitue of the courthouse for fifteen years and at every criminal trial had occupied a front seat, listening with evident admiration to the speeches of the prosecuting attorney.

"Ben," he said one day after the prosecutor had ended his remarks, "I've heard you speak again and again, but never, on my soul, have I heard you say a good word for the poor devil on trial."—Popular Magazine.

Mary's Little Ring.

Mary had a little ring; 'twas given by her beau; and everywhere that Mary went that ring was sure to go.

She took the ring with her one day when she went out to tea, where she might display it to the girls, who numbered twenty-three.

And when the girls all saw that ring, they made a great ado, exclaiming, with one voice, "Has it at last got round to you?"—London Tit-Bits.

A FRIEND OF THE FAMILY.

It Was Highly Prized as a Wonderful Money Saver.

When Miss Ann Pickett dropped in to her neighbor, Mrs. Spicer, and found her moping over the fragments of a gilt vase Miss Ann sympathized generously. "It must have been rather a costly vase," she said, looking admiringly at the pieces.

"No, it only cost six bits," Mrs. Spicer acknowledged. "'Tain't that I feel so bad about."

"Maybe it was a gift that you prized because of associations?"

Mrs. Spicer shook her head. "Jim and I bought it over in Tompkinsville a long time ago. I prized it because it was such a saving to the family. The first year we had it I kept it on the front shelf for a general ornament. Then when Jim's birthday came and I hadn't anything else handy to give I gave him the vase for his own. Next Christmas, instead of paying out good money to buy something new, he gave it back to me for a Christmas present. Then I gave it to Jim junior on his birthday, and he gave it to Sue Belle on hers.

"The next spring all the kinfolks got up a birthday party for old Aunt Sallie Spicer, and we took her the vase. After she'd kep' it a good bit she gave it to Jim's sister Jane for a weddin' present, and afterward Jane gave it to me and Jim when we had our china weddin'. I was countin' on givin' it to Jim again on his next birthday, and now here it is smashed to flinders.

"I tell you, Miss Ann, it most makes me cry to think of losing such a useful family article—so near Jim's birthday too!"—Youth's Companion.

Assyrian Healing.

Some of the medical treatises of ancient Assyria are models of simplicity, and we cannot doubt the effectiveness of their prescriptions. Thus we are told that if a man has colic we should "make him crouch down on his heels and pour cold water over his head." That ought to cure colic if only the water is cold enough. Again, "When a man is bilious rub him with an onion and let him drink nothing but water and abstain from food altogether." The onion part is probably decorative. At least it can do no harm, while the abstention from food is salutary in the extreme, even for those who are not very bilious. But if a man is in "a weak state" why should it benefit him to "strike him on the head fourteen times with your thumb?" This is suggestive of faith healing.

Primrose Day.

Primrose day in England, the anniversary of the death of Benjamin Disraeli, Lord Beaconsfield, had its origin in the tribute, a modest wreath of primroses, sent by Queen Victoria for the funeral of Beaconsfield. The general impression that the primrose was Beaconsfield's favorite flower came from a misunderstanding of the words attached to the queen's tribute—"F. Victoria. His favorite flower." The public thought the queen meant that the primrose was Beaconsfield's favorite flower when in truth she meant that it was the favorite flower of the prince consort.—New York American.

"Swallowed a Word."

Little Mary was telling what she thought was an exciting story about a dream. She stuttered in her effort, gulped and paused hopelessly without completing the sentence.

"Why, child, what is the matter?" her mother asked.

The little girl smiled ruefully and replied, "I swallowed a word."—Indianapolis News.

The Main Thing.

Aged Suitor—It is true that I am considerable older than you, but a man is as young as he feels, you know, and— Miss Pert—Oh, that doesn't matter! What I want to know is if you are as rich as you look.—Boston Transcript.

Good Substitute.

Edna—Did Mabel get that six shooter she spoke of providing herself with as a protection against burglars? Eva—No. She got a six footer.—Judge.

Cause Enough.

"When I was shipwrecked in South America," said Captain Bowsprit, "I came across a tribe of wild women who had no tongues."

"Mercy!" cried one of his listeners of the fair sex. "How could they talk?"

"They couldn't!" snapped the old salt. "That's what made 'em wild."

Borneo Brides.

In Borneo the bride and groom sit on metal logs before the priest, who gives them cigars and betel while he blesses them. He waves above them two fowls bound together. The bridegroom then places the betel in his bride's mouth and a cigar between her lips. They are married.

Gilded Eggs.

In Persia it is the custom to make present of eggs richly gilded and painted. The Persians give presents of eggs on the first day of the new year, "because the egg marks the beginning of things."

THE PRESIDENT'S OFFICE.

Elegance in Its Architecture and In Its Appointments.

The president's office is an ellipse in plan. A triple bay window forms one end and at the other is an open fireplace. Four doors, opening inward, are equally disposed, two on each side, and are curved to conform with the curve of the wall. The tall windows are hung with stately, heavy curtains and are flanked by bookcases set into the wall.

The fireplace is incased in fine marble, and fluted Ionic columns support the mantel, on which stands a bell glass covered clock, flanked by candelabra. In the fireplace are complete preparations for a wood fire. Even the paper is placed under the logs, ready to ignite.

The style of the room is classic colonial, and the woodwork is painted a creamy white with blue white embellishment. Each of the four large ornate door frames is surmounted by a rich pediment. The wall is covered by a warm olive green burlap, which extends up from a paneled wainscot to a wide, elaborate molding or entablature of plain plaster. A flat dome of this virgin plaster surmounts the room and gathers in its shallow, inverted basin the light from the bay window and gives play to every tint and shade of gray.

Pendent from the middle is a chandelier of electric candles, and triple groups of the same adorn the wall between the doors and windows.—William S. Nortenheim in National Magazine.

SIKH SOLDIERS.

An Interesting Division of the British Army In India.

In the English papers one may frequently see pictures of tiny soldiers, about seven or eight years of age, gravely saluting elderly officers. These infants at arms are boy recruits holding regular and dignified places in the Indian army. Each Sikh regiment is allowed twelve of these little chaps, who are trained almost from babyhood. They are paid each 3 rupees and 8 annas a month and at the age of sixteen enter the regular army.

The Sikh soldiers are an interesting and remarkable part of the British army in India. Their conduct in frontier engagements has distinguished them as brave, steady and devoted to their English officers. Yet about fifty years ago these well ordered soldiers were fanatical savages who in their mad uprisings shook the power of Great Britain. Once conquered, they accepted British rule and were trained and disciplined into a well equipped army of 30,000 soldiers. They formed part of the force that subdued the mutiny. The Hodson's horse troops, which helped capture Delhi, were composed of Sikhs whose devoted service to their leader made them famous. Their scarlet sashes and turbans gained them the name of "Flamingoes." Their descendants are no less determined fighters and stanch soldiers.—New York Press.

No Excuse.

"We shall never have her in another club we get up."

"What's the matter?"

"Her mother died last week, and she resigned on that account."

"I don't see how you can blame her for that. It seems to me that she did the proper thing."

"I knew you'd think that. But it was her turn to entertain next."—Detroit Free Press.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED ON JULY 15th, AND WILL POSITIVELY CLOSE NOT LATER THAN JULY 31st. THE COMPANY RESERVING THE RIGHT TO WITHDRAW THE SALE WITHOUT NOTICE. SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE ALLOTTED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the ig profits now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

DEWEY SAW THE POINT.

He Paid Up After His Dog Had Been Kicked Around.

Admiral Dewey had an English bulldog of which he was very proud. So marked was his affection for the dog that an atmosphere of "love me, love my dog" had sprung up around the admiral and the canine. It is further reported that the animal came near causing trouble between the head of the navy and the late "Fighting Bob" Evans.

Admiral Dewey while on a tour of inspection when he was in command of the Pacific squadron took the dog along with him. He lost sight of his pet on Evans' ship, but in a few minutes saw him hurled skyward from the companionway as if shot from a catapult. With blood in his eye Admiral Dewey rushed over to see the reason for the sudden ascent, surmising correctly that some one had kicked the dog. He saw "Fighting Bob" at the foot of the steps.

"Sir," roared the admiral, "what do you mean by kicking my dog?"

"Sir," roared Evans in return, "I'd have kicked that dog if he had been the property of the president of the United States! He chewed the legs off two pairs of fifteen dollar trousers and destroyed an edition de luxe of the navy regulations."

Dewey saw the point and paid for new uniform trousers.—New York World.

VERY WELL INVESTED.

A Loan That Carnegie's Old Kinsman Didn't Want Repaid.

Andrew Carnegie told the following story with great relish. When his father was leaving his native country to settle in America he borrowed £20 from a relative. The family had an uphill battle on the other side of the Atlantic, but when the tide of prosperity turned with the son he remembered his father's indebtedness and determined to clear it off, together with its accumulated interest. He started by remitting the sum of £20 and for several years sent the same amount, a dividend equal to exactly 100 per cent.

Returning to Scotland, the Pittsburgh ironmaster met his old relative. "Well," said Mr. Carnegie, "having paid up a good deal of the interest, I should like now to clear off the principal."

"Ay, ay, Andrew, dinna ye fash yersel' aboot the loan! A'm pairfectly satisfied with the interest."

"Oh, but I'm rich enough now, I think, to clear off the principal!" replied the millionaire.

"Dinna mind the principal, Andrew," said the relative. "It's very weel invested as it is!"—London Family Herald.

DEFY THE EXPLORERS.

Vast Unknown Regions In Western Brazil and Australia.

Lying within the basin of the head waters of the Amazon river in western Brazil are three regions much larger in area than all the New England states which are still outside the pale of our knowledge. This large territory lies between the parallels of 10 degrees south latitude and 5 degrees north latitude and the meridians of 60 degrees and 73 degrees west longitude. Not a country of South America has been accurately defined and fully explored. The great difficulties with which the scientist must contend in mapping this continent in the equatorial regions account for the large areas still uncharted. It is the hardest section in the world to penetrate. Dense forests, a deadly climate inducing the worst scourges of disease, as yellow fever, cholera, beriberi, etc., the fierce wild beasts, poisonous serpents and savage tribes are some of the obstacles to be encountered in penetrating the Amazon country.

The entire central portion of Australia is an unknown tract save for a direct line in which the transcontinental telegraph system has been laid. The greatest difficulty was encountered in stretching the wires across the desert waste, and the small strip thus opened up is all that is known of the heart of the island continent. It is supposed to be a vast sandy plain, interspersed here and there with salt lakes to vary the horrible monotony. Hundreds of daring men have tried to penetrate its mysteries, and most of them have paid for their temerity with their lives. Then there is the "Never Never" land, in western Queensland, into which many have gone and few have returned. In the south of the country, extending for hundreds of miles inland from the great Australian bight, is a terra incognito the extent and nature of which can only be surmised.—Christian Herald.

A Correction.

In a town of such size that every one knows every one else it is often customary to speak of people by their first names, even when one would not do so to their faces. The butcher is known as Joe Smith, the grocer as Frank Parsons, the lawyer as Will Andrews, and no offense is meant or taken. One day a friend was helping a teacher of the industrial school to put hats and coats on forty little members of the kindergarten class. Two little tow headed girls attracted her attention, and as she tied their hoods she asked:

"Are you Charlie Porter's little girls?" Two serious little blue eyes looked up as the elder replied:

"His name was Charlie when he was a little boy. He's Mr. Porter now."—Exchange.

NOT A FAMILY QUARREL.

It Was Simply a Clever Ruse of a Daring Parisian Thief.

A traveler remarks that the Parisian swindler is the subtlest and the most indomitable one in the world. He was one day strolling through a fashionable French shop.

A woman entered and proceeded to purchase a costly set of silver dishes, and meanwhile a well dressed man lingered at the doorway as though waiting for her.

The woman, her purchase concluded, counted a number of bank notes and advanced to the cashier's desk holding them in her hand. Then of a sudden the man rushed upon her.

"You wretch!" he exclaimed. "Didn't I tell you that you shouldn't have those dishes?" And he slapped her upon the cheek, tore the bank notes from her hand and stalked indignantly out of the shop.

The woman fainted. It was ten minutes before she was brought to, and meanwhile those in the shop, believing that a family quarrel was in progress, did nothing. On her recovery the manager of the place said regretfully:

"We are sorry, madam, for this occurrence. Your husband"—

"My husband! That was not my husband!" the woman cried. "He is a thief!"

She had never seen the man before.—Exchange.

Violet For Mourning.

It was not by accident that violet was chosen by many nations as the exclusive color for mourning and by us also for half mourning. Painters suffering from hysteria and neurasthenia will be inclined to cover their pictures uniformly with the color most in accordance with their condition of lassitude and exhaustion. Thus originate the violet pictures of Manet and his school, which spring from no actually observable aspect of nature, but from a subjective view due to conditions of the nerves. When the entire surface of walls in salons and art exhibitions of the day appears veiled in uniform half mourning this predilection for violet is simply an expression of the nervous debility of the painter.—Nordau's "Degeneration."

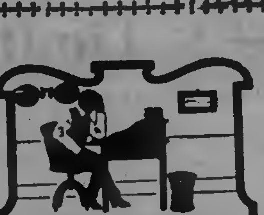
Right In Line.

"If there is anything I like," said he to his wife, "it is a woman who knows enough to be a good listener," whereat the servant girl at the keyhole could not repress a smile of satisfaction.

Returned Thoughts.

"Do thoughts that come to you in the long ago ever return?" asked the originator of silly questions.

"Not unless I enclose stamps," answered the literary party.



Business Men

Some men at their desk suffer discomfort and lose much time for want of suitable glasses.

A Business Man says: "I am now able to wear my new glasses constantly in business. They save me much time, and are a great comfort and a profitable investment."

Are You Droopy, Tired, Worn Out?

Here is Good Advice to All Who Feel as if Their Vigor and Life Had All Oozed Away.

This Condition Can Be Quickly Cured by a Good Cleansing Medicine.

Your experience is probably somewhat similar to that described by Mr. J. T. Fleming in the following letter from his home in Lebanon: "I think I must have the most sluggish sort of a liver. In the morning my month was bitter, and that foul, soft feeling that tells you, 'No breakfast needed here this morning.' A cup of coffee would sort of brace me up, but in two hours I was disposed to quit work, all energy having oozed out of me. Supper was my only good meal, but I guess I didn't digest very well, for I dreamt to beat the band. A friend of mine put me wise to Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I think they must have taken hold of my liver, perhaps my stomach, too, because at the very start they made things go right. Look at me now: not sleepy in the daytime, but hustling for the mighty dollar and getting fun out of life every minute. That's what Dr. Hamilton's Pills have done for me—they have rebuilt and rejuvenated my entire system."

To keep free from headaches, to feel young and bright, to enjoy your meals, to sleep sound and look your best, nothing can help like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c per box, five for $1.00 at all druggists and storekeepers or postpaid from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Sleep Knows No Danger.

While a little Italian girl, chased and fought with a Canadian youngster of her own age, the little Italian baby in her charge slumbered peacefully in the middle of a much traversed road, until the little girl returned and wheeled her out of danger.

Two Accidents in Lindsay.

In Lindsay two gentlemen are suffering from badly injured hands. Mr. W. J. Fitzimmons, of the new automobile works there, had his thumb and first finger lacerated in operating a shaper. Mr. Alex. Smith had three fingers badly cut by a saw in the mill yard of J. Carew & Co.

Brakeman Injured.

Berry Crop Light.

Peterborough housewives will do well to lay in their stock of berries at once as there is a danger of the supply becoming limited later on. The berry crop this year will be light, and will not perhaps sell below two boxes for 25c. Apples, however, for both cooking and eating purposes, will be plentiful this year.

They have had a great time and all are more than satisfied with the outing.

George Street League Picnic.

Last evening the Epworth League of the George street Methodist church held a very enjoyable picnic at Jackson Park. A goodly number of members turned out shortly after six o'clock, when tea was served and together they had an enjoyable time, indulging in games, etc., for the space of a couple of hours. It was an annual affair.

Seriously Injured in Runaway.

When returning to Crowe's Landing from a berry picking expedition, Mrs. Adam Patterson, of Norwood, was seriously injured when the horse ran away, tearing down a steep hill and throwing her on the road. Two other ladies and two little girls accompanied them, but were not badly injured. Dr. Griffiths, of Toronto, the new owner of "Maplehurst," gave the injured lady medical attendance.

Sanitary Inspector at Work.

Yesterday in the police court, Mr. J. P. Pulkinghorn paid a fine of $1.00 and costs, amounting to $4.35. Mr. Robt. Gibbs, liveryman, was given five days grace to fall in line with Inspector Spence's orders, and Mr. R. P. Gallop, of the Snowden House was given ten days grace for the same purpose. All this was the result of the Sanitary inspector's work in compelling them to keep the law in connection with covering manure.

Hotel Prices Soar.

Beginning on August 1st, the rates of the local hotels will be increased to a new schedule. According to the information received, the Oriental and National Hotels will charge $2.50 to $3.00 per days, the Snowden House and White House $2.00 per day and all the other hotels raise their rates from $1.00 to $1.50 a day. This marks the passing of the $1 a day house. The general advances in the cost of food, labour, etc., is given as the reasons for the increase.

Bowling Event on Monday.

Next Monday the big event of the season will be pulled off on the local bowling green, when the Central Ontario Bowling Association's tournament will be held here. Clubs from all the surrounding places will congregate at the green and some fine and interesting playing is expected. The Toronto Queen City rink, with Mr. Rice as skip, who recently won the London tournament, are coming and expect to clean up things in good shape. The other rinks will be there when they are doing it, however, and the games will be exciting.

A Serious Offence.

Should you find mail matter in your post office box, addressed to other than yourself, and fail to return same promptly, you leave yourself liable to a fine of $200. This also applies to parties receiving mail through the general wicket. Where names are similar there has been mail taken that was not intended for persons receiving same, and in some instances, not returned. No matter whether letters or newspapers, the fine for such is heavy. If in the future one happens to receive the mail of another, bearing a somewhat similar name, to return it is the only safe way to avoid trouble.

Fishing Regulations.

Now that the fishing season is in full swing, the regulations of the Ontario game and fisheries laws for the present year, which have just been issued, will be of interest to the local anglers. Apart from the usual regulations, no one shall fish for, catch or kill in any waters of the province, in one day angling, or shall carry away a greater number than eight small or large mouthed black bass. It also says that no small or large mouthed black bass, less than ten inches in length measuring from the point of the nose to the centre of the tail, shall be retained or kept out of the water. The number of maskinonge is limited to four. In any case of pickerel a greater number than twelve must not be carried away.

A Local Evangelist.

Before Mr. S. M. Duyzers of this city leaves to preach to the Mormons in Utah, he will take the opportunity to give more light on the work of Home and Foreign Mission work. Mr. Duyzers delivers his addresses in English and sings, during his meetings, in foreign languages. For years he worked in Europe and at the present time he has spent two years in this country, and during his services in the mission work he has had some interesting experiences. A short time ago, he visited the B.M.E.E., Guelph, giving a sermon in the evening, and an address in the afternoon in the S.A. Temple on the subject "The Soldiers' Guide." It will be well worth while to visit one of his services in this city.

Excursion Passes Through City

Yesterday a number of Bowmanville people spent the day in Peterborough, having come to this city on the civic holiday excursion, under the auspices of the Bowmanville Bowling Club. The special train bearing passengers from a large number of lake shore towns and cities arrived in the city yesterday morning, and while a large number stopped off for the day in this city, a good crowd went on to Lakefield, where they took the steamer Stoney Lake for a sail through the lakes to Burleigh. In the afternoon a bowling tournament was held on the local greens between the Bowmanville and Peterborough rinks. Without doubt the excursionists were one of the happiest crowds that have invaded the city for some time. They returned to Bowmanville and other points on a special G.T.R. train which left the city at 8.30 last evening.

Bowling Tournament Yesterday.

In honour of the Bowmanville curlers who ran an excursion to this city, and Burleigh Falls yesterday, a small, but successful tournament was held yesterday on the local bowling green. Three outside rinks and three local quartettes competted, the first honors and prizes falling to skips J. E. A. Fitzgerald's rink. Finals:

Fitzgerald, skip ... 15
Waddell, skip ... 9

The first prize, four razors, fell to Fitzgerald's rink, and another local quartette, headed by Mr. Waddell, took the four pearl handled knives, donated as second prize. Thus two local rinks divided the honours of the day.

The tournament in brief was as follows:

FIRST ROUND.

Peterborough—
T. E. Pratt, skip ... 11
Bowmanville—
Lyle, skip ... 14
Peterborough—
R. M. Waddell, skip ... 13

J. E. A. Fitzgerald, skip ... 14
Bowmanville—

SECOND ROUND.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

DEMAND GROWS NATION WIDE FOR UNIFORM MARRIAGE LAW

Powerful Organizations Uniting Throughout Canada to Seek Amendment to the B.N.A. Act If Necessary—Controller Hocken Says Orangemen are Prepared to Spend Millions in the Cause

Toronto, July 30.—That the decision of the Privy Council in the stated case in regard to the regulation of marriage in Canada promises to be the beginning of a systematic agitation rather than the end of a brief conflict, is made evident by the interview with those have been most prominent in the endeavor to place such regulation in the hands solely of the Dominion Parliament.

Discussing the situation with a reporter this morning, Controller H. C. Hocken, of the Orange Sentinel, said:

"I am not sorry that the decision has been given. It is just as well that we should be brought face to face with the issue. There can be no doubt that the Act must be amended and all through Canada there will be a demand that the change be made as soon as possible. Outsiders may not know how determined we of the Orange Association are in this matter, but I want to tell you that there are 200,000 men in Canada who will never rest until this present deplorable state of affairs in regard to marriage under the British flag is rectified.

Must Have Uniform Law.

The Rev. J. R. Treleaven, pastor of the Carlton street Methodist church, said that he was not in the least surprised at the judgment delivered by the Privy Council.

"I have gone into the matter very carefully," he said, "and I can quite see the opportunities which were given for such a decision. But that does not alter the fact that we must have a uniform marriage law, nor can it do anything but call attention to the necessity of changing the British North America Act, which made such a finding possible.

"Among the rank and file of our citizenship there is considerable apathy in regard to this question. It will be necessary for the leaders to take a decided position, and this is not to be expected unless there is immediate and persistent agitation. And this there will be, I am sure. The agitation will be systematic and continued until such time as those who can help to bring about the reform see that action can no longer be deferred or avoided?

Alliance Taking Action.

While the absence from town of a large number of members of the Evangelical Alliance makes it impossible for a meeting of the full committee to be called, the Rev. E. D. Silcox is determined that no time shall be lost, and this morning he made arrangements for a meeting of the executive committee of the Alliance, of which he is able to secure a quorum. This meeting will be held within the next few days, and will decide on the action to be taken by that body.

GAMBLERS SAY THAT BECKER HAD THEM MURDER ROSENTHAL

Declare That The Police Lieutenant said, "That Dog Has to Die"—Said He Had Power to Put Them in Prison—Becker is in The Cells

New York, July 30.—The indictment of Police Lieut. Charles Becker for the murder of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, soon after the confessions of "Bald Jack" Rose, "Bridgie" Webber and Harry Vallon revealed to-day to District Attorney Whitman the "Police System" in all its hideousness. The public prosecutor followed the trail of the three confessions continued his search for evidence that would implicate those higher up than Becker, and more indictments of police officials are expected by the District Attorney.

The arrest of Becker lay bare a scandal in the police department that threatens to shake it to its foundations, for District Attorney Whitman believes the story of police graft has only half been told.

"Bald Jack" Rose confessed that Becker came to him, and, fairly desperate over Rosenthal's intention of telling all he knew of his relations with the police department, said, "ROSENTHAL HAS LIVED TOO LONG. HE HAS GOT TO BE PUT OUT OF THE WAY."

Rose told the public prosecutor and the Grand Jury how the murder band was hired at the instigation of Becker, and that after killing Rosenthal, Becker met Webber and himself and promised complete police protection.

The confessions show that the murderers of Rosenthal were "Lefty Louise" or Louis Rosenweig; Harry Horowitz or "Gib the Blood;" Frank Muller or "White Jack" Lewis, and "Dago Frank" Cirofici. Only Cirofici has been apprehended.

TURKEY IS MAKING A MOVE TO END THE WAR WITH ITALY

Constantinople, July 30.—Turkey has signified her willingness to negotiate peace with Italy if on an honorable basis.

The official announcement was made in the Turkish Chamber of Deputies to-day. It is the first important move of the new Turkish Cabinet and is the only definite indication hitherto given that Turkey is ready to bring hostilities to a conclusion.

The war has lasted since September 29, 1911, when the Italian Government published its official declaration of hostilities. The occupation of Tripoli by Italians followed soon after.

MILITIA CALLED OUT TO QUELL PORT ARTHUR RIOTS

Port Arthur, Ont., July 30.—A conflict between striking coal handlers of the Canadian Northern Railway, together with their sympathisers and the authorities, as represented by the city police department, has resulted in injury to four constables and several [illegible], and brought out the 96th Regiment of militia, who, in their red coats, are now doing duty along the road and about the coal docks and property of the company.

Some of the victims of the shooting and clubbing, which accompanied the clash between police and strikers are patients in St. Joseph's Hospital, two of them lying at the door of death—namely, Angus McClellan, the Chief of Police, who has a fractured skull and several other wounds, and P. Dominick, Italian, who received in the melee no less than five bullets in the body. Dominick has received the last rites of the Church.

Under Martial Laws.

Martial law prevails in the trouble district, and with the militia, under Lieut.-Col. [illegible] in command, all is quiet at midnight.

The trouble followed a strike of about 300 workmen. But a few men remained on duty at the docks, and at the evening hour, Chief McClellan sent Constable Silliker to the coal docks on special duty. Silliker found an Italian threatening two workmen coming from the docks. He was flashing a gun, and as the constable approached him he immediately turned and held the gun on the officer. Half a dozen others sprang into sight and at once half a dozen revolvers were pointing at Silliker, who left the place and communicated with the Chief, who responded with four men. On the arrival of the police posse they found nearly one hundred men, among whom were several armed with heavy clubs.

ENGLISH BATHING CLUBS TEACH GIRLS HOW TO SAVE LIVES.

TEACHING LIFE SAVING METHODS AT A LONDON BATH CLUB

From the Sphere.

The Bath Club is now one of the most popular and affluent clubs in London. Its well appointed swimming baths for both women and men are the delight of the athletic of both sexes. On evenings the swimming hall resounds with the boom and splash of many contests. Special arrangements are made for events from week to week. Girls holding membership cards are taught by experts the newest and most effective methods with regard to saving life, and several rescues were made this season by young women who at the Bath Club, in Dover street, learned what to do when a person in swimming has become helpless from cramps or overexertion.

THE STRIKE BREAKERS JOIN THE UNION MOULDER'S SOCIETY

The Half-Dozen Men Who Were Recently Engaged By The Wm. Hamilton Company Walk Out In a Body Last Night

A new development in the moulders' strike in connection with the Wm. Hamilton Company, occurred last night, when the six men who had been replacing the men who are asking for a nine hour day, joined the ranks of the strikers. G. Walter Green's foundry was closed half an hour earlier than usual, and the large number of striking moulders who gathered at Hamilton's foundry intimidated the men who left their employers in the lurch and deserted their posts in the foundry. This is a decided victory for the strikers, and the problem now presents a new phase, and the attempts to solve it will be watched with interest by the whole city. So far the strikers have won over all the non-union moulders, and if they can continue this they will in all probability come out of the struggle, resuming their positions with nine hours a day.

WIRELESS PICTURES LATEST DEVELOPMENT

London July 30.—Wireless messages will be sent across the Atlantic and to other parts of the world by a new system, according to experts, within four months, not only much faster than by the present system, but also with such precision that it will be possible to send pictures by this means.

The new system has been taken up by one of the big European telegraph companies, and will be given a thorough test by a syndicate organized under the auspices of the telegraph company, so far as the transmission of wireless messages is concerned.

Stations are to be erected at Lyons in France, and at Washington, and the inventor claims that he will be able to send at the rate of 200 words a minute. The improvement consists in being able to control a continuous wave as compared with intermittent waves in the present systems. After the Franco-American line is working, the company intends to extend the system to the east, to Africa and to the British colonies.

LORD MERSEY DELIVERS THE BRITISH JUDGMEMT ON TITANIC DISASTER

Board of Trade Court of Inquiry Finds Collision Due to Excessive Speed, That Proper Watch Was Not Kept and That Leyland Liner Californian Might Have Reached the Sinking Ship

London, July 30.—The judgment of the British Board of Trade Court of Inquiry into the disaster to the White Star Liner Titanic, which sank in midocean with 1,517 souls, after collision with an iceberg, on April 14, was pronounced to-day by Lord Mersey, the presiding judge, before a large audience.

The court finds that the collision of the Titanic with the iceberg was due to the excessive speed at which the ship was navigated, that a proper watch was not kept, that the ship's boats were properly lowered, but that arrangements for manning them were insufficient, that the Leyland Liner Californian might have reached the Titanic if she had attempted to do so, that the track followed was reasonably safe with proper vigilance, and that there was no discrimination against third-class passengers in the saving of life.

THE TORONTO GLOBE AND THE MARRIAGE CASE

The Globe of July 30th, immediately following the announcement of the Privy Council's decision in the Marriage Case, makes a powerful demand for a civil marriage law that would apply to the whole Dominion. The Globe is to be congratulated in taking a stand that is really in strong support of the action of the Borden Government in trying to clear up the marriage difficulty. Among other things, The Globe says in its leading editorial, "The Clergymen or other person authorised to perform the marriage ceremony does so as the accredited agent of the State. He may believe that he is also divinely appointed. A marriage before the law is a civil contract involving certain rights and certain responsibilities. The State must see to it that Civil Law and not ecclesiastical shall be supreme in settling whether or not a marriage is valid." This statement of The Globe's is undoubtedly the motto that will be used by the electors and the people of Canada who believe in the supremacy of the State in the new agitation about to be begun for a civil marriage law. It is wholly intolerable that on any pretence the ecclesiastical law shall be supreme in defiance of the popular will. The Globe also says "The controversy that has so disturbed the peace of Canada and must continue to disturb it until an absolute equality is secured is that the marriage law of all the provinces has reference to the law in Quebec alone. In the other provinces all persons authorised to perform the marriage ceremony are empowered to marry Catholic, or Protestant, Jew or Gentile." As the Globe says it is plain therefore that if it were not for Quebec the question of a uniform law would be a simple one in regard to the famous mixed marriage question. The Globe says "Mr. Borden's efforts to have the question settled in the form of a stated case fails." From this it will be seen that Mr. Borden is accredited by The Globe with having made an effort. The Hebert case in which judgment will be given shortly by the Privy Council will answer this question. It is possible that for this reason the Privy Council did not answer Mr. Borden's question. Going further into this mattrr the Globe says that if the expected decision in the Hebert case is not satisfactory from a civil point of view "There would unquestionably spring up all over the Dominion a demand for a uniform marriage law in which any person entitled to perform the marriage ceremony in any part of Canada could validly marry all persons presenting themselves to be married and that irrespective of ecclesiastic or other religious creed or lack of creed."

BRITAIN RULES THE WAVES

Her Naval Strength Enormously Increased Of Late

LATEST BRITISH NEWS

Fresh Gambling Houses are Springing up in all Directions—Patrons Are Rich—One Resourceful Gambler Will Use a Yacht in Summer Season.

London, July 31.—According to figures given in an official paper just submitted to Parliament, Great Britain will be able to sing Britain Rules the Waves for some years to come. On paper England possesses sixteen battleships and battle cruisers as against fifteen possessed by all the other powers whose shores touch European waters. Next year England hopes to have twenty-four ships of this type as against twenty-one in the fleets of the rest of Europe.

The platform upon which the Liberal party will go to the country, if an election is precipitated during the coming autumn or winter, will be based principally upon the following planks:

1. A minimum wage, varying with the cost of living and peculiarities of each district, is to be enacted for agricultural laborers.

2. Land courts are to be established to fix agricultural rents and terms of tenancy.

3. In fixing rents the land courts are to have regard to the minimum agricultural wages payable in the particular district: For example, if the wage for the agricultural laborer is now 15 shillings a week, and the minimum wage for the district is fixed at 17 shillings, the land court will take into account this increased wage in fixing the rent of the farm. Thus, if the farmer employs ten laborers, he will be compelled to pay £1 per week or £52 per year additional in wages, but this sum will be taken into account by the land court in fixing the rent of the farm.

4. An extensive scheme of rural housing.

5. Land courts are to be established to settle questions relating to town leaseholds, such as terms of renewals of leases, and fines, and increased rents for alterations.

Gambling Houses.

So rapidly is the craze for baccarat and chemin de fer developing in the west end that fresh gambling houses are springing up in all directions. Many people are wondering why the police do not take action, but the simple explanation is that Scotland Yard is finding it impossible to obtain evidence against the ones they wish to convict namely the proprietors who are reaping huge fortunes from their wealthy clientele. These wily gentlemen are now acting with the utmost caution, and no one is admitted to their houses unless they are convinced as to the "safety" of the would-be guest. They can afford to discriminate, for ten or twelve rich players are sufficient for the game. These are readily obtained, and there is no necessity to encourage the stranger. The London season will now soon be over, and the wealthy punters will be scattered to all parts of the country. One resourceful man who runs a prosperous gambling den does not intend to relinquish his easy mode of coining a fortune, so he has chartered a luxurious yacht. Curiously enough, the guests are all gamblers—and rich. The saloon of the yacht is a large one, and will be used as a gambling room, and, moreover, there is no danger of a police raid. It is rumored that if the experiment is a success, the yacht will cruise along the coasts of England and France, and with luck the proprietor hopes to be able to keep the [illegible]

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly; Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario, Manager. 49 Crull street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 346 George St. directly opposite Crossman's store.

Preference Shares are preferential both as to assets and cumulative dividends at the rate of 7 p.c. per annum, also participate in dividends after 7 p.c. has been paid on common stock.

The average net profits of the Cafeterias, Limited, on King street, for the month of May, as shown by the report of the auditor, John I. Sutcliffe, C.A., amounted to over 30 p.c. on the entire issue of stock. A complete auditor's statement of the finances of Cafeterias, Limited, up to the end of May, may be seen at the offices of Messrs. Fleming & Marvin, Lumsden Building. This statement shows the monthly profits.

About $50,000.00 will be required to put the new Yonge street Cafeteria on a running basis. Of this amount about fifteen or twenty thousand dollars will be required to complete the interior finish, and make this restaurant one of the finest cafeterias in America. The balance will be required for outfitting the restaurant and providing a certain amount of working capital. The new restaurant will have a dining room of the large dimensions of 7,000 square feet on the ground floor, and will also have spacious additions for other purposes of the business.

Cafeterias, Limited, has found in the running of its business on King street that it has eclipsed the old style of waitress-serving restaurants, which is a great saving of labor and expense, and that the new restaurant is the best system of meeting the demands of the public for quick service, consistent with quality and efficiency of service.

We have opened subscription books for sale at par ($10.00) $50,000.00 fully paid shares of the above-mentioned 7 p.c. cumulative preference participating stock, carrying a bonus of 25 p.c. of the amount of the preference shares in common stock.

Payments as follows:

25% per share with subscription;
and 75% per share on allotment.

Subscription books are now open at our offices, and the right is reserved to allot only such subscriptions and for such amounts as may be approved, and to close the subscription without notice.

Subscriptions may be forwarded by mail or by telegram at our expense.

Why Irving Moved Her.

Sir Henry Irving, whose Hamlet was a masterpiece, often told a good story of an incident when he was playing the part in his early days. While on the stage he saw that an old lady in the front row of the pit was weeping profusely. Feeling flattered, he sent an attendant to bring her to him after the performance. "Madam," he said graciously when they met, "I perceive that my acting moved you." "It did that, sir," said the old woman. "You see, I've got a young son play acting somewhere, and it broke me all up to think that maybe he is no better at it than you."
